Large Crowd Campbellford Box Social Aid Orphanage

INTERESTING PROGRAMME WAS PROVIDED—DEATH OF JOHN H. SMITH.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 2.—The second annual box social under the auspices of the Loyal True Blues and Orange Orders was held in the Music all last evening, with about three hundred and fifty present. The purpose of this social was to raise funds to assist in the construction of a new Orphanage, to take care of shelterless children. There was an excellent programme, after which the boxes were sold and coffee served.

The programme consisted of eighteen numbers, and although rather long, was varied, and was very good. The first number was an address from the chairman, Mayor A. J. Myers, which was excellently received. The second was a selection from the Christ Church C. S. E. T. Band. The members of the Band were costumed as negroes and imitated a "Jazz Band," and they received hearty applause. The next was a couple of solos by Mr. Harry Bertrand. Mrs. Wragg gave an interesting reading, and Miss Burleigh rendered an excellent solo. The Misses Bertrand and Hankinson sang a trio, and Mr. Geo. Salter and Walter Lowe gave a euphonium and cornet duet, which was a real musical treat. Mr. S. Maguire gave a reading, and Miss Hazel Atkinson sang a solo, and was encored many times. Miss McConnell delighted the audience by a number of amusing readings, after which the C.S.E.T. again gave a selection.

Mr. C. M. Carrie, secretary of the building fund committee of the new Orphanage, gave an address. He said that he had a message to convey to the Loyal True Blues and Orange Association, and this duty was delegated to him, because the Grand Master was unable to attend. He said that during the last twenty-five years the Orphanage sustained by the L.T.B. and O.A. at Picton had cared for over five hundred children. They started out to do this work with about five hundred dollars, but they have succeeded. He showed that sixty per cent. of the children who have been cared for by this Orphanage were not children of the members of the Association. All the children received equal care, irrespective of claims, etc. This institution had been sustained by donations. Mr. Banfield had donated $20,000, but the present home was only a fire trap and a new one was needed. Two years ago a campaign was started, and since that time $107,000 has been raised. They need $200,000, and after the present building has been sold they will still need $75,000. There are 31 orphanages in Canada, which care for 5,500 children, and it costs $363,990 to maintain them. The Government aid is $18,432, which leaves $346,857 to be bequeathed, donated, granted, etc. There are 108 children in Picton Home, but a new site of 37 acres has been purchased outside of Toronto, above Richmond Hill, which cost $15,500. The children there will be cared for, irrespective of class, and there will be accommodation for 200. They have held two tag days in Toronto, and raised $10,000 on one occasion and $12,000 at another time. He expected all to help, because it was a work of humanity. He showed how 45 per cent. of the children were cared for by the Roman Catholic people, who were only 28 per cent. of the population, which was not a fair arrangement. Protestant orphanages cared for 487 children, and the Salvation Army cared for 474. The remaining 1,800 were distributed among various institutions, and he exorted all to assist in caring for these.

Mr. Geo. Farby is treasurer and Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald is president of the building fund.

Mr. Geo. Salter then gave a euphonium solo, and Mr. Blakley a violin solo. Mr. Salter made a recitation, after which Miss Innes sang a solo. The programme closed with a selection from the C.S.E.T. Band. Lunch was partaken of, and the dancing commenced. There was a good crowd and the music was good.

Armstrong vs. Thomas.

The case of Armstrong vs. Thomas was brought before Magistrate Payne on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. The plaintiff, Mr. E. Thomas, of Campbellford, had entered a suit against Miss Winnifred Armstrong, also of Campbellford, whom he charged with threatening him with a revolver on the night of March the 22nd. Mr. Thomas was first called, and explained how he came to be outside the house where defendant resides. Thomas testified that he and his chum, Mr. Vyse, of Campbellford, had been spending part of the evening with a couple of girl friends in a house near by. It appears that Miss Waite, who was employed in the house where Miss Armstrong resides, had in her possession an "overseas service button" belonging to Mr. Thomas, to whom she intended returning it that evening. At about 11.15 o'clock, Miss Waite and Mr. Thomas came to the house where the former was employed, but Mr. Thomas remained outside while Miss Waite went inside to get the button. While she was inside, complainant alleged that Miss Armstrong appeared on the back veranda and ordered Mr. Thomas to go away. Mr. Thomas and Mr. Vyse, who had come for his chum, claimed that defendant had pointed a revolver at them. Mr. to carry a revolver, and she replied that all the license she required just then was what she had in her hand. The boys then left without the button and laid the charge. As it is a criminal offence to point a gun, either loaded or unloaded, at any person, and although Miss Armstrong asserted that she hadn't pointed the gun, the court's judgment was that Miss Armstrong either pay a fine of $10, without costs, or thirty days' hard labor.

BIPED REPTILES TO RULE WORLD

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 2 (Canadian Press).—The world may be ruled by a race of biped reptiles in 1,000,000 years or so, according to J. A. Thompson, professor of Natural History in Aberdeen University.

The collared lizard of New Zealand, he explained in an address, is already learning to become a biped, and if it masters this secret of man's supremacy, the rest may follow.

COUNTY ROADS ARE IMPASSABLE

Peterborough county roads are almost impassable for vehicular traffic, according to farmers in the city to-day.

Motorists attempting the Keene road were forced to turn back almost every day this week because of the holes and deep ruts which infest every section.

As a result, to-day's market is expected to be light. Farmers say that three days of sunshine and warm weather will make the roads solid and able to support traffic.

Pet Gold Fish.

BOSTON, April 2.—Beacon Hill boys of hundreds of families, rich and poor, are the proud owners of pet goldfish to-day, regardless of the fact that they gained them at the expense of wet feet, damaged clothing and parental displeasure. When the annual Spring cleaning of the Public Garden Pond left the fish temporarily marooned, the youngsters waded into the chilly ooze and carried off their captures in cans or squirming in their hands. Park employees gave up as hopeless the task of rounding up the scat-

A CLUE FOUND TO EXPLOSION?

NOT CONFIRMED YET

NEW YORK, April 2 (Associated Press).—Identity of the driver of the "death waggon" in which was carried the destructive bomb which caused the Wall Street explosion last September is known to the agents of the Department of Justice, it was reported here last night. He has been "identified" as a well-known anarchist through a clue furnished by the shoes of the horse which drew the death-dealing vehicle into the financial district.

While official confirmation of the report was unavailable here last night in the absence of W. J. Flynn, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, it is said that circulars containing a detailed description and portrats of the man sought had been sent to certain chiefs an postmasters throughout the country. No actual photographs of the suspect could be obtained, but the circulars contain three photographs of wash drawings made from descriptions furnished by his former friends and acquaintances and described as "good likenesses."

The Man's Description.

The man sought is described as being about five feet six inches tall and with rather high cheek bones. His name is said to be given in the circular which has been described as a confidential document, but neither the local representatives or the Department of Justice would discuss the subject.

NEW YORK, April 2.—(Associated Press).—The Wall Street explosion, one of the worst tragedies in the history of New York, occurred at noon on Sept. 16, 1920.

The skyscrapers of lower Manhattan were pouring out their thousands for the mid-day meal when suddenly a sheet of flame shot up from Wall and Broad Streets. In a few seconds nearly two score bodies lay on blood-stained pavements, while more than 100 men and women were torn by flying fragments of metal. In a second millions of dollars worth of damage had been done.

All Was Mystery.

All was confusion, all was mystery. After a time when hundreds of policemen and a detachment of soldiers from Governors Islands arrived to guard sub-treasury and banking houses, the confusion ended, but the mystery continued month after month until it seemed as if it never would be solved.

Countless investigations were started. A wrecked wagon and dead horse were found outside the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Company, which by some investigators was held to be the object of the outrage—if indeed outrage it was, and not accident. It was generally accepted that the explosion had occurred in this death cart, whose owner or driver never were found, although expert farriers and wagon-makers were called in in efforts to identify horse and vehicle.

Investigators wavered for a time back and forth between theories that a powder wagon accidently had blown up, or that a timed bomb had been sent into the financial market, but after a time it came to be general opinion that the explosion was planned either to destroy the Morgan offices or Stock Exchange, or as a demonstration of radicals to impress the world's street of finance

Confident a Plot.

Chief Flyn of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice was confident from the first that it was a plot, and in this he was backed by most investigators. Finally the Grand Jury which studied the disaster also returned an opinion that anarchists had been at work.

Several months after the explosion occurred on New York paper published a story to the effect that the explosion was planned by workers who had been victims of building trust grafters No arrests, however, followed this "expose."

PRIEST SLAIN AT OWN DOOR

REV. LEO JARECKI SHOT BY UNKNOWN MAN, WHO ESCAPED.

DETROIT, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. Leo Jarecki, pastor of Our Lady of the Mount Carmel Church, Wyandotte, was murdered at his home by an unknown man last night. The slayer escaped.

News of the tragedy was received in Detroit at the Bishop's Palace. The information given was that the priest had been called to his door shortly after 9 o'clock in the evening. As he opened the door he was shot dead. It is believed that a fanatic committed the crime.

Rev. Father Jarecki formerly was an instructor in the Polish Seminary at Orchard Lake. He had been in charge of the Wyandotte parish for some time, and was highly regarded there.

At the home of the Bishop no reason why any one should take the life of the priest was known.

Germany Must Assume Her Full Reparation Obligations--States

RUMOURS OF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN GERMANY AND U. S. REGARDING INDEMNITY PAYMENTS ANSWERED BY WASHINGTON.

HAVE CONVERSATIONS

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—Rumors via London of conversations between Germany and the United States as to reparation payments brought an authoritative statement from administration officials yesterday that the attitude of the United States towards Germany is that she must accept her responsibilities for the war and pay her obligations to the fullest extent she is able.

The London advices from Berlin say it was understood Germany had made certain proposals to the United States regarding reparations payments, including the suggestion that she assume liability for part of the debts of the Allied Powers to the United States. There was no confirmation of the receipt of any such proposal, although Commissioner Dresel at Berlin has reported on the conversations with German officials in which the reparations question came up. The nature of these conversations was not disclosed.

Your Pay Envelope

HOW about it? Are you able to keep up to your prescribed task? Is the boss watching your time sheet? Has he reason to think you are slipping back?

The efforts put forth to keep up to the new scale of work in conjunction with "high pressure" mode of life these days soon tells on the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands are finding life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have helped hundreds just in such a condition by making rich new blood, strengthening and regulating the heart, renewing the nerve centres and infusing new life and energy into the system.

This remedy builds up and maintains a healthy, vigorous constitution, according to the testimony of hundreds who have used them.

Mr. Alfred Arsenault, Lot No. 6, P.E.I., writes:—"I was very nervous and run-down, and was so bad I could not sleep at night. I used two boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I was relieved. That was one year ago, and I have been well ever since."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by

CARING FOR THE PARKS.

The contract for taking care of the city's parks has not yet been let, although the tenders were opened the other day, the matter being allowed to stand over until the meeting of the Council on Monday. In suggesting that the Aldermen consider the qualifications of the men who tendered for the position rather than the amount of their tenders, if the latter be reasonably close to each other, The Examiner has no interest in the matter other than to see that the best possible appointment is made. It may seem economy to accept the lowest tender, but if there is only a difference of a few dollars in the figures, the question of ability should be the most important factor in making a selection. There is no place where slovenly work shows more boldly than in the city's beautiful spots, and it should be the Council's ambition to secure a caretaker who will keep the parks from attaining that neglected, ill-cared-for appearance that unfortunately is too often likely to be found. If they are satisfied that the acceptance of the lowest tender will ensure the securing of such an official, there is no need of looking further. But a few dollars more would be an excellent investment if there is reason to believe that the man with the higher tender is capable of doing better work than the others.

A CHAMPIONSHIP AT LAST.

Civic recognition in some tangible form should be accorded to the members of the Y.M.C.A. basketball team, who have succeeded in winning the Ontario intermediate championship. Outside of the capture of the District Cup by the local curlers, the winning of the basketball championship is the first provincial title to be won by any Peterborough team in fifteen years, and the feat should not be allowed to go unrecognized. The Y.M.C.A. team, to win the coveted honours, has had to overcome valiant opposition, first defeating Belleville and Queen's University in the east, then triumphing over the Toronto Central Y.M.C.A., the undefeated winners of the Toronto district ,and finally conquering Woodstock, who had won their own district and beaten Ontario Agricultural College and St. Catharines in the semi-finals. The Peterborough team have won their triumph in clean-cut and decisive style and have been a splendid advertisement for their home city wherever they have played. The sporting fraternity of Peterborough and the citizens generally are proud of the new champions and will unite in congratulating them upon the title they have so splendidly won, while the city fathers might well consider the advisability of expressing the feeling of the citizens in a manner that would permanize the congratulations that are being tendered the winners.

THE COAL STRIKE.

The crisis in Great Britain as a result of the strike of the coal miners is the most serious internal trouble that the Motherland has been called upon to face, the invoking by Royal Proclamation of the Emergency Act passed last October by Parliament showing how grave the situation is considered. The pressure of popular sympathy is against the strikers, and the view of the London Chronicle that their action is equivalent to putting a pistol to the head of the community is the general conception of the strike. The British people are prepared to endure the discomforts and disorganisation caused by the walk-out rather than to see a surrender made to a demand that is regarded as unreasonable and impossible, a surrender that would be an invitation to other bodies to use similar means to secure their aims.

The immediate cause of the strike, of course, is a wage dispute, occasioned by the dropping yesterday by the Government of its financial control of the coal industry. Government control, which commenced during the war and had been continued up to the end of last month, for the purpose of maintaining a maximum production in the British coal mines, meant that the Government had charge of all the surplus revenue derived from the coal export trade, and paid a guaranteed profit to the owners of the colleries, the rate being fixed high enough to enable even the least profitable mines to be operated. This system was workable up to the time that the foreign demand for British coal continued, but when that dwindled away the Government was face to face with the alternative of abandoning control or of using public funds to guarantee the necessary profits.

Feeling that the latter course was impossible, the Government has withdrawn its control and the mines have been left to their own resources with the result that the owners of the poorer mines found it impossible to pay the scale of wages that had been paid with the assistance of the guarantees from the pooled profits under Government control. These operators ask that each district be allowed to fix its own wage scale, based on the earning capacity of its mines; the miners on the other and insist on a national standard throughout the country; and hence the deadlock and the present strike.

RENTALS AGAIN.

That significant little word of three letters—"not"—which through an error found its way into an editorial article on the rental situation in The Examiner last evening quite altered the meaning of a paragraph. It was intended to read: "The fair landlords—and thank Heaven there are many of them, or the crisis would be infinitely worse, etc."; but the insertion of the word "not" between "are" and "many" gave a different twist to the sentence. Fortunately, all property-owners have not been profiteering in the matter of rentals. Many of them have been satisfied with a reasonable increase that kept step with the upward march of taxes and the cost of repairs, and they have played the game fairly with their tenants, when on every side of them other landlords were flying the banner "all the traffic will bear" and extracting every dollar that an abnormal situation allowed them to get their hands upon. The game is still going on—rents are still climbing upward—and there seems no limit to the extent some property-owners are prepared to go in profiteering. They groan about the tax rate, and as soon as they get their assessment notices, they scale their rents up to a level that pays the increase in taxes three or four times over. The tenant has to pay or get out. It is a situation that is getting beyond all reason, and it does not make it any more endurable to know that many of those who are the chief sufferers are themselves largely responsible for the crisis, because they are holding out for the high wages that make house building impossible. And the building of dwellings, many of them, —enough of them to relieve the shortage—is after all the best remedy against profiteering and perhaps the only effective one.

RURAL CREDITS.

With the return of the Minister of Agriculture to his duties at Toronto, it is said that Rural Credits will come up again for discussion in the House, and it is important that every phase of it should be understood by the public. We shall refer to these from time to time. It is highly desirable that Ontario agriculturists should be able to borrow money for their reasonable needs and at as low interest rates as are justified by prevailing economic conditions. But there is actually a much smaller supply of money in the world to-day available for loans, in proportion to the demand for loans than has been the case for many years and the desirability of credit for any class or element must be considered in the relation to the entire situation. The common mistake is in failing to recognize that, under sound financial practice, lending institutions cannot or should not lend in excess of the total of their capital, reserve and deposits, and, in case of loan companies, money raised by the sale of bonds or debentures. For such loanable money as is available the agriculturists must—and probably should— compete with other prospective borrowers, for such competition is the only known means of eliminating that part of the demand which economically is of less urgent importance. The legislation proposed could not increase the aggregate of loanable funds. Rural credit systems in Europe in some cases have attracted funds which were not otherwise in use, but the Canadian banking system has been so efficient and has the confidence of the Canadian public to such an extent that there is practically no hoarded money which could be brought forth by offering a slightly higher rate of interest than is now paid or by supplying a Government guaranty. Any success which may attend the Government's efforts would be obtained by diverting funds from private institutions to the Government. So far as the so-called short-term credit project is concerned, the plan involves no increase in available funds but proposes to interpose between the lender and the borrower another middleman and to give to such middleman a toll of one-seventh of the interest rate.—Kingston Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Heartiest congratulations to the Ontario basketball champions.

The fire in the Ontario Parliament Buildings will doubtless cause anxious inquiries as to the amount of insurance on Premier Drury's $100 coal scuttle.

W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., says there will not be a general election for two years. Is that a guess or merely the expression of a hope?

"Government control" is not an issue in the referendum to be taken in Ontario this month, so why talk about it now?

If it were as easy to get people to lower prices as they were ready to raise them the high cost of living would be only a memory.

Sarnia Board of Works has adopted a nine hour day instead of the eight-hour arrangement hitherto in force. The men will work at the same rate of pay as before.

It is so long since Peterborough has had to think about arranging a reception for a championship team that the failure to officially welcome the Y.M.C.A. champs yesterday may perhaps be condoned on that account.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Is the world becoming better or worse? Better, of course. Looking at it from the standpoint of ethics, aesthetics and economics, this is at once apparent. Let us consider the subject under each of these three heads, taking three samples of each.

1.—Ethics.

(a) Not even the almanacs now carry jokes about the grocer putting sand in the sugar.

(b) Much petty dishonesty has been eliminated by extending the precept, "All's fair in love and war," to cover the income tax reports.

(c) No longer do property-owners move their fences a foot nearer the railway each year.

2.—Aesthetics.

(a) The new styles have demonstrated that a man does not have to sit in the bald-headed row to see the aesthetic part of a woman's nature.

(b) Bobbed hair has been banned by Fashion.

(c) The automobile has opened the beauties of nature at sixty miles an hour.

3.—Economics.

(a) The Government railways have revolutionized railroading by running on a deficit while their competitors are still running on rails.

(b) The high cost of importing ivory may be obviated as a result of the discovery of a considerable supply at Ottawa.

(c) That $200 tax exemption which is allowed for each child under the income tax may be a boon to many youths. Allowing for living expenses, the governor may be able to save 70 or 80 cents out of it for spending money for them. Then they can give their young lady friends a theatre party, providing the ladies don't mind climbing a few flights of stairs.

"I shall wear my new dress tonight. Isn't it a poem?"

"Judging by its length, I should call it an epigram."

"Have you heard my last joke?" asked the Pest, as he stopped the Grough on the street.

"I hope so," replied the Grouch, as he kept on travelling.

Flexible Advertising

The great advantage of newspaper advertising is its flexibility. No other medium permits so many adaptations to meet varying conditions with such speed and at such little expense.

Without extra expense for changes, you can publish a different advertisement, if necessary, in every daily newspaper in the country on the same day.

You can put a different price in every advertisement, or you can change the price in an advertisement from Halifax to Vancouver within half an hour.

With daily newspaper advertising you can bring off "scoops." A good example of this was carried out by one of the big sugar refiners last November. They released an advertisement to almost every daily paper in Canada and withheld the price until within half an hour of the papers going to press, thereby having a flexible price. They "scooped" the trade without anyone knowing anything about it in advance. Such tactics could not have been carried out with any other form of advertising.

By contrast with this: The cost of producing posters, street car cards, booklets, is large in itself before the cost of distribution is taken into account, and very few changes can be made in them to suit local conditions without great expense.

Flexibility in advertising is most essential in these days, because different impulses will cause men and women to buy the same article in different geographical locations.

These impulses may be due to climatic conditions, or, for instance, to the more rapid acceptance of new ideas which characterizes the West as against the East.

It applies to the advertising of wearing apparel where fashion enters into buyers' consideration.

It applies to boots and shoes. It is true of brands of cigars, and of talking machine records.

It is used by Governments who wish to vary election appeals in different constituencies.

Newspaper advertising can be made to meet the whim of the moment—the need of the hour—and to crystallize any dramatic or unusual sales opportunity, such as, for instance, the advertising of safes or insurance after a great fire.

Newspaper advertising is beyond question the most powerful sales force in the world to-day.

This Association will be pleased to advise you upon ways and means of using Daily Newspaper Advertising to advantage; or consult any recognized advertising agency, a list of which will be supplied on request.

LOVE!

FEAR!

Chapter 17.

I finished making my bed, smoothed down the yellow cretonne covering and dropped into the big wicker chair by the front window. The morning paper lay near on a table and I picked it up.

I scanned the first page quickly. There was nothing of great interest. The headlines of a murder case caught my eyes. For diversion I glanced through it. One prefers to turn from such gruesome things, and yet human curiosity and fascination draws one towards them.

A prominent business man had been shot and killed by a woman because he failed to reciprocate her love. Then she had shot herself. Both the wife and husband of the dead man and woman professed no knowledge of any intimacy between the couple. The affair had suddenly reached a climax.

I read casually. Then the plausibility of such a thing came suddenly over me. It could happen—a woman insane with infatuation and jealousy. A cold weakness crept along my spinal cord

I wished Leonard did not have to be thrown into such close relations with his clients. At least he might refuse to settle matrimonial difficulties. I would ask him sometime to give it up for my sake. I could not stand the strain of it.

I busied myself around the house. Dusted the living room. The sight of Leonard's pipes threw me into a fit of nerves. Some one rang the front door bell. I jumped a foot. I don't know what I expected—a messenger boy or a policeman would have better fitted in with the state of my feelings.

It was the postman.

"You look pale, Mrs. Allen—are you ill?" Emma asked solicitunously as she handed me a couple of bills and an advertisement.

I went upstairs and stood looking out of the window. A messenger boy was sauntering along on the other side of the street, looking up at the numbers on the houses. My blood pounded through my veins. He crossed the street. I pressed my hands tightly to my head.

Then he went passed the house, still looking up at the numbers and referring to a yellow envelope he held in his hand.

I was torn between relief that he had gone by and fear that he had made a mistake. In another minute I was down the stairs and out on the piazza, the raw March winds pulling at my skirts and tearing my hair loose into straggling ends.

"Boy—boy!" I called wildly after him. "What name do you want?"

He glanced at the yellow envelope and yelled back at me, his young voice strange and rasping against the screech of the wind.

"Richards—telegram for Richards."

I went back in the house limp and trembling. I went to my room and tried to rest. My thoughts had entirely unnerved me. I wanted to scream. Rest was futile.

Something had happened! My fears were a premonition, I knew. I could picture Leonard—it was horrible.

Some strange compelling force dragged me downstairs and into Leonard's den where the telephone was. I sank into his soft cushioned desk chair. My head was turning around like a top. What was his telephone number? All sanity had failed me. The directory was a ton weight in my trembling hands.

At last I gave Central the number—and then thought I would faint before I got the connection.

"Mr. Allen—is Mr. Allen there?" My voice shook terribly. "Tell him Mrs. Allen is on the wire,I" pleaded, and my voice sounded unnatural and far away.

Leonard's deep, "Hello—hello," nearly made me cry. I held the receiver in both hands it was trembling so and knocked against my ear.

"No—nothing special—you are sure you're all right?" I tried to put a little laugh into my voice. That's all—no, I didn't want anything—just wanted to talk to you. All right, good-bye."

I hung the receiver back on its hook. I was greatly relieved but the beads of perspiration were cold and moist on my forehead.

EXTREME MISERY DAY AND NIGHT

FOLLOWS A BREAKDOWN OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM.

Misery day and night is the lot of hosts of men and women who are to-day the victims of weak nerves. Thin, pale, drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fits of depression. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleeplessness robs them of energy and strength; their eyes are sunken and their limbs tremble; appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women of to-day. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves, which are clamoring for better food. This new blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a direct action on the blood, and through the blood on the nervous system. That a fair use of this medicine will bring satisfactory results is shown by the experience of Mrs. Marsh, Bass River, N. S., who says: "Following a run-down condition, I became practically a nervous wreck. The doctor who was called in said the trouble was inflammation of the nerves. It grew so bad that practically I had no control of my lower limbs, and had to go about with crutches. Quite aside from my suffering I had a small family and a baby in arms to care for and I became much discouraged, as I did not appear to be growing better. One evening my husband met an aged doctor on the street and told him of my condition. He asked my husband who was attending me, and when told said: 'I don't want to interfere, but why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.' My husband got me a supply of these Pills and after taking a few boxes I was able to go about with the use of one crutch. Continuing the use of the Pills, I was able to discard the other crutch as well, and was as active as ever I had been. There are many in this neighborhood who know what my condition was when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and who know what this medicine did for me, and I hope my experience may help some other sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE DRUNKARD'S DAUGHTER.

To feel what I have felt,
To bear what I have borne,
Sink neath the blow of father dear,
And the cold proud world's scorn,
Then struggle on from year to year
Thy sole relief the scalding tear.

Go weep as I have wept,
O'er a loved father's fall;
See every cherished promise swept,
Youth's sweetness turned to gall;
Hope's faded flowers strewed all the way,
That led me up to woman's day.

Go kneel as I have knelt,
Implore, beseech and pray,
Strive the besotted heart to melt,
The downward course to stay;
Be cast with bitter curse aside,
Thy prayers burlesqued, thy tears defied.

Go stand where I have stood,
And see the strong man bow,
With gnashing teeth, lips bathed in blood,
And cold and livid brow;
Go catch his wandering glance and see
There mirrowed his soul's misery.

Go hear, what I have heard,
The sobs of sad despair;
As memory's feeling fount has stirred,
And its relieving there
Have told what he might have been
Had he the drunkard's fate foreseen.

Go to my mother's side,
And her crushed spirit cheer,
Thine own deep anguish hide,
Wipe from her cheek the scalding tear,
Mark her dimmed eye, her furrowed brow,

Her toil worn frame, her trembling limb,
And trace the ruin back to him,
Whose plighted faith in early youth,
Promised eternal love and truth,
But who foresworn has yielded up,
That promise to the cursed cup,
And led her down from love and light
And all that made her prospect's bright,
And chained her there mid want and strife
That lowly thing—a drunkard's wife;
And stamped on childhood's brow so mild,
That withering blight—a drunkard's child.

Tell me I hate the bowl,
Hate is a feeble word,
I loathe, abhor, my very soul
With strong disgust is stirred,
Whene'er I hear or see or tell,
Of the dark beverage of hell.

THE WRITER'S STINT

To see the fine : : true, and point men to it;
To work with thoughts and words that never die;
To lay foundations for the world's great builders—
For "thoughts are things" on which deeds may build high;
To deal, not just with pen and type and paper,
But with the stuff that makes humanity;
To touch the destinies of far-off ages
And mould the contour of eternity.

RESTRICT CURE OF HERRINGS.

Not to Exceed 900,000 Barrels.

LONDON, April 2.—(Associated Press).—A joint committee representing the Scotch and English herring industry, has drafted a plan under which this season's cure is not to exceed 900,000 barrels, of which Scotland will furnish about 500,000 barrels and England the remainder.

The catch will be restricted. When a Scotch steam drifter has earned $5,500 it will cease fishing. Scotch motor drifters will stop when their earnings reach $4,150. At Yarmouth and Lowestoft steam drifters will discontinue fishing after earning $6,500, and motor craft on earning $5,000.

The project is independent on a grant of $2,875,000 being made by the Government, failing which, it is declared by those who have devised it, "the industry must come to an end and ruin and unemployment follow in the coast ports dependent on the herring fishery."

1,000,000 EGGS FOR BLUEJACKETS

VALPARAISO, CHILE, April 2.—(Canadian Press.) — The officers of the supply ships which accompanied the United States Pacific fleet on its recent South American cruise struck a staggering blow to pride of the local produce merchants when 1,000,000 eggs were ordered for the 15,000 blue jackets on the return voyage to American waters.

Egg laying is not at high tide in these latitudes at this season and it is doubtful whether the Valparaiso merchants were able to fill one-third of the big order.

In oficial Americacn uqarters here it was noted that Panama's determination to live her own life manifested itself at a time when the national administration at Washington was changing and that it was marked by the failure to advise American representatives of the steps taken to preserve Panama's territorial integrity, even though the United States guaranteed this integrity in the canal treaty.

Despite efforts to keep the expedition secret, the American authorities learned of the movements of the two Central American governments promptly and in advance of most of the residents of Panama.

The prompt despatch of American warships to Bocas del Toro and the note sent to Panama and Costa Rica by Secretary of State Hughes on 6th of March calling a halt in the hostilities, came as a shock to the plans of the Panama administration to settle the dispute over Costa Rica single handed.

The situation in Panama prior to the retirement of the Costa Rican forces from the territory they had seized was in many respects similar to that prevailing in Mexico before the fall of Carranza, where the government sought to hold public support by posing as the defender of Mexico's rights against North Americacn aggression.

PANAMA PLAYS TO GRANDSTAND

POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY

PANAMA, April 2.—The hostilities with Costa Rica over disputed border territory, which began last month and evoked an admonition from the United States Government, broke just at the right moment for the administration of President Belisario Porras to attempt to utilise them in its campaign to assure the isthmian republic the right to conduct its affairs without foreign interference.

A national spirit has been developing in Panama since 3rd November, 1903, when for the fifth and last time Panama declared her independence. It was hardly perceptible during the first decade of the republic's existence, but, in his New Year's message of 1st January, 1921, President Porras gave utterance to the belief of his administration that the time was ripe for Panama to stand alone.

Protests to the State Department at Washington over the taking over of land by the American Government for canal defence purposes was the first step in the independence programme. The Porras administration asserted that the occupation of territory under the Hay-Varilla treaty should be consummated through regular diplomatic channels, and that, if the United States Government continued its present policy to its logical conclusion, it could swallow the entire republic without pausing to notify the vcitim.

THE HOUSEWIFE.

There are so many things that must be done
Over and over, day on day that's past,
I have to let my dreamings, one by one,
Hie from my heart as leaves before a blast,
With never an hour to capture them for you
In song or story, as I long to do

I stand before my windows, cloth upraised,
Month after month, to clear away their grime,
And through each fresh-wet pane see towers glazed,
With magic sunlight—making me waste time.

I fold my lines in an ordered chest,
Week upon week, and check their list with care,
Until my numbering pencil stops, obsessed
By crowding thymes that will come meddling there.

Bells sound about me, daily duties call,
And hands respond, instinctive feet obey;
When tradesmen's voices question in my hall
My lips alertly answer what they say.

But still my Self is troubled with unrest,
And pleads and pleads for freedom and its hour
Uninterruptedly to seek its best
And give birth and watch it come to flower.
Is there no Room for dreams it dare not miss?
Beloved, I am so wistful of all this!

The CITIZEN'S LIBERTY LEAGUE
Stands for TEMPERANCE
by
GOVERNMENT CONTROL

The Citizen's Liberty League is an organization comprising men of highest standing in the professional and business life of the Province,—men who are not interested either directly or indirectly in the manufacture or sale of liquor, and whose demonstrated integrity and sincerity afford sufficient guarantee as to unselfishness of motive. The members of the League are devoting their whole effort towards obtaining what they conscientiously feel will prove the soundest solution of Ontario's liquor problem—viz., Government control.

By placing the responsibility entirely in the hands of the Government, the people of Ontario may rest assured that the sale of alcoholic beverages will be safeguarded and regulated in every direction consistent with life in a democratic country.

The League's views on temperance and its attainment are embodied in the Memorial here reproduced, which every serious-minded man and woman is asked to study with deliberation before making any decision.

Signatures are being obtained throughout the Province for the following Memorial, which is to be presented to the Ontario Government. Copies can be obtained from the Secretary, 104 Mail and Empire Bldg., Toronto.

A Memorial
To the Honorable the Premier of the Province of Ontario

We, the undersigned residents of the Province of Ontario, believers in temperance and moderation in all things, hereby desire to express our very grave concern at the prospect of any legislative enactment being placed upon the Statute Book of this Province which will not be binding upon the conscience of a great mass of the people and must be enforced by excessive penalties with armed inspectors and an army of spies and informers.

Many serious-minded and well-informed citizens, including ministers of the gospel and men holding the highest positions in the community, while fully appreciating the material benefits which might be gained from the total prohibition of the sale of liquor, agree with the view that there is a proper limit to interference by the State with individual conduct. They believe that a temperance country can be more surely obtained by evolution, than by legislation and that total prohibition is inconsistent with true temperance and opposed to Christian morality, which is based not upon the manufacture of new crimes for punishment but on the stronger force of love.

Democracy sprang from a desire for individual liberty. Stabilized democracy depends upon the security of individual liberties properly used. There can be no security for the observance of a law dictating what men should eat or drink unless it has the support of a substantial majority not merely of those voting on a Referendum, but of all the people in the Province whose support is necessary. Especially is this true when the prohibitory forces are highly organized at the polls. If one law is not enforced, all law is brought into contempt and democracy itself may be imperilled.

It is a fundamental of democratic government that things innocent in themselves should be regulated against abuse, not prohibited. It is well recognized in law that a municipality cannot extend a mere power to regulate into a power to prohibit. If past generations allowed the open bar to become a menace, that is no reason why we should shirk the difficult duty of making wise regulations to govern the liquor traffic, and blindly throw to the winds an elementary principle which has hitherto been considered a necessary safeguard to democratic civilization.

We believe that the cause of Christian temperance and of stabilized democracy can best be served,—
(1) By Government control of the sale of spirituous liquors, and, if necessary, a wisely devised licensing of individuals to purchase spirituous liquors.
(2) By the treatment of those who have not the strength to take care of themselves under such conditions, as patients, not as criminals.
(3) By permission to purchase beer and wines under a system to be devised by the Government, thus minimizing the evil of illicit stills and the illegal sale of spirituous liquors and drugs. We are not advocating a return to the "open bar."
(4) By the formation of a voluntary organization similar to the Blue Ribbon Army in Great Britain, whereby all available energies and funds may be devoted to the promotion of true temperance by education and example.

We ask that you provide a means for an expression of opinion on the question of Government control.

We further ask that the Ontario Temperance Act be amended as above, so that the conscientious scruples, rights and liberties of the people of this Province may be fully protected against an organized minority, and accused persons shall not be deprived, as they are now, of the sacred right of every British subject to be considered innocent until he is found to be guilty.

Total prohibition is as unnecessary in Ontario as it is unethical and impracticable and you are urged to stand by the League in their fight for
GOVERNMENT CONTROL
Vote "NO" in the coming Referendum and sign the Memorial.

UNIQUE FEATURE IN POWER CASE.

Halifax Company Suing Power Commission.

HALIFAX, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—The case of the Halifax Power Company, Limited, against the Nova Scotia Power Commission to recover five hundred thousand dollars as compensation for property at North East River, St. Margaret's Bay, Halifax County, expropriated by the Commission for the purpose of power development, presented a rather unique feature in that it was referred by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, whose Government in 1919 passed an act making it possible that such a case should be so proceeded with.

In April, 1920, the Nova Scotia ower Commission made its first expropriation of the property of the Halifax Power Company at North East River under an act passed by the Provincial Government in the previous year. In October, 1920, the Commission made a further expropriation and proceedings were begun by the Halifax Power Company to recover half a million dollars.

Under Chapter 6 of the Acts of the Nova Scotian Legislature of 1920, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council was given power to fix the amount of compensation to be paid for property expropriated by the Nova Scotia Power Commission, and in due course the matter came before Hon. O. T. Daniels, Attorney-General; Hon. E. H. Armstrong, Commissioner of Works and Mines; Hon. H. H. Wickwire, Minister of Highways; Hon. Robert Finn and Hon. William Chisholm.

C. J. Burchell, K.C., and F. F. Mathers, Deputy Attorney-General, represented the Power Commission, J. S. Roper appearing for the Halifax Power Company, Limited. Mr. Roper produced as his first witness Henry Holgate, a Montreal water power engineer, who told the court that the property of the Halifax Power Company at North East River was worth $700,000. Rod McColl, electrical engineer of Halifax, and Thomas Bell, lumberman of St. John, N. B., also gave evidence at the first hearing, which took place on the 17th of March. At a subsequent hearing, S. M. Broomfield, President of the Halifax Power Company, gave evidence.

In the meantime, the Nova Scotia Power Commission had gone ahead with its development of St. Margaret's Bay and the belief is expressed that energy from the plant there will be available in Halifax by July.

HOME CIRCLE

A TIME FOR ALL THINGS.

Timeliness is as important as fitness. The right thing may become wrong unless it is done at the right time. Look well to the time of doing anything. If your wife looks worried and worn out, be sure it is not the time to tell her that dinner is not hot or that the bread is sour. Comfort her; cheer her up. Use the ten thousand little strategems you were wont to handle so skillfully in the old days to bring out the smiles around her lips. If you're annoyed or vexed at people, just remember it is not the right time to speak. Close your mouth. Shut your teeth together firmly, and it will save you many a useless and unavailing regret, and many a bitter enemy. If you happen to feel a little cross, and who among us do not at one time or another, do not select that time for reproving your noisy household flock. A word spoken in passion will make a scar that a summer of smiles can hardly heal over. If you are a wife, never tease your husband when he comes home, weary from his day's business. It is not the right time. Do not ask him for expensive outlays when he has been talking hard times. It is, most assuredly, the wrong time. If he has entered upon an undertaking against yoru advice, do not seize on the moment of its failure to say, "I told you so." In fact it is never the right time for these four monosyllables. Oh, if people only knew how to discriminate between the right time and the wrong, there would be less domestic unhappiness, less silent sorrow, and less estrangement of the heart. The greatest calamities that overshadow our lives have sometimes their germs in matters as apparently slight as this. If you would only pause, reader, before the slinging taunt, or the biting sneer, or the unkind scoff passes your lips, just pause long enough to ask yourself, "Is it the right time for me to speak?" You would shut the world against many a heartache. The world hinges on little things, and there are many more trivial than the right time and the wrong.

HOME AND HAPPINESS.

Many a young wife is so negligent of her husband's comfort, is so glum and blue and cheerless, that home to him is not a place to stay, he'd rather be out among the boys, there's life and fun among them, while there is nothing but fault finding and cross looks at home. The woman who cannot talk intelligently and pleasantly to her husband about business matters that concern them both, and make the home a cheery place that he will not be ashamed to invite his friends to visit, is lost. He most likely will bring his friends when she is cleaning house, or has a sick headache, or there is nothing good for dinner, but that doesn't make any difference, it doesn't excuse her for getting out of sorts about it, she must smile on and do the best she can, not forgetting that a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, it is a priceless possession that can only be obtained by being put through the fiery furnace. This is the way true metal is tested. Let the young husband and wife not grow discouraged at defects they find in one another. They are always there, but time and patience smooth our wrinkles, and adapt the pair to each other's ways.

When hearts are broken and friends fail, this active stirring world of ours makes room for us all to go to work and forget our troubles. If it were not for something to do, and the chance to do it, what would become of the mother when her baby dies? Do you think she would ever recover from such an anguish if she found nothing to do but clasp the empty cradle and fondle the unused garments? Be up and doing then, Oh broken hearted children of our common parent, sorrow. So shall the heart heal and the balm be yielded. Work will keep off pity's pension list and maintain in your bosom the soul of a steadfast soldier rather than that of a whimperer and a craven. Thank the destiny that sends you many tasks for prompt fulfillment and many perplexing things for wise adjustment, otherwise you would never forget the wound that throbs with fresh pain whenever night comes and the duties of the day are hushed to rest. It is then that the old wound revives; it is then that life throws off its disguise and "sorrow's crown of sorrow" crushes its thorn into our brow; it is then that the heavens melt and nothing is left but the influence of helpless despair. Seek work, then, as panacea of pain, and in a busy life forget the smart of sorrow that never can be cured.

What is the use of hurrying? There is time enough for all work and they who work and scurry through day after day, vainly endeavoring to do a little more than any mortal ought to do in a day, are injured physically and mentally and do not in the end accomplish as much as the quiet, steady worker who keeps on serenely hour after hour until weary, and then has the good sense to rest.

* * *

Let us not wait until our blessings are gone before we begin to prize them.

SEES REAL BULL FIGHTS IN JAPAN.

Animals Are Trained To Attack Each Other.

TOKIO.—In the district of Shikoku, Japan, they have bull fighting that is really bull fighting, and not a man versus a bull. Instead of setting armed men on horseback to kill a bull, they match one bull against another in an exciting form of the sport that is seen probably no where else in the world.

This diversion is Shikoku's very own, and it has been conducted in exactly this way for so long that its origin is lost in the mists of time. The people are very proud of the pastime and turn out in large numbers for the contests. The fighting bulls are carefully trained from calfhood for this very purpose. And pampered creatures they are, too, sleek and powerful. They wear pretty collars, like pet dogs, the colors and texture varying. The public decides by acclamation which bull is the victor in the contest, which often is quite a bloody combat. The winner is then decorated with ribbons, and for reward is given an extra fine dinner.

SPRING IN THE CITY.

They are not beautiful, these rows
Of houses stretching street by street
To where the turbid river flows
And great ships meet.

I did not find in my place
A laughter that my heart could share;
There seemed small joy in any face
That I met there

I came to where a vendor stood Alone upon a corner. He
Had arbutus from some deep wood
To offer me.

My heart, awakened at their sweet,
Was glad to be alive. I know
A hillside where the trees' arms meet
And these things grow.

And all the street seemed kinder then.
The soft pink bloom cut like a knife
Through barriers disappointed men
Raise to shield life!

APPENDICITIS OPERATIONS NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY

Warm Water Properly Applied Cures Many Advanced Cases.

Among the thousands of letters we receive expressing gratitude over restoration to health through the use of the Internal Bath, are many from persons who have been sufferers from appendicitis.

Hundreds of surgical operations for appendicitis have been avoided by reason of the timely employment of the J. B. L. Cascade. Most troubles arise from the accumulation of waste in the colon, or lower intestine, from which poisons are carried to other parts of the system.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract with pure warm water, applied with the J. B. L. Cascade, removes the causes of a large number of common ailments—constipation, indigestion, headache, loss of energy and rheumatism.

Mr. James McLaughlin, of Evanston Street, Winnipeg, writes: 'I bought a J. B. L. Cascade for the cure of a bad case of appendicitis. My doctors told me I must have an operation at once. I had spent more than fifty dollars in doctor bills, but the Cascade completely removed in a few days every trace of soreness and pain. I eat and sleep well now, and have regained my former weight, and am now in perfect health."

A mother from R. R. No. 1, Leamington, Ont., writes: "About two weeks ago our eldest son took sick with cramps in the bowels so bad he could not move. Our doctor gave him hypodermic injections and ordered him to the hospital to be operated on at once. Before doing so, however, I induced him to use the 'J. B. L. Cascade,' and in less than a week he was up and around, and has been well ever since. It has cured me of severe headaches and constipation."

ONIONS SHOULD BE SOWN EARLY.

Or Bulbs Are Not Likely to Mature Properly — Varieties Recommended

Failure with onions is due principally to delayed seeding in the spring. If an early start is not possible the crop will not mature before cool damp fall weather sets in, resulting in continued growth and the formation of thick necks rather than the development of bulbs. This may be overcome by an early start which gives a well developed bulb toward the latter part of August, at which period maturity is hastened by the hot and usually dry weather. If the onion has not reached a certain development at this time growth will likely continue uninterrupted, and good maturity is not likely to be obtained. Seeding should be done as early as the ground is dry enough to work, says a recent Experimental Farm Note.

Varieties Recommended.

The Extra Early Flat Red is one of the earliest of red sorts. Yellow Globe Danvers is also early maturing, but later than the above and much more desirable for most markets. The Prizetaker is too late for seeding in the open and unless the season is very favorable they will not mature.

Any good garden soil will grow onions. The land is better if manured in the fall, but well composted fertilizer may be applied in the spring and worked into the surface soil. Acid phosphate at the rate of 600 pounds per acre and nitrate of soda at the rate of 200 pounds per acre or a mixed fertilizer at the rate of 800 pounds per acre may be applied to give the plants a good quick start. This should be harrowed or raked into the surface soil before seeding.

The seed is usually planted in rows one foot apart and the soil well firmed by rolling or stamping. Just as soon as the plants are nicely up loosen the surface soil between the rows and follow shallow cultivation throughout the season providing a dust mulch. The plants should be thinned to about two inches apart.

Transplanting Described.

The seed may be started in shallow boxes and transplanted. From the results tabulated below the advantage of early seeding to get well developed plants for planting in the open is obvious. The seed if of good germination may be sown at the rate of about 10 to the square inch and not be over thick, a box having 2 feet of surface raising plenty of plants for home use. Three inches depth of soil is sufficient. After the plants are nicely started keep in a bright but not too warm window.

The Prizetaker is the best sort for transplanting. Seed started March 22 and transplanted May 11 yielded 27.06 tons of fully matured bulbs per acre These were planted three inches apart in the row. Prizetaker was thinly planted in flats February 7 and set to the open ground May 10, three inches apart in the rows, and produced 53.9 tons. It should be stated, however, that the latter grew on soil of better fertility than where the others were produced, the soil having previously been in onions for several years.

The varieties mentioned above were successfully grown on light sandy loam from seed sown May 8, 1920. Early Flat Red yielded 15.18 tons, Globe Danvers, 14.52 tons, and Prizetaker, 21.78 tons per acre. The latter were not as well matured as the other two sorts.

MOVING MOUNTAIN.

A mining village four miles from Bargoed, in the Rhymney Valley, is threatened with extinction owing to the movement of a mountain slope overlooking the narrow valley. Already several buildings have had to be propped up, among them the Rising Sun, the village inn. At the back of the inn are yawning crevices. Windows and doors have to be propped up, otherwise the structure would in all probability have now collapsed. In some parts of the village the road has sunk nearly 18 inches. The subsidence is a source of anxiety to the Rhymney Railway Company, whose trains have to proceed at snail's pace lest the vibration should bring a mass of mountain tumbling down on the village.

Billy Mason, of "Jim Jam Jems," is well-known in the motion picture world and created the George Ade fables in pictures, the Sweeny Series and the Ring W. Lardner baseball comedies. Mr. Mason was the first actor to appear in a motion picture baseball comedy. He was also featured in the films, "The Prince of India," "The Hearts of Men," and played opposite Dorothy Dalton in "Hard Boiled."

LINDSAY, April 2. — At the Police Court here on Wednesday afternoon last, Mrs. Martin was convicted of a second offense in selling liquor, and Magistrate Bradford imposed a six months' sentence in the County Jail, this sentence and a thirty-day one previously given.

The Magistrate, when imposing sentence, said he believed most of the evidence submitted to be nothing but chaff, although among the remaining wheat the evidence of the accused's own witnesses implicated her on the charge of selling liquor.

She is also guilty, he said, of a previous offence, and apart from the charge of which she is now convicted, Mrs. Martin's conduct has not been of the best.

Thick tread, side wall and fabric alone won't give mileage. They all must be properly proportioned and designed to work together on the road.

Correct design and using just the right amount of material gives Firestone Fabric Tires their balance and this balance gives the mileage.

Satisfied car owners prove that Firestones give most miles per dollar.

TO BE DYSPEPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

The poor dyspeptic suffers untold agony after every meal, and any one who has dyspepsia knows what joy it would give to eat three square meals a day and not be punished for it after. Nearly everything that enters the weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaen causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach into such a condition that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For over forty years Burdock Blood Bitters has been toning up and restoring weak stomachs to a normal healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and enables one to partake of all the wholesome food required without fear of any unpleasant after effects.

Mrs. Alice Becknorth, Fesserton, Ont., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years. I could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended I tried a bottle, and can gladly say it relieved me. I can eat anything now, and am in perfect health."

He Didn't Mean It.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Municipal Court Justice William Morris, who recently ruled that blonde women were too fickle to serve on a jury, when interviewed in the presence of his wife, said that he was merely endeavoring to flatter three brunettes who averted postponement of a case by graciously volunteering for jury duty.

He really didn't mean what he said in court, he explained. The Judge's wife is a blonde.

LABRADOR MEDICAL MISSION

The funds for Dr. Grenfell's work have come in wonderfully this year, and never was help more needed than now. It is with gratitude to all who have contributed that the treasurer acknowledges the receipt of $561.35. This amount has been sent to the general treasurer at Ottawa.

We desire to thank The Examiner for so generously giving space for the appeal, and in acknowledging amounts received in the paper. The Sunday Schools have also helped greatly in making this year's contribution more than any previous one. Lily Lake S. S. and the Centreville Presbyterian S.S. have given to the Mission for several years, and we are glad to have to record gifts from St. John's Anglican S. S. of 10.25, from George Street Methodist S. S. the splendid sum of $78.10, and from Murray Street Baptist S. S. $54.00. It is a great joy to have the children of Peterborough and vicinity helping the needy children of Labrador.

These Eternal Meals

"WHAT to get for dinner?" "What to get for supper?" To-day, to-morrow, next day, every day in the week.

This is woman's problem and the source of almost endless worry.

True, there are times when most women take a pleasure and pride in cooking and baking, but when you are not feeling up to the mark it does get on your nerves and become a real worry—a nerve-exhausting worry.

Since meals are essential to life, the old problem of "what to eat" must endure, but need not be a worry when your nerves are set right.

It is when you are tired—nerve tired — that such things become a source of worry. There is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to combat this condition.

It is because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is such a help under these very conditions that it has come to be relied upon by the great majority of Canadian women. Headaches, sleeplessness, tired, depressed feelings, lack of energy are some of the accompanying symptoms.

To best carry this out the "Oakoal Shareholders' Protective Committee" has been formed. Sixty thousand dollars of cash paid into the coffers of the company at 43 Scott street is represented by this committee, which is as follows: Douglas Cooper, films 34 Tranby ave.; A A. Farewell, M.D., Toronto General Hospital; G. R. Philp, 607 Sherbourne street, John Poag, Hamilton; J .E. Potts and H. J. Birkett, brokers, Toronto, and C. O. Fraser, W. R. Jackson, F. J. Loughrin, A. MacKay, M.D.; R. S. Pentecost, M. D.; W. T. Pember, of Toronto; R. W. Dixon and A. W. McLees, Oshawa; Andrew Lawrie, Forest, and J. S. Plummerfelt, Bronte.

Retain Counsel

These men have decided to call a full meeting of the shareholders of the company in the near future. In the meantime the "committee has retained A. C. MacMaster, K.C., to properly probe the affairs of the company, and find out where the big amounts of money coming in from sales of stock went, and just what certain officials of the company were able to secure in the way of stock, and just how this stock was disposed of, and to whom, and just what was done with this money.

The "committee" has announced that it will appeal to the shareholders to fight certain claims made against the company, one of which is the amount of $1,634. 75, claimed by J. R. Long, of Cooksville, as salary as managing director of the company.

HALF THOUSAND WILL INVADE HALIFAX CITY.

All Interested in Highways and Roads of This Dominion.

HALIFAX, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—Canadians interested in highways and roads of the Dominion, and their wives and friends to the number of half a thousand, are expected to invade and occupy Halifax about May 10th, 11th and 12th, when the first annual convention of the Canadian Goods Roads Association to be held in the Maritime Provinces, will be in session at the Technical College here. The convention, both in point of attendance and proceedings, will be one of the most important and significant ever held in this city, and for some months preparations for the event have been in progress under the direction of the Nova Scotia Good Roads Association.

Some of the more interesting and pregnant matters to be discussed at the convention are listed on a tentative programme as: Uniform traffic regulations (drive to the right), inter-Provincial highway connections, "Federal Aid," a comparison of the Provincial motor truck and motor car taxes, methods of financing roads (bonding), restriction of motor truck loads during certain seasons, methods of road maintenance, methods of road making. These subjects will all be discussed by local and imported experts, and the decisions made by the convention after thorough discussion cannot fail to have a profound influence on future highway laws and regulations throughout the Dominion.

The good-roaders will not confine themselves to listening to lectures and taking part in discussions if the plans of the local committees do not miscarry. Arrangements are being made for their entertainment by Halifax clubs and social groups. If the Spring weather permits, there will be motoring expeditions in the vicinity of Halifax and a longer drive through the famous Annapolis Valley and the Land of Evangeline. The delegates will thus gain some practical insight into the nature of Nova Scotian highways—the attention of the convention is to be directed especially to roads in the Maritime Provinces.

Men prominent in Provincial and Federal politics and in all works of life have been invited to attend the convention, which will be presided over by Dr. E. M. Desaulniers of Montreal Hon. S. J. Latta, Minister of Highways of Saskatchewan, is Vice-President of the Good Roads Association, and George A. MacNamee of Montreal is Secretary. S. L. Squire, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association, is among those who are taking an active and enthusiastic interest in the 1921 convention.

Those in charge of the local committees are:

Reception—R. H. Murray, K.C., President of the Nova Scotia Good Roads Association.

Entertainment—A. Gordon Watson.

Publicity—W. H. Dennis.

Ladies' Reception—Mrs. G. Fred. Pearson.

WELCOME BREAK IN FOOD PRICES.

Food Ministry's Affairs Wound Up.

LONDON, April 2.—(Associated Press).—The abolition of the British Food Ministry during and since the war involved a turnover of more than £1,000,000,000 and the Ministry's net profit on it amounted to less than one-tenth of one per cent. These facts are announced by Food Controller McCurdy in a valedictory address recently, in which he said that for the last six months he had been engaged in liquidating this, as he described it the "world's greatest trade corporation."

Mr. McCurdy said that the Ministry's operation had cost the taxpayers nothing and that the successive food ministers had substantially avoided making a profit at the expense of the consumer.

The Controller said that it had become possible to wind up the affairs of the Food Ministry because of the welcome break in the world's prices of food.

In removing control and restoring freedom to the people, he said, he had every evidence that food prices would continue to fall in Great Britain during the coming Spring and Summer and the better times were in store for the much harassed housewife.

OF INTEREST TO ALL METHODISTS.

Says Report on Denomination's Stand Regarding Recreations Was Misleading.

Charlotte E. Whitton, writing to the Christian Guardian, calls attention to what she characterizes as misleading reports, which are of special interest to the Methodist church, which have appeared in the daily press regarding the recent meeting at London of the Social Service Council of Canada.

The Committee on Social Hygiene, she says, presented in printed form a comprehensive report dealing with recreations. In this there were statements which many regarded as sanctioning the dance as a recognized form of recreation. The report was in printed form for presentation to the Council, and press reporters secured copies from which selections were published without calling attention to the fact that in the report as finally adopted, none of the passages quoted were retained.

At the first presentation of the report the representatives of the Methodist Board of Evangelism and Social Service objected to the whole treatment of the dance, and the report was referred to a small committee which recommended the elimination of all the passages in question. When the special report was presented, the Rev. Ernest Thomas was asked to speak for the committee. It is regrettable that some papers should have stated that he spoke in support of the report, without pointing out that he was supporting the report which cut out all the dance paragraphs. He, however, pointed out that this church was not alone in objecting, for on the first introduction into Western Europe of the waltz during the early part of the last century, both the Methodist and the Roman Catholic churches had put it under the ban, and neither had since seen any reason to change their attitude. The archives of Canada show abundant reason for this action.

The report as finally adopted simply advocated the promotion of supervised play and the introduction of group games instead of dancing where the latter is now being carried on. Mr. Thomas mentioned that the Ontario Government specialist course in physical training now includes supervised play. Some people appear to have confused supervised playgrounds, etc., with supervised dance halls.

It is my hope that this statement will remove the confusion.

BRADFORD, Eng., April 2. — (Associated Press).—Efforts by United States traders to anticipate the proposed tariff on wool and wool products has boomed the trade of Bradford with America.

The value of wool exported from Bradford to the United States during the month of February was £284,243, as compared with £59,000 in January.

DIAMONDS LOST IN REGISTERED POST

AMSTERDAM, April 2.—(Associated Press).—A diamond broker here recently sent by registered post to his brother in Antwerp a sealed package containing unset diamonds worth 120,000 guilders. Upon receipt, the brother found the seals intact, but, in some mysterious manner, the diamonds had been extracted and, in their place, were a number of ball-bearings, for bicycles.

THE NEED FOR STORM DRAINS

To the Editor,
Peterborough Examiner:

Dear Sir,— On Wednesday next, April 6th, the ratepayers of the city will be asked to vote on a by-law for $40,000 for storm drains. In this connection, I would very much like to make an explanation of the need for this money.

In the first place, the sewerage system in this city was designed only to accommodate domestic sewage and the industrial wastes from factories. The storm water was not included in the original design and this being the case, the sewerage system is entirely inadequate for the purpose of handling the storm water.

In the second place, it is not advisable to put storm water into sewers on account of the large amount of sewage which would have to be handled at disposal plants. As you know, Peterborough has practically no permananet storm drains except where the pavements have been laid and they, of course, cover only a very small area of the city. For some time past, this Department has been working on the question of storm drainage and we have prepared schemes for getting rid of the storm water which cover practically all of the built up parts of the city. It is not proposed to do all of this work at once as it would mean a very great expenditure, but it is proposed that a start should be made on these various systems, beginning at the outlet and each year doing more work and gradually working up until each individual system is complete. This is the only way in which we can prevent the flooding which occurs in numerous portions of the city in the spring and fall, and when we have heavy rain storms during the summer.

One of the principal existing drains is that known as the Edison drain. This was built some 25 years ago and was constructed of cedar logs, which have now rotted out, with the result that we are continually patching this drain and trying to keep it clean, but I am quite well aware that at the present time this drain will not allow more than one-quarter as much water to pass as would go through a smooth pipe of corresponding size. This drain drains practically the whole of the western section of the city and unless it is rebuilt in a very short time, there will be serious damage caused. Other sections of the city will be taken care of in their respective schemes. Ashburnham included among the others. I would most strongly urge the ratepayers of this city to vote for this by-law as this appears to be the only way in which money can be raised for this work, and if something is not done, the present conditions will continue to exist indefinitely.

Thanking you for your space, I remain,

Yours truly,
R. H. PARSONS,
City Engineer.

THE SATURDAY COLUMN

(By QUINTUS)

This column will contain an article each Saturday by Quintus of general interest and of educational value

Just as the early inhabitants of Greece are supposed to have come from the north and of northern Europe generally from the east and north, so the inhabitants of Central America appear to have come from the north at some date prior to 500 A.D. The Toltecs, probably came down at this date and the Aztecs, who succeeded them three or four hundred years later, settled down in mid-America. It had been supposed by explorers that they represented the earliest inhabitants. But time and excavations have shown this theory to be untenable. Vast ruins indicating a high degree of civilization, and to be compared with the ancient ruins of eastern—that is oriental—countries, have been brought to light. And just as elsewhere a high degree of civilization has quite certainly subsisted alongside or near to barbarism, Caribbean tribes which will do very well as a name to describe the barbarians of Central America were, and are yet for that matter, just common savages like the South Sea islanders. Ancient California was the home of tribes who had no clothes, no gods, no spirits, no chiefs, no laws and appeared to be but one remove from the brute. But in the cliff-dwellings of Arizona, etc., and which compare with European cliff-dwellings, we find a race refined and to all intents and purposes civilized. Strange to say, the races distributed throughout the Americas differed in colour as in other ways. Some were white with ruddy skins like the dwellers in the foothills of the Andes mountains. Others were black with fuzzy hair. Others were dark and red or yellow with straight hair. Others had much hair and others again very little. Indeed it will appear on a wide reading of this subject that the Americas appear to have been the home of the human race for thousands of years. And those who think that these races came by way of Behring Strait will have some difficulty in reconciling the Mongoloid and yet stunted appearance of the aborigines of the north the Eskimo and the Patagonians, who are a very tall, dark and much more savage race. The mound-builders built, one might say, all over the present U. S., except the southwest and possibly they began their history more and much more than two thousand years ago. These mounds correspond to the temples, burial gounds, defensive works, etc., of the more highly-civilized Central Americans, of whom they are supposed by some to have been precursors. But the language test is the most perplexing of all. Some of the languages are as highly developed as the Chinese and like that language have separate characters for each word. Others have words a yard long made up of many sentences describing so to speak in one breath all that is necessary to describe a person, an occasion, or an event. These languages apparently have no relationship whatever to European, African or Asiatic languages. The fact is the earlier inhabitants of every country or rather continent are yet a mystery. Naturally we say that the aborigines of Australia, as the most barbarous of tribes everywhere, indicate the dawn of civilization or at any rate the decay of barbarism, but when we find civilization and barbarism living together as we do even in the world today who can say that the barbarous races of today indicate an age long prior to the age of civilization since they are both existing at the same time, just as the stone and iron ages do Races, like people, may begin at the same date and proceed at very unequal rates. The old stone age or the flint age exists even now in the very next field to the highest development of machinery and engines of war. The age of humanity is vastly more ancient everywhere than has hitherto been supposed and it is first met with not in any small place, but all over the world, though its characteristics are in common. It is known also that populations were extensive and numerous even as much as thirty thousand years ago, and perhaps vastly longer. Geology and astronomy are settling for us the age before which mankind could not have begun. But wherever it did begin the fact remains that there is nothing in the primeval history of the Americas which does not point to a similar antiquity and development or continuance of mankind there as elsewhere. The tradition of early oriental races is that men first came out of the region of Central Asia, but there is no value in that tradition since the discovery of America. There will have to be some new theory of the rise of mankind if it is to meet the facts of the case.

There is little difference in the antiquity or archaeology of Egypt and that of Central America and the same may be said regarding the valley of the Euphrates and its Babylonian peoples and their Semitic forerunners. Now the Semitic or Arab race is very ancient, so is the Mongoloid. They are in no sense alike. Who can point to their similarity of origin? And where is the race relative of the Red Indian or the natives of the pampas of Brazil and Argentina. The scientific histories of these questions may be learned from the Smithsonian Institute at Washington and elsewhere but the impression held by many that the antiquity of America is not worth wasting time over is as great a mistake as it would be to say the same thing of the buried ages of antiquity elsewhere. Man has been allowed to find out for himself practically all that he knows concerning the earth and the universe in which it exists and that the most necessary and important of the lessons he has learned have been expressed figuratively for his guidance and information is both plain and natural to suppose. To have the idea that mind can evolve itself out of not-mind without other agency than itself is to think the logically impossible. It is to climb a ladder resting upon nothing.

Science or organized knowledge teaches us to investigate all things as they actually are and it teaches us therefore to know what we name the spiritual as well as what we call the material. And just as development depends ultimately for its foundation upon some other agency than that actually within the thing developed so must the realm of what we call the spirit depend for its foundation upon something other than itself. That mankind has presented much that is unlovely and unspiritual to our view is only to say that such bodies as the moon appear strangely waste, deserted and unlovely also. But the moon is not the work of man nor is a bursting world the work of man and however much some may feel inclined to criticise even the make-up of the universe itself yet it is not scientific nor is it for that matter sane to set up oneself in judgment upon it.

It is impossible for the most savage sceptic to suppose that he has more mind and thought than the energy which made what has become manifest to us and supplies the motive power. In fact to be sensible we must suppose the Creator to have been man upon an infinite scale and therefore vastly more than man. The study of the earth and what is in and upon it, like our study of the universe, increases our awe and reverence

It is this neglect and ignorance of the immaterial that has left us pretty much in the condition which preceded the extinction of all civilizations. Next week I shall deal with those most wonderful and mysterious remains upon the earth today, viz.: the cliff-dwellings and their wonderful remains.

TO CELEBRATE CAPTURE OF BRIELLE TOWN.

Queen Wilhelmina Will Participate in Anniversary Activities.

BRIELLE, Holland, April 2. — (Associated Press).—Queen Wilhelmina is expected to participate in the celebration, a year from to-day, of the 350th anniversary of the capture of Brielle from the Duke of Alva's forces, one of the most important historical events in the Reformation period.

Brielle was the first town captured by the Dutch Protestants, and this event paved the way ultimately for the downfall of the great Spanish Empire in Europe. The town was taken by surprise on April 1, 1572.

Plans for the celebration, which is to be one of the most spectacular in Dutch history, are already under way.

FRED. BEAUVAIS HAS GOOD NAME.

Linked With Mrs. Stillman in Divorce Case.

NEW YORK, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—A special from Lake Placid to the New York World gives Fred. Beauvais, the Canadian guide, who was named in the Stillman suit, a very high reputation among those who came in contact with him during his stay at that place. The World despatch says:

"That Fred Beauvais, the guide whose name is linked with that of Mrs. James A. Stillman, was not guilty of the slightest misconduct in his six months' stay at Lake Placid Club last year, was the assertion made by several persons who knew him very well. On the contrary, they said, he gave evidence of so much education and refinement that he mingled with the guests from New York and elsewhere to such an extent that other employees became critical.

"When Beauvais applied for employment at the club as an instructor in swimming, fishing and boating, he was required to give the best of references and to agree to conditions so exacting that they even bar smoking.

"Beauvais began his duties in June occupying a room in the boat house on Lake Placid. Soon his skill as a fisherman, boatman and woodsman attracted the attention of the guests. One of his feats was to shove a canoe into the water, leap into it, and remain standing, hardly rocking it. Often he took parties on trips lasting several days.

"When the Indian camp-fire spectacle was held in the big amphitheatre in The Woods, Beauvais led one of the tribes. He talked Indian as fluently as English or French, and knew the language thoroughly. At the request of the club he engaged five Indians from Canada for the spectacle."

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

DIAMONDS SLUMP.

JOHANNESBURG, April 2. — (Associated Press).—A falling off in demand for diamonds makes prospects for the diamond industry much less satisfactory for 1921 than has been the case of recent years, according to Sir Thomas Cullinan. He told the Premier Diamond Company's stockholders that only one shift of workmen were engaged at the mines.

SPACIOUS NEW IMMIGRATION TERMINAL

Inspection Room for Immigrants arriving at St. John, N.B.

Complete, up-to-date terminal accommodation is now installed on the west side of St. John, New Brunswick, harbor. This new terminal, just completed, provides everything for the comfort and convenience of the man, woman and child arriving from the old to a new world.

The difficulties in the past in handling an abnormal passenger traffic service have been completely overcome by the installation of this modern plant. The superiority of the new passenger accommodation lies mainly in the provision for continuous handling of passengers through immigration, baggage, ticket assembly and other departments without the exposure of travellers to weather and inconvenience in journeying to and fro in tiresome dock sheds.

Ample accommodation is provided for baggage (from the largest class of ships) to be spread on the floor of a well heated and lighted baggage hall at one time in alphabetical order, giving a spacious section to each letter, thus avoiding all confusion and delay.

The building is five hundred feet in length by sixty feet in width and has a well covered platform on both sides. Three lines of tracks are located immediately in the rear of the wharf sheds. Baggage is loaded into cars on one side of the shed and passengers entrained from the opposite side, sliding doors being provided at frequent intervals on both sides. This room being electric lighted, steam-heated and well ventilated, has proved a valuable factor in rapid embarkation to waiting trains.

In designing the new immigration quarters, every consideration has been paid to the comfort of the incoming settler. The social side has consideration in the fact that British-born, both men and women, have special dormitories and quarters. Like arrangements and comforts are provided for foreign born. The interior work throughout the buildings is excellent, the floors in polished hardwood, the walls and ceilings in Pedlar metal sheeting, harmoniously painted in two shades of gray. Heating, lighting and ventilating systems are carried out in white and silver. The result is a building commodious, comfortable, bright and sanitary.

Passengers are landed from the ship's gangway on the floor of wharf-shed through an inclined covered passageway. In the Immigration Hall separate examination rooms are provided for Canadian and U. S. services. After examination, the passengers emerge into a railway ticketing hall, where tickets can be obtained for the railway journey to the interior destination. Refreshments may also be purchased for the train journey by those who do not wish to make use of dining cars. The passengers then enter another covered passageway which leads across the tracks at high level and then down an inclined rampway into the middle of the baggage shed. Baggage is brought ashore and placed in the shed before passengers are landed, where it is claimed, examined and checked as soon as ticketing is completed.

The waiting room is filled with wall seats in the form of three sides of a square in each structural bay, and has a seating capacity for three hundred persons. It has toilet accommodation of modern sanitary type and a nursery, fitted with cots and chairs. This is operated by the Red Cross Society where children's food may be prepared on an electric stove. Children's clothes may be washed and dried in a special room.

The waiting rooms are sheathed with Douglas Fir, natural finish, and are well lighted with large windows. Emergency exit is provided by means of an inclined rampway to the ground.

The new quarters are reached from an examination room in the upper floor by means of an open bridge across the intervening tracks at high level. The entrance from this bridge is into the large recreation room. In the men's quarters a large dormitory and a small dormitory are provided for foreign men and a small dormitory for British men. A disinfecting toilet and bath room is also provided. The dining room and kitchen are also on this floor. A central corridor leads to an emergency exit with a rampway to the ground from the end of the building. A separate passage way leads off to the women's quarters.

They have a large dormitory for foreign women, and one for British women. A matron's room, storerooms and an emergency exit to waiting room outside rampway, complete these quarters.

The work which was begun on December twenty-first was rushed through to completion by the middle of February.

Mother and Seven Little Ones Find Little Time to Weep When Death Removes the Breadwinner

The Supervision Committee of the Peterborough Health Association has an allowance of $50 per month for milk and eggs. In 1920 alone, 2,500 quarts of milk and 150 dozen eggs were supplied free to patients. During that year, there were eighteen tubercular cases in Peterborough, to whom 500 visits were made by the visiting nurse. Nine of these cases were in the advanced stage when reported and have since died. That the Great White Plague is no respecter of persons or ages may be seen by the variety of its victims—one a mother of three, a young boy of sixteen, a girl of eighteen (cut off in the flower of their lives), a boy of six, a baby even of eight weeks, a father of seven, of whom the report says: "He was supplied by the Health Association with milk, eggs and medicine and made as comfortable as possible. His widow was left without any means whatever of support and has had to look for work to keep the family."

There is no time here for protracted mourning. With sickness and death, with a brood of seven and the wolf clamoring at the door, this woman will hardly have time to sit down and weep.

And that mother who went away and left eight little ones behind her. "She, too, was in the advanced stage and not much could be done but make her comfortable. As her bedroom was hot and close, a tent was loaned by the Health Association." Without this kindly attention, then, this mother would have died gaspingly in a hot, close room, coughing her last moments away while pleasure-seekers in cool, breeze-swept cars hurried hither and thither in quest of enjoyment.

Truly, but for the Good Samaritans of the world, the plight of the poor and diseased, bad as it is, would be many times harder.

Invitations For a Party

The invitations for a party on April 1st should be written on foolscap paper, and the guest is asked to come and "Meet Cousin Bob." Of couse, there is no Cousin Bob, and when the guests ask about him, the hostess may tell a different story to each enquirer.

As the guests arrive they find the house in darkness, and a large sign of "Wet Paint" is found on the door. Beside the bell is another sign telling that the bell is out of order and suggesting that the tin pan and hammer placed there be used instead.

In the hall is a large sign saying "Merry Christmas." The parlor is decorated as for a St. Patrick party. the living-room is strung with red paper hearts and other suggestions of St. Valentine. The dining-room is gay with bunting and flags.

Announce that the first game will be an old-fashioned peanut hunt and that only five minutes will be allowed for the hunt. Perhaps before five minutes are up everybody will have become aware that there are no peanuts hidden.

The next game will be a drawing contest, no one being excused on the plea that they cannot draw. Everyone must try. When all provided with paper and pencil, tell them to "draw their own conclusions."

But the real fun begins with refreshments. The table is covered with wrapping paper instead of a cloth. Squares of bright colored cloth are the napkins, the salt is in the sugar bowl and the sugar in the salt shaker. At each place is a fool's cap made of bristol board. These are to be worn, during the supper. The menu consists of potato salad, nam sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee. In two or three of the sandwiches a piece of red flannel takes the place of the sliced ham, and when the doughnuts are made, in two or three are placed small pieces of cotton. These are covered with the dough and fried in the usual manner. These fake sandwiches and doughnuts are put on the plates with the good ones.

Instead of the usual table silver have chop sticks tied with bright red ribbons. These may be taken home for souvenirs. If it is not possible to get the chop ticks, use soup spoons for the salad instead of forks. —From To-Day's Housewife.

Rest Room In Peterboro

The U.F.O. has become familiar to most of us within the last few years as an organization of increasing strength. Now we have the ladies of rural communities gathering together as the United Farm Women of Ontario. The main object of the local branch just now, however, is not at all political. They are directing their energies towards a very good cause.

Realizing that market day is a trying occasion and that farm women have no place to go in the town outside of the hotels, streets or grocery stores, they have taken over a room above the U.F.O. grocery store on Simcoe Street and intend to fit it up as a rest-room where members will be welcome at all times. This will fill a long-felt want, and the ladies intend, if possible, later on to maintain a refreshment table in connection with their room. They also contemplate, in the future, the establishment of classes here in domestic science, nursing and all kinds of "home" knowledge, and are holding a dance shortly to raise funds to furnish the rest-room. The officers of this local branch are: Mrs. Geo. Simpson, President; Mrs. J. Thompson, Vice-President, and Miss H. Shaw, Secretary.

Coming Events

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the G. W. V. A. has been holding a series of pleasant little tea dances in the hall on Murray Street. Ose of these takes place this afternoon. The ladies in charge take a great deal of trouble to prepare for these little affairs which are charmingly informal. Arrangements are going forwad also just now for the Auxiliary tag day on April 23rd, the anniversary of St. Julian's Day, one of the hottest engagements in whilh the Canadian boys took part in the Great War.

Joint Recital

A joint recital by Dorothy Allan Park, mezzo soprano, and Frank Tattersall, solo pianist, will be given in the Great War Veteran's Hall, on Murray Street, on Friday, April 22nd.

THE SPRING RAIN.

(By Jeannette.)

On grimy roofs of sombre gray,
And leaden smoke-stacks tall,
Upon the pavements far below,
Where weary toilers to and fro
Have trudged through months of ice and snow,
The rains of April fall.

The misty hues of Spring-time skies,
And softening vernal showers,
Bring from their warm and drowsy sleep—
Where close-enwrapped in slumber deep
The Winter's torpid watch they keep—
The buds of Summer's flowers.

In up-turned furrows far and near
The rich wheat lies concealed,
And sifting down through earth and mould,
Where locked by fingers of frost and cold,
The good grain waits in kernels of gold
By the work of the friendly rain revealed.

"Blondes"

That New York court judge who remarked last week that he would have no blonde women on his juries, because they were fickle, has now withdrawn his statement with the explanation that he was merely endeavoring to flatter three brunettes who averted postponement of a case by graciously volunteering for jury duty. He explained that he really didn't mean what he said in court. The item mentions casually that he was interviewed in the presence of his wife, who is a blonde. One would think that a gentleman possessing a wife with sufficient influence to make him see the error of his remarks in such a short space of time would exercise a little more care in his conversation.

CENSORSHIP OF THE MOVIES

In all the recent agitation over the "movies," in all the increased censorship of the silent drama which is so strongly advocated, not a word is ever said about the general aggravatingness of the "deaf and dumb" shows. There is that maddening habit which is peculiar to both sexes portrayed in this art, but is a more pronounced trait of the female of the species, of turning away from the hero at a critical moment and gazing off-stage somewhere, obdurately refusing to notice his signals of distress. For long moments the lady favors us with a viem of her profile or of her back hair, while the hero goes through all the S.O.S. signs in vain. She knows, and the audience knows right well, that as soon as his back disappears in the distance she will turn and stretch out her hands for his return, or, if a door slams between them, she will, no doubt, cast herself upon it and even go so far at times as to pound with clenched fists. In the meantime, while the audience is tense with irritation and the film reels onward, she maintains her pose of icy silence.

The Serials.

Then there are the serials: Why does the wooden-headed hero with the Grecian features always step backward into the open trap-door, or hearken unfailingly to the fake telephone message, and does he ever fail to face the villainous crew in their stronghold with only his rusty pop-gun by his side? Not he! And then the heroine follows him, and we find them once more in the hands of the marauders, all ready to be burnt alive or compelled by torture to drain the poisonous draught. Wouldn't it be a relief to have a little common sense in the films once in a while.

Suppose the weak sister, instead of falling a victim to the dope-fiend's wiles, should repulse him severely and marry the honest butcher boy. Then, instead of finding her in reel No. 3 with a cigarette and jade ear-rings, staging a fight for a couple of drunken half-breeds, she would be shown rocking the baby to sleep, with the peaceful butcher reading the paper on the other side of the table.

And the way these "movie" people die is awful. They don't "flop" down respectably and give up the ghost in a normal manner. Not a bit of it. They die by inches, or, as one might say, by long drawn-out feet of film.

Silent Drama.

A hero in a much-praised silent drama which visited our town lately, being stabbed to the heart, had time between the occurrence and his actual demise to dispose of his slayer, to grab a revolver and shoot his own villainous son, to bid the heroine a long farewell, and to register a wonderful series of facial expressions. When he finally consented to die, one wondered if he were really done for, or if he would come to life again and finish off some more little jobs.

And the brand of conversation which these people indulge in is peculiarly inane. A great deal is achieved by a dash. Hero to heroine: "But for you—," and that is all that is necessary. We realize what he means; that his life would have been ruined without the benign influence of this dimpled darling. Mother to son: "Henry, do you remember—," pointing to picture, and no one in the audience can fail to grasp the significance of those words.

So it goes. Besides being a menace to the morals of the young in some instances, the pictures are often a descent to the realms of the foolish and the empty-headed.

FOLLOW THOU ME.

Hear the sweet voice of Jesus, in tender tones say,
To each homeward-bound pilgrim on life's rugged way,
Tho' through bare, barren, desert-lands, trackless, unknown,
Bending, heavy, loadladen, you journey alone,
While stretches the thorny road, far beyond sight
Down deep, dreary valley, or up steep, craggy height;
Close beset, with dire dangers, on every side
Perils, pitfalls, familiar to no mortal guide,
If that beauteous bourne, where thou longest to be
Thou wouldst reach, at last, safely, then follow thou Me.
If through green, flowery meadows, beneath sunny skies,
By serene, tranquil waters, the pleasant path lies,
While the gay world, with false, fickle, flattering smile
From virtue's straight way, would thy footsteps beguile,
Her low lusts and vain pleasures, and proud pomp display
To lure thee on Folly's broad downgrade, astray,
But, if that fair land, with its City of Gold,
Happy home of the faithful, thou hop'st to behold,
Press on, from the trammels of earth, keep thee free,
Shun the world's empty glory, and follow thou Me.
On the voyage of life, when dark skies are o'ercast,
And around, and above, sweeps adversity's blast,
When thy barque on the billows, before the wild gale
Is driven with bent mast, and tempest-torn sail,
Or when storms have subsided, and surges at rest,
Till, a smooth sea of glass, seems then ocean's calm breast,
So unruffled, unrippled, soft silent tides flow,
Through all, to that Port, where no storms can e'er be,
I will pilot thee safely, then follow thou Me.

CRITICISM AND REMINISCENCE

(By PATERFAMILIAS)

COINCIDENTAL DATES.

Last Thursday marked the anniversary of two outstanding events affecting the history of Europe. One hundred and six years ago March 31st, Paris, France, attacked the Allied European troops in the war against Napoleon, which followed hns disastrous retreat from Moscow ending in December, 1812, was evacuated by the French regular soldiers, and 120,000 of the great coalition's forces took possession of the tyrant Emperor's capital. This may be said to have ended the remarkable Napoleonic era, for when Napoleon left his army, really demoralized, as a result of the appalling termination to the Russian campaign, fifteen months previously, and flew in despair from Villeneuve to Paris, it was only to be met by General Belliard at Fromentain with the news that Paris had capitulated to his enemies, and the Empire he had won for himself with the sword practically dismembered. On April 11th, Napoleon signed an act surrendering the throne of France for self and heirs, and was exiled by the great powers to Elba, one of the Tuscan islands in the Mediterranean sea, retaining the empty title of Emperor, with an annuity of two million francs with which to retain a retinue and bodyguard of one thousand men.

But the exiled Emperor subsequently escaped from his island prison and with nine hundred of his devoted followers, landed in the Bay St. Jouan, three miles out of Antibes. His old battle-scarred troops rallied round him, and he reached Paris with an army quite formidable, including among its officers Marshal Ney and other leaders potential for rousing that old time Napoleonic loyalty and martial spirit that had conquered Europe. The defection of Ney and that of Louis XVIII's whole army drove that monarch from the throne to seek an asylum in England, when Napoleon once more proclaimed himself Emperor of France. He then endeavored to propitiate the other powers of Europe, but they would not recognize his sovereignty, and assembling in congress at Vienna, declared Napoleon had placed himself out of the pale of civil and social relations, and that as the general enemy and disturber of the world they abandoned him to international justice.

Practically all Europe, apart from France, here flew to arm against the usurper, when Napoleon realized that his hopes for peace was illusory ,and he prepared for war.

And, by a strange coincidence, the first blow in this struggle, destined to result in Napoleon's final and irrevocable undoing, was struck by Murate—on the last day of March also—exactly one year following the evacuation of Paris by French troops as above recorded, and one hundred and five years ago last Thursday.

In this campaign of Europe against Napoleon, as in the one which sent the Emperor to Elba, England agreed to finance the rest of the belligerent powers, although in the struggle of 1815 her troops, as well as her money, took the dominant part — ending in Napoleon's defeat, mainly by Wellington, the Iron Duke, and his mixed army at Waterloo, followed by this greatest of the nineteenth's century's military conquerors being exiled to St. Helena, a solitary rock lying between Africa and America, where he died.

In this connection it might also be noticed that during the last great war against a would-be military hero, who for the sake of gaining a great name started to devastate the best part of this world, England once more assisted in financing her allies, besides putting into the field the greatest army, manifold, she had ever raised in her history. Again, we find some measure of comfort in the thought that this same aspirer to Napoleonic fame, not to say infamy, like his Corsican predecessor was constrained to abdicate his throne and find refuge in exile, although the world would breathe far easier were the former German Emperor established in St. Helena, where the French Emperor-Potentiate bade farewell to all the pomps and kingly vanities of this wicked world.

ALL FOOLS DAY.

Yesterday was All Fools Day, the first of April, when everyone is licensed to make what is termed an April fool of whom they can, and whe i he or she who takes offense is considered a cross-grained silly churl. It is a curious old custom, augmenting, some say, with ancient pagans—and those self-same pagans have a good deal to answer for, if true—a custom which consists of sending some one—male or female, it maters not—on a bootless errand, or in making them look foolish by innocent means, on the first day of April. Others contend that this ridiculous practice is perhaps a travesty of the sending hither and thither of the Saviour from Annas to Caiaphas, and from Pilate to Herold, because during the middle ages this scene in Christ's life constituted the subject of a miracle play at Easter, which generally falls in the month of April. But whatever the real origin of this April Fool Custom, they make the most of the day's generally accepted freedom, in Europe and the British Isles, to play off harmless jokes and tricks in ridicule of the unguarded. In England one who falls for such tricks or jokes is promptly designated an April Fool, and is expected to grin and bear it, in Scotland the term applied is gowk (Scotch for cuckoo, and also for a foolish person). A favorite jest in Britain is to send one on an errand absolutely nonsensical, such as say, for the history of Adam's grandfather; to make appointments never meant to be kept, or to inform a passer-by that he has dropped something, or that his pocket is on fire from his pipe. If he walks into the trap set for him, so to speak, then he is pronounced an April Fool or a gowk ,when everybody laughs excepting, on occasions, the one fooled, who lets loose maybe some such forcible anathema as silly ass, and all the others laugh some more. It is curious that the Hindus of India practice precisely similar tricks on the last day of March, when they hold their Huli Festival.

Talking of jokes, there are many grades of them — some harmful, some innocent, other lovable and soul-stirring. As for those in the later category, let us look for instance at Scrooge's great joke on his poverty-stricken little clerk, Bob Catchit. Cold-blooded indeed he or she who are not stirred to the innermost depths by this beautiful Christmas story by Dickens. Just picture for one moment Scrooge, a grasping, scraping, covetous old sinner, after the visits to him at night of the Ghosts of Christmas Past, Christmas Present and Christmas Yet to Come, coveted to a realization of his miserable grinding, squeezing disposition. See him down at his office early the morning following Christmas, chuckling with Childish glee and waiting for his impoverished clerk to arrive late after his innocent Christmas festivities at home with family and little cripled Tiny Tim, his youngest born. An dof course Bob was late, and entered the office in fear and trembling. "You are late, sir," growled Scrooge, step this way if you please. Now, I'll tell you what, my friend, I am not going to stand this sort of thing any longer and therefore,' he went on, leaping from his stool and giving Bob such a dig in the waistcoat that he staggered back into the Tank again. And here came Scrooge's big joke, for instead of firing his clerk as his clerk expected, he raised his salary. Just imagine fo rone moment this one-time surly old curmudgeon of a boss saying ot the astonished Bob: "A merry Christmas, my 'good fellow,' and slapping him on the back in earnest good nature, with "A merrier Christmas, Bob, than I have given you for many a year; I'll raise your salary and endeavour to assist your struggling family, and we'll discuss your affairs this very afternoon over a Christmas bowl of smoking punch, Bob. Make up the fires and buy another coal scuttle before you dot another i, Bob Catchit. And Scrooge did it all and infinitely more.

Such was Scrooge's joke on Bob Catchit, who instead of losing his job, as he fully anticipated from knowledge of Scrooge's flint-hearted, miserly nature, found in his master the best friend a struggling little clerk ever had. Jokes like that elevate their perpetrator a litle higher toward the angels. Would that there were more of them played on either April Fool's Day or at other times.

ON THE SPORTS' MAP OF CANADA

It is not the intention here to go deeply into the history of sports in this town, but only to just touch on the subject sufficiently to draw attention to the fact that away back in 1884 Peterborough was very much on the sporting map of Canada, and reputed as a town in which young men did not lack for athletic associations. First, we find listed in 1884, the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, with the following officials: Hon. President, R. A. Morrow; President, H. LeBrun (and a good clean sport he was!); Captain W. A. Sanderson; Secretary-Treasurer, G. H. Giroux; Treasurer, C. Rutherford; Executive Committee, John Sheehy, J. Coughlin and M. Tierney.

In 1883 or '84, Peterborough held the Central District Lacrosse championship, having a team of husky manipulators of the stick and ball of which any town might well be proud. Perhaps Peterboro's greatest rivals were the Orillia team, and when those two teams met—why, they did so with a shock in which stick play figured oftimes quite vigorously on each other's persons, irrespective of rules and regulations. For they were a hardened bunch, especially the boys from Orillia town, who were simply crazy on lacrosse, and for some unexplained reason always crazy, too, that Peterboro should be "beaten."—in the literal sense of the term.

By the way this calls to mind an incident in the writer's experience when he had ocasion to suspect that either the whole town of Orillia was cracy or that he had struck the burg on a "day out" for all the unfortunate inmates of the asylum there.

Some twenty-five years ago a chum and I took a trip to this northern town, holiday bent, and incidentally to hunt up another chappie of our acquaintance. We knew his street but not the house number and fortunately located the former first shot. Seeing a benevolent-looking, apparently kindly disposed old gentleman standing at his gate, we made for him with our best inquiring smile. And, from memory, here's an idea of the conversation which ensued:

"Pardon me, sir, can you kindly direct us to where Mr. B. lives?"

"Oh! That's too bad; but we are anxious to locate our friend, Mr. B."

B. O. G.—"It was simply awful!" (terrifying grimace here.)

"Dear one, I'm so sorry; hope you will soon feel relief: we shall if you can kindly give us Mr. B's number."

B. O. G.—"Did you ever have a tooth pulled?"

(Rather fiercely.)

"No!— but—"

B. O. G.—Then don't let him touch it—oh! oh! oh!" (with hand to face.)

Just here, along came a lad grinning like a Cheshire cat—a tantalizing, give-you-the-laugh sort of a grin, you know.

Lad—"Don't take any notice of him, sir; he's crazy—and there's more of 'em around here!"

We in chous, "Oh!"

The lad not knowing exactly our friend's whereabouts, we made for a decent "sensible"-looking business house just around the corner, and addressed our enquiry to what appeared a likeable young fellow standing alone in the middle of the store.

But, to our earnest query for our friends house, he simply stared and mumbled something about lacrosse.

The proprietor, then appearing on the scene, he tiped us the wink and whisered, "Nutty, you know, hasn't been out long."

The proprietor, not knowing the home we were in search of, "Come along, Joe," said I, "let's go and have a look at the asylum." So

BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SPRING

The Spring is a time of anxiety to mothers who have little ones in the home. Conditions make it necessary to keep the baby indoors. He is often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catches colds which rack his whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. This will prevent colds, constipation or colic and keep baby well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

away we went and outside that institution met a friendly sort of chap who not only gave us Mr. B's exact address, but asked us to have a — well, never mind.

Of course, Joe and I might have rung every door bell on that street until we landed the right one, but after meeting the man of tooth extraction obsession, we thought we had better not.

But, to get along. In 1884 Peterborough boasted a pretty good Cricket Club, of which Mr. C. A. Weller was president. The other officials were: Vice-presidents, Hon. Robert Hamilton and Rev. V. Clementi; secretary, Mr. E. A. Peck. Two or three attempts to revive cricket the last decade have proved failures, unfortunately so, for it is, perhaps, one of the cleanest of all games.

Then there was a lively Football Club, with the following officers: President, F. J. Lewis; vice-presidents, H. Kay Coleman and A. St. A. Smith; captain, W. H. Budden; secretary-treasurer, J. Morris. Football here started off to a new and vigorous spurt last year, and should be generally supported, for it is a great and a man's game.

A Bicycle Club organized in 1883, was officered by: President, D. W. Dumble; captain, Frank Hilliard; lieutenant, Charles McLennan; secretary-treasurer, W. F. Kingan; executive, A. Mercer, C. H. Clementi and W. F. Kingan. This club has evidently given way to the local automobile organization.

There was also the Boating Club, over which E. B. Edwards presided, with John McClelland, president; A. J. Belcher, captain; Geo. Stevenson, secretary; Alex. Elliott, treasurer, and an executive committee composed of F. Cox, F. Rutherford, J. Mercier and J. E. Hawkins.

Lawn Tennis was represented in a club, Miss Dennison being president; A. St. A. Smith, treasurer; F. W. Hamilton, secretary.

And so, you see, taking one thing with another, and allowing for difference in population, Peterborough may be classed as having been a better all-round sporting town thirty-seven years ago than it is to-day. However, of late, considerable stimulus has been given sport here — good, clean, amateur athletics — and it is to be hoped that spirit will be substantially encouraged and fostered; for sport is physically wholesome for boys, youths and men, while clean sport, and abundance of it, develops that type of manhood from which dominating nations spring. "They are a nation of sports!" mockingly cried the ex-Kaiser. But that nation of sports—British, Canadians, Australians — men, aye, and women, too — undaunted by terrible odds; intrepid, fearless, four-square in and out of action, carried on, and still carried on until victory crowned the banners of the Allies in the great world-war, and reflected glory on those sporting races from which invincible armies sprang in defence of freedom and "fair play" for all. Let there be sport, and plenty of it for both sex.

SICK IN BED FOR A LONG, LONG TIME

C. H. POBRAN NOW PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Hafford, Sask., April 1.—(Special).—Dodd's Kidney Pills have few more faithful friends in any part of Canada than C. H. Pobran, well known and highly respected here. He gives the reason in a few words that go right to the point.

"I was sick in bed for a long time before I used Dodd's Kidney Pills," he says, "and I am healthy now. I am very thankful I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is friends like Mr. Pobran who have given Dodd's Kidney Pills the reputation which for twenty years has stamped them as Canada's standard kidney remedy. They have been used for all forms of kidney disease, such as backache, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes, rheumatism and heart disease. They have given satisfaction. If you haven't tried Dodd's Kidney Pills ask your neighbors about them.

TEMPERANCE SUNDAY IN CHURCHES SOON

A meeting of the central executive of the Referendum Committee was held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. to lay plans for the vote on derstandings which are found to be on April 18th. Reports were received from the various ward and other committees. These reports showed that good work is being done.

According to some of the canvassers there is a great deal of misunderstanding in regard to the temperance situation. People admit the law was properly enforced during the war, but blame the Act for the fact that such considerable quantities of liquor are now being brought into the city and country. These people do not realize that this is due to the Act of the Dominion Government which removed the restrictions on the importation of liquor from Quebec. When it is explained to these people that the present situation is not due to the Act but is due to the fact that liquor can be legally imported they often seem surprised. Many express their willingness to vote for the Referendum as soon as they understand that the purpose of the referendum is to prevent thereafter the importation of liquor from Quebec or elsewhere.

It is proposed to hold a Temperance Sunday in the churches soon, when such points as the foregoing will be explained. A public meeting may be held if satisfactory arrangements can be made and a speaker of sufficient prominence secured. Some advertisements may also be run in the press to explain misun- the referendum which will be held quite common. Efforts are being made to secure scrutineers, both men and women, for election day, and vehicles, for getting out a large vote. Mr. A. B. Cunningham presided at last night's meeting.

TO SWEEP AWAY THE SEVEN DIALS.

Also Historic Soho, London, For Commerce Needs.

LONDON, April 2.—The passing of Soho and the parish of St. Giles—or Seven Dials, as it is better known—into history to satisfy the demands of commerce, is now promised.

These picturesque slices of old London are to be converted into the most modern business district of the great Metropolis, and possibly a second City of London.

Soho, which probably derived its name from the Duke of Monmouth's famous battle-cry "Soho" at Sedgemoor, has experienced many vicissitudes of fortune. In the olden days regarded as one of the fashionable quarters of London, it gradually became the home of Bohemianism, and the haunt of Sam Pepys and of Goldsmith.

To-day its dingy, uninviting streets are lined with French, Italian, and Swiss restaurants, where Londoners and visitors may learn what the much-praised foreign cooking really is. The whole district is now almost entirely inhabited by foreigners and is the favourite meeting place of the anarchists of the "tame" variety.

For long it was looked upon as the equivalent of the Montmartre, but never at any time has it attained the attractiveness or liveliness of that gay Parisan quarter.

DREW LOTS FOR UNCLE'S PROPERTY.

Could Not Decide on a Heir.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 2.—(Associated Press).—Richard Darrell won "Norwood," a fine residence property on the shore of Hamilton Harbor and one of the show places of Bermuda, by drawing lots yesterday with two other persons in compliance with the provisions of an unusual will of his uncle.

Henry Darrell, former owner of this estate, could not decide which of his three nephews he would make his heir, so he stated in his will that they should throw dice and let fate decide the matter. But in the interval, his sister, Miss Harriet, was to retain a life interest and continue her residence at "Norwood."

Miss Darrell died in January last and arrangements were then made to carry out the terms of the bequest. It was thought best, however, to modify the plan to the extent of substituting slips of paper which were shuffled in a box, for the dice throwing. This was consented to by all parties and the lucky nephew is now possessed of the ancestral estate.

SIR SAM SEEKING HIS LOST HEALTH

IS AS DETERMINED TO PULL HIMSELF TOGETHER AS SPECIALISTS ARE.

TORONTO, April 2.—"My courage—I'll never lost that," in failing health, but vigorous of mind as of old, Sir Sam. Hughes "busked up" as he told the Examiner representative and hinted to get better soon. "My doctors tell me I have been misbehaving—have been too active," said Sir Sam., who appears to have lost considerable weight. "What I need is rest, rest, rest. they tell me."

Sir Sam. came to Toronto so that he might be in touch with another of Toronto specialists—old pals of his in the days gone by—who are as determined to bring Sir Sam. back to good health as Sir Sam. is to pull himself together.

In his room at the King Edward Sir Sam. discoursed on the patronage system and prohibition. Sir Sam. feels certain that the patronage system, administered on party lines, must and will return in the near future.

As to prohibition he makes no prophecy.

As Sir Sam. sees it, patronage exists to-day in its most vicious form. It is not responsible. Under the party system the patronage is responsible. Everybody knows who may give the patronage, and if it is not done rightly, the public knows who to blame. To-day no person knows who the man is behind the man with the gun. "A man comes to a member of Parliament for a job," illustrated Sir Sam. "He tells him, 'I haven't got that' or 'it's out of my hands,' and no person knows who is responsible if anything happens. It's far more likely to be corrupt, the way things are done now."

THE STUDEBAKER RECORD.

The March sales record for the local Studebaker Agency, Eastwood & Stock, while reported correct for new cars for the month, was incorrect regarding used cars. It should have read: Ten new Studebaker cars sold and eight used cars also sold during March.

AN APOLOGY.

We received from the manufacturers a consignment of bottles for our Campana's Italian Balm, which for some reason had a deposit of fine carbon, so firmly ingrafted in the bottles that ordinary careful washing did not remove it, though it could not be detected at the time. This batch was sent out, and it was later found that at the end of a few weeks a slight rim of this carbon appeared at the neck of the bottle. If any of our friends who read this have by any chance bought one of this lot, if they will send it to us we will replace with a new bottle.

Doctors Say New Drug Makes You Feel 100% Better In Two to Five Days

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, you are constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your Liver is out of order, and is not excreting Bile into the Bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 99% of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour Bile into the intestines, your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome, you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about fifteen minutes before each meal, or you may take two at bedtime, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No seidlitz, salts, or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-elliminatnig.

Tanated Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act, soon after taking. It has no bad after-effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste, relieving your system of all this waste poison making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous and vivacious again.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

TRY THEM NOW AND BE CONVINCED

Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Pills are recommended by doctors and druggists to relieve Constipation, Biliousness and Sick Headache. As a mild laxative and general tonic, Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Pills are in a class by themselves. This statement the manufacturers feel confident is correct, but the reader may doubt it. And in order to convince you, if you will go to any druggist in the city of Peterborough and procure a bottle of these tablets, and they fail to do what we claim for them, return the bottle, and your dealer will refund the money.

MESSAGE OF THE OLD HYMNS.

The Life of Jesus, as told in the old hymns of the church, will form the most attractive and profitable service at the Murray street Baptist Church to-morrow night.

The arrangement begins with the conditions before his birth as voiced in Thomas Binney's and Dr. Smith's hymns. "Come all ye Faithful" announces his birth while the labors and privations of the life are suggested by "At Even ere the Sun was Set," and "The Son of Man Hath not Where to Lay His Head." "Dark Gethsemene" and "The Green Hill Far Away" will be rendered in solo, duet and quartette parts.

The old and familiar Resurrection hymns will introduce the Triumphant aspect of the story, which will end with the Lord's ascension and return. "Lo, He Comes, with Clouds Descending," by Charles Wesley, and "All Hail the Power of Jesus," to the tune "Diadem," make a fitting conclusion.

The choir will be present in full numbers (between 50 and 60 voices) such as to insure a very inspiring hour. The service will be conducted by the pastor while Mr. Huycke will direct the large choir. Miss Ida Sanderson will be the organist.

That this greatest of all stories, "The Life of Jesus," can be told effectively by these familiar hymns when rendered to their old tunes in a variety of combinations, is readily conceded. The presenting of it by the Murray street choir and congregation, will be welcomed.

COMMENT ON LOCAL SPORT

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. basketball team have accomplished something big in bringing a basketball championship to this city. And it is interesting to note that the Ontario champions came out of the City Basketball League. Alex. Darling, Frank Jobbitt and Clare Stuart were with the Belmonts, who won the championship; the Echo Club produced Seely. Tom and Russell Pogue came from the C.P.C. five, and Orley DeGraw from Cressman's, which team also produced the manager of the champions. The team played eight games, winning five, tieing one and losing two, but always scoring enough points in the two games with each team to leave no doubt on the question of superiority.

The silver cup, emblematic of the championship, was presented to the new title-holders at the conclusion of the game at Woodstock. The silverware will soon repose in the treasure chest of the local Y.M.C.A.

On what the Canadian Generals decide to do, will largely determine the course baseball will take this season. The Generals have the material for an O.B.A.A. senior team, or they can enter a City League with Central Leaguers allowed on the roster. They can also enter a Manufacturers' League with Central Leaguers barred. The Generals will not make the plunge without giving the situation a thorough review.

The eyes of Amateur Associations are directed upon the movements of Bob Armstrong and his companions of the Brandon hockey team, who have again taken up residence in Port Arthur. The Brandon side of the argument says the hockey players are merely paying a visit to the Port and that everything is O.K. It will be K. O. after the amateur sleuths land their wallops.

Advices from Port Hope are to the effect that there is no prospect of an O. B. A. A. entry from that town. After playing in the majors, it is against the grain of the Hopers to fall back to the minors, with Cobourg still in the big show.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GOLF CLUB

The annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club took place in the Council Chamber on Friday evening. A large and enthusiastic number attended, and the ladies were well represented. Mr. J. P. Bond was in the chair. The members of the various committees were elected as follows:

Greens committee—Dr. McPherson, chairman; Messrs. G. A. McDonald and C. Ackerman.

House committee—Claude Rogers, chairman; Mrs. Gerald Wood and Mr. C. G. Graham.

Match and Handicap committee—J. P. Bond, chairman; Messrs. W. C. Ackerman and F. M. Dela Fosse.

Tennis and Boating committee—Dr. McPherson, chairman; Messrs. G. O. Cameron and F. C. Webber.

Entertainment committee— Mrs. B. Gardiner, Mrs. H. W. Cressman, Messrs. G. A. Campbell and Frank Bradburn, with the members of the House committee. Convenors will be elected later by this committee.

The captains for the coming season are: Men—C. Ackerman, Captain, and F. M. Dela Fosse, Vice. Ladies—Mrs. C. R. Widdifield, Captain, and Mrs. F. L. Roy, Vice.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

ON FRIENDLY TERMS WITH "THE DEVIL."

It has been a long time since a picture has occasioned so much enthusiasm, press comment and satisfaction as Specialty Film Import, Limited's, release, "The Devil," featuring George Arliss, which is to appear at the Regent.

Before the first presentation of this film in the theatres of Canada, the entry of George Arliss into the motion picture art had occasioned considerable talk in all theatrical circles, and the motion picture world generally agreed that his appearance on the screen was a great acquisition to motion pictures. When "The Devil" was chosen for his premier appearance it was conceded by all that no more remarkable production could be chosen than this, as it was in "The Devil" as a stage production that he had created a sensation in many countries.

The release of the Photoplay, "The Devil," came up to the high expectations for an elaborate and forceful production, and was immediately recognized by exhibitors and the film world generally as a production that would have unlimited drawing power to the box office.

The first presentation in Canada was made at the Imperial Theatre, Montreal, at the beginning of the month. During the entire week where it was showing, it attracted enormous crowds and created a record for the theatre. The public and press praised it as a noteworthy photoplay, marking a new departure in motion picture art. The next presentation was made at Shea's Hippodrome in Toronto, when equally demonstrative audiences and critical press lauded "The Devil" as a wonderful photoplay. From Quebec City comes the report from Manager J. P. Bernier of the Canadian Theatre of that city in the form of a telegram, reading as follows:

"The Devil broke all previous records for Quebec City — turning away thousands of People."

And each new showing of "The Devil" brings these successful reports to the office of Specialty Film Import, Limited.

The production itself is a most elaborately staged and produced picture. Its settings are magnificent, spacious and in keeping with the French atmosphere which it depicts. It goes without saying that the story is not only popular but appealing is not only popular but appealing for the great success of "The Devil" is the acting of George Arliss which will erect a milestone in the history of the screen.

"The Devil" has a moral which will add to the advancement of the standing of the motion picture screen and will bring big business to any thearte playing it.

AT THE ALLEN

CONNIE ON TRIP ABROAD

Constance Talmadge, who will be seen in "Good References," her seventh First National picture, at the Allen Theatre, commencing Monday, expects to return from a European sightseeing trip early this fall. Miss Talmadge has had an unusually busy season and for some time has been planning the trip abroad with her sister Norma. Natalie Talmadge and her mother preceded Constance and Norma to France. Constance worked before the camera right up to the date of sailing, although Norma had a rest of two weeks.

A BOARDING HOUSE FIRE IS STARTED BY STAR

In preceding comedy successes Constance Talmadge has been guilty of many endearing but naughty pranks.

The inimitable star has officiated as an expert in affairs of the heart —searched for a sinner with amusing consequences, and even defied convention by accepting the hospitality of five nice old "daddies," for a week, without a chaperon. But in her latest First National Attraction "Good References," which will be shown at the Allen Theatre for two days, commencing Monday, Connie nearly oversteps the border of playfulness, when she sets fire to Bridget Mulligan's boarding house, commonly known as Journey's.

AT THE EMPIRE.

AUDIENCE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER "THE LAW OF THE YUKON"

A most extraordinary display of approval marked the presentation of Charles Miller's very remarkable photodrama, "The Law of the Yukon," at the Empire Theatre. The audience voiced its pleasure in no uncertain manner.

The combination of an internationally famous poem which is the basis for most of the main titles; a story that is full of very tense moments lightened by comedy that is not forced but true to life and highly entertaining, and a director who controls the action with a master hand, is bound to result in a photoplay of unusual merit and command the praise of the audience.

"The Law of the Yukon" deals with the early days of the great Northwest, the establishment of its first daily paper, the types of men and women who left civilization to wrest from nature its treasure or to prey on those who were successful. Mr. Miller shows no desire to introduce the melodramatic elements that such a theme and style of story might easily lend itself to. Every scene is clean-cut and belongs in the play. Nothing is dragged in for mere effect.

MAY ORGANIZES OLYMPIC WOMEN

Miss Allison, of "Held in Trust," Engrossed in Task in California.

That much sought period of rest for screen stars— the lull between productions—means little to the energetic May Allison in these days.

Upon the conclusion of work in her newest picture, "Held in Trust," showing Monday at the Empire Theatre, Miss Allison belied all traditions concerning blondes by setting out to organize the women of the Pacific Coast in the interest of the American Olympic Games, tryouts for which are to be held in Pasadena, California.

Because of her success in organization work among the women of Hollywood, in the interest of polical reforms, Robert S. Weaver, president of the Olympic Games Committee, named Miss Allison chairman of the organization's committee of women. Responsibility for arousing the athletic candidates to the world contests at Antwerp, Belgium, now rests with Miss Allison.

In this new work the girlish star has entered into her task with a vengeance. Thousands of personal letters have been sent to women interested in various kinds of sports, with the result that there is no doubt that the women of the coast will be well represented in Belgium —at least as well as they were during the days of the war.

LADIES LITERARY HELD A MEETING

At the meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society, held in St. Alphonsus Lyceum last evening, Mr. V. J. McElderry spoke on "Education." This was a very interesting and enlightening discourse, and was much appreciated by the audience.

Mr. H. Lush gave a series of humorous pen pictures, and little Miss Ruth Treacy delivered a recitation. Miss Kathleen Clancy occupied the chair for the meeting.

A GOOD PICTURE COMING TO GRAND FOR THREE DAYS

JOHN E. KELLERD A GREAT HAMLET

The beauty and the music of Shakspeare's lines have rarely been heard to such magnificent advantage on a Peterborough stage as they were in the presentation of "Hamlet" at the Grand last night by Mr. John E. Kellerd, famous English actor, and his capable company. Mr. Kellerd, who added to the laurels won by him on his previous appearance here by his masterly portrayal of the role of the melancholy Dane, made his delineation of Hamlet a memorable performance that will not soon be forgotten by those who saw it. Many famous actors have assayed the part of Hamlet, and by no means all have succeeded in their efforts; among those who have climbed to the highest pinnacle of success in this role Mr. Kellerd must be listed. He is especially happy in being the possessor of a voice of rich music and charm which enhances the beauty of the immortal lines while the dignity and restraint with which he portrays the unhappy Prince makes his work stand out as noteworthy in comparison with other Shaksperian actors that have been seen here.

His supporting company is worthy of the star, Miss Isabel Merson rose to heights of genius as the Queen and Miss Freda Brindley was a most convincing Ophelia. The Claudius of Stuart Black was a masterpiece, being especially effective in the scene when the realism of the tragedy staged by the strolling players betrays the guilt of the King. George Tawde, who early in the present season was seen here as John Willie Cameron in Graham Moffatt's "Don't Tell," was the Polonious, a role that was as different from his part last night as night is from day, and it speaks well for Mr. Tawde's versatility that his success in the Moffatt production did not surpass his work as Polonius. Incidentally, Miss Eva McRoberts, who was the Mirren Cameron in "Don't Tell," is also a member of Mr. Kellerd's company, being cast as the second player last night. The other roles were excellently handled, and the whole performance left nothing to be desired, the scenic investiture and costumes being on a par with the merit of the acting.

Tihs afternoon Mr. Kellerd will present "The Merchant of Venice" and to-night will be seen in Macbeth.

The DEVIL

TO ALL OUR PATRONS:
We are sure "The Devil" is unusual photoplay entertainment.
It is something "different." It will lift and thrill you. It will please your eye, touch your heart and amaze you by its brilliance, splendor and elegance.
And we stand back of our recommendation.

THE PHOTO DRAMATIC TRIUMPH OF THE PRESENT SEASON, ADAPTED FROM THE STAGE PLAY SENSATION OF TWO CONTINENTS
Nothing has been seen on the screen to equal the incisive character portrayal of Mr. Arliss in this unusual motion picture. He is the well-groomed, well-mannered, drawing-room Devil, with his monocle, his discreet smile, and subtle innuendos. He is diabolical, but suave fiendish, but polished and beyond everything, he is supremely artistic. He is a fascinating character in a play of surpassing interest. A truly mighty and magnificent production of this great play.

James Rollins in his series of Sunday evening sermons in St. Andrew's church, has been dealing with great and important subjects; some that have made a strong appeal to the every day mind of our time, and some that have not, though it can be said that the interest as shown by the attendance has steadily increased. This series has already included The Christian Church (two sermons,) Conversion, The Divinity of Christ, The Atonement, Immortality, and the subject for to-morrow evening will be the most vital and fullest of human interest so far—Salvation: What is it? How is it Obtained?

DAIRY FARMERS DO BIG BUSINESS

Another indication that farmers are capable of running big business enterprises successfully, was furnished at the first annual meeting of the United Dairymen Cooperative, Limited, held in Peterboro, on Marh 31st. This is the cooperative company which was launched a year ago among the dairy farmers of Ontario, and which last year undertook the sale of government-graded cheese and butter by public auction in Montreal. The reports presented at the meeting showed that in six months last season the company had sold $1,013,700 of dairy products. The auditor's statement showed that substantial profits had been earned. Out of these the directors declared a dividend of 8% on the paid up stock of the company as of Nov. 30, 1920. Out of the surplus profits 20% of the organization expenses of the company were written off. There was still a balance, which was set aside to reserve.

New Directors.

In order to strengthen the company in the eastern counties of Ontario, which last year were not represented on the board, two new directors were added. The new board is as follows: Pres., R. W. Ireland, Wellington, Ont.; Vice-Pres., Hugh Moloney, Marmora; Sec.-Treas., H. B. Cowan, Peterboro. Directors: John McCaffrey of Madoc; J. E. Galvin, of Lakefield; W. H. Crough, of Ennismore; J. J. Morrison, of Toronto; Newton Brownlee, of N. Gower; and a director for Glengarry Co., who is to be nominated by the shareholders of the company in that county.

Sales Increased.

At the first sale of the company, held June 4, 1920, only 13 factories were represented. The number of factories consigning to the cooperative sales increased during the season, until 50 factories were selling cooperatively in the fall. It is expected that about 100 factories will be represented at the first sale of the company, which will be held in May this year and that numerous other factories will consign to the cooperative sales as the season advances. This year it is expected that the sales will exceed $4,000,000.

Peterboro Local.

Previous to the annual meeting yesterday afternoon a meeting was held in the U.F.O. ofices on Simcoe street of the shareholders living in Peterboro county. At this meeting a local of the company for Peterboro county was formed. W. R. Shields of Peterboro was appointed Pres., S. Armstrong, Indian River, Vice-Pres.; G. N. McKillican, Peterboro, Sec-Treas.; and W. R. Crough of Ennismore, and J. E. Galvin, of Lakefield, directors.

DROP IN PRICE BUTTER TO-DAY

Eggs dragged butter down with them in price to-day, when it sold five cents below last week's figure.

Butter has been price-firm for weeks, but capitulated this morning, selling at 58 and 60 cents, while the eggs brought 30 cents. How much lower can eggs go? At the prevailing weekly drop of five cents in six weeks, the basketeers will be soon giving them away—theoretically speaking.

Chickens sold at 35 and 40 cents a pound, the rate depending on the age of the birds.

Maple syrup attracted more attention than any other produce on the Square. Most of the syrup men asked 90 cents a suart, but one or two held out for $1.00. By the gallon it sold at $3.60 and $4.00. This is likely to be tre last week of the "run," farmers say, and so the syrup sold briskly.

Potatoes Firm.

Potatoes were $1.00 a bag again to-day. Onions went at 40 cents a peck, parsnips 25 cents, and nice, large cabbages 15 cents each.

Live Pigs on the Market.

Pork was not so plentiful as last week. The price was 22 and 25 cents, fore and hind quarters. Live pigs filled several crates on different waggons, the farmers asking $16.00 a pair for young porkers.

Considering the rough roads, the market was well attended by the farmers this morning.

GAVE ADDRESS AT THE SACRED HEART

"A Trip Through California" was the subject of the lecture delivered last evening by Mr. Leo Young before a Further Educational Club of the Sacred Heart Church. Mr. Young has a vast fund of information at his finger-tips on this subject, and gave a very interesting talk. California seems to be the country of extremes. The climate is variable, very hot in the south, while in San Francisco a coat may be worn any time after 4 p.m. on the warmest day in summer. In Death Valley, which is from 235 to 290 feet below sea level, the thermometer rises at times to 146 degrees in the shade and El Cenetro, the capital of this section has a hotel with a cooling system, as well as a heating system. Leaving Los Angeles, and riding on the electric cars for an hour, one passes grove after grove of oranges, covered with blossoms and green and ripe fruit all at one time, while still seeing the snow on the mountain tops. In California are found the largest trees in the world, the sequoias, which grow to a height of 425 feet, and here also is a petrified forest the trees having turned to stone. Nearly all the trees in San Francisco are imported, Golden Gate Park having been planted with imported trees from every section of the globe, and it is said that there are only two other places in the world which can vie with San Francisco in beauty, Rio Janiero and the Golden Horn near Constantinople. The missions, of which there are 18 in California, are still in a state of good preservation, the one at Santa Barbara being especially interesting.

Several recitations kindly rendered by Mr. J. Johns were heartily encored, and a vote of thanks was tendered both gentlemen by Rev. J. O'Brien. Mr. F. J. McAuliffe occupied the chair.

COUGHLIN—Of Margaret Coughlin, who died on Good Friday of last year, April 2nd, 1920. To my departed sister:

Thy toils and cares are o'er.
In Heaven we hope at last to meet thee,
But on earth, alas no more.

Affectionate, kind and gentle wert thou,
Oh! thy loss we deeply feel.
Pray that kindest Heaven may send us
Some consoling balm our hearts to heal.

No pleasure thine unless we shared it,
No sorrow ours but pierced thy heart.
Oh! can it be that Death so cruel
Should will it thus—that we must part.

Yet must we bow in subjection
To each decree in holy will?
In Heaven thou rest, on earth we mourn.
In dream, Dear Sister, we see thee still.

CULPABLE NEGLIGENCE.

A short time ago an interurban car ran off the track, caught fire, and several passengers were burned to death. A coroner's inquest was held and it was found that the CAUSE of the tragedy was a broken rail. Evidence was given that the track had not been regularly inspected and two railroad men who were responsible for this work were bound over to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. Human lives are precious, but how many people there are who suffer needless pain and eventually descend into a premature grave because of the same culpable negligence with which these road inspectors are charged? You should pay the same attention to your spine that the roadmaster and his crew should pay to the condition of the roadbed.

If your spine is normal you will be healthy.

If a spinal analysis discloses the fact that nerve pressure is present you will sooner or later cease to enjoy Health.

Taken in time the chiropractor will adjust the subluxated (displaced) vertebrae (small bones of the spine) which are the CAUSE of the nerve pressure and you will be healthy and will STAY HEALTHY.

Don't wait until you are on a bed of sickness. Have your spine analyzed NOW, it may save you weeks and months of pain and suffering in the near future.

PISTOL UNDER PILLOW SLAYS SLEEPING MAN

DANIEL DONAHUE SHOT IN MORRISBURG HOTEL BY ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF WEAPON.

DIED SOON AFTER

BROCKVILLE, April 4—(Canadian Press)—The funeral of Daniel Donahue, aged 26, who was shot in a Morrisburg, Ontario, hotel, Saturday morning, was held this morning from his home in Ogdensburg N.Y.

Donahue went to Morrisburg on a visit to friends and was stoping at the St. Lawrence Hall, intending to return on Saturday. About ten thirty a.m. on Saturday, a maid heard the report of a pistol shot in his room and upon entering found the young man lying on the bed suffering from a wound in the side.

Donahue was alone in the room and his death is said have been caused by the accidental discharge of the revolver, which he was in the habit of carrying. It is presumed that on retiring, he placed weapon under his pillow and that it was discharged when he woke up, the bullet entering over the heart.

He died Saturday afternoon.

Donahue was the son of R. J. Donahue, president of the first National Bank, Ogdensburg, and leaves besides his parents two brothers and two sisters .He was formerly in the American army.

SUMMER TRAFFIC ON TRENT CANAL

Through the concerted action of the interested municipalities on the Trent Waterway, through the initiative of the Board of Trade, and by all indications, this season will prove one of the largest in tourist traffic throughout the Central Ontario District.

The advertising already placed in one magazine alone has resulted in a surprisingly large number of enquiries from persons desirous of making a trip through this district. Some idea of the extent to which this district is being advertised will be gained by the enquiries received by the Board of Trade this morning, from Habana, Cuba; Quantico, Virginia; Philadelphia, Penn.; Princeton, N.J.; Boston, New York, and Brighton—all of which signify the desire of visiting this district abounding in nature's beauties.

The railways are particularly anxious to co-operate with the municipalities in developing the whole of this area, and have already issued descriptive booklets on its attractivness, and are anxious to co-operate further by issuing additional information.

The Executive of the Trent Waterway Development Association have great cause for anxiety at the present time as regards hotel accommodation throughout the district. By all indications, the hotel accommodation which is at present available will be inadequate for the number of tourists who will be here this summer.

With the development of tourist traffic throughout this district, there will be the resultant development of the whole area, commercially, agriculturally, and industrially. With the securing of good roads, which the Board of Trade feels should be pushed to the limit, the development in every phase should surpass all expectations.

A BOY'S SMILE WORTH $20,000 DECIDES A KANSAS CITY JURY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Boyhood's smile is worth $20,000. So said a jury in the Circuit Court Saturday, in returning a verdict for that amount in favor of James Godfrey, 13, against the Power and Light Company.

At a picnic James, with other boys, climbed a tree to gather walnuts. He came in contact with an electric wire, and one side of his face was burned, leaving a permanent scar. The chief element of damage about which centred the claim was that the boy had lost his youthful smile.

The boy, face wan and drawn by the scar, sat through the hearing with out attempting to smile. On the witness stand he was aasked to smile. The effort was a puckering of the lips and a melancholy drawing of the face. A physician testified that the smile muscle in his cheek had been bound by the scarred tissue above and the jury at once returned its verdict.

Britain Eagerly Waits For Govt. to Announce Stand on Coal Strike

MAY CLARIFY SITUATION

LONDON, April 4.— (Canadian Press.)— The coal strike situation continued the foremost topic of discussion throughout all sections of Great Britain to-day, with labor, commerce, trade and finance deeply agitated over the serious condition into which the community has been plunged by the shut down of the colleriers. Everyone is awaiting, however, the expected statement by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons late this afternoon, which, it is hoped, will have a clarifying influence.

Mr. Lloyd George arrived during the morning from Checquers Court, his country residence, and presided at a Cabinet meeting at which the coal situation was considered. The Government's position, it was anticipated, would be clearly defined in the Prime Minister's statement and a day set aside for discussion of the situation, probably to-morrow.

CONFIRMATION AT ALL SAINTS

SIXTY-TWO CANDIDATES HEAR IMPRESSIVE SERMON.

Last night, before a congregation that filled All Saints' Church to its capacity, the Right Rev. Bishop Reeve administered the rite of Confirmation to sixty-two candidates. These were presented by the rector, Rev. R. B. Grobb, and knelt in turn before the Bishop, seated at the top of the chancel steps.

Bishop Reeve's address was one which will be long remembered by his hearers. He impressed upon the candidates the great importance of the step they were taking, and assured them that the power bestowed might become a great blessing in later life if they were careful to nourish it by the daily means of grace provided by God. He pointed out that the Christian life, to escape stagnation, must be a progressive theme. Many temptations may be expected, but God would be with them as He was with Jesus in the wilderness when assaulted by Satan just after His baptism.

Just before the laying on of hands, the beautiful hymn, "Spirit Divine, attend our prayers," was sung kneeling, and during the offertory, the choir rendered very effectively the Easter anthem, "O Death, Where is Thy Sting?"

Election or Industrial Revolution Henderson's Challenge to Coalition

POWERFUL BRITISH LABOR LEADER VIRTUALLY THROWS DOWN THE GAUNTLET TO LLOYD GEORGE.

RADICAL PROGRAM

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent; Copyright 1921 by the United Press.)

LONDON, April 4.—Arthur Henderson, the most powerful labour leader in Great Britain, to-day virtually challenged Premier Lloyd George to a general election on the issues raised by the threatened industrial revolution in the United Kingdom.

Known throughout the was as a conservative and a concilator, Henderson, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, indicated his idea now is the overthrow of the Lloyd George government. Radical and Conservative Labor, he said, have been cemented by the crisis brought on by the great coal strike. A victory for Labor, with Lloyd George an outcast, and a Laborite government based on social justice, will result from the next election, he declared.

Contemptuously referring to the "insincerity, inconsistency and inconstancy," of the Premier, Henderson declared Lloyd George's party is falling to pieces.

"The Labor aprty will not only survive Lloyd George's attack, but will be strengthened by it," he declared. "His hysterical attacks are not deceiving any one, not even himself."

Henderson refused to announce the complete Labor platform, but made it clear that "when Labor wins," it will "reconstruct society, impoverished and disorganized by the long war, on the principles of social justice and economic freedom."

"The Premier is a man who feels that his force is spent," Henderson asserted. "He has aligned himself irrevocably with a party, privilege and property which he once assailed with a vehemence of tongue and recklessness of spirit which no Laborite ever excelled."

"Lloyd George has forsaken the people's cause."

Profiteers and exploiters of Labor will have short shift if Labor is empowered.

Henderson vitriolically attacked those two classes.

"They put Lloyd George where he now stands," he declared.

Henderson said that Labor had saved Lloyd George more than once politically, but that "now with a cynicism unequalled in the history of British politics, the Premier has inaugurated a campaign of unscrupulous misrepresentation against the one party now seeking to realize his own discarded aims."

"More than once," he charged, "Lloyd George privately suggested an alliance and a working partnership with the Laborites whom he now assails."

The Labor leader was certain this withdrawal of support would mean the collapse of the Lloyd George government and the coalition party, giving the Laborites the opportunity to seize control and institute their own programme. Sketchily touched upon, Labor's programme, it was indicated, would mean not only a great change in working and economic conditions, but have a startling effect upon Irish, internal and International conditions.

Changes made would be "revolutionary" he indicated, but hastily disclaimed Bolshevik tendencies of his party. He did not use the word Socialistic ,although associates admitted some theories to be tried out are Socialistic.

BRITISH DRINK BILL MOUNTING

WASHINGTON, April 4. — (Canadian Press). — Great Britain's drink bill increased by more than $400,000,000 last year as compared with 1919, says a report to the Department of Commerce from the United States Consul at Edinburgh, Scotland.

The amount spent on intoxicating liquors in the United Kingdom in 1920, the Consul says, is estimated at $2,285,795,050, as against $1,878,469,000 in 1919. The total, however, is about 24 per cent. less than before the war.

TWENTY-EIGHT TENDERS FOR FILTRATION PLANT FROM WHICH TO CHOOSE.

COLLATING THEM NOW

Twenty-eight tenders for the filtration plant were opened at the meeting of the Utilities Commission on Saturday afternoon.

They were from construction companies in both the United States and Canada, some of whom have estimated on the whole work and others on only parts of it. As a result, the tenders have to be closely compared and to that end have to be figured out and reduced to a basis that will set out their differences. Wm. Kennedy of Montreal, the engineer engaged by the Commission in this work, and Mr. R. L. Dobbin are collating the tenders and will submit their report to the Commission in a few days, following which the contract may be let at once. Full information will be given to the public as soon as the engineers have presented their tabulation of the tenders.

DOWAGIAC, Mich., April 4.—(Canadian Press).— Twenty high school seniors, guests at a house party near Indian Lake, saw Samuel R. Pace, junior, aged 17, of Three Rivers, drown before their eyes Saturday afternoon when a canoe upset.

Helen Ellsworth, 16, and Lyle Humble, 17, were saved. Humble held Miss Ellsworth above the water until a fireman reached them in a small boat. When Miss Ellsworth was lifted aboard, Humble struck out for Pace who had lost his hold on the canoe Pace sank when his friend was within a few yards of him. Pace's body sank in twenty feet of water and has not been recovered. His parents are visiting in New York city.

PETERBORO HAD NARROW ESCAPE

GIST OF BILL KILLED IN ONTARIO HOUSE LAST WEEK.

A Bill was defeated in the Provincial House on Wednesday of last week which, if it had passed, would have probably led to endless trouble between the city and the Provincial Board of Health and the municipality of North Monaghan. This Bill was introduced to give the Provincial Board of Health authority to compel rural municipalities to provide sewers and public water supplies and compel the cities to permit the rural municipalities to connect with cities sewers and water systems.

Had the Bill been passed, Peterborough would have been at the mercy of the Provincial Board of Health. If the Board had so ordered, the city would have had to supply North Monaghan with a water supply and disposed of the North Monaghan sewage. The urban municipalities offered strong opposition to the Bill.

Peterborough was not opposed to the Bill because it is unwilling to supply the adjoining townships with water and sewer connections, but because the city would have been subject to the dictates of the Provincial Board of Health.

The city has supplied North Monaghan with some connections already, particularly in Brownton, and it is stated, is willing to discuss further improvements.

HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT PROMISES AUSTRIA THAT HE WILL DEPART AT ONCE FROM THE COUNTRY.

ANOTHER THREAT

VIENNA, April 4. — (Canadian Press.) —The Austrian Cabinet has notified the Hungarian government tha unless an early hour is set for the certain departure of ex-Emperor Charles, the Austrian government will cancel his safe conduct. This notification has evoked a promise from Hungary that Charles would leave the country within forty-eight hours from Sunday night.

LONDON, April 4.— (Canadian Press.—Confirmation of reports that the "Little Entente" has threatened militray measures against Hungary if former Emperor Charles does not leave that country before Thursday is given in advices to Reuters, Limited.

TREASURE BOX MOVED SATURDAY

The safe from the Bank of Toronto was taken out and removed to its temporary quarters in the Peterboro Club on Saturday afternoon. This is a three-ton affair, and its removal was a proceeding, requiring considerable time and attention. Messrs. White Bros., had charge of the operation, and "they made a good job of it." Inch by inch the heavy steel and iron box was raised by chains to the waggon while two horses stood patiently waiting for their valuable load. The procedings were under the personal supervision of the manager and accountant and two policemen kept the crowd moving. Even a small boy of enquiring mind who stooped to "look and listen" 'was regarded with a suspicious eve and sent about his business. Peterboro is evidently not going to tolerate any of the "gun man" business which is infesting other sections of the Dominion

At the close of the afternoon service in the Anglican Church, Bailieboro, yesterday afternoon, Canon W. Allen, rector of the church, made reference to the recent death of Thomas William McCamus, a former Cavan boy who died on Easter Sunday in Schenectady, where he had lived since leaving Canada. He paid tribute to the Christian qualities of the deceased and his continuous interest in his home church, and told how in later years, when his means permitted, he showed his kindly disposition towards Bailieboro church by presenting it with a large sweet-toned bell.

Canon Allen spoke warmly of the generosity and faith evidenced in this act, but he said it was but another indication of the close connection maintained between the McCamus family and the church in Canada for over 100 years.

As a mark of respect to the deceased, the bell was tolled at three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon last simultaneously to the interment in Vale Cemetery, Schnectady.

The Union Star of Schnectady states that the Episcopal ritual for the burial of the dead was read by Dr. B. W. R. Taylor, rector of St. George's Church, of which the deceased was a life long member and past vestryman.

TWO OFFICES CONSOLIDATED

The consolidation of the Customs and Inland Revenue Departments in Peterborough has been completed. The customs department have amalgamated completely the Inland Revenue; the resultant department being called the customs and excise duties department. Robert Hall, local deputy collector of customs for many years, heads the consolidated offices. Mr. W. H. Buller, formerly loal collector of Inland Revenue, is retained on the staff, which has been unchanged.

The amalgamation has been quietly carried on and in a week or ten days, Mr. Hall said he expected the new machine would be performing satisfactorily. The books and equipment of the former Inland Revenue Office is being transported downstairs. Just what the vacated quarters upstairs will be used for Mr. Hall could not say, but he said they will not be taken over by the Public Works office whom it was formerly believed would secure these commodious quarters.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4.—On Saturday afternoon while Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dunk, who reside on the old Cleugh homestead on the 9th concession of Seymour township, were attending the funeral of their uncle, Mr. Jack Stewart, their house caught fire and was completely demolished. A high wind was blowing, and this added to the difficulty of extinguishing the fire. The members of the family who were at home, succeeded in saving part of the household effects, but Mr. Dunk's loss will be considerable.

Burglars Busy.

The residence of Dr. Charles Macoun on Frank street, was broken into last week and several articles stolen. Boys playing on the vacant lot next to the house noticed that the rear door was unlocked and notified neighbours, who found that the door had been forced and the house ransacked. Several articles of household decoration which the marauder did not want were broken wantonly.

Dr. Macoun, who for many years had been a successful local physician, went overseas during the war and has not yet returned.

DENIES BIBLICAL TALE OF RAINBOW

BALTIMORE, April 4 (Canadian Press).—The rainbow after the deluge described in the Book of Genesis 9, 13, was not a rainbow after all, but a collection of great fly-brushes of the ancient Oriental gods, declares Paul Haupt of ohn Hopkins University.

The mistake in Genesis, the professor said, in making the announcement, probably is due to a misunderstanding of a character on one of the old Cuneiform Tablets. The word standing for "bow" could very easily be mistaken for "fly-brush," he said. These huge feather brushes were in vogue among the old rulers of Assyria and Egypt, and were regarded as ancient symbols of sovereignty in the Orient.

According to Dr. Haupt, the ancients naturally gave their gods credit for having "fly-brushes," and, in fact, in line 164 of the flood tablet the word "fly-brush" appears as big as life. The passage says that "when water Istar sees the gods gather around the offerer like a swarm of ies (because there had been no ocerings during the flood) she is so incensed that she takes the great brushes of her father, Anu (King of the Gods), to drive away the gods."

SIKH FACTIONS RIOT IN INAIA

RIVALRY OVER RELIGIOUS SHRINES LED TO FIGHTING IN WHICH 130 WERE KILLED

INQUIRY HAMPERED

LONDON, April 4 (Associated Press).—The fighting at Nankana, India, in which about 130 persons were killed, was restricted to rival factions of Sikhs, according to a report just made public at the India Office.

The rioters were discribed as old sikhs and reformers, the former of whom included the managers of important and richly endowed shrines. That at Nankana is the wealthiest of them, its annual income, derived largely from landed estates, amounting to tens of thousands of pounds. The Mahants, who are in charge of such shrines, regard themselves as life tenants of the estates and secure in their possession so long as they discharge their religious duties.

The reformers opposed the view. They alleged that deplorable abuses exist in connection with the shrines. The revenues, they contend, belong to the Sikh community, and should be administered under its control. But to the reform party, says the report, there have attached themselves a number of thieves as well as enemies of the government.

The attacks on what is termed the vested interests of the old Sikhs began with the occupation of certain shrines at the Golden Temple of Armistar. The incuments there gave way. They submitted also to being ousted from some minor shrines at other places.

But at the end of January a serious fight occurred at Tarn Taran in the Armistar district. A band of reformers which suddenly appeared there succeeded in getting possession of the shrines only after losing two lives. Some 25 persons altogether were injured.

The old Sikhs held a meeting at Lahore the day before the attack at Nankana, which, it had been rumoured, had been impending for some time. Apparently the reformers numbered about 200. Just how the fight began is not known, says the report.

The Deputy Commissioner who started his investigation the day that the fight occurred, was told that the Mahants had been victorious. The fight had taken place inside a small shrine enclosure which was commanded by houses on all sides.

"The inquiry into the facts," concluded the report, "was hampered by crowds of excited Sikhs from all parts of the Puniaub, who accused the Moslem neighbours of the shrine of having assisted the Mahants."

JOHN HUME PASSED AWAY

PORT HOPE, April 4. — John Hume, one of Port Hope's most prominent and philanthropic citizens, passed away Friday afternoon at the age of 75 years, after a short illness, at his late residence, on King street. He was well known throughout the Midland district as a grain and seed dealer and was actively engaged in the management of his extensive business until a short time before his death.

His father, Robert Hume, was a pioneer settlers in the county, and the deceased was born at the family homestead, Tyndale, in Hamilton township, on Jan. 29, 1846.

He was educated in the public schools in Port Hope and Peterboro, and after leaving his farm he served his apprenticeship as a clerk in the brokerage firm of Blackie and Alexander, Toronto, along with the late John Stark, at the time of the organization of the Bank of Commerce. Subsequently he returned to Peterboro to enter the grain business with his father, and on the death of the latter took over the present business in September, 1878, which he has conducted successfully ever since. In 1914 he admitted his son, J. A. Hume, into patnership under the firm name of John Hume and Son.

A Gift

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent is sent to all who ask. See coupon.

Make This Test

Watch how your teeth respond

This ten-day test has shown to millions the way to whiter, safer teeth. It is a free test—you should make it. No other method known can do what Pepsodent does for teeth.

To end the film

The object is to fight the film, which dims the teeth and causes most tooth troubles. Dental science has worked years to do that.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not combat it satisfactorily, so brushing leaves much of it intact.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus all these troubles, have been constantly increasing, despite the tooth brush.

How we combat it

Dental science, after years of searching, has found ways to combat film. High authorities have proved them by clinical and laboratory tests.

The best dental opinion now approves these methods. Leading dentists everywhere are urging their adoption. Millions of people, as a result, now employ them daily.

The methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And a 10-Day Tube is offered free, so all who will may quickly know how much it means to them.

Five much desired effects

One ingredient of Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest the starch deposits which cling and form acid.

It also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay. Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

Pepsodent combines the best that modern science knows to combat the great tooth destroyer. It has brought a new era in teeth-cleaning.

Watch it act

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

You will see several new effects, and the book we send will tell you what they mean. This is too important to forget. Cut out the coupon now.

SUNDAY CARS.

In answer to several inquiries, the Examiner is forced to admit that it has not the slightest information as to when—if ever— the Sunday car service will commence in Peterborough. At the instigation of the City of Peterborough the Legislature last year amended the act in regard to the Sunday operation of street cars so that the smaller cities of the province were given the power to inaugurate such service if a vote of the ratepayers showed a majority in favour. Taking advantage of this legislation, a by-law was submitted at the municipal elections on New Year's Day and a very substantial majority approved of the operation of the local radial system on Sundays. That was three months ago, and apparently Sunday street cars are as far away as ever. The man who does not own a motor car and wants to get around on Sunday has to depend upon his feet for transportation and get buried beneath the dust raised by the hundreds of automobiles which rush by him. And he is beginning to wonder at the delay and ask what was the sense of taking a vote on Sunday street cars if there was no intention of providing a service in the event of an affirmative answer. Perhaps the Hydro-Electric Commission may be able to supply the answers to these questions; the Examiner frankly confesses its inability to do so.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The coming into effect of a local system of daylight saving during the summer months would directly concern every resident of Peterborough, which should be a sufficiently weighty reason to induce a very large proportion of the ratepayers to turn out on Wednesday to express their opinion of the system. The Council will be guided by the result of the vote in determining what course to follow, and it is important therefore, that there should be a large vote polled in order that the answer to the question should be decisive and clearly indicative of the wishes of the majority of the citizens. While in the case of the storm drain by-law, which is also to be voted on Wednesday, only property holders may vote, all the citizens entitled to vote in the municipal elections have the privilege of marking their ballots on the daylight saving question, and it is hoped that they will recognize the importance of the vote and make an effort to record their opinion. Workmen in the several factories in which recently votes were taken on this question should understand that the general voting on Wednesday has no connection with the balloting in the factories. The latter was carried out by the firm themselves merely to secure the opinion of their employees, and should not be confused with the referendum the city council is taking.

THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

If the eight hour day question is precipitated into provincial politics, as seems likely from the recent utterances of members of the Independent Labour Party, there will be a rather bad session for the Labour members of the Legislature. They know that the agitation for a shorter working day is about as popular with their farmer colleagues as a day's rain in the haying season, and that an attempt on the part of the Labour wing to pass the question would have the effect of driving a wedge between the two groups which constitute the government. On the other hand a failure to support the eight-hour day movement would arouse the ire of the Independent Labour party, so that the Labour group in the House would be between two fires.

The farmers' view of the eight-hour day was clearly set forth in the House of Commons the other day during a discussion of the agricultural estimates, by Mr. John Iiest, M.P. for Dufferin, who declared that the talk about shorter working hours was driving the boys and girls off the farm, making them think that there was pleasure and nothing to do in the cities, and slavery and misery on the farms. Undoubtedly Mr. Best's opinion is that of the vast majority of farmers, including the Farmer members of the Legislature, and any attempt to establish the eight-hour day by means of Provincial legislation is assured of a hostile reception at Queen's Park.

THE STORM DRAIN BY-LAW.

On Wednesday the ratepayers of the city are asked to sanction the expenditure of $40,000 for the purpose of providing a system of storm drains. This is a civic improvement that has been needed for many years, and as City Engineer Parsons in his letter to the Examiner on Saturday pointed out, the installation of such a system is "the only way in which we can prevent the flooding which occurs in numerous portions of the city in the spring and fall and when we have heavy rains during the summer." To the citizens who live in districts where the flood nuisance is unknown, the necessity of storm drains perhaps does not impress itself, but among the people of other sections, the south-western part of the city for example, the territory besected by the Downie street creek, some parts of East City and other areas that have annual cause to know what a flood means, the commencement of a drainage system will be regarded as a step that is amply justified. Storm drains are not a fad or an extravagance, but are as much a necessity as are good sidewalks and roads or an adequate sewerage system. The beginning of the work this year is proposed, because it is considered unwise to postpone this much-needed improvement further. Some of the drains now in existence are almost beyond repair and it would be false economy to continue to try to patch them. At their best they were unable to cope with flood conditions, and in the shape they are at present they are a very poor protection. Ratepayers should have no hesitation in voting for Wednesday's by-law, which is in the interests of the whole community.

SAFEGUARDING INDIA.

At the moment of signing the trade agreement with Russia, the British Government handed to the Soviet representative a categorical and imperative note. It was a demand that the scheming of the Soviet Government in India and Afghanistan be at "once brought to a close." The note proceeded to specify names, places and dates in connection with the Soviet plotting against British rule in India. It told who the Russian agents were, and what despicable instruments they had made use of—Hindus and Afghans, some of whom had been convicted of crime, while others had been in the pay of Germany during the war. All these activities, declared the British Government, must cease immediately. The whole communication is of the most exigent nature, virtually amounting to an ultimatum.

This diplomatic note lets in more light upon the motives of Mr. Lloyd George in consenting to make a trade arrangement with Soviet Russia. Commerce is a wholly secondary consideration; in fact the British Government frankly states that it expects very little gain over the commercial exchanges with Russia already being made. But if India could be safeguarded, if Persia and Mesopotamia could be protected from Bolshevist seditionaries, an advantage for the empire might be secured. But with what innocent faith has Lloyd George accepted the Soviet promises! This note itself recites the fact that the Soviet government has not concealed the fact that the "main object of its recent policy" is the "overthrow of British rule in India." Elsewhere this is spoken of as "the avowed desire" of the Soviets. Simply because they now express a willingness to give it up, is Lloyd George going to believe them?

Some of his defenders intimate that he is simply laying a trap for Lenin. They say that the Soviet intriguing in India and the supplying of money and arms to the restless tribes on the Indian frontiers are certain to go on. As soon as the British Government can establish that fact it will cancel the trade agreement and hold up the Soviets to public scorn. Thus Mr. Lloyd George would have adroitly "dished" both the Labour Party in England and the Communists in Russia. Possibly; but the process is certainly roundabout, expensive and perilous.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Having at last convinced the Provincial Board of Health that the Imhoff sewage disposal system is satisfactory, Peterborough will have to find some other excuse for not commencing the installation of a plant.

The criminal folly of the British coal strike is illustrated by the fact that several of the mines deserted by the pump men have been flooded and are permanently ruined.

"The Citizens' Liberty League stands for temperance by Government control," reads an recent advertisement. How voting in favour of the importation of liquor would give Ontario "government control" of the sale of intoxicating beverages, the League does not explain.

The proposed census in Ireland has been abandoned, probably in the realization of the impossibility of keeping the figures up-to-date.

The Toronto Telegram thinks the secretary of the U.F.O. is incorrect in talking about the two old parties. The Telegram maintains there are three and that J. J. Morrison himself is the worst "old party" of the lot.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Do a favor for the average man, and he'll think you're an easy mark and call for another.

Looking for something to grouch about is an occupation as certain of reward as looking for a drink in Windsor.

Cave man tactics may succeed in many cases, but play on a woman's sympathies and you are always sure of an encore.

It's pretty hard to convince the man who sneaked down the back stairs at four a.m., forty years ago to see the circus come in that circuses are as good as they used to be.

Many men who are casting sarcastic remarks about the man who invented near-beer being a poor judge of distance, never get any nearer.

"So many men," she pouted, "never notice one's clothes."

"Perhaps," he admitted, "but these days there are lots of colthes which are hardly noticeable."

One of the greatest moments in a man's life is when for the first time, after the barber has finished cutting his hair and asked, "Anything more?" he casually strokes his chin, and replies, "Guess I'll have a shave."

Often one wonders what the joke-smiths would do if there were no little Johnnies in the world to ask their fathers questions.

Sometimes one wonders whether woman's innate sympathy for the underdog has anything to do with some women having married the men whom they did.

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

TRENT RIVER, April 4.—The first motor boat was seen on the river Friday of this week.

Mr. Harry Addison of Toronto, was an over Easter guest at Mr. H. R. Wood's.

The sap has been running freely again the past few days and a great amount of syrup is being made.

The death took place at Kerrobert, Sask., on March 16th of Robert Richardson in his 64th year. The deceased was a well known resident of Belmont Township some years ago when he resided on the Trent River Road. He leaves a widow and nine children to mourn his loss.

Mr. J Sedgewick's pavillion expects to open early in May under a new management. The pianist and drummer come from Toronto.

Friends of Mrs. Tom Sedgewick regret to hear of her illness and hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Douglas Hutchinson of Trent River Road spent Easter holidays with his sister Mrs. E. Cunningham in Brussels.

March came in like a lamb and went out the same and April has brought ideal weather and we under stand some of our cottagers from the city expect to be with us in a short time.

CHILD FINDS BOMB; TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION

DUBLIN, April 2.— (Canadian Press.)—A child found a bomb yesterday in the ruins of the Ross Carbery police barracks, the scene recently of a Sinn Fein attack, and handed it to a policeman who, seeing the pin was missing, threw it into the street. It exploded, killing two persons and seriously wounding three others. Several persons suffered minor injuries.

BELFAST, April 2.— (Canadian Press.)—Serious disorders ocurred in Londonderry last evening. Constable Higgins was shot and killed by assailants, who escaped, two bombs were thrown at the electric light station and two soldiers were wounded, and in the rifle firing that followed the attack, two civilians were injured. The station property was not damaged by the explosion.

Imported Flasks Appear.

To fill the demand for flasks, which apparently has not been satisfied by domestic supplies of the article, an imported line has just been received here from England. These containers are provided in Sheffield silver to wholesaler from $1.50 up. According to the selling representative, the domestic manufacturers are working on orders, but a sufficient supply of flasks has not yet been furnished jowing to difficulties in manufacture. The chief delay was caused, he explained, through not having the required dies, as the old ones were thrown away when flask carrying was not in fashion. The new shapes considered most popular are those of the so-called form-fitting type.

The Soul of the Advertisement

Granted an arresting headline, the art of writing a retail advertisement is just the ability to say one's say intelligently, in logical order, and, above all, naturally.

No "literary gift"—no flowery langunge—is necessary. The best copy is the earnest, over-the-counter talk you would give to a customer.

In other words, put yourself—your soul—into your writing.

Grammar is useful, but not indispensable. It doesn't make or break the advertisement. It is your own earnestness and conviction that makes people believe and respond to what you say.

You will find, as you devote more attention to your advertising, that it will return you dividends of pleasure as well as of profit. As time passes, customers will notice an omission and speak to you about it. This experience is not imaginary. It is a fact—as many merchants and publishers will testify.

One of the most enjoyable things you can do is to spend an hour or so a few evenings a week thinking out a well-balanced daily newspaper advertising campaign for your store and your merchandise. And, having thought it out, carry it through regardless of other people's opinions or whims.

You have three of the best trading months ahead. Do, then, as we suggest, and watch results.

SPRING FISHING.

The season for speckled trout fishing opens on 1st May. In the Algonquin Park region, owing to what promises to be an early spring, the ice should be out of the lakes by the end of April, and anglers should make their reservations at the "Highland Inn" to be assured of accommodation. During the month of May good fishing is found in this territory, the principal species being speckled, lake, and salmon trout. Ask Grand Trunk Agents for particulars, or write to N. T. LOVE!

By KATHERINE MOORE

LEONARD INSISTS ON A VACATION.

Chapter 18.

Leonard's big, steady voice on the telephone wire had reassured me. I went back upstairs to my room exhausted, but greatly relieved.

In the afternoon I took a long sleep, a refreshing bath, dressed for dinner, and felt decidedly more like myself.

At a quarter to six Leonard's voice called lustily up the stair from the front hall. "Hello—you home, Noreen?" I detected a little anxiety in his tone.

I came to the head of the stairs.

"Yes, I'm home, Boy—but aren't you early tonight?" I called down.

"All right—I'll be right down."

"They are yellow sunburst roses," he said in a minute later as he placed the box in my hands "Don't you think they would look fine in that Tiffany-glass rose bowl?"

"Just the thing," I smiled. Leonard took such a pride and interest in little attractive details. I loved it in him.

He went on upstairs and I hurried to arrange the flowers. The roses were beautiful. I laid them out on the table in the pantry and went to fill the glass bowl with cold water.

How it happened is hard to say. Perhaps the attack of nerves in the morning had racked me more than I realized. The weight of the water in the bowl—the sudden shaking of my hands—the turn of a wrist and the exquisite Tiffany creation was a wreck of broken glass on the floor.

"Oh, Leonard—Leonard!" I cried.

"Too bad, Noreen," he said kindly as he pushed through the swinging door and saw me standing there disconsolate amidst the spilled water and broken glass. "Never mind—it can't be helped." I detected genuine disappointment in his compassion.

"The bowl was such a beauty," I sobbed, the tears coming down in spite of my efforts to keep them hidden.

Leonard helped me pick up the pieces of glass and place the roses in a cut glass vase instead.

I tried to be brave but the accident seemed to have broken down my nerve again.

His comforts and sympathy were dear to me, but the very consciousness of them brought fresh tears to my eyes. Was it only in adversity that I could claim his tenderness?

Leonard saw my agitation. At first he tried to notice and I knew he was making every effort to calm me.

We went in to dinner, but I did not have the heart or desire for food.

"You are ill, dear. Don't argue with me," he said firmly as I started to protest. "I have seen noticing this thing coming on for weeks," he went on quickly.

"But, that wonderful bowl, Leonard," I pleaded. "It was a wedding present."

"Hang the bowl, dear," he exploded, not unkindly. "That's just the climax. If it had not been the bowl it would have been something else. Remember, it's ages since you have had a vacation—that's what the trouble is."

"Neither have you," I put in quickly.

"But it's different with me. You can't get away from this place," he threw out his hands to indicate our little home, "not like I can."

"I can't go, Leonard, please," I supplicated.

"Why not?" he asked directly

"Not without you—I can't leave you. I'd not be happy," I said simply. He did not say anything for a minute. My words had touched him I saw.

"I'll tell you what we'll do, dear." He seemed to have made up his mind and I felt the firmness of his decision though his tone was impassionate. "You go to Atlantic City for a week or ten days and I'll come down over the week-end and bring you back. The early spring is the swell time to be down there—there will be plenty of diversion, and that's what you need," he finished.

So it was decided. It only remained for to write at once for accommodations.

To Be Continued.

THE LETTERS OF TESSIE AND JOE

DEAR TESSIE:

As the Italians say, "Chirpo caruso gargelenda." In other words, "Music, sweet music." The main idea being, isn't it about time to start to develop the baby's musical ear, if any? At least I think we ought to find out which he inherits, my talent for melody or your genius for not being able to carry the simplest tune from one room to another.

If I was home I'd sing him simple songs for 15 minutes or so every day to get his ear sort of tuned up, but if you tried that the poor kid would probably think he was being unjustly punished and it might sour his nature. So the best you can do will be to carry him to the window whenever you hear an organ grinder outside, and in that way at least he'll get an occasional earful. And for all we know, a little inspiring music might help him to come across with a tooth or two where pleadings and threats have failed.

Business is awful, but at least if it keeps on the way it's been going, I'll know that it's better today than it will be tomorrow. To see the way Daisy Canned soups are rejected right and left you'd never believe there was a famine in China.

By the way, Tessie, do you know ther's one automobile in this country for every 14 inhabitants? I was reading the statistics in the paper this morning, and I'm sending the clipping on to you. The way it's worded almost makes you feel you've got a car yourself, and I hope you'll get some satisfaction out of it. You can stick it in your handbag so you'll have it handy to refer to in crowded trolley cars.

Affectionately, JOE.

DEAR JOE:

That was too bad about you having your sample case of Daisy Canned Soups stolen in the train, though I think you're justified in thinking the joke was on the thief, especially if he tried to make the best of a bad bargain by drinking the spoils. Not that I mean the word in any bad sense Joe. Anyway in case he did may be you could track him by calling at all the hospitals and finding out if they've had any sudden bad stomach accidents, though of course if you want to look at the second side of the subject the poor criminal has probably been punished enough, to put it mildly. I remember the last case of samples you sent home and some of the neighbors that I gave cans to remember it too, though I wish they'd stop reminding me. Some people can never forget a wrong

Mrs. Brennan dropped in with her baby this afternoon and I must say I haven't put in such an unpleasant afternoon since your last trip home when I sat waiting for you all day and felt sure you'd been run over and then found out you hadn't been just as I'd given you up for lost. You know Mrs. Brennan's baby has two teeth whereas our little angel is still thinking of having one, and Mrs. B's. little brat sat there the entire time opening his mouth as wide as he could open it just to flaunt his two teeth at our little precious and thus make him feel his own deficiencies.

Can you imagine that Joe? If his manners are as terrible as that before he's a year old what do you suppose he'll be like when he grows up? That's the way pool room loafers start on the downward track, Joe. But at least our baby didn't contaminate his little self by paying the slightest attention to the insult and just sat there through the entire ordeal pretending he didn't have intelligence enough to even notice it

Lovingly, TESSIE

DEAR TESSIE:

Don't worry about the baby being a couple of laps behind the Brennan kid in the matter of teeth. The way I dope it out he probably figures that if a thing's worth doing it's worth doing well, so rather than come across with one stingy tooth at a time he's saving up his energy for a big drive, as they used to say during the war, and the first thing we know you'll wake up some morning and find him waiting for you with so many teeth you'll have to call in Mrs. Fink to help us count them. Have we still got that camera that helped us keep from being bored on our honeymoon? If so don't fail to take a picture of the baby's first tooth at the moment of arrival and send it on to me special delivery.

I noticed in today's paper that according to the last census there are ten million bachelors in the country. It certainly made me feel lonesome, Tessie. Ten million lucky stiffs and me on the side lines watching them parade past with music playing and bankbooks flapping in the breeze! I mention my state of mind to Gus Schnitzle, who enlivens my territory with Japanese-American prepared horseradish, and he smiled a Pollyanna grin and said, "Well, where's the kick? Two can live as cheaply as one, can't they?"

"They can live more cheaply!" I come back. "But you darn fool, anybody can live cheaply. What I want to do is live expensively!"

Nothing personal, Tessie. As long as I'm tied up for life, there's no ball and chain I'd rather be shackled to than yourself, bless your old avoirdupois. "Hitchem croakorum," which is Latin for "better married than dead."

Well, olive oil, and don't take any wooden money. Love. JOE.

Importation Must Cease

BY a majority of more than 407,000, the people of Ontario in the Referendum of September, 1919, said that the sale of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes must cease.

But private cellars are stocked, and "booze" is invading the home.

Manufacturers of liquor in other provinces are benefiting financially by the situation in Ontario.

"Bootleggers" and "blind pigs" are able to set the will of the people at nought.

The law of the province is being evaded.

Why? Because there is no law in force against importation. The Federal war-time order-in-council which backed up the Ontario law at first was repealed on January 1, 1920.

The Will of the People Shall Prevail

The provincial legislature has no power over interprovincial traffic or importation. But the new Federal law will prohibit importation into Ontario from any other province or country if the majority votes "Yes".

There is only one way. Close the door to importation.

You voted against the sale of liquor in the province. Now vote to shut it out.

The Referendum on April 18th is your opportunity to cut off the "bootleggers'" source of supply, and put the new Federal law forbidding importation into force.

MRS. REIFENSTEIN, AGED 67, GAINS 25 POUNDS

Declares She Would Like To Put a Bottle of Tanlac in the Hands of Every Sick Man, Woman and Child in This Country—Never Saw Its Equal.

MRS. EMMA REIFENSTEIN.
337 Webster Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

"I am sixty-seven years of age but in all my experience I have never known a medicine like Tanlac. Think of it! At my age to gain 25 pounds in weight, but that is just what I have done," said Mrs. Emma Reifenstein, of No. 337 Webster avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

"If I had it in my power," she continued, "I would put a bottle of Tanlac in the home of every sick man, woman and child in this country, for I know what this wonderful medicine would do for them. For almost two years I was almost a nervous wreck. I did not dare to leave the house or even to go up town unless my husband went with me. I was afraid to even cross the street, and had a feeling of dread all of the time.

"My stomach was weak and easily upset. For days at a time I would go without any solid food. I could not rest at night to do any good and felt tired and worn out all the time. Some days I could hardly drag myself aross the room and was so weak and miserable I was ready to give up.

"My health is fine now and I eat anything that I want and never have a touch of indigestion. I have never slept better than I do now. My recovery is the talk of our neighborhood, as it was generally believed that I could not last but a few weeks longer. This grand medicine has brought me health and happiness and I just can't say enough in its praise."

Mr. J. Feifenstein, in commenting on his wife's statement, said: "Yes, her recovery has been a happy surprise to us all. A few weeks ago I had no idea that she would be able to pull through, but now she is in better health than I have ever seen her and the credit is due to Tanlac. We have been married 52 years to-day and I don't believe I have ever seen her looking better."

LAST CHANCE FOR SEATS

Everything is in readiness for the first concert of The Peterborough Male Voice Choir in the Grand Opera House to-morrow night, 5th April, at 8.15.

A magnificent response has been given by the music-loving public of the city towards supporting this unique effort, and a full house is practically assured.

Only a few good seats are still to be had, but apply as soon as possible at the box office to-night and to-morrow. There has been a great demand, and intending patrons may be disappointed by putting off until the last minute.

A WORD ABOUT THE CHOIR.

The Peterborough Male Voice Choir is unique in the fact that it is the only purely male musical organisation in the history of Peterborough. It was organised on 2nd June, 1920, and the name, Peterborough Male Voice Choir adopted.

Its inception began in 1910 and 1920, when augmented choir concerts were held in George Street Methodist Church. Some thirty men who assisted in those concerts conceived the idea that a non-denominational male musical organisation would promote the musical interests of Peterborough, as well as provide pleasure and development for men of the city who are interested in better vocal production.

A committee was appointed, and a meeting called, which resulted in the formation of the present organisation. Mr. J. H. Renwick was appointed as musical director, with Miss Ida Sanderson accompanist.

BOMB THROWING IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Belfast this morning had its first experience of bomb-throwing. Two bombs were hurled at men guarding the Ulster Club, at which General Bainbridge, in command of the troops in Ulster, is a frequenter.

One of the bombs exploded, however, but did not cause considerable damage, nor casualties, although it produced much excitement.

The bomb throwers escaped.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—The stock market again lacked definite tendencies at the opening of to-day's session, although advances were in excess of declines. Oils and motors overshadowed the general list. Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt, Invincible Oil and Studebaker rose one to 1 1-2 points in the first few transactions. U. S. Rubber, Americas Hide and Leather preferred, Bethlehem Steel and Allied Chemicals also were firm. An easier trend was shown by Crucible Steel, Royal Dutch, Central Leather and Keystone Tire. Only the smallest fractional changes were recorded by rails. The preliminary rates of exchange on London reflected further unsettlement at that centre over industrial conditions.

Shorts made a concerted attack against steels during the morning, evidently basing their operations on the increasing signs of impending price and wage readjustments. Crucible was the weakest, losing 2 3-8, and Bethlehem, Republic, Nova Scotia and U.S. Steels forfeited an average of one point. Early gains in Motors and Oils were lost when the selling of Asphalt Common and Preferred, Atlantic Gulf and Royal Dutch resulted in declines of 1½ to five points. American International, American Sugar, Sumatra Tobacco, Harvester Preferred and obscure specialties, including May Department Stores and Cluett, Peabody, yielded one to two points. Rails were comparatively dull aside from free offerings of Reading, which broke 1¼ points. Call money opened at 6½ per cent.

Call money eased to 6 per cent. at noon, but the relaxed rate failed to chance the course of the market Mexican Petroleum was especially heavy, showing a loss of 3 1-2 points, and miscellaneous shares, including sugar, textile and motion picture issues, were 1 to 3 points lower.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange heavy; demand, 3.90 5-8; cables, 3.91 3-8. Canadian dollars, 10 7-8 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—The close of the market was quiet, although considerable trading developed after the first half-hour. Abitibi was firm and closed at 39½, while Atlantic Sugar maintained its quarter point advance to the close. Brazilian was quiet throughout the morning, closing at 32, its closing figure on Saturday. Brompton weakened fractionally and closed at 34. Laurentide was quiet and inactive, and closed at 86 without changing either way. National Breweries strengthened a quarter point from its opening figure, and closed at 38¾. Riordon closed at 108, and Spanish River, after opening at 73, sagged a half to 72½, at which figure it closed for the morning.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—The opening session of the week on the Toronto Stock Market was a dull one, with price changes confined to fractional limits. Duluth Superior, with 475 shares changing hands, was the only stock in which trading reached three figures, and scored an advance of half a point during the morning. Canada Steamships Preferred lost 5-8. C.P.R. and Mackay were fractionally higher at 128 and 74 respectively.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, April 4.—(Canadian Press). — Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $10 to $10.50; butcher steers, choice, $9 to $10; butcher heifers, choice, $9 to $10; medium, $5 to $7.50; calves, medium, $8 to $10; lambs, $11 to $13; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $14.25.

FIRING COLUMNS OF SINN FEIN ACTIVE

DUBLIN, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Flying columns of the Irish Republican Army are officially reported to be operating in Fermanagh, Armagh, Tyrone, Kildare, and Queen's Counties.

There has been much destruction of roads, and in many cases intimidation has been resorted to.

A fight occurred last night in the hills near Dundrum, four miles south of Dublin. The Crown forces had proceeded to the hills in lorries to investigate reports of firing.

They found twenty armed men, some of whom, after firing at the military, mingled with women and children who were picnicking, for which reason the Crown forces refrained from using their machine guns.

They pursued the others, however, who were escaping to another hill, and shot two. The remainder set fire to the shrubbery on the hill, and escaped in the smoke screen.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

MR. KELLERD'S COMPANY.

The presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" and "Macbeth" by Mr. John E. Kellerd and his company on Saturday were marred by an evident lack of rehearsals and did not approach the standard of the production of "Hamlet" on Friday night, although the acting of Mr. Kellerd himself made both performances noteworthy. The fact that several of the cast were not up in their lines was painfully evident in the presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" on Saturday afternoon, and several stage waits and the audible prompting detracted much from the enjoyment of the performance. Mr. Kellerd's portrayal of Shylock, however, was ample recompense. His conception of this great role differs from that of other Shaksperian stars in several respects and he succeeded in winning a certain amount of sympathy for the Jew, especially in his final exist from the court room. Miss Isabel Merson was an admirable "Portia."

At the evening performance Mr. Kellerd scored again by his finished work as Macbeth.

A GOOD CONCERT SUNDAY EVENING

LARGE CROWD PACKED THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

With every seat occupied, extra chairs placed in all the boxes, and over 200 in the top gallery, one of the largest crowds that ever attended the Grand Opera, listened to another splendid musical programme rendered by the Band of the 4th M. G.B. under the direction of Lieut. W. Peryer, assisted by high class local soloists.

The several band selections were rendered in masterly style, and the band increased by over 10 new members, is a credit to Peterborough and county.

Miss F. Harrison again won new laurels with her song selections, having to respond with an encore. The little lady will no doubt become very prominent in her vocal career in the near future, as she possesses a charming voice of good range.

Mr. Farr, singing "The Holy City," received tremendous applause, and responded with an encore.

Mrs. L. M. Brooks, who delighted the audience at the last concert, again rendered two beautiful numbers, to rounds of applause, while the young violinist, Master Joe Nasimok, proved himself to be a wonder on his difficult instrument, giving two numbers in masterly style. This young lad has a bright future ahead of him in the music world, and few better violin solos have been heard in Peterborough than those rendered last evening by this young musician.

The entire programme was worthy of the wonderful patronage and applause given last night, and there is very little doubt but that the Grand Opera House will be taxed to its capacity for each succeeding concert.

The next concert will be held a week from next Sunday.

Voice Of The People

Edintor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Will you allow me, through the columns of your esteemed paper, to offer my regrets to the Orangemen of this city for failing to announce from my pulpit last evening the great Orange rally to be held in St. Pauls Presbyterian Church next Wednesday night? When we consider the great work that this Association is doing throughout the country, every pulpit in the land should be proud to recognise the same, and we anticipate a large gathering next Wednesday evening to hear Mr. O'Brien of Ottawa. Thanking you for this valuable space,—I am, yours respectfully,

G. E. Ross.

TORPID LIVER
For Over 4 Months

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

When the liver becomes laxy, slow or torpid it is not working properly ,and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills quickly remove the secretions, clear away the waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, and cause so many troubles.

Mrs. Alice Mehill, Napanee, Ont., writes:—'I was very badly run down, and had a torpid liver for four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials, and I am a different person to-day. I can safely recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to any one troubled wtih liver trouble."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

With a Hoover
You Can House-clean the Rugs Every Day
Not Once or Twice a Year

The perennial beauty of a valuable rug is the reward of frequent and thorough cleaning. Such cleaning is easy to perform with The Hoover, because it beats . . . as it sweeps, as it suction cleans. All injurious embedded grit is fluttered out by gentle beating. All stubborn litter is detached by swift sweeping. All loose dirt is withdrawn by strong suction. Only The Hoover combines these three essential operations. And it is the largest-selling electric cleaner in the world.

You may have a Hoover placed permanently in your home for a nominal sum, and its purchase arranged on convenient terms. You may also have it demonstrated for you at any time, either in your home or in our store.

Welcome! The New Organdies

There is something about Organdies that sets them apart from other wash fabrics. They have a lightness and airiness all their own, and if the advance notices from usually reliable sources are correct, they will be greatly favored this season.

We have orchid, pink, maize, white and a beautiful shade of field mouse grey. The manufacturer guarantees them to retain their crispness and fresh appearance after washing. The width is 45 inches and the price $1.75 yard.

No Doubt You Have Heard of "Migel" Silks —Have You Seen Them?

We have obtained some of this celebrated Silk to see what Peterobrough women think of it, and from all who inspect it, we hear nothing but favourable comments.

They are Skirting Silks that wash perfectly. The richness of the fabric can be seen at a glance, and the novel patterns are a pleasing diversion.

Spacious Shopping Bags, slightly narrowed at the top and fastened with a small flap and dome and equipped with long loop handles, are $2.95. They are lined with floral cretonne.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS INCREASING

BUSINESS IS HOLDING ITS OWN —MONEY NO EASIER— BONDS MARKET LESS CONGESTED.

STOCKS DULL

The current of business the past week, as indicated by the movement of goods in the wholesale and retail trades, has appeared to meet fresh resistance. This is a natural enough condition, following immediately upon the extraordinary spurt of Easter buying this year, which could not be expected to continue long in such volume. The weather, too, has put a slight checks on activity in the clothing trades, which seemed about to take the lead in a general business revival during the warm, sunny days of last week-end.

Business currents as indicated by the wholesale and retail trades are, however, only surface currents. Inasmuch as they are more observed than some of the undercurrents of finance they have influenced sentiment somewhat unfavorably. On the stock exchange the depressed and uncertain attitude of mind was more prevalent than ever, resulting, in so far as concerns most stocks, in the slimmest dealings of any week this year.

Record of Failures.

Commercial defaults in Canada again show little alteration this week, the number being 36, or 1 more than last week. Two weeks ago, the number was 34, while there weer only 9 Canadain failures reported in this week of 1920. Of the total number this week, 15 involved $5,000 or more of indebteness in each instance, which is 5 less than last week.

Unemployment.

Unemployment figures are worth something more than a passing glance. Not a few writers have found cause for congratulation in the absence of unemployment in Canada as compared with other countries, such as Great Britain and the United States. Casual estimates have placed the number of workless persons in this country at about 75,000. Such easy-going information prompts one to exclaim, with Mr. G. K. Chesterton, that "It ain't so much people's ignorance that does the harm, as their knowing so darned much that ain't so." Mr. F. A. Acland, deputy minister of labor, says that returns received by the Employment Service of Canada, from sixty-five per cent. of all establishments employing ordinarily mort than twenty-five hands, show approximately 150,000 unemployed. Establishments not reporting would presumably not very largely form this proportion, so that the total number of unemployed throughout the Dominion may perhaps be estimated at 230,000 at the present time. Great Britain, with a population roughly six times as great as Canada's showed 1,223,000 unemployed registered at the government labor exchanges at the end of February, or slightly over five times the number of Canadian unemployed. While such comparisons are not wholly satisfatcory, it is probable that Canada has as high a percentage of unemployed as Great Britain. And yet, as above stated, the evidences of downright distress from unemployment is scarcely as sharp as a year ago, when there were comparatively more returned soldiers unsettled, and in a helpless condition.

Money Market.

There are no signs as yet of the long promised easing of money rates. The Bank of England, more or less as expected, failed to bring down its discount rate. Bank clearings, both for the week and for the month registered marked decreases, those for the month being $229,000,000 below the total for March, 1920. Taken in conjunction with the falling off in bank deposits, and the inability of the banks, as shown in the last official statement, to make much progress in the curtailment of current loans, these figures do not promise much in the way of an early lowering of interest rates.

It is interesting, in this connection, to note that Ontario preferred to pay 7 per cent. on $6,000,000 six months treasury bills on Thursday rather than pay slightly over 6 per cent. on a longer term issue. The provincial treasurer at least has evidently made up his mind that bond interest yields will be lower toward the end of the year.

Bonds and Stocks.

The bond market has been without any sharp developments. There has been a notable cleaning up of old issues, thus leaving the market fairly clear for moderate quantities of new offerings of the right sort. The immediate distribution of the whole of the Ontario notes to ultimate investers, within a few hours of flotation, in fact, is evidence that the bond dealers are comfortably in command of the situation. Trading in Victory bonds, at the same time, has been slack, and prices continue heavy, without any serious yielding.

Canada had its share of dividend casualties this week, with the reduction of the Abitibi dividend, and the passing of the Goodyear Tire preferred dividend. Stocks were inclined to sag slightly in a series of extraordinary dead trading sessions. A smart advance developed at the week-end in Twin City and Duluth Superior traction stocks.

RUSSIA BACK 16TH CENTURY

SOULS OF PEOPLE SEEM CHANGED BACK 300 YEARS AND CHAOS REIGNS EVERYWHERE.

RADICAL REVERSION

PRAGUE, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Seventeen different Governments have been upset and supplanted with entire changes of authority in the Ukraine since 1917, says the Vollia Rossii, a Russian daily paper published here by Socialist-Revolutionists. The revolutions, it is said, have been due to the struggles of the peasantry against the successive rule of the Germans, the Cossack hetman, the land barons, and, finally, the Bolsheviki.

After telling about the revolts of the Little Russians against "authority imposed upon them without their consent," the article says:

"A radical change has occurred in the psychology of the peasant masses, a change which may be termed 'psychologic atavism.' It is as if the souls of the people were changed back to the times of the 16th and 17th centuries, the times of the Tartar invasions, the slave markets of Constantinople in the struggle for the right to live on the ground drenched with the blood of their forefathers.

"Starving North Russia has sent forth scores of thousands of Soviet employees and bag speculators (persons dealing in foodstucs carried in bags on their backs) to the fertile Ukraine provinces, in quest of food, while about 200,000 Soviet troops are stationed in the cities, towns, and hamlets of the Ukraine.

"Many families from North Russia are migrating to the south to escape death by starvation. At the same time, the Soviet authorities have taken steps to mobilise the male peasant population and send them away to the north and to the Ural, in an effort to combat the rebellion of the peasantry. The cruelties of the Austro-German period of occupation are as nothing compared with the horrors of the Soviet activities in the Ukraine."

The earlier cruelties toward the peasant rebels, such as flogging, confiscation of farm implements, and depletion of their resources, has been followed, the artcle says, "by punitive expeditions, wholesale executions, hangings, and shootings." The peasants in reprisal are reported as ambushing Bolshevik detachments, many of which "disappear without a trace." Cases are on record, the newspaper states, where "Communists have been buried alive by the score."

MRS. HAYDOCK SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to anyone who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved Mrs. Haydock from an operation we cannot claim that all operations may be avoided by it,—but many women have escaped operations by the timely use of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

A LINDSAY TRUCK HITS LITTLE BOY

LINDSAY, April 2.—Little Master Reeves miraculously escaped death at the corner of Kent and Adelaide streets, when struck down by a delivery truck. Fortunately he escaped with a shock and bruises. More serious results would have resulted but for the position of the truck on the boulevard.

Another motor vehicle accident occurred when a large touring car travelling at good speed crashed into a florist's rig at the corner of the same streets. Driver Hicks of the latter vehicle was thrown out and badly shaken up, and the rig and floral contents suffered considerable damage.

PLAYER-PIANO WEEK

April 2nd to the 9th has been proclaimed National Player-Piano week throughout the Dominion. Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter Streets, Peterboro, are making a special display for this week and are offering special inducements to purchasers.

The strong feature of the Player-Piano is that while it possesses all the attributes of a regular piano, and can be so used, at the same time its construction is such as to permit anyone to play on it, though they may not know a single note of music. It has been well said that any member of the family, from the little tot up to grandma, can sit down before the Heintzman & Co. Player-Piano and enjoy some of the finest music that has been produced anywhere. It will be interesting to step into the warerooms of this firm and ask for a demonstration of the Player-Piano and learn some of the special inducements that are being offered for the week opening April 2nd and closing April 9th.

THE CALEDONIANS STARTED WITH A WIN AGAINST THE COMRADES

STRONG WIND BLOWING DOWN THE FIELD SPOILED THE GAME—COMRADES HAD A THREE-GOAL LEAD AT HALF-TIME—THE SCOTSMEN ADDED SIX GOALS IN THE SECOND HALF—CALDER DID THE HAT TRICK.

Under local football auspices the Caledonians and the Comrades played a League game on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition grounds. The Comrades played as previously selected but the Caleys had to make a change through McDowall leaving the city. Wright played as a forward and Ralph Brunton went into goal.

The Teams.

Comrades, G. F. Poste, goal; J. Jolliffe and F. Mallinson, backs; F. J. Rockwell, H. Cowie and T. Bolan, half backs; W. Warman, M. Dunkley, C. G. Hardie, W. McDougall and J. Jackson, forwards.

Caledonians, R. Brunton, goal; W. T. Service and Sam McMillan, backs, J. Brown, D. Moir and Alex. Morris, half backs; Alex. Burgess, R. Hannah, W. Calder, J. Dungwall and E. Wright, forwards.

Referee, Mr. J. Clark.

Comrades won the Toss.

Comrades won the toss and took advantage of the wind that was then blowing straight down the pitch. Play ran from end to end with the green and white holding the Scotsmen to their own half. The whole forward line of the Comrades made a great attempt to open the scoring and found the net in a scrimmage in front of goal through McDougall. Hannah tried hard to get up the field but could not make progress. Williamson cleared to McDougall, who added a second after 10 minutes play, when Service miskicks. The Comrades played hard to increase the lead because they knew they would require to get as many this half as possible. Just about ten minnutes before half time, the Comrades were down into the Scotsmen's goal area to get the third goal through, Service again assisting the ball through that bounced off his chest. Half time Comrades 3; Caledonians 0.

The Second Half.

The re-start was unproductive of any noteworthy incident until some stack play on the part of Comrades defense allowed Moir to score after 5 minutes. A forward movement initiated by Hardie and Dunkley was spoiled through Alex. Morris, who sent the ball along to W. Calder to add the second goal. A few minutes afterwards the same player added a third. Now that the game was a tie, the Comrades made a splendid attempt to hold the anxious Scotsmen. Poste was kept busy, and did his work well but ultimately had to admit defeat to Dingwall for the leading goal. The Caleys continued to attack and had the better of the exchanges and Calder completed the hat trick for the afternoon with David Moir having two to his credit. Full time; Caledonians 6; Comrades 3.

THE SECOND GAME.

The second game between the Canadian Woollens and the Canadian General Electric, resulted in a win for the former by a score of 4 to 0.

The recent interchange of players added spice which otherwise would have been absent, Woollens whacking the C.G.E. four goals to nothing.

The Teams.

C. G. E. — C. Griffine, goal; J. McDonald and J. Williamson, backs; Alf. Parkins, H. Turner and A. Bestard, half backs; D. Gash, C. Hotson, T. F. Powell, J. Williams and E. Hotston.

Canadian Woollens — C. Fenner, goal; J. Cridland and J. Chambers, backs; H. Frost, S. McMillan and J. Roberts, half backs; J. Swan, H. Jones, Mr. Shaw, J. Shaw and J. Monkman, forwards.

Referee, J. Howarth.

Opening Very Fast.

There was no advantage in gaining the toss because the wind was blowing across the field with each team paying a visit to the respective goal keepers. Time and again the Woollens played havoc with the C. G. E. defence until Swan put across a nice pass that was headed out acurately to Turner who let Gash away on the wing to be returned to Chambers. A foul against Parkins looked dangerous for C. G. E. that resulted in M. Shaw giving Griffin a hot one to clear.

The Woollens returning to the attack confined the play at the C. G. E. goal with McDonald playing a great defence, but Williamson let M. Shaw have a shot at goal, for the G. G. E. men to head the ball out of Griffin's reached for first goal. After this reverse Powell dashed at a great pace down upon the Woollens' defence that stood the test.

A foul against McMillan for handling was cleared by Cridland, Turner swinging the ball to the left wing with Hotston in a good position to make progress but was drawn up unintentionally by the referee with a throw up bringing nothing at the other end M. Shaw was called offsides. Woollens replied with a spirited attack, in which S. McMillan was prominent, by striking the cross bars from 20 yards out, to go over the bar. C. G. E. made a strenuous effort to shake off the Woollens attack but they were outplayed, and through a solo run on the right wing by Gash the C. G. E. missed two great openings, until a foul against Parkins relieved the pressure. Turner sent the ball back again to Gash who put in a fruitless corner.

McDonald's Great Shots.

The C. G. E. full back went up to try and help the forwards and at every opportunity he sent in long shots that kept Fenner in trouble in clearing when attacked, and on one occasion had to run out of goal to assist the defence to kick clear, and from the return play H. Jones beat Williamson on clever tactics, but was held in check by the stubborn defence of McDonald.

Wiliamson Unfortunate.

The Woollens harassed the C. G. E. defence and kept Griffine on the alert, tall the time, to save his goals. Pressure by the Woollens' forwards resulted in Williamson accidentally handling the ball in the dreaded area. Matt Shaw detailed the penalty kick to Chambers, who sent in a low ground shot that left Griffine no chance whatever. A few minutes afterwards half time was called, with the Woollens two goals to the good.

Half Time.

C. G. E. pressed on resuming but was short lived. Frost sent a timely pass forward to Swan who ran down into the corner to test Griffine with a high shot and repeated the same performance a few minutes later. After 5 minutes play M. Shaw beat the C.G.E. defence by dribbling the ball right through until close upon Griffine, who was bewildered.

At this point of play the C. G. E. changed their team around. A determined rally by the C. G. E. front line gave Powell a rare opening that required the necessary backing to get a goal because he was left to himself to try and do the impossible.

Fenner Punted Clear.

A foul against Frost for handling was sent in at a fast pace to goal by McDonald that made Fenner jump high up into the air to punt clear with his fist. At the other end both M. Shaw and Monkman were called up for offsides. From midfield pla yPowel sent the ball out to the left wing. E. Hotston returned the ball across to Gash, who had an excellent chance to score, but he lifted the ball just over the bar from 3 yards out.

Frost Added the Fourth.

Quick as a flash the Woollens were down upon Griffine's charge, that awarded them a free kick. Frost viewing an empty space in the goal he planted the ball through. Thereafter "Wag" Hotston changed places with McDonald, who made a desperate attempt to force the play upon the Woollens' goal but Cridland and Chambers were unbeatable in clever tactics to outguess the C. G. E. at every new effort to score. Even Henry Turner could not make an opening, who was the best half back on the day's play.

Play Very Erratic.

Mid-field play of an uninteresting character was then the orderr for a time and it was only ocasionally that Fenner was called upon because the defence of the Woollens was par excellence and they held the C. G. E. forwards to a standstill. After breaking away on the right Gash was awarded a corner that went to McDonald, who lifted the ball over the bar to his own astonishment.

The C.G.E., famous for their last minute rally tried hard to be relieved of getting a white washing, but of no avail. The Woollens outplayed the C. G. E. in every department, and deserved to win.

VANCOUVER IS FAVORITE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

ODDS 10 TO 8—VANCOUVER IS HOCKEY CRAZY AND 10,000 WILL SEE AGME.

OTTAWA, April 4. — (Canadian Press).—In a special despatch from Vancouver to the Ottawa Citizen, T. H. Gorman writes:

"The world's hockey championship, and the possession of the Stanley Cup, will be decided here to night when the Ottawa and Vancouver teams come together for the fifth and last time. Both septets are deported in perfect shape, and Vancouver on the eve of the big match is hockey crazy. All available seats have been sold, and the Ottawa club officers had to barricade themselves to-day from Eastern people who are seeking reservations. The players of both clubs have been stormed for seats, and it is impossible to meet the demand. Over ten thousand people will see the championship won and lost.

"Vancouver rule the favorites at 10 to 8, but the Ottawa contingent are backing themselves and are confident that they will be returned victoriously."

FOOTBALL EXECUTIVE MEETING TO-NIGHT.

All members of the Peterborough Football Executive are requested to attend the Bi-monthly Regular Meeting To-night in the G.W.V.A. Rooms at 7.30 p.m. prompt. Referees to be appointed and Draw for Peterborough City Cup which starts on Thursday, April 28th. Please Note the Time.

TAKE CARE OF THAT COUGH

Some people get a nasty cough and don't pay much attention to it, saying, "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but while it may wear off, serious injury may have been done to the lungs and respiratory organs by the prolonged, harsh, racking coughing.

On the first sign of a cough or cold get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It will stop that nasty cough, ease the tightness across the chest, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Wm. Enshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I caught a bad cold, had a sore throat and a terrible hacking cought that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night, I tried quite a few remedies, but they did not do me much good until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I feel that "Dr. Wood's" has no equal."

When you get Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, you are not experimenting with new and untried remedy, but one that has a reputation extending over thirty years.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c, and 60c. a bottle, manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudly, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritatios, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

WARD PATTERSON REFUSED THE PRESIDENCY ONTARIO BASEBALL

PETERBORO MAN COULD NOT BE PERSUADED TO ACCEPT THE POSITION TO WHICH HE HAD BEEN ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION—ANNUAL MEETING OF D.A.B.A. HELD IN TORONTO.

PROFESSIONALISM DENOUNCED

TORONTO, April 4.—Ward Patterson of Peterborough, who was elected by acclamation president of the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association, heaved a bomb into the camp Saturday afternoon when he absolutely refused to accept the position.

"I was asked by many of the delegates to become president, and I absolutely refused, yet I was nominated and elected by acclamation,' said Mr. Patterson. "I simply cannot, because of my business." The delegates made a strong effort to get Mr. Paterson to reconsider but he could not be moved. A vote of confidence and a cheer did not move the Peterborough man. They tried every way but at five o'clock Mr. Patterson was still firm in his stand that his business would not permit him to take the position.

Frank Robbins of Hamilton was re-elected as president, defeating Mr. McFarlane of Harriston and W. J. Smith of Toronto.

The movement to make the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association residence rule March 1 instead of Jan. 1 was beaten by a vote of 16 to 11. The old "back to the farm" argument was utilized in favor of the March 1 rule by a delegate from near Peterborough.

"You are all talking about getting men back to the farm," he said. "How can you get 'em down on the farm when they can't play ball."

Walton, of Hamilton, saw in the attempt to make it March 1 the fruition of a deep dark scheme to enable some baseball Jesse Jimmie to steal some good players from clubs that had them corraled already. Later on it turned out that W. J. Smith, of Toronto, who has no club affiliations, was responsible and he voted against any change. He merely brought it up to have it threshed out.

In future the president and four men he appoints shall compose the sub-committee.

A student clause was adopted. Any student has the option of playing with teams in his home town or his college town.

Neutral umpires may be used in all semi-final and final games.

An amendment was passed allowing a ball player to participate in three senior games without losing his right to revert to the lower series the same season.

The T.A.B.A. Clash.

The famous clash between the dates was mentioned. The O.B.A.A. insisted on the T.A.B.A. champions playing Peterborough, September 18. The T.A.B.A. refused to settle their championship by a twilight game to be ready for Peterborough September 18, and the upshot was that the T.A.B.A. resigned from all three series. Mr. Dulmage recommended steps to prevent a recurrence of such an unfortunate incident.

A Great Season.

"The 1920 season," says Mr. Dulmage's report, "was by far the most successful since its organization. It can be said without fear of contradiction that more real, classy baseball was played in the O.B.A.A. during the past season than at any time sine its organization. There were no less than twenty leagues and associations affiliated with the O.B.A.A. in 1920, and there is every indication that this number will be increased in 1921.

A Nice Report.

Treasurer Joe Walsh presented a report which was characterized as "a work of art" by the new president, Ward Paterson, and the auditors. It showed a balance of $537 in the bank and everything running smoothly.

After Fall Fairs.

W. J. Smith, who represented the O.B.A.A. on the Canadian Amateur Baseball Association and was its secretary, presented a report detailing the missionary work of that body.

"The C.A.B.A. at its annual meeting," said Mr. Smith, "decided to request the different provincial branches of the association to petition the minister of agriculture or the official who has supervision over fall fairs in the different provinces to withhold any or all grants to such fairs which propose and do give cash as prizes for athletic events held at such fairs or exhibitions. The idea is to eliminate the evil of cash prize tournaments used as attractions at these affairs."

For Reinstatement.

The following application for reinstatement were referred to the incoming sub-committee: J. R. Billingsby, of Hamilton, who played semi-pro, in 1918; A. Small, W. J. Davis and John J. Rowe, of Woodstock, who played semi-pro. there some years ago; John McKelvey, of Brantford, who in 1918 played with Brantford of the M.-O. League against Toronto pros. in an exhibition game, and Ollie Jeffrey, of Galt.

Walter Trivett, secretary of the Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C., notified the O.B.A.A. that J. A. Barnes, E. S. Heaton and J. J. Malone, of Toronto, had been suspended, and requested the O.B.A.A. to withhold thier certificates.

Threw the Bombshell.

P. J. Mulqueen, acting chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission, who came down on invitation to tell the deleagtes the plans of the commission for boosting and improving amateur sport in the junior schools, created a sensation when he took a rap at the crooked amateur and went a little beyond than speakers usually go on this subject.

"I love an amateur athlete and I am always proud when a boy remains a real true amateur and grows to manhood with the principles of true amateurism firmly imbedded," said Mr. Mulqueen. "I have every respect for the professional who takes the money in the open, says he takes it and is a good, open-handed professional, but I have no words strong enough to condemn the athlete or player who takes money and then swallows a raft of affidavits declaring that he did not take it. He is a thief. The law gives a thief a year or maybe five, but what does it give the receiver of stolen property? Twice as much. What do we do with the thief and the receiver in sport—the poor boy or boys who are imported to play under assumed names as a battery or brought in and paid to play hockey—what happens to them? Why, if they are caught they are thrown out and professionalized. But what happens to the older man, the officer of the baseball or hockey or other club which induced these boys to become sporting crooks? Why nothing. They get by, and are re-elected to office in the same club and come here and preach morals in sport and hold up high ideals. Officers of clubs who do these crooked things should be thrown out of sport forever. I hope that is what you gentlemen will do with those who engineer the crooked deals in your line of sport.

Mr. Mulqueen's remarks were received with hearty applause. He certainly uut it up straight. He took a fling at the actions of certain big institutions in certain sports, who openly and flagrantly, he said, did things which if a poor man's club did would be thrown out and kept out. He said that it was a shame that big men should use their power and influence to do things which smaller men dare not do.

WILL BANQUET WINNING TEAM

Mr. G. H. Roper, General Secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., has received the appended message from Mr. C. E. Parsons, a former member of the "Y" basketball team.

On Friday evening of this week the "Y" will hold a complimentary banquet in honour of the victorious "Y" basketball team which won the championship on Thursday evening last.

"Whitby, Ont., April 1, 1921.
"Mr. Roper, Peterborough, Ont.
"Dear Mr. Roper,—Congratulations. All you needed to gain the championship of Canada was Adair and myself on the defence.
"As you know, I still have an interest in the old town.
"Yours sincerely,
"C. E. PARSONS."

LACROSSE PLAYERS WILL BE NUMBERED

ALSO PROPOSED THAT PROGRAMS GIVE THE NAMES WITH THE NUMBERS.

Encouraged by the development of lacrosse in its revival last year, the Oshawa club will have both intermediate and junior teams in the O.A.L.A. this season. Their intermediates made a decidedly good showing after the long lapse of the game, and from all accounts they intend to come back stronger than ever this summer. The club is appealing to the followers of baseball and other sports for co-operation and support, and especially for interest and assistance in the building up of a junior team.

The Oshawa Telegram enthusiastically approved of the action of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association in deciding at their annual meeting that "all players must be numbered." They make the further suggestion that interest in the games would be greatly ncreased by selling or distributing official programmes for each game, giving the names and the numbers of the players. By this means the players would be introduced to the spectators, their positions on the field could be quickly ascertained, and the names of the men who show outstanding skill and ability would be generally known.

This idea should be seriously considered by the teams in the Peterborough district. In the present outlook lacrosse seems to have every promise of successful group games, and everything that can be done to improve its position in the public's favour should be adopted.

FOOTBALL RESULTS

LONDON, April 4.—In the forty-two league games played in the Old Country Saturday only nine visiting teams were able to get away with the points. It was a glorious day for the home clubs. Another good feature is the fact that there were not as many tie games as usual. There were only ten. They were distributed as follows: Two in the First, three in the Second, two in the Third, and three in the Scottish.

WOODSTOCK SAYS BEST TEAM WON

GIVES PETERBORO CREDIT FOR WINNING BASKETBALL HONORS.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review of Friday has the following to say of the basketball championship:

Failing to display the brand of basketball that carried them into the finals, and proving unable to break away from the tenacious checking of their opponents, Woodstock O.B.A. intermediates lost the Ontario title to Peterborough in a strenuous game at the Y. last night. Peterborough came to Woodstock with a lead of 25 points, gained in Peterborough. Woodstock had hoped to pull this lead down. Instead, they were defeated right on their own floor, the score of last night's game being 30-26. Peterborough not only held their lead but lengthened it, and they looked like the best team. The locals worked desperately hard to pull down the lead against them, but the visitors outchecked, outplayed and outscored them. At half time the score was 10 to 9 for the visiting team and they lengthened their lead in the last half. The locals looked decidedly off color, but there was excuse for it, since they were up against powerful opposition. The Peterborough team played a strong game. Their defence was very strong, while offensively they were there with the goods. They could shoot and they could certainly check. Instead of contenting themselves to hold their lead, they pitched right in as though everything depended upon the score of the game. They gave a nice exhibition of basketball. Try as they might the Woodstock team could not gain control of the situation. And as Peterborough won the game, the round and the title upon their merits, none will grudge them their victory.

CLUBS' FINANCIAL STATEMENTS DUE

O.H.A. ISSUES FINAL NOTICE TO CLUBS UNDER ITS JURISDICTION.

TORONTO, April 4.—The sentiment of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and the Ontario Hockey Association is that hockey must be kept clean at all hazards. And in accord with this feeling the O.H.A. has started out already to tighen the restrictions on the clubs and players for next season. Clubs and individuals who may evince an inclination to evade the letter and spirit of the association's regulations are given something to think about in the following notice which has been mailed to all clubs in the O.H.A.:

Under separate cover birth certificates registered with the Ontario Hockey Association for the playing season of 1920-1921, are being returned to the clubs. Please note that when applications for playing certificates in the junior series of the O. H.A. are being made next season new birth certificates will be required for all players, including those registered in past seasons, and new ones who intend to play in the association for the first time.

Your particular attention is also drawn to "Clause 14" of the regulations of the Ontario Hockey Association, which reads as follows:

"Each club shall have a set of books setting forth the receipts and expenses of each year in detail, which books may be examined by the O.H.A., or any of its officers appointed for such purposes at any time. The set of books is to consist of cash book and ledger, and a complete, detailed statement of receipts and expenses for the season must be filed with the secretary of the O. H.A. on or before the 15th of April following, by such club in the association. The first of such statements is to be filed by April 15th, 1921. Failure to comply with this clause automatically suspends the club from membership in the association." There shall be no exception made in enforcing this regulation.

PUTTING A NIGHTMARE SCENE ON SCREEN MORE FUN THAN DREAMING ONE, SAYS STAR

Constance Talmadge Enacts a Part Which in Real Life Caused Her to Quit Eating Rarebits Before Bedtime.

Constance Talmadge has a perefct horror of nightmares and consequently is very careful about eating such delectable and sleep-destroying things as welsh rarebits before going to bed, but nevertheless she thought it was a great joke when she was called upon to enact scene from one of her most dreaded dreams, that of finding herself walking around town not completely dressed.

In this instance she had to depict the mental plight of a young girl who, wringing wet in her bathing suit, cringed from pillar to post in a stern New England countrys.de as the result of being deserted by a yachting party while in swimming in Long Island Sound. How she obtained more conventional attire and the scene that awaited her return to New York furnishes a chain of engaging humor that hasn't a weak link throughout Constance Talmadge's latest First National attraction, "Good References", which will be shown at the Allen Theatre commencing to-day.

"I'd rather make a hundred pictures with that sort of a scene than dream just one nightmare," commented Miss Talmadge when it was all over. "Haven't you ever dreamed of walking around town in your night clothes or of falling 5,000 feet or of being chased by lions? Of course, you have. And I know you always woke up just before getting caught by the lions or just before striking mother earth, or sometims just after landng on the floor. Ugh! It makes me shudder to even think about it."

SATAN MARKS HIS OWN

George Arliss Makes Screen Debut in "The Devil."

George Arliss, marking his screen debut in 'The Devil", showing at the Regent Theatre to-day, takes into his hand the destinies of an artist a model, a banker and his wife. He has marked these people for his own kingdom of misery. Out of their Truth and Goodness he would create Evil. But, that Truth can, and does overcome Evil, is one of the points of interest in this photoplay triumph

Having induced Mr. Arliss to do what he had long refused to do — make a moving picture—Associated Exhibitors proceeded to make a photoplay that should reach the height of perfection in its every detail.

The first step taken was to secure Edmund Goulding to write the story and James Young to direct. To insure the very best in stage settings Charles E. Seessel a designer and interior decorator, and his corps of trained architects and technicians were engaged to create and construct the stage settings. The photography was put into the skilled hands of Harry A. Fischbeck The cast is a small one, but every role is an important one and worthy a star. There fore, such well-known artists as Sylvia Breamer, Lucy Cotton, Edmund Lowe, Roland Bottomley and Mrs. Arliss were engaged BUSINESS HELD UP FOR 'HELD IN TRUST"

Four blocks of the Hollywood business district were roped off one day for the filming of sensational scenes of fire apparatus in action for "Held in Trust", May Allison's forthcoming Metro production which will be seen to-day at the Empire Theatre.

The complete equipment of the Hollywod fire department participated in the scenes, which were taken near the fire headquarters. Eight cameras were utilized in the filming of the motorized fire trucks and engines as they came out of their buildings and raced around corners to the blaze.

Miss Allison and two hundrd extra people took part in the scenes. Miss Allison does the rescue act in this episode of the picture, as she saves the life of her little pet dog by grabbing him from under the wheels of a fire truck

This is only one of the multitude of thrilling situations in "Held in Trust," which was written by George Ki'bble Turner and adapted for the screen by Sarah Y. Mason. The story appeared as a serial in the Red Book Magazine recently. John E. Ince is directing the picture.

FORSTER—PEARCE.

An event of interest to many Peterborough people took place in Calgary on March 21st at St. Stephen's Church, when Florence Mabel, daughter of Mrs. E. J. Pearce, of Calgary, and formerly of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Lt.-Colonel W. Burton Forster, of Calgary, son of Major-General Burton Forster, of London, England.

Mrs. Forster is a grand-daughter of the late Aaron A. Cox, of Peterborough, and was very popular among the younger set. She also served as nursing sister with the C.A.M.C. during the war, both in Canada and in England.

Lt.-Colonel Forster has had a distinguished military career. In 1914 he enlisted as a private with the 31st Battalion. In March, 1915, he received his commission and proceeded overseas, later being transferred as Captain and Adjutant to Col. Daley, C.M.G., D.S.O., of the 21st Battalion, and in March, 1916, was appointed Brigade Major to Brigadier-General R. Brutinel, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., G.O.C., Canadian Machine Gun Corps.

Lt.-Colonel Forster was mentioned in despatches during the Battle of the Somme in 1916, was awarded the Military Cross for the Vimy Ridge operation in 1917, the Croix-de-Gerre with star and palm, for the fighting around Amiens in 1918, and again mentioned in despatches for his work during the last hundred days of the war.

For Crepes and Silks and Fragile Laces —to keep them fresh and new

Prettier every time they are washed! Think of being able to say this about the crepes, silks and satins which used to be such a problem.

Think of being able to cleanse them conveniently and economically in sudsy water, thanks to the special soap science has perfected for the washing of dainty materials.

Wear your best things every day—put them on and enjoy them. They are cleansed in an instant without harm in the dainty lather of Princess Soap Flakes.

What are Princess Flakes?

In convenient flake form, wafer-like and curly so that they won't mat and lump, so that the action of water will dissolve them instantly.

These curly white flakes make the stiffest of lather which freshens and renews while it cleanses.

Princess Flakes are the safe soap for fancy washing and the efficient soap for general use. And a convenience and economy into the bargain.

Two big savings

Princess Flakes go much farther than common laundry soap. This is because they are pure whole soap, with no filler and little moisture. This saves soap money.

They also protect your clothes from effects of destructive soap ingredients. Broken threads and weakened texture usually are not due to poor material, but to the effects of common laundry soap.

For washing woolens

In the washing machine

Princess Flakes haven't an equal. The thick suds dissolve dirt like magic and stands up so well it doesn't have to be renewed.

Three ways to buy

Once you learn the value of Princess Flakes you will order by the 25 pound carton, which allows a big saving. You will use them for every laundry purpose and for general household needs.

WILL ABANDON NATIONALIZING OF THE G.T.R.?

LONDON SPECULATES FOLLOWING ANNOUNCEMENT OF NON-PAYMENT OF MONEY TO RETIRE INTEREST.

AMOUNTS REPUDIATION

LONDON, April 5. — (Canadian Associated Press). — The Grand Trunk Railway Company's office here issued a notice to the press last evening, stating that the money required to retire the interest on its securities due on April 1 had not been received from the Canadian Government.

London and provincial papers this morning contain considerable comment on the situation.

The Financial News has a long article of rumors that the Canadian Government may abandon the project to take over the Grand Trunk. It says that the actual failure to provide further interest payments would be sheer repudiation of definite obligations, something of which no Canadian Government has ever been guilty. For this reason the paper thinks that there is little probability of the Government abandoning its scheme of acquisition. A strong point favoring the completion of the agreement, the Financial News suggests, is that members of the Meighen Government, while none too favorable to the Grand Trunk, have expressed the opinion that the Grand Trunk situation is largely the result of the sins of the Laurier Government. Moreover, Canada is committed to a system of nationalization by the fact that both political parties have had a hand in bringing about the present situation.

NO DOOR OF ESCAPE FROM TREATY OBLIGATIONS, NOW LEFT, FRENCH BELIEVE.

UTMOST SATISFACTION

PARIS, April 5. — (Canadian Press). — The reply of the United States to Germany on the reparations question has given the greatest satisfaction to French official circles, where it is regarded as finally closing the door to all escape by Germany from loyally meeting her liberties under the treaty of Versailles.

LONDON, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Although the British Government has not received in full from the British representatives in Berlin the note sent by the United States Secretary of State to Berlin on the German reparations question, official British opinion is, it was learned to-day, that Germany failed dismally in her attempt at a new method of solving the reparation problem, that of approaching the United States for assistance.

SHIP ROMANCE ENDED YESTERDAY IN MARRIAGE OF LOCAL JEWELLER

WATERLOO, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—A wedding, a sequel to a romance which began on the Atlantic Ocean last year, took place yesterday at St. Saviour's Parsonage, when a popular Waterloo young lady, Miss Florence Wood, and Mr. Alex. Gibson, a prominent Peterborough jeweller, were united in matrimony in the presence of their immediate relatives.

Rev. H. N. Harding performed the ceremony.

The principals met each other while crossing the ocean, both having been visiting in the Old Country.

Mrs. Gibson is a graduate of Kitchener and Waterloo Hospital, 1918 class. Since graduating she has been engaged in private nursing locally. She ceased active work in February.

Last summer Mr. Gibson visited Scotland in company with W. G. Ferguson, local manager for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and while crossing met Miss Wood.

Aldermen Reconsider and No Action Taken on the Wage Dispute

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE THE BRIDGE CONTRACTORS WERE EMPOWERED TO DISCUSS THE 5 CENTS AN HOUR INCREASE, GRANTED IN JANUARY BUT NEVER PAID, WITH THE MEN BUT IN COUNCIL A SECOND VOTE RESULTED IN A TIE AND NO ACTION WAS TAKEN.

"I don't know of any moral, legal or technical reason for paying the labourers on the Hunter street bridge their union's claim of 5c. an hour back pay since the first of the year," emphatically declared Contractor C. Townsend, last night to Council's committee of the Whole Council.

This has been a vexed question with Council for a month or two now. The labourers originally were paid 45 cents an hour, then by agreement with the city 50 and 55 cents, in Townsend's discretion, according to work engaged in; but with the end of this year their wages were reduced by Mr. Towsend back to the original scale of 45c.; no concrete workers were then needed, to receive the additional 5 cents an hour, for which labor the higher price had been paid. A protest against this reduction was then made by the union, when Council in Committee practically endorsed the cut to 45 cents made by Contratcor Townsend, only to be repudiated, however, by Council in regular session and the wages fixed by resolution at 50 cents an hour, the men to be reimbursed the5c. an hour short since January first. This, however, has not yet been done.

Contractor Townsend said, last night, I have acted in good faith. We undertook the contract with a wage agreement of 45 cents an hour for laborers; subsequently raised 5 cents in keeping with labor conditions, by Council's consent, and again reduced to the original wage when those conditions took a downward turn. I cut the carpenters weeks before the laborers, and they never objected. In fact, not one of the laborers themselves have personally complained, but a man brought in from outside—Ottawa—had interfered.

Mr. Townsend contended that the situation would not permit of the higher wage rate, and he pointed out that a lot of men to whom the union claimed 5c. an hour back wages were due had left town, and he is not going to follow them.

Talk With the Men.

Ald. Turner suggested that Contractor Townsend talk with the men and endeavor to reach an adjustment.

Ald. Crowe could not see it that way.

Ald. Jones—"Leave the matter in Mr. Townsend's hands; let it be a question between the men and he; perhaps the latter will absolve the city from that resolution of agreement for, 55 and 50 cents an hour passed last year, which specified no time limit.

Ald. Turner and Jones moved that Mr. Townsend consult with the men, point out the reasons for reduction, and report back to Council. Also that the motion on the books relative to the higher wage be left in abeyance until the whole matter is conclusively settled.

This carried on a vote of 5 to 4, the Mayor not voting and thus practically siding with the majority.

Made a Mistake.

However, when this matter was reported in Council, Ald. Crowe objected on the ground that the vote taken on the above resolution was not an intelligent one; and he asked for the yeas and nays.

His Worship heartily acquiesced, remarking that his voting in committee with the majority instead of the minority had been a mistake. "I don't believe in temporilizing," he added, "and insist that the city should live up to its agreement with the men. The division here proved a tie as follows:

Yea—Ald. Phelan, Turner, Hamilton, Jones and Hay.

Nays—Ald. Gainey, Whitehouse, Morrison, Crowe and the Mayor.

This leaves the laborers' wages with no action taken by Council last night, one way or the other.

Mr. Townsend's position is that he definitely understood when taking the contract that 45c. an hour for laborers was to be the wage for the whole job on the bridge, and considers the men under present conditions, have really no protest coming at their late reduction to that wage.

WILL MILK IN QUEEN'S PARK

HON. MANNING DOHERTY PERFORMS WITH A COW BEFORE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

EXPLAINS THE PROCESS

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, April 5.—The Hon. Manning Doherty will try anything once.

That, he told The Examiner today, is why he agreed to milk a cow in front of the Parliament Buildings this afternoon.

The Minister of Agriculture denies that he has been taking a special training course preparatory to the performance of extracting the lacteal fluid.

"What's more," he added, 'haven't milked a cow for three years. I put in a milking machine on my farm that length of time ago."

"But before that——?"

"Oh, I couldn't tell you how many I milked before that. I learned when I was a boy. Where is the farm boy who doesn't know how to milk? When I was a student at the Agricultural College. I milked the cows there on a contract."

So it will be seen that the Minister is no novice.

"What is the secret of successful milking?" The Examiner inquired.

"That's an ambiguous question," Hon. Mr. Doherty parried. "Do you mean milking inside the Parliament Buildings, or outside?"

The Examiner hastened to assure him that no imputation had been intended.

"Continued practice with a gentle cow," was the Minister's definition. "It depends to some extent on the amateur, and to some extent on the cow," he explained.

"Are you ready for the performance this afternoon?"

"Yes, all ready for anything."

"Overalls?"

Hon. Mr. Doherty declined to state whether he would don them for the occasion.

SUES CARTAGE COMPANY, $400 FOR INJURIES

JOSEPH O'REILLY BRINGS ACTION AGAINST TORONTO FIRM, FOLLOWING COLLISION

ONLY CASE ON DOCKET

The spring non-jury sittings of the County Court opened at 11 o'clock at the Court House this morning with only one case on the docket.

Judge Huycke, before proceeding with the case, rendered judgment in the case of H. F. Andrews vs. G. A. Elliott, heard a week ago. He concluded, he said, that the plaintiff had failed to make a case and he dismissed the case. If the plaintiff had not made a case, the said, the defendants had failed even more so to make their counter claim. He dismissed the case with no order as to costs.

Automobile Case.

Joseph O'Reilley, farm implement dealer of this city, is the plaintiff in the case proceeding before Judge Huycke to-day. The defendants are the Gladstone Cartage Company, of Toronto. O'Reilley claims damages of $400 and the costs of the action for injuries done to his automobile and personal injuries to himself in an accident on the Kingston road on October 10 last, alleged to be caused by the negligent driving of one of the Gladstone Cartage Company's trucks. Plaintiff claims the truck was on the wrong side of the road and was not properly lighted.

Counter Claim.

The accident occurred a mile west of Bowmanville, just a few feet beyond a turn in the road. Plaintiff was travelling in an easterly direction, the truck westerly and alleyed by O'Reilley to be on the south side of the road. Defendants deny plaintiff's claim and have entered a counter claim of $300, for injury to the truck.

V. J. McElderry is representing plaintiff and Angus C. Heighington, of Toronto, is counsel for defendants.

Plaintiff's Evidence.

Joseph O'Reilley testified that he was coming to Peterborough from Oshawa with one passenger, a Mr. Kennedy. It was about 8 or 9 o'clock at night and the weather was foggy. He was travelling about 20 miles an hour on his right side, the right wheels he estimated being about four feet from the grass. The road was wide enough for three cars. Witness said he just saw the right small coal oil lamp on the truck before the smash occurred. He just saw the truck and then the accident happened.

"Did the truck have lights?" asked Mr. McElderry.

"Just two small coal-oil lamps."

"Was there any searchlight burning?"

"None whatever. In the centre of the radiator was a large Prest-O-Lite lamp, but it was not lit.

"How do you know it had not been lit?"

"I put my hand on it and it was cold."

Have you had any experience with these lights?

Yes. If it had been lit the top would be hot for at least ten minutes after it went out.

Witness said his car seemed to raise up behind and he was pitched forward in his seat, spraining his right wrist. The left front wheel of the truck locked inside his left front wheel about 8 or 9 feet from the side of the road. The rear wheel was closer to the inside of the road. O'Reilley said it appeared as if the car was attempting to get on the right side of the road.

Separated Two Cars.

Cars that came along, he said, had no trouble passing them. A car came to their assistance and brought out garage men from Bowmanville who separated the heavy truck from the car. The main damage to his car consisted of a bent fender, bent axle, broken windshield, smashed headlight, new tire badly cut, steering gear damaged, and later it was found the frame was bent. Exhibits submitted by plaintiff were:

No. 1— Receipt from the West End garage, Bowmanville, for $93.50.

No. 2—Receipt from Jackson Motor Co., Oshawa, where the car was largely repaired, $139.80.

No. 3—Dr. Gallivan's receipt for $15 for attendance.

No. 4—Receipts for rental of cars from Fontain's and Gibbs' and Halpin, respectively for $15 and $24.

It was a foggy night, witness told Mr. Heighington and in spite of the fact that the truck carried a large load of furniture he could not see it coming.

The case is proceeding.

Britain Thrown Back Into War Times as a Result of the Strike

TO COMBAT WHAT IS ACCEPTED AS A THREATENED INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION THE GOVERNMENT TO-DAY ASSUMED WIDE CONTROL OF VITAL INDUSTRIES AND TRANSPORTATION.

SEVEREST RESTRICTIONS SINCE ARMISTICE

(By Ed. L. Keen, Staff Correspondent of the United Press)

LONDON, April 5.—Great Britain to-day was thrown back into war times by the coal strike.

To combat what was accepted as a threatened industrial revolution, Government agencies were empowered to assume control of mines, food manufacture, and shipping, street car lines, canals, harbours, export trade, lighting, and all means of transportation.

Some of these were to be taken over to-day.

The authorities were prepared to introduce the most severe restrictions since the Armistice.

To carry out its industrial programme, the Government already has begun extensive military and naval movements. The Navy recalled all men from furloughs and stopped leaves. Troops were distributed in such a way as to give the Government the greatest aid, both in carrying on industries and in preserving the peace.

Transport workers commonly recognised as the most radical labour group, met to-day to decide on ways of supporting the miners.

The transporters went into session early to-day, with President Harry Gosling in the chair.

The railwaymen meet to-morrow. The two sessions will determine definitely whether Britain faces a near revolution. The three great groups form the Triple Alliance, comprising over three million men, and easily the most powerful labour army in the country.

The Government's promptness in meeting the challenge was disturbing to transport and railway leaders. As a result, it was indicated to-day they may urge delaying the strike vote until negotiations have resumed between the miners, colliery owners, and Governmentt agents.

The railway and transport workers were anxious to act, however, to forestall any movement to cut their wages. They believed any reductions made for the miners will be applied to them next. The transporters appeared to be the readier to take strike action. The railway workers were expected to take more time before action.

The entire alliance feared the owners of the industries were intent on slashing wages to the "starvation point." Because of this, their attitude was more belligerent than it was at the close of the two weeks' strike of last fall. At that time the men were fighing for an increase. This time it is to ward off a deep cut in income.

In one of the hundreds of labour meetings, James Weston, president of the South Wales Miners, declared the mining family of five was relatively poorer than the pauper or convict. The murmurs which followed his statement showed the temper of the men.

Weston declared the wage scale suggested by the colliery owners would pay the miner less than farm labourers received.

Meanwhile, industry is falling away. Entire factory towns, accustomed to waking to the whistles and working all day under clouds of smoke, were dead. One business after another closed its gates as the supply of coal disappeared.

Unemployment figures leaped by the thousands. Thirty thousand tannery workers joined the idle to-day. Two hundred thousand employed in food factories were laid off, 60,000 motor workers, 326,000 brewery employees, and thousands in the lesser trades swelled the list.

Feeding the workless thousands loomed as a great problem. It also intensified the danger of demonstrations, and accounted for some of the troop movements now under way.

In Parliament, the threatened labour war was recognised in a long debate. Labour leaders will present the cause of the workers, and the Government will ask for the approval of its plans for controlling the situation.

INFORMAL NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, April 5 (Canadian Press).—Informal and private negotiations between the Government and the leaders of the Miners' Union relative to the settlement of the coal strike were held last night, says a definite announcement published to-day by The Daily Sketch.

The newspaper declares that these conversations were carried on through an intermediary, who was persona grata with both sides.

The Daily Mail hints that Lord George Rankin Askew, who has appeared as arbitrator in many trade disputes, may be the intermediary who is acting.

For three hours this morning four hundred delegates of the National Transport Workers' Federation assembled here to consider the attitude of the organisation towards the strike, and debated the question without reaching a decision.

The conference adjourned until Wednesday morning.

TORONTO, April 5.—(Special to the Examiner).—Is the Provincial Government still encouraging immigration?

This question has been placed on the order paper by T. Tooms, Labor member for, Peterborough. He also asks how many persons have been influenced by the Government to emigrate to Ontario; how many have been placed in farm situations, and whether the Government is taking any action to prevent mechanics or city workers from emigrating to Ontario.

Campbellford Council Gives Fair Board Increased Grant

DEPUTATION ASKED FOR $150 AND RECEIVED $200, DOUBLE LAST YEAR'S---BOWLERS' REQUEST FOR FREE POWER ACCEDED TO.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5.—"When we have an exhibition we don't say that it is the Seymour Agricultural Society's exhibition, but that it is the Campbellford Fair," said T. J. Horkins in an appeal to the Town Council last night to increase their grant this year.

Mr. Horkins suggested the sum of $150 instead of $100 as given last year, but to demonstrate their goodwill to the Fair Board the Council raised this year's grant to $200 on Reeve Davidson's motion, seconded by Councillor C. W. Palliser.

Mr. Horkins, who is an active member of the Seymour Agricultural Association, accompanied Mr. Alex. Hume, the president, a prominent farmer of Seymour township.

"We find that we are practically without funds," said Mr. Hume, addressing the Council. "This year we are making a special effort to enlarge and improve our Fair, increasing the prizes, beautifying the grounds and putitng up permanent fixtures. Seymour Township Council increased their grant by $50 today, making it $150. We feel that the Fair is of as much benefit to the town as to the country. We are giving the use of the grounds for athletic purposes free and to keep them in good condition we turned down $24 rental for pasturage. We purpose adding what you give us to the ladies' work department."

Advertises the Town.

Mr. Horkins argued that a good Fair would be a fine advertisement for Campbellford. "Our manufacturers and merchants do not exhibit. I admit there is no place there for them to exhibit, but we hope to overcome that. Other towns have parks and places where the young men and boys can go. The Fair grounds are all we have for athletic sports."

Mr. Horkins made a plea to the business men to get behind the Campbellford Fair and make it a real success.

"I agree with Mr. Hume and Mr. Horkins" said Reeve Davidson. "We should all back them up. I think we will have a better exhibition than ever this year."

Reeve Davidson's motion increasing the grant to $200 was unanimously adopted.

A Midnight Session.

Mayor A. J. Meyers presided at last night's meeting, which adjourned just ten minutes short of midnight. All the members of the Council were present as follows: Reeve Chas. Davidson, Deputy-reeve J. U. Stone, Councillors C. W. Allison, W. S. Wiggins, R. S. Southworth, W. J. Meiklejohn, J. R. Wilkinson and T. S. Baker.

A large attendance of ratepayers was an interesting feature of the meeting and seemed to indicate the expectation of questions of unusual importance. Nothing exceptional materialized, however, in the various discussions.

Bowlers' Deputation.

A deputation from the Lawn Bowling Club requested the Council to instal free of charge six electric lamps to light the greens and also to supply free power for one year for the lighting system and for a motor to operate a pump required to water the lawn.

Dr. H. B. Longmore reviewed the activities of the Bowling Club since its organization last year. The green had been built up and rolled at a cost of more than $1,000, borne by the members. They believed that it would be a good advertisement for the town and for that reason were asking the Council to put up the lights and supply free power for one year. In Western Ontario, Milton, Ayr and other towns generously supported their bowling clubs. Citizens of Campbellford would obtain a great deal of benefit from the bowling green and the adjoining tennis courts. Dr. Longmore said that other towns had supplied their clubs with far more than the deputation were asking for.

Councillor Wiggins regarded the bowling club as an indirect asset to the town. The assistance asked for would cost but little, and for those reasons he moved that the request be granted.

"I can't say that I'm in favour of it," said Councillor Palliser. "I am willing to contribute five dollars from my own pocket, but I don't think it is the duty of this Council to spend the ratepayers' money for fitting up the bowling green."

Councillor Wilkinson remarked that the town had not yet set up a memorial to its fallen soldiers. He felt that this should be a first consideration.

Mr. Wiggins—I'm not in favour of this, simply as a bowling green, but as an asset and an advertisement for Compbellford.

Mr. Wilkinson—Quite so. However, I am outlining what I think is right and true and just.

Not a Large Outlay.

"The expenditure involved is not very large," said Depty-reeve Stone. "Many citizens have contributed out of their own means for the bowling green and to hold them up at this present time is outside my line of thought. I have observed that bowling greens are a decided benefit in other towns and that they are well supported." Mr. Stone seconded the motion.

Mr. Palliser—If the Council wants to make a tennis court for the use of the public I'd have both hands up for it, but this thing is just a private affair.

Deputy-reeve Stone—In that case I would withdraw.

Permits Reasonable Fee.

Dr. Longmore—The work already done makes it possible for any workingmen to get an amount of sport the same as at the curling club. Young men pay a fee at the curling club that doesn't cover what they get at all. Other towns and cities feel that they can make much larger contributions than we have asked for. A fee will be charged, but it won't begin to cover the expenses. Bowling teams from Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg and other towns will visit us this summer. Is it an advantage to have them? Personally I'll be money in pocket if the Council turns this down flat, but I thought I was doing something for the good of the town.

Mr. Palliser—The Curling Club pays for the electricity it uses. We'd be setting up a precedent. I don't think the bowling green should be lighted free any more than the curling rink.

Dr. Longmore said that the cost of the power that might be needed to work a pump was estimated at $50.

DECIDED TO BUY NEW CEMENT MIXER—REPORT OF CHIEF OF POLICE DUNCALFE SUBMITTED TO THE COUNCIL.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. — In his report to the council last night of his first year's administration of the police department, Chief Duncalfe stated that the town had received $1578.95 in fines and costs from convictions in the local police court. This sum does not include a $200 fine that was paid to the Inland Revenue Officer at Peterboro and $100 that went to Seymour township. The actual total of the fines collected through the activities of the local police was approximately $1900.

"I think this is the largest sum the town has ever received from its police department," said Chief Duncalfe, "and I think that I am entitled to a little better treatment."

His predecessor, he said, got two suits of clothes and an extra pair of trousers, and $50 was placed in the bank for his use as petty cash.

Chief Duncalfe said he had applied for a new suit and a rain coat. In regard to the work of the police department and the sanitary inspectorship, he said he was unable to carry on both if he had to make an inspection of every yard this summer.

"Are you aware that often I don't get more than five hours sleep" the Chief asked.

Councillor Palliser—"I told you that when you took the job."

Chief Duncalfe—"I took it to prevent an outsider coming in. I am willing to do what I did last year in the inspection of yards, advertise for complaints and inspect such places."

Deputy Reeve Stone remarked that many of the yards in town did not need inspection. Hence there was no necessity of engaging an extra man to help the chief in that part of his duties. There there some other places which he knew or would suspect ought to be examined but their number was not large enough to interfere greatly in the Chief's general work.

The Police Committee was authorized, on a motion by Mr. Baker, seconded by Mr. Palliser, to buy whatever clothing Chief Duncalfe needed.

The Chief pointed out that the citizens could best assist him in the performance of his duty by coming directly to him with complaints insteam of filtering them through the council. Quicker and better results could be gained, he said.

Buy Cement Mixer.

After a long discussion on a proposal to buy a cement mixer, Deputy Reeve Stone moved, seconded by Councillor Meiklejohn, that the council make the purchase and depute the selection of a machine to a committee composed of Mayor Meyers, Reeve Davidson and Mr. Palliser.

"Settle it right here and now," said the Reeve, who promptly moved an amendment that a No. 6 London concrete mixer with a batch hopper attachment, be bought at a cost of $720 f.o.b., London. These were the terms and price quoted by W. L. Ballantine, a representative of the company, who spent an hour or more in recounting the capabilities of his machine.

Councillor Wilkinson seconded the amendment which was adopted.

Wants Use of Unopened Road.

W. G. Fraser asked the Council to give him a lease of the unopened part of Palliser street. He expected to use it for a skating rink next year and would thereby turn in a revenue to the town.

Mr. Stone moved seconded by Mr. Meiklejohn, that this request be left to the Mayor and Reeve.

"I'm going to use it anyway," Mr. Fraser declared. He had obtained legal advice and on the strength of it he was going to use that part of the street until he was stopped.

Roads Committee Report.

In the list of sidewalks to be included in this year's construction operations, the Roads Committee report presented by Deputy-Reeve Stone detailed the following:

Grant Road, west side, from end of present walk to the town limit, 2,108 feet Estimated cost $2,000.

Centre Street, 1,000 feet, where fill was laid last year. Estimated cost, $600.00.

A walk over the Public School hill to the proposed separate school was approved, but the material was left to the Council for decision.

Mr. Stone said the committee had felt that the walk might be held over until the Council ascertained how its finances were holding out.

Mr. Palliser moved, seconded by Mr. Meiklejohn, that this walk on Bridge Street from Booth to Margaret Streets, be built of gravel with a cinder top for the present.

POINTS TO CANADA AS OBJECT LESSON

NEW YORK, April 5.—(Canadian Press). — Under the heading "Canada's Sensible Timber Laws," The Herald says that there is a lesson for the timber men of the United States, who have been cutting undersized trees, in the statute by which Canada makes it illegal to cut spruce having a diameter of one foot or less. The newspaper estimates that fully one half the pulpwood, as well as great quantities of lumber used in the U. S., come from Canada and points out that with the continuation of conservation methods in Canada and the wasteful methods in the U.S., the result will be permanent disadvantage to the latter.

Reforestration is a necessity unless the pulpwood supply of the U. S. is to be exhausted within the next twenty years, the article points out, after detailing examples of wasteful cutting in the central part of New York State. Lumbering of this sort, The Herald concludes, is burrying the day when the wooden house will be a novelty and urges legislation to conserve the timber supply of the United States.

BOY ORPHANS SERVE IN WAR

WEAR CROSS OF ST. GEORGE FOR BRAVERY IN BATTLE AND ALL BEEN WOUNDED.

ONE PARTLY BLIND

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 4.—(Associated Press).—Three little orphans, who served three years in the anti-Bolshevik armies of South Russia and who were for a time among the Russian refugees here, have been admitted to the military academy of the Jugoslav republic at Sarajevo, through the personal efforts of Baroness Wrangel, wife of General Wrangel.

The boys each wear the Cross of St. George, earned for bravery on the field. Each has distinguished himself as a soldier and each has been wounded two or more times. Since their arrival here in November, when the Crimea was evacuated by General Wrangel, they have been living together in one of the Cossack camps.

Their names are Serge Fomenko, aged 16, son of a Russian colonel who was shot by the Bolsheviki; Constantin Brussilovsky, 15, of Odessa, whose father was also a colonel and killed during the war, and Boris Siminov, aged 14, of Kiev, whose father and mother perished under Bolshevik rule in Kiev.

Little Fomenko, who was not a play soldier but served in the machine corps of the Kornilov regiment, risking execution if captured, is partly blind due to a wound in the head. His last deed of bravery was performed when the Crimean forces retreated before the Bolsheviki. At that time he lay in a hospital at Simferopol. When the hospital was evacuated and all had fled, he left his bed, found a carriage and horses, and saved with himself two officers too badly wounded to help themselves, taking them to Sebastopol.

The three boys are bright and cheerful and still full of readiness to help others. Young Brussilovsky, while in the Russian Embassy Hospital here, recovering from a wound, insisted on surrendering his bed to an old officer, too sick to stay in the camps.

CORONER'S JURY ACQUITS RAILWAY EMPLOYEES FULLY

FIND THAT WALTER DALRYMPLE MET WITH ACCIDENTAL DEATH

BROCKVILLE, April 5 (Canadian Press).—A coroner's jury last night returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Waller Dalrymple, aged 52, of Carp, Ont., a farm labourer, who was struck and killed by the G.T.R. International Limited near Mallorytown on 31st March, while walikng on the tracks.

The evidence given by the engine crew showed that Dalrymple stepped directly in the way of the train, while attempting to avoid a freight train coming in the opposite direction.

The verdict exonerated all the employees from blame, and stated that Dalrymple was trespassing at the time of his death.

KEENE RESIDENT PLEADED GUILTY

OVER ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS COLLECTED IN FINES.

Breaches of the O.T.A. furnished fines of over $1,100 in the city and county police courts yesterday. Magistrate Dumble levied assessments of over $400 in his court but Magistrate Langley's court had the day's honours with a record of $700

Charles Ellis of Keene, who, it wil be recalled, was connected with a liquor case from Keene several weeks ago was on that occasion plaintiff, yesterday afternoon he was defendant. He was charged with on March 7, drinking liquor in an unlawful place, to wit the garage of Barraclough and Edwards'. The Edwards' brothers were previously dismissed on the same charge because Ellis evidence would not convict them. His own evidence convicted himself. Yesterday he pleaded guilty and was find $200 and costs. Joseph Wearing prosecuted for J. Stewart, License Inspector.

As a result of a trip into the North country Mr. Stewart laid charges against four Galway men. Damon Peters of Union Creek, the stopping-off place of electioneering parties, was charged with having liquor in an unlawful place, to wit the office of William Parkins, manager of the saw-mill, two miles east of Union Creek, and five miles from Kinmount, on March 19. He pleaded not guilty but on the evidence of an employee of the mill, William Detman and Inspector William Thornberry of Lindsay, a conviction was made and $200 extracted from Peters, William Parkins "boss" of the mill, John Sherman and Sidney Smith, the later two employees of the works, were each fined $100 and costs on charges of drinking in an unlawful place. J. O'Brien defended the quartette from Galway Township.

TREASURY BILLS TAKEN QUICKLY

ADDITIONAL FOUR MILLION TAKEN BY A SYNDICATE.

TORONTO, April 5 (Canadian Press).—Ontario took advantage of the strong demand for its Treasury Bills, as revealed in the quick sale of six million last week, for it became known yesterday that an additional four million was taken by a syndicate subsequently, making ten million in all.

The same group of sixteen bond houses, known as the Ames Syndicate, acted in this instance, and the terms were unchanged. That is to say, the Province gets 99.53 and borrows its money on a basis of .98 per cent.

The Treasury Bills are for six months, and bear 6 per cent.

The same quick absorption of additional bills which was experienced had been the case with the first issue and the four million were cleaned up in a few hours, the bills being sold at par to yield 6 per cent.

Waldon, and is survived by his parents, also his wife, who was formerly Miss Wannamaker, and one daughter, Lola, at home. Three brothers and three sisters also survive, namely, Charles, Trude and Ernest, all of Lakefield, and Mrs. Fred. Abbott of Douro, Mrs. Thos. CANADIAN SHIPS TO CUT INTO U.S. TRADE

WASHINGTON, April 5. — (Canadian Press).—A report received from the U. S. consul at Kingston, Jamaica, dealing with the inauguration of the new Canadian steamship service between Halifax and Jamaica says:

"It is expected that the new service will cut into the trade of the passenger ships of American lines which have been carrying nearly all the Canadian passengers and much of the cargo to and from Jamaica via New York."

RUBS ACID IN WOMAN'S EYES.

Arizona Woman Assaults Teacher.

JEROME, Ariz., April 5. — Mrs. Clarence V. Hopkins, wife of a mining engineer, was rushed to the Prescott County Jail to protect her from violence after she had poured acid on the fae and eyes of Lucille Gallagher, a school teacher.

Mrs. Hopkins entered a restaurant where Miss Gallagher and another teacher were eating, and, according to witnesses, seized the young woman by the hair, pushed her hat back and poured the acid into her eyes, rubbing it in with her hands. During the war, Mr. Hopkins, Miss Gallagher, and another teacher did war work in Washington.

SOME MAN SAVED FROM GOING OVER INGLIS FALLS BY COMPANION AND THE TWO ARE PULLED TO SHORE BY ROPE.

NEAR WATER FALLS

OWEN SOUND, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—By the collapse of a bridge over the Sydenham River, only a few feet above Inglis Falls, a high rugged waterfall about two miles south of this city, a team of horses with a wagon loaded with flour, on which were Frank Morris and Elgin Follis, were thrown into the rushing waters.

Morris, stunned by the falls, was only saved from a horrible death on the rugged rocks by the heroism and quick action of his companion, who, at a great personal risk, rushed to his assistance and literally pulled him back from the brink. The water was swirling through the narrow channel at a very high speed, and the footing was of the most insecure nature, the rocks being worn smooth. The two were finally assisted to shore with the aid of a rope, and were little the worse for their experience.

The horses and wagon were saved with difficulty, but the wagon box containing thirty-one hundred pounds of flour went over the falls and was a total loss.

The Dread Pyorrhea Begins With Bleeding Gums

Pyorrhea's infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this.

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

TO-MORROW'S BY-LAWS.

The two questions to be decided to-morrow by the by-laws to be voted upon are of considerable importance for both, either directly or indirectly, affect the citizens generally, and those who are entitled to exercise the franchise will be losing a portion of their citizenship if they do not take the trouble of expressing their opinion of these measrues.

Some people consider the daylight saving system a fad and they are showing little interest in the result of the vote. Others who favour the summer time are equally apathetic to the referendum being taken to-morrow. Both these classes are making a mistake in ignoring the by-law, for if there is an affirmative answer to-morrow, the first group may find that the so-called fad is being put into force, while if the vote is negative, the second will be deprived of a system that they consider beneficial. It is obviously, therefore, good business for both classes to register their opinion by means of the by-law to-morrow. Every citizen who is entitled to vote in municipal elections has a vote on the daylight saving question.

As for the storm drain by-law, it will directly affect the people of the districts that would be improved by the building of a proper system, and the rest of the community will benefit because of the saving that eventually will be effected by an adequate method of storm drainage. There should be a large vote in favour of the by-law.

"ALL WORK," ETC.

The farmers' clubs in various parts of the Province, who are arranging for a weekly half holiday during the summer months and for a programme of baseball, football and other sports, are going a long way towards keeping the young people on the farms and in making rural life more attractive. The trouble with farming has been that no attention has been paid to the question of recreation, work has been regarded as the chief factor in life, and, naturally, the larger centres with their amusements and the opportunity to indulge in sports that are provided, have proved an irresistible line to many of the young folks in the rural districts. It is refreshing to see that in different sections of Ontario the farmers are awakening to a realization of the fact that recreation should find a place in the scheme of life, and the establishment of a weekly half holiday will be appreciated by the young people of the sections affected. Farmers' clubs in general should follow the example of the pioneers in this movement, for it is only by the making of conditions in rural life more pleasant that the movement from farm to city, about which the farmers complain so bitterly, can be checked. The old motto about "All work and no play" applies to farming just as closely as it does to other occupations.

BUYING AT HOME.

Buying in Canada at the present time is not so much a question of patriotism as it is of good business. Our dollar cannot possibly return to a 100 per cent. basis until our exports have caught up to our imports. There are, of course, goods that must be brought in and no curtailment can be made in the purchase of those commodities, but we annually import millions of dollars worth of goods that could be bought here at home—and must be if we are to restore normal exchange conditions. The adverse exchange affects the price of everything bought in Canada, and the only remedy is to confine our purchasing, as far as possible, to Canadian-made commodities. Last year this country imported considerably over a billion dollars worth of goods, over 68 per cent. of which came from the United States. On the latter, Canadians had to pay, in addition to the duty, from $1.10 to $1.17¼ for every dollar's worth of United States goods brought in. It is obvious we cannot restore our dollar to its 100 cents basis until we have corrected the balance of the trade. If it's our business The Examiner has endeavoured to do what it could towards bringing about better conditions by purchasing Canadian-made papers and Canadian-made supplies of all kinds. A general observance of such a practice would do much to return the Canadian dollar to its proper status and enable our people to get a full dollar's worth for every one hundred cents that has to be spent in the purchase of commodities that cannot be manufactured or secured in Canada.

PURCHASING SUPPLIES.

Hon. F. C. Biggs' integrity may be unshaken as a result of the investigation before the Public Accounts Committee in connection with the purchase of $117,000 worth of motor trucks for the Provincial Public Works Department, but enough has been revealed to show the need of better business methods in the purchase of Government supplies. A transaction that provided a commission of $13,500 for a few days work by a dealer cannot be quoted as a demonstration of efficiency or economy in the transaction of public business and is a convincing proof that a more prudent system of purchasing is a necessity. Why should not all supplies of this kind be purchased by tender and dealt with publicly after tenders have been called for by public advertisement? Secret tenders have an unpleasant adour to the people and the use of such a system breeds suspicion, and that the secrecy is a cloak for the manipulation of a policy of patronage—a policy that may be useful for rewarding party or personal friends, but that is a poor guarantee that the interests of the public will be considered, let alone protected, in transactions of this kind. If the present flurry leads to a condemnation of the sub rosa method of purchasing Government supplies and to the adoption of a frank, businesslike handling of such purchasing, it will have served the people of Ontario a good turn.

A CRUEL FALLACY...

Even if the shirker deserves little sympathy, his treatment demands justice and not cruelty. His exploiters, the labor leaders and "business agents," tell him things which are not true, regardless of the cruel pain of his awakening. They assure him that the basis of all negotiations between capital and labor must be a living wage. They fail to tell him that the statement doesn't mean anything.

Let any man of sufficient capacity to follow these lines without a wandering thought ask himself how many times in the whole course of his life he has met an individual worth a living wage who, not being a detective, was not getting that and more. He may require the fingers of one hand for the count. He will not require those of the other. But let him take a pencil and paper and calculate those he has known who were receiving a living wage which they were not earning.

A Bolshevist inquiry into the steel strike propounded the astonishing thesis that every unmarried, unskilled worker in the employ of the Steel Corporation, even if under age, should receive a living wage based upon a Bolshevist estimate of $2,000 a year for a conventional "family of five." When a subject is approached in this way discussion is useless. The last thing such propagandists wish to elicit is the truth.

Close akin to this cruel old fallacy i the other one, that "society owes a man a living." It is as meaningless in legal or moral effect as the proposition that the Creator owes a man fresh air or daylight. Sometimes, at a man's death, society owes him much. But he starts life on debt to society, particularly to those two not unimportant members of it, his parents. He continues piling up a debt against himself to the time when he begins to work for his living. By work, and by that alone, can he wipe out the debt he owes society. To assume the absurd opposite is to endorse those charitable doles called bonuses and unemployment pay, which, like all poor-law relief, make three paupers for one they help and sap the stamina out of that one.

Both these terms are fallacious where they are not meaningless. We can dimiss thse "living wage," and the owed living from the consideration of the railroad question because the railroad worker has always had a living wage; and, where the unions will let him, is trying to pay back the debt he owes society; and even succeeding in putting the balance on the other side. No apology is needed for setting these elementary things before even sophisticated readers. In writing to The Wall Street Journal, a distinguished writer on economics from the legal side says:

> "Some teachers and leaders seem to think it beneath them to teach elementary truths. They want to deal with 'big questions.' As a matter of fact there are not many big questions left if the elementary truths are understood and kept in mind."—Wall Street Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A vote for the storm drain by-law to-morrow is a vote for a dry Peterborough.

Both the Citizens' Liberty League and the Referendum Committee should be able to vote the "dry" ticket to-morrow.

If you don't vote on the daylight saving question to-morrow you will have no logical ground to complain about the result.

The fact that there are 180,000 people out of work in Canada is the best answer to the question of why drastic immigration regulations are needed.

The reasons for reducing the bonus of the postal employees surely apply with equal force to the indemnities of the members of the House of Commons.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

It's a safe bet that the average male adult hypocrite was the sort of boy who remembered his table manners even when hungry.

If ex-Emperor Charles had entered Hungary with a few bags of flour instead of four Counts he might have received a more enthusiastic reception.

The trouble with many marriages is that the man neglects to cultivate the garden of her heart the way he did before the nuptials.

Ottawa's dilema regarding revenue could be solved with ease, H. J. W. suggests, by placing a tax on powder puffs.

And when you consider that there must be between two and three million powder puffs in the country his suggestion seems acceptable.

Of course, the women will object that powder puffs are a necessity. All the better, for if they're a necessity they'll provide an unceasing source of revenue.

But frankly, we must admit that we don't see why they are a necessity when flour and sponges would turn a nose covered with blackheads green just as well as a powder puff.

The biggest problem in the Near East seems to be, when the Greeks and Turk Nationalists finish their little war who's going to start the next one.

When a man with the idea that he's the answer to a maiden's prayer is favourably received, it might be well for him to remember that "a soft answer turneth away wrath."

The best way to bet on a horse race or a ball game is to dope the thing out and then place your money the other way.

Life asks whether the same joker who named "safes" also named "securities." And we might add to that query "dark horses."

To paraphrase Ben Franklin, nothing is certain in this world but death, taxes and an incomplete Hunter street bridge.

The influence of the Press is ably demonstrated by the woman who reads the top heads on the front page and turns to the society column.

ATLANTIC CITY PLANS.

Chapter 19.

For the next few days my time was taken up selecting and getting ready for the few things necessary for my trip to Atlantic City.

There were several snaps and fasteners that needed securing on my tan duvetine and dark blue serge. Then I must have something a little more dressy—the henna colored georgette and my black satin would do. I would wear my suit, but I would have to have a heavy coat. April still had the sting of March in the wind.

I did not want to be bothered with a trunk just for ten days, so I could carry my coat. That would make the rest fit about right in the black patent leather week-end suitcase. The satin needed a little pressing, but things were nearly shipshape, and my plans were all made.

Leonard came home with answers from two of the hotels. He handed me the first letter. It was from a small hotel a short distance down one of the side street where we usually stayed. We picked it for its quiet atmosphere, good service and yet moderate prices.

As I finished reading it he handed me another.

As I finished reading it he handed me another.

"That's where I want you to go this trip, Noreen." He smiled and watched me as I took the letter from his hand.

"The Traymore? Oh, Leonard," I said protestingly, looking at the name on the outside of the envelope.

"Yes, read it," Leonard answered sitting back with complacence. He was boyishly ticked with what he had done.

"Oh, it sounds great, dear,—room and bath—but the price!" I remonstrated. "There is no need of that—and I like the other hotel so much, you know."

"Guess I can logically spend that much on you," he responded solemnly. I liked the glint of pride in his grey eyes. Leonard's hair and brows and lashes were so very black that it gave his steel gray eyes a wonderful penetrating depth. The light in them seemed to come entirely from within.

"But I'd almost rather, dear+—," I started softly.

Leonard's next remark was thrown straight at me, and a twinkle in his eyes told me he had been saving it for the ultimate thrust.

"It's settled. I wired today that you would take them."

"You're just a dear," I cried, pleased in spite of myself. "It will be wonderful," and before I thought I had rushed spontaneously over and given him a big impulsive hug.

He drew me down on the arm of his chair and slipped his left arm around my waist. It was splendid to rest so near his heart. I could almost feel its beating.

But I was not entirely happy, the thought of leaving Leonard home alone plunged me into retrospective depths.

We had been quite natural and happy for a while. A week in which Leonard could come and go unrestrained might undo everything. It might do worse.

But now I would have to go. I must trust him. After all, I was not fair with my husband. I was not measuring him up to the bigness of which I believed him capable.

I leaned down and pressed a kiss on his broad forehead. It was a kiss with a benediction in it.

"Oh, I just thought, Leonard," I said suddenly. "Do you think I'll have to take an evening dress? I suppose I'll need it at the Traymore." I was thinking of the suit case and wondering if it could possibly hold all these apparently necessary things.

"Afraid it is a little more sporty than the 'Pennmere," he smiled. "Don't you like to wear that soft green fluffy thingjof yours without sleeves?" He reached up and pinched my cheek teasingly. "You look like a young peacock in it, dear,' He said with admiration.

When Baby Comes

WHAT a joy to mother's heart when baby comes! What a relief after months of anxiety and nerve strain!

Mother is happy and expects soon to be strong and well again.

But frequently reaction sets in, and when the excitement is over she is left weak and limp and does not seem to build up the way she should.

Fortunate the mother who has at hand the kindly nurse or attentive friend to tell her how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help her at this critical time.

Now more than ever the mother requires the assistance of a blood-forming, tissue-building, nerve-invigorating treatment, and these requirements are admirably met by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Wm. Woods, Coldwater, Ont., writes: "After the birth of my baby I was run down, nervous and could not eat or sleep, jumping at the least noise. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food built me up and made me strong and well again."

Mrs. David Logan, Thorburn, N.S., writes: "A friend of mine whom I went to see after baby was born told me she used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food all through the expectant period and attributed her good condition and splendid baby to its use."

PILES

ARE GENERALLY CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION

There are few, if any, complaints more common than hemorrhoids, or piles, as they are commonly called, and scarcely any which cause more trouble, annoyance and misery.

Ninety per cent. are troubled with them at some time or other, owing to allowing the bowels to become in a constipated condition.

Piles are classed under three headings, i.e., itching, bleeding and protruding, and the excruciating pains which accompany them cause misery wrich is beyond description.

Ointments and suppositories may help and relieve for a while, but to get rid of them, it is necessary to have a free, easy and natural motion of the bowels, at least once or twice a day, and by doing this the cause will be quickly removed.

Milburn's Lava-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the liver and bowels, thus removing the constipation and all of its allied troubles.

They contain no calomel or drastic mineral ingredients, being purely vegetable. They are small and easy to take and do not gripe, weaken or sicken.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

AGED SEVEN, GIVES LIFE FOR "GIRL"

BOY CRUSHED UNDER FALLING STRUCTURE AFTER RESCUING YOUNG COMPANION.

STEEL GIREDRS TOPPLE

NEW YORK, April 5.—Michael Ryan of 1675 Third avenue, 7 years old, and who is—or was, rather, because he was killed yesterday afternoon—generally called Mickey, thrashed another boy the other day because the boy said that Helen Murphy of 238 East Ninety-fourth street, who is also 7 years old, was Mickey's girl.

The thrashing apppeared to do the other boy considerable good, and it seemed also to put some new ideas into Mickey's head, because all day yesterday he was very careful not to gets his face dirty, and when school let out in the afternoon he was as fresh as a daisy. He felt, then, that it was not unbecoming for him to ask Helen Murphy to play with him before they went home to supper.

Helen said she would, and she and Mickey went to a sort of playground that children had fixed up for themselves. Some years ago construction of a building was begun at No. 217 East Ninety-fourth street, but the work was abandoned after the framework of the first floor had been completed. The framework remained ,and topping it were three heavy iron girders about four inches thick and twelve inches wide. They were sunk into the walls of the buildings at Nos. 214 and 219 East Ninety-fourth street, and over head was a huge sheet of tin which served as a roof. This was the playground, with ropes for swings attached to the girders.

It was there that Mickey and Helen went with fifteen or twenty other children of about the same age. They got into the place by crawling through a hole which they had dug under an iron railing and wooden fence, about 10 feet high, which the owners of the property had erected to keep out trespassers. Once inside Mickey, by virtue of pugilistic prowess well known to the other boys, appropriate the finest of the swings to give Helen a ride. He swung her so high that her toes kicked the sheet of tine.

She praised him, and Mickey felt proud, indeed. But in the midst of the fun Mickey heard a cracking, ripping round, and he thought at once or twice three nights before when his father had remarked that the framework would fall some day and hurt some one. Mickey set up a shout for everyone to get out. The children started pell mell through the hole under the fence, pushing and pulling in their eagerness to get away. All of them got out, quickly, and finally Mickey himself started to wriggle to safety.

But Mickey was only half through when he heard Helen crying and he saw that the little girl, terribly frightened, was trembling in a corner directly under one of the huge girders from which came the cracking noise. He yelled at her to hurry, but she did not move. So Mickey crawled back into the place, under the creaking, swaying framework. He grabbed Helen's hand and half dragged and half led her to the hole in the fence. He told her to crawl through. She did and to help her Mickey pushed until finally her ankles disappeared under the fence and she was out.

And then Mickey stood up for an instant. And in that instant the three girders plunged downward. One of them hit Mickey in the back and knocked him down, so that his head struck the bottom of the iron railing. He managed to scramble to his knees. Sticking his head through the hole Mickey tried desperately to wriggle out. He was less than half way through when all three of the girders smashed down upon the fence and Mickey was half buried in the wreckage.

A man was passing and stopped just in time to see the girders fall and a heavy piece of the fence strike Mickey on the head. He managed to drag the boy out from under the pile of iron and timbers. Mickey's body was limp, but he was moaning, and the stranger carried him to a drug store at Third avenue and Ninety-fourth street. When Dr. Bonnyman reached there from Flower Hospital Mickey was dead. His skull had been crushed beneath the heavy iron.

DRILLING MEN IN DEATH TIER.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Carl Wanderer's old love of the army cropped out again rerently in the County Jail, where he awaits hanging, when the jailers found six other men in the death tier, all sentenred to be hanged, drilling under Wanderer's hommand in the exerrise room.

Wanderer, formerly a lieutenant in the army, was giving "squads left" and "squads right" in a commanding voice that could be heard through the tier, jailers said.

SERVICES AT GEORGE STREET

The speaker at both services Sunday was Mr. J. A. McCarthy, of Toronto, who spoke in the interests of Evangelism and Social Service. In the morning Mr. McCarthy outlined some of the work which is being done by this department of the Methodist church. He stated that a good definition of the objects for which this work stands is to make the principles of Jesus dominant in out social, political and economic life. "There is no line of division," said Mr. McCarthy, "between the spirit of Christ and practical Christianity."

"The New Church and the Old Religion," was the subject at the evening service. The text was taken from Luke, 9:60, "Go thou and preach the kingdom of God." The Christ who uttered these words 1900 years ago was king in the hearts of but a few at that time. To-day he is a living reality in the hearts of tens of millions. The greatest power in the world to-day to move humanity is the power of the spirit of the living Christ. The turmoil, fog and unrest of these days seems to drive the church and the world in turn back to the Christ who said, "Go thou and preach the kingdom of God."

Two Dominating Thoughts.

The church has been asking itself through these recent years if it has been properly interpreting the mind of the Master. Out of this has grown two dominating, outstanding thoughts in the Christian world. One of these is the movement back towards church unity. "I think it is a fair staement," said Mr. McCarthy, "that if the trend of the last ten years continues, in your lifetime and mine, we will see a uity of churches that we would have thought impossible and entirely out of consideration thirty years ago."

New Religious Expression.

Another outstanding feature in the Christian world to-day is a new religious expression—not a departure from the old faith, but a new emphasis, a new application of the old truth. Theologies may change, but religion never. "A number of years ago," said Mr. McCarthy, "about 90 per cent. of the sermons emphasized the importance of getting men up to heaven. To-day the important point is to preach heaven on earth—born, I believe, out of the sufferings and sacrifices of the last seven years.

"There is a lot of superficial criticism about the church," continued the speaker, "by men who have not thought the matter through. When the whole history of the war is written 25 years from now ,the emphasis will be laid on the part played by the Christian church in marshalling the sons of men to fight the greatest force ever organized."

The Many. Outside.

We are not satisfied with what the church has done, or with those we have in the church to-day. There are a great number of men and women outside the church. They are not there because they do not believe in God, in immortality and in prayer. The man outside our churches is heart hungry for a great warm-hearted, Christ-like Christianity that will help him fight his battles day by day. When the Christian church meets this need she will have her pews filled.

"The church has ever suffered from the wrong thinking of bad men," concluded Mr. McCarthy. "It has suffered ten times more, however, by the small thinking of good men. Let us pray God that in the days to come we may get a new vision of what God's kingdom on earth really means."

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

EXCELLENT MUSIC BY THE CHOIR —THE MORNING SERMON.

The congregations were good at both services but that of the morning was very large.

The choir did excellent work and the "Holy City" by Mr. Hartshorn was well received.

"The Altar in the river bed" was the subject of the morning sermon and was founded on Joshua IV 7. "And these stones shall be for a memorial unto the children of Israel forever". The following thoughts were developed by Rev. G. E. Ross.

Israel's Last Encampment on Strange Soil.

What wanderings and waitings, trials and triumphs, rebellions and returnings, took place in the experience of this people during their weary march from Egypt to the Jordan. Never before or since did such a host make such a march with out a base of supply or a Transport Service". Yet God fed them from the night, led them through the darkness by the flame that issued from his midnight chariot, and which changed to a cloudy pillar by day. He met their grumblings by his grace, their murmurings by his mercy, and although their disobedience left thousands of graves in the wilderness; yet God did not fail his people, but led them safely to the brink of Jordan of their deliverance How the patience and providence and protection of God all along the weary way of our wanderings; should strengthen our faith for the future

Not many o this multitude witnessed Pharoah's defeat. The bones of thousands who crossed with Moses are bleaching in the wilderness, because of their disobedience What an eternal pity: Just as the Red Sea was the mighty difficulty that faced the people forty years ago, so Jordan's swollen floods now present their terrors to this newly encamped host.

The people sanctify themselves, and Joshua strikes camp at dawn. The Jordan has overflowed its banks for it is April, and the time of harvest. You see God has arranged that his people shall enter Canaan in the time of harvest; that is just like Him Notice the order of march. The priests that bore the ark advanced in front of the host to the water's edge; and their feet were no sooner dipped in the water, than the river was divided, the waters that came down from above being heaped up like a wall, and the lower portion flowing on toward the Dead Sea, and leaving the channel bare. The priests advanced into the midst of the river's bed with the ark, and their stood firm till all the people had passed over. Remember that ark represents Christ He cleared a path through the Red Sea, His withering glance disconcerted Pharaoh and his host, and deluged them in the floods. He will enter the Jordan of difficulty, trouble sorrow affliction, anl death; and stand firm till you pass dry shod to the other side.

Now, twelve men carry twelve stones to build an altar right in the very centre of the bed of the Jordan These men represented the twelve tribes of Israel. Where did they get these stones? In the river bed? Not at all. They brought them from their last encampment. They would remind them of God's wonderful providence and care. They would use them to build an altar right in the very region of their greatest source of terror and trouble. While Jordan rolled to the sea that altar would stand in the river bed as a withering rebuke to the enemies of God and truth. Their children's children, in ages to come, would speak of the standing altar in the bed of the Jordan. Can you and I not bring enough of memorials out of the scenes of past conflicts and troubles to build an altar of praise to God? And remember, the mighty Christ will keep the waters back until we build that altar; and the enemy will be compelled to watch us build that memorial

Whence the Stones for the Altar on the bank?

Twelve stones are now taken from the bed of the river. From the very centre of this river of trouble they shall bring materials by which to praise God. The host encamped that night at Gilgal, and there the altar was built. You will remember that the altar at Gilgal was built of stones taken from the bed of the Jordan; and no material entered into that memorial which would remind them of their murmurings and sins and rebellions of the wilderness It was the altar in the river bed that contained stones representing their grumblings and waywardness; and this altar was buried beneath the dark waters of the river. No, once you and I cross the Jordan of death we shall be forever free from the memories of our sins and sorrows and troubles. The mantle of flesh with all its woes and worries and weaknesses, God has buried in the river of his grace; and our sins and rebellions he will remember no more.

Then What is the meaning of the Altar at Gilgal?

This altar is built of stones taken from the bed of the Jordan; and they are stones of triumph. The people must have safely passed through the river or the altar would not be there. This memorial at Gilgal means victory over the river of death; out if the very midst o death itself they carried materials to build an eternal monument to the praise of their Jehovah. You and I must pass through the Jordan of death. We shall leave all that is mortal and material in the river; we must be sanctified on the earthly side of that flood of dissolution. Happy shall we be, then, if our great High Priest, even Jesus, stand by the wall of water in the river-bed until we pass onward to the shore.

Out of Deep Waters Many Shall Come Home.

Canaan will hold many surprises for us. They shall come from the east, west, north, and south, rich and poor, black and white, bond and free, prince and peasant; "sons of tramps and sons of kings;" and their passport will be "Jesus."

A piano worth $1,500.00 was being sold by auction. The auctioneer requested any one in the crowd to come forward and try the instrument. No response for a while. Then a wretched looking tramp moved slowly forward, 'mid the hisses of the crowd—that man was a graduate of Cambridge University—pulling his rags about hi mhe sat down at the instrument and his poor wasted fingers trembled on the keys. Then inspiration came. He struck with the hand of a Master; melody rose on melody; hallelujah mounted on hallelujah; the crowd was sobbing. Then "Home Sweet Home" gently floated out from that half inspired instrument. The artist leaned his weary head forward and was dead. Who will doubt but he went home?

RENT STRIKE IN CHICAGO.

Scores of Tenants Holding the Fort.

CHICAGO, April 5.—The long heralded rent strike has become a reality, with scores of tenants "holding the fort" in defiance of the ultimatums of landlords one month before the date scheduled for the "lock-out." It is the landlord who is locked out now, and the tenants stationed beneath "unfair" signs posted in windows, announced their intention of keeping them out.

From all districts of the city, presidents of the branches of the Chicago Tenants' Protective League reported cases of tenants who were refusing to move.

No reports of attempts of landlords to evict tenants whose leases have expired had been received at the headquarters of the League last night, and indications were that the landlords, warned by the determination expressed by the tenants, had not attempted to rent the apartments to others.

"We have no definite figures on the number of tenants whose leases expired recently, and who are remaining in their apartments and waiting for the landlords to try to evict them," said E. A. Potter, business manager of the League. "There are many, however, who asked for our 'unfair' signs and announced their intention of fighting. We will not know for several days how many actually followed the procedure recommended. Many of the people have no other course, because they cannot find suitable apartments."

WIDELY KNOWN CANDY MAN IS DEAD.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 5 (Canadian Press).—Walter M. Lowney, the widely-known candy manufacturer, died suddenly at the hotel here last night of heart disease.

He was 65 years of age. Mr. Lowney was born at Sebec, Maine, and educated in the public schools of Bangor. He married Nettie Bolton, of Bangor, in 1877.

Doctors Say New Drug Makes You Feel 100% Better In Two to Five Days

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, you are constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your Liver is out of order, and is not excreting Bile into the Bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90% of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour Bile into the intestines, your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome, you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about fifteen minutes before each meal, or you may take two at bedtime, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No seidlitz, salts, or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminatuig.

Tanated Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad after-effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste, relieving your system of all this waste poison making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous and vivacious again.

Tanated Calomel is sold by F. C. Weber, Druggist, Peterborough.

B. CHESLER SUCCESSOR TO ELLIOT'S

MUST SELL POULTRY ON CITY'S PUBLIC MARKET BY WEIGHT NOW

BY-LAW WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED—FRANK WISE CARETAKER PUBLIC PARKS—ASSESSED $12,000 FOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL SITE.

COUNCIL BUSINESS

That in future all poultry offered for sale on the Peterboro market be sold by weight, was the decision of the City Council last night, when Ald. Crowe raised the question, and moved in this direction; also that all fowl offered for sale must bear a tag showing their weight.

Discussion revealed the fact that this provision is already in the market bylaw, and the motion was changed to read that the bylaw to this effect be strictly enforced. — Carried.

Frank Wise Caretaker.

On motion of Ald. Turner and Jones the appointment as caretaker of Victoria and Central Parks went to Mr. Frank Wise at $985 the year.

Mr. J. H. Rickey had tendered for the position at $900, but on a vote of 5 to 4 council concluded that Mr. Wise's well known qualifications justified the extra expenditure of $85.00.

Petitions.

Mrs. John Taylor, 37 Benson St., petitioned for a concrete sidewalk fronting her property. This went to the Board of Works.

John Simson, 112 James Street, complained of the flooding of his cellar by surface water. Referred to the Board of Works.

Use of Park.

On motion of Ald. Gainey and Morrison, the C. G. E. Football Club were granted permission to use the King Edward Park—northwest corner—under the supervision of the City Engineer.

The Utilities Commission will be recommended to extend their water mains 300 feet east along Lock St., in compliance with a request to this effect from ratepayers.

Technical Oversight.

Auditor F. J. A. Hall in his report of 1920's audit of the city's finances, said the vouchers of work and material on and for the new Hunter street bridge, appeared to be correct and all properly certified to.

He also pointed out that the Board of Education's grant of $1000 "to the Playgrounds' Association" last year, was illegal. Their grant the previous year to the Association specified that it was "for equipment" which legalized the action. He suggested that when passing a resolution granting this same organization the $1500 provided for them in this year's estimates, the Board make it "for equipment," so that no one can raise an objection thereto.

The Board's attention will be drawn to this matter.

Assessment High.

The assessment notice from Otonabee Township assesses the city $12,000 for the property purchased in Otonabee as a site for the sewage disposal plant.

The whole farm, it is said, was only assessed at $6000 last year, and the city will most likely appeal their assessment.

Sewage Disposal.

Ald. Whitehouse reported the result of the Mayor's and his interview with the Provincial Board of Health regarding the system of sewage disposal the city can install. He was gratified to announce that Peterboro is now privileged to make its own choice of either an activated sludge or an Imhoff plant so long as a complete system of either is constructed. Ald. Whitehouse thought it now up to council to get busy on this work, and remove the impression held in some quarters that this city is stalling on the question of sewage disposal.

Ald. Hamilton and Turner's motion that the City Engineer report in writing as to which system he recommends, carried.

The Engineer has previously spoken in preference to the Imhoff plan for Peterboro.

Advertise Buildings.

Ald. Hamilton reported that the Chamberlain estate will accept $1,000 for the building on Hunter St., corner of Sheridan street, and the lease of the land. This building has been used by Engineer Barber as an office and is one of those embodied in the damage claims by reason of the new bridge. The proposition was acceptable to the council.

On motion of Ald. Hamilton and Turner, Council will invite tenders for the purchase of this building.

In this connection, Ald. Whitehouse said it had been suggested to him that this property be offered Mr James Ellis as a factory in place of the one he had been using across the river, the entrance to which is now blocked by the new bridge, entailing a damage claim against the city.

Auditors' Report.

To save expense Ald. Turner suggested that the auditors' report be not printed this year, but the copy hung up in the clerk's office for public reference.

It was pointed out that the law's requirements could not be met in that way, when Ald. Turner proposed to get a few copies off a manifold machine, just enough to supply the Department, in Toronto, and a few officials, who must be sent a cpy.

Ald. Whitehouse moved that the 200 copies be printed at the discretion of the City Clerk, but the matter was sent along to the Finance Committee.

Municipal Power.

T. H. Stinson wrote, urging that the council send a deputation to Toronto to wait on the Government with representatives from other Eastern Ontario municipalities, pressing for the arrangement of terms by which Hydro-Electric Power should be held and generated in trust for the municipalities, on a plan by which this power would be eventually owned exclusively by said municipalities. Mr. Stinson will later notify council of the date for meeting the government.

On motion of Ald. Turner and Whitehouse, the Mayor will appoint a committee to present the city's views on this question to the government, on notification of the date for the meeting from Mr. Stinson. The Mayor also to write other interested municipalities urging their cooperation.

Those present were Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Ald. H. Gainel, R. Morrison, J. Crowe, J. J. Turner, R. Jones, Frank Whitehouse, G. L. Hay, N. Phelan.

WILL INVITE TENDERS FOR CHIEF'S CAR

ANOTHER $6,483.72 NEEDED FOR FIRE HALL REQUIREMENTS.

Last evening Fire Chief Grange submitted to the Council's Fire, Water and Light Committee, just prior to Council session, the following list of requirements this year:

1 Uniform for Sergt. Thomas	$50.00
Uniform shirts for Department	100.00
2 Smoke helmets	160.00
6 Respirators and goggles	81.00
1 Ladder	200.00
Increased salary for Secretary	100.00
Weatherproof wire for alarm system	150.00
Lead cable (2,500 feet, 3 pair, across new bridge)	1625.00
Car for Chief	2600.00
Red lamps for street alarm boxes	216.00
6 Electric hand lamps	120.00
600 Ft. 2½-inch fire hose	1121.10
100 Ft. 1½-inch fire hose	60.65
	$6583.75

The committee recommended that all of the above be purchased, excepting the item of $100 salary for a secretary of the department, which was eliminated as uncalled for.

Tenders will be invited for the supply of fire hose and a car for Chief Grange.

The red lights for alarm boxes will cost $9 a year, but the committee will inquire into a proposition to use red bands around arc lamps where adjacent to alarm boxes, and thus effect a saving wherever possible.

The committee took exception to the item of $2,600 being defined as for "the Chief's car." The machine is for the department's use, and the name "Chief's car" is consequently a misnomer, they contend.

It subsequently appears that the 6,200 feet of fire hose above referred to has already been purchased, and account for same went through Council in the Finance Committee's report last night.

Comb Sage Tea in Hair to Darken It

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO KEEP HER LOCKS DARK, GLOSSY, BEAUTIFUL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Best Home Treatment For All Hairy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)

Every woman should have a small package of delatone handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marring hairy growths. To remove hair or fuzz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real delatone.

COST OF NEW BRIDGE UP TO DATE $490,223

SOME $38,000 LEFT WITH WHICH TO FINISH THE WORK—EXPECTED THIS WILL BE SUFFICIENT.

END IS IN SIGHT

Up to April first expenditures on the new Hunter street bridge totalled $490,223.73, allowing for a salvage amounting to $6,360, Engineer Fred Christie submitted these figures to Council in Committee of the Whole last evening.

The Mayor — "Is there enough money left to finish the bridge?" bridge?"

Chorus of aldermen—"I hope so!"

Both Mr. Towsend and Mr. Christie expected there would be. There is available now some $38,793 with which to complete the structure.

The Mayor—"As far as I'm concerned I'll not sign one cheque after that money is all gone."

To Economize Now.

Ald. Turner — "If we haven't enough money to do all we would like to on the bridge. I'd be in favour of leaving the chipping till a more propitious occasion."

This view was acquiesced in generally.

Finished in Few Weeks.

Discussing a few other matters in connection with the Hunter street bridge, nearing completion, Contractor Townsend explained that it is not possible to let any of the office staff go yet."

Ald. Hamilton pointed out that probably the whole work will be finished within five or six weeks.

Contractor C. Townsend, replying to Ald Crowe, declared that he would defy anyone to name another structure, containing as the Hunter street bridge does, 12,000 cubic feet of concrete, which was built in less time. He also asserted that the whole work, even with trimmings, temporary bridge and other incidentals, is not an expensive one. But Contratcor Towsend added, you have posibly a bridge which was really too large an undertaking for the municipality.

To Reach Ball Grounds.

Ald. Hamilton suggested steps immediately east of the permanth hand-rail, on the south side, down to some sort of walk leading to the ball grounds, until other arrangements could be planned.

Mr. Townsend pointed out that such steps would have to be substantial and wide to avoid accident damages, and at a cost of about $200. He suggested erecting a guide-rail at the ramp near Burnham street. "Let the people go down the ramp there and across the old gravel pit to the grounds; the younger element will run up the bank, steps or no steps," he said.

This suggestion will probably be followed.

White Silk Shirts Wanted.

Judging from the present buying of piece goods, as well as from what retailers say, quite a vogue is promised for white silk shirts. Plain weaves in good material are wanted, although self-stripes and small designs are also accepted. Supplies of the desired shirting materials are in rather scarce supply, particularly silk broadcloth. The retailers already profess to see evidences of a wide demand for white silk shirts and state that prices have shown a tendency to advance as a result of a restored demand.

Several New Fabrics Shown.

Several new fabrics, especially useful in the manufacture of millinery, are now being shown in this market. Among them are vividly striped effects in pongee that give something the effect of an awning. Other novelty pongees are figured with large chrysanthemums in bright shades. Cired moire is also seen. One of the newest of all is puffed satin, which is meant for use in quilted hats. A layer of padding is inserted between two thicknesses of material and is then stitched down in a flat rose design, thus giving the effect desired. Little trimming is required for a hat made of this fabric.

"LEISURE HOUR MUSINGS" BY A PETERBOROUGH POET

"Leisure Hour Musings," by Alexander Graham, Otonabee, is, as inscribed, "a collection of 235 miscellaneous pieces, written from 1840 to 1873. James Stratton, Printer and Publisher, George street, Peterborough." A Scotch thistle ornaments the title page, and many of the poems sing the praises of the land of the Gael. The "Authors Nativity" and the "Author's Birthplace" both sing the praises of "Scotland, land of hill and dell," the latter commencing:

"In Scotland, by the Firth of Forth,
Is Fifeshire, lying toward the north,
In which a town is that's called Lang,
Where I first joined the motley thrang."

"The Scotch Laddie's Wish Realized" is a laudation of a brave young Scot who wished to cross the sea to America and, together with his frugal wife, managed to save enough "bawbees" to accomplish their desire. It ends with:

"Who'd prosper an' succeed through life,
They every chance should seize;
Begin when young, like J—e F—e,
An' save a' their bawbees."

"The Waverly Novels" is a strong criticism of Sir Walter Scott, written "on the reading of the banquets at Scots' Centenary meeings, some of the clergy being the chief speakers to praise the Waverly Novels," and commences thus:

"Woe me, it's sad news for to hear,
Tae a Scotch heart it's vexin',
That Scotland, fam'd for Bible lear,
Should fa' awa tae fiction."

Mr. Graham evidently was possessed of a gloomy trend of thought. Manyof his little poems deal with death, battle and the grave, and his tirades on historical events which came under his displeasure are marked by heavy wrath. "Scotland in the Past" is a record of the dark days:

"When Claverhouse murdered John Brown,
And threatened his wife to "clap,"
Down by his side, when gathering up
His brains into her "lap."

Evidently very strongly on the side of temperance, the poet at one time addressed a lengthy "Epistle for the Peterborough Examiner," in verse, on

"The spirit traffic's blighting curse
That ruins man, body, soul and purse."

and others of his poems deal harshly with the demon rum. "Delirium Tremens" is the startling title of one piece "Wrote on Hearing of a Neighbor Putting an End to His Life," "Lines to a Drunkard," "Temperance Call," and Archibald McNiven's Address for the Temperance Cause, which commences:

"When I was drinking, the truth I tell you.
I never felt happy but when I was full," followed up by the same gentlman's "Account of His Conversion,"

"When free from fume of alcohol
I began to think of my soul——" all deal with a subject which was evidently one of popular interest in 1840. He addressed some "Lines" to those who stopped a tea meeting from being held in the church, got up in favor of the temperance cause," which ends with

"Ye might be found thus fighting man,
Impeding a providential plan
To save some of the human race
And bring them under Gospel's grace.
Think when you cast your scoffs abroad
Ye be not fighting against God."

And that those early settlers were also harried by the bridge question is evident from "Otonabee Brigg," the Auld and New, 1872:

"The new brigg has got an iron coat,
They cannot burn it down,
But much ado its cost, I trow,
And expense to the town.'

Mr. Graham did not mince matters in political opinions, either. His poem to "W. M.—— Esq." contains the following lines:

"We hope the time is not far by
When Tory principles shall die,
And justice universal reign;
Men not hunt office for self gain.
It would our country profit much,
If honest rulers we had such,
Who'd ever seek the country's weal,
And not like ragamuffins steal."

"To the Electors of the East Riding of Peterborough, August, 1872," says:

"We hope electors will not sit
At home when polling day comes round,
But let your votes for him be found," the "him" referred to being a certain Mr. Ingram who was running for office at that time.

"The Clashing Wife" is a "crack" at the loud-tongued woman, of whom he says:

"Vile slander is her daily study, Finding fault with everybody," and

"Woman, man's comforter, (helpmeet)
Ought to be modest an discreet—"

but he had a good word for "The Examiner," in his poem "Otonabee," addressed to the farmers, whose twelve verses finish up with:

"Which every farmer ought to have,
The leading local paper,
See where to go for what he wants,
From grocer and from draper.

Ye who have not subscribed for one,
Go do it right away,
'Twill profit you more through the year
Than double what you pay.

All you who true reforms seek,
And plead for truth and right,
If the "Examiner" you don't take
You stand in your own light."

The New Day without corns

Millions now employ it. At least 20 million corns a year are being ended by it.

To suffer corns now is a folly. One test will prove them needless.

Blue-jay comes in liquid form or plaster. You apply it by a touch. The pain ends then and you forget the corn.

In a little while it loosens and comes out.

The way is easy, gentle, sure. It is the modern way, the right way.

It is fast displacing treatments which were harsh and wrong.

One test will convince you. Try it tonight.

FRUIT COMING IN ABUNDANCE

CONSIDERABLE SYRUP

The golden sunlight yesterday—more of a May order than an April—shone down on a splendid display of fruits and vegetables in the fruit shops. The sidewalks were hot and the warm sun made walking, even with a light overcoat, tiring and uncomfortable. Every person seemingly was smiling like Old Sol and the world was not such "a bad lil ol' place after all." A Charlotte street fruit store looked as inviting as an oasis in the Nubian Desert and the genial proprietor from behind a white over-all apron smiled a welcome to the scribe. The Examiner needed no further invitation, and leaning over the counter with the dealer, discussed prices and asked him to tell the world about new fruits coming on the market.

"How much are they?" The Examiner enquired.

"Thirty and thirty-five cents, depending on quality."

"Will they be any cheaper soon?" ventured the scribe.

The strawberries seemed to be excellent specimens, but the tomatoes and cucumbers in the window looked somehow more substantial and enticing. Tomatoes are 40 and 50 cents a pound and cucumbers are generally about 50 cents. Asparagus has arrived on the market in the last week and is selling from 15 to 25 cents a bunch. Slender bunches of beets and carrots, the first of the imported ones, sell at 15 and 20 cents a bunch. The dealer said with unfeigned joy that he would have Bermuda onions in for his customers tomorrow. The price, he thought, would be 15 cents a pound, or two for 25 cents. Whatever the price, he assured The Examiner man his customers waited for the annual appearance of Bermuda onions on the market with no little impatience.

He struck a victorious note when he announced the coming of pineapples. This fruit dealer has evidently had his own time with order delays and irregular shipments, and, doubtless, this caused his effervescence of spirits. The price will be governed by the quality, but, he believed, he could retail them at 40, 50 and 60 cents and still keep body and soul together. The price wholesale is $10 a case, about the same as last year.

Maple syrup in cans occupied considerable store space. The label on the cans announced that the product was the original juice of the maple trees of the eastern townships of Quebec. A quart can sold for 90 cents, half gallon $1.60, three-quarters gallon $2.25 and one gallon $2.75. The local product is selling at from $3.25 a gallon up. This week will probably be the last of the season unless the weather man plays an unfair trick on a trusting public.

TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER, April 5.—Mr. A. Wight has purchased a new car for his own pleasure and convenience, as well as for accommodation for the many tourists who are guests at Cedar Isle in the summer.

Mrs. J. Adams is improving in health after being ill for some time.

A committee is in charge of looking after the voters' list for the coming Referendum on 18th April.

Mr. Baker, egg buyer, of Hastings, made his weekly trip through here on Saturday last, paying 25 cents cash.

The celebration in Havelock which was announced for 24th May, has been postponed until 3rd June.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet on Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist Church for important business.

The regular prayer and praise service will be held on Thursday evening at the church.

School has re-opened again, under the direction of Miss MaGee, after the Easter recess.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown were visitors at the latter's mother's, Mrs. D. Davidson, on Sunday.

Rev. A. O. Seymour, pastor, delivered a most helpful, stirring, and appealing address on "Reconciliation to God and Man" to the congregation on Sabbath afternoon last.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL GIVES

"When a man builds a house you put the wires to it," Dr. O. C. Watson remarked. "So we thought we were asking for only a little more in the six lights needed for the green."

Council Baker—How much is the bowling fee?

Dr. Longmore—We expected to have a $5 fee.

Mayor Meyers said he had every sympathy for the proposal to establish a bowling green and was in favor of giving the club the lighting they required providing the expense involved was not too great.

Needed Assistance Now.

Deputy-reeve Stone said he supported the motion because the bowlers were just getting started. They were passing through that stage at which difficulties are numerous. A little assistance in their first year might be a real benefit.

Council Southworth—I'd like to see the motion carried, not that I expect to get much benefit out of it.

It was stated that only two poles would be required to carry the electric wires to the bowling lawn.

Mr. Wiggins' motion carried.

Councilors Palliser and Wilkinson did not vote in favour of it.

Mr. Palliser offered an amendment that the Mayor, Reeve and Deputy-reeve be a committee to consider the request, but he failed to secure a seconder.

Wants Street Oiled.

Mr. J. A. Frederick requested the Council to include Sebastopol street in the list of those be oiled this year. All the residents, he said, seemed willing to bear thir share of the cost.

Mayor Meyers advised him to procure a petition which could be submitted at a special meeting of the Council to be called shortly.

Protest Payment.

Mr. M. Mulhern said he spoke for interested persons on Rear street, and wished to protest against the payment for a water main under the provisions of the Local Improvement Act.

Deputy-Reeve Stone—Isn't this a matter for the Court of Revision?

Mayor Meyers—I should think so.

Mr. Mulhern—If the Mayor will assure us that we will have the chance to discuss this in detail I am willing to wait.

Mayor Meyers—Of course I can give you that assurance.

Extend Sidewalk.

T. Barrie's request that the sidewalk on Front street be extended 66 feet opposite his new house was granted on motion of Mr. Southworth, seconded by Mr. Baker.

Deputy-Reeve Stone promised T. Rutherford that the Roads and Bridges committee would examine the drain in front of the school, which he believed was obstructed, causing recent flooding of the adjacent property.

Would Stimulate Building.

To encourage building and thereby relieve the scarcity of houses, Reeve Davidson said that Mr. J. Y. Mitchell had suggested to him that some inducement such as the temporary exemption from taxation might be considered. Some cities had adopted this expedient, and Reeve Davidson believed houses would be built this year if encouragement were given by the Council.

Mayor Meyers appointed Reeve Davidson and Councillors Wiggins and Palliser to look into this matter and report back to Council.

Alarm at Crossing.

Mr. Stone moved, seconded by Mr. Palliser, that the clerk, Mr. J. F. McGregor, write the G.T.R., urging them to instal an electric alarm bell at the crosing on Centre street.—Carried.

Dr. Harrigan's Advice to Thin, Nervous People

It's worth your while to read what a New York specialist has to say about the nerve and brain cell builder that McDermid & Jury and other leading druggists sell so much of these days. He writes:

"Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anaemic or run-down, take natural unadulterated substances such as Bitro-Phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy and strength of body and mind."

CAUTION: Although Bitro-Phosphate is an excellent aid in relieving weak, nervous conditions, its use is not advised unless increased weight is desired.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

NEW YORK.—Garment manufacturers do not believe it so likely that the present urgent calls for Easter merchandise will result in surpluses of goods piling up after it becomes too late to reach customers. Ordinarily, they say, this would be the result of a last-minute demand, since the amount of merchandise actually required would be exaggerated through the numerous calls of the same buyers. The factor which will serve to keep down production of garments, the manufacturers believe, is the shortage of piece goods, and, once there is a slump in business, the mills and not the garment factories many find accumulations on their hands. The spot market after Easter will probably see a fair offering of jobs, but prices are not expected to show even the customary reductions.

Predicts Velours for Fall.

Velours, both plain and checked, will head the Fall demand for dress goods on the part of the retail trade, according to one of the best-posted wholesalers in the city. Small plaids will also go strongly, he asserted. At the present moment a small but steady business is passing through the secondary distributing centres, in which the call for tricotines and plaids comes as close to being a feature as there is. The best thing about the current business, it was said yesterday, is that when the goods are sold they stay sold. The reason is that buyers do not place orders these days until they see an actual need of the merchandise.

OPPOSED TO DAYLIGHT SAVING

Editor of Examiner,—The vote tomorrow on whether Peterboro will have daylight saving this summer, will decide in a large degree whether the citizens of Peterboro place pleasure before business.

With the railways operating according to standard time the adoption of daylight saving in this city would result in serious hindrance, to say the least, to those whose business necessitates close adherence to railway schedules, and this class is a large one, not only including persons who do considerable travelling, but business houses which must make rapid shipments. In many cases a condition bordering on chaos would be created by the passage of this bylaw, whose sole benefit is an hour more of recreation to certain classes each day.

Is it worth while to further impede business at a time when stagnation in practically all lines of trade and industry is causing serious losses to employers and resulting in unemployment and need to labor?

The factory worker who must rise at six o'clock in the morning, under standard time in order to be at work at seven, is not likely to vote for a measure which would necessitate arising at the equivalent of five o'clock, standard time, in the cold, clammy darkness of dawn.

And the mothers will most certainly not vote for it. Young children are hard enough to put to sleep on hot summer nights without adding to the difficulty by advancing the clock an hour, and thus making their bed time an hour earlier. The fact that the women have the right to vote will certainly swell the total against daylight saving.

The result of to-morrow's vote will hardly be complimentary to the good sense of the citizens if the daylight saving scheme is approved.

Yours, etc.,
HUDSON SHAW.

After the "Flu"
Four Children Had
Whooping Cough

Whooping cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way bring on the "whoop," which brings the so-much-sought for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. J. M. Rouse, Imperial, Sask., writes:—"After the 'flu,' last fall, my four children took whooping cough and one of them developed bronchitis. After using two or three bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup they were greatly relieved of their nasty coughs. It is an especially good remedy for children, and is so nice they take it readily, and ask for more."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c. and 60c. a bottle at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RECIPIES

This week Mr. Wyman discovered a real French restaurant, little known to the majority of Chicago's diners out. The initiated who have discovered its excellence keep every place filled and overwork the management in the demand for service.

To those who imagine that French cooking to be very elaborate these recipes and the dinner menu may seem very simple. But elegant simplicity is the secret of many a great success, and each of these dishes is a little masterpiece.

By A. L. Wyman, Chef.

On the South Side in an old brown stone front house which was once a part of the fashionable residence district, is to be found one of the best dinners served in this large city. This cafe has no menu and if you would partake of the excellent food served you have to telephone for a reservation at least six hours in advance. The chef, who is the owner, serves a true French dinner, perfectly balanced, and with garnishings and seasonings that make the French (?) dinners served in Greek and Italian cafes appear a nightmare. We—Mrs. Wyman and myself—were invited to visit this cafe and have dinner the other night and in conversation with the chef I obtained the recipes and the right to pass them on.

Tapioca Soup

Boil one cup of tapioca in six cups of water, season with salt and pepper. Place in the bottom of a soup tureen three tablespoons of butter and two egg yolks, pour the boiling tapioca over and add two cups of hot milk.

Filet of Sole, with Egg Sauce

Sprinkle the filets with salt, pepper and a little allspice; place in a pan with four tablespoons finely chopped onion and a teaspoon of chopped parsley, and four tablespoons olive oil. Fry to a nice brown, place on a hot platter, garnish with lemon slices and sprigs of parsley. Serve egg sauce separate.

For the egg sauce place in a saucepan one tablespoon of butter and one tablespoon of flour and when well blended add one cup of milk, cook until smooth and thick; add one finely chopped hard boiled egg and season with salt and white pepper.

Veal "Provencal"

The saddle of veal should be trimmed by the butcher so that it will be a neat piece. Place the saddle in a saucepan with a good sized piece of butter, place over the fire and turn constantly until it is a nice rich golden color all over; remove the veal to a dish and season with salt and pepper. To the sauce in the pan add four tablespoons of butter and one dozen small new potatoes and return to the fire; cover the pan and shake frequently until the potatoes are a nice color. Add to the sauce and potatoes one finely chopped onion and when that is brown add one finely chopped clove of garlic and two tablespoons of flour; when the flour is brown add two cups of stock. (If no stock is handy use the beef cubes.) Stir well and place in the veal and one stalk of celery, one sprig of parsley and a bay leaf. Simmer for one hour and serve meat surrounded by the potatoes and the gravy strained over all.

RANEY DENIES ORDERING SIX OFFICERS OUT

NOT A WORD OF TRUTH IN REPORT REGARDING LANNIN'S RESIGNATION, HE SAYS.

TORONTO, April 5 (Canadian Press).—A despatch to The Globe from Windsor last night stated that Superintendent W. J. Lannin and six of his officers had resigned on orders from Attorney - General Raney.

Superintendent Lannin is charged with the enforcement of the O. T. A. along the border.

The attention of the Attorney-General was called to the despatch, and his comment was, "There is not a word of truth in it."

TEACHING HOW TO CATCH HUSBANDS.

Paris Hires Professors to Enlighten Girls.

PARIS, April 5.—The municipality of Paris is teaching young girls the proper way to catch husbands. It has engaged as lecturer Professor Mahout of the Sorbonne, who is to speak three times a week to girls of the working classes, giving them pointers on domestic affairs. The shortage of men, combined with the high cost of living, has made it difficult for French maidens to get any husbands, let alone suitable ones, and great is the wailing.

Prof. Mahout believes the best way to obtain a husband and hold him is to feed him well. Therefore, he always talks on the necessity of French women knowing how to cook.

"The social role of the mother of a family is tremendous," says the professor. "By scientific education she must become an engineer of nations and a health creator of strength and life."

M. Mahout's lectures are extremely popular.

Bass River Point, N. B., April 4.—(Special).—"I can't speak too highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills." So says Mrs. William Hutchinson, a highly respected resident here. Nor is Mrs. Hutchinson slow to give the reason why she praises the old reliable Canadian kidney remedy.

"I had a sore back for years and could not get anything to help me," she states. "Some one advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took fourteen boxes and I can say with pleasure I am benefited. I never feel my back now and I do all my own work."

Voice Of The People

The following clipping from The Toronto Globe has been handed to The Examiner by Dr. Jessie Bernie, as an item of interest in view of the vote on April 18th:

Government Sale of Liquor Degrades Politics.

To the Editor of The Globe: Your timely articles on the sophistries of "Government control" find ample justification in the actual experience of those who have tried the plan. In Saskatchewan we did adopt, as a step toward the abolition of the liquor, Government control of the liquor trade. Most communities refused, even then, to touch the business, and within two years the experience of the people led to an overwhelming vote for the ending of the whole thing.

The Attorney-General quietly remarked, "Saskatchewan tried it once, but never again, no, never again."

The Hon. George Langley has borne eloquent testimony in telling us that the Government had to get out of the business or face suicide. "We were fortunate in getting it out of our hands without any whisper of scandal, but the members of the Government of Saskatchewan were carried almost to the point of nervous breakdown in anticipation of unavoidable disaster. It seems the easiest thing in the world to talk of selling liquor in sealed packets, but that necessitates the creation of liquor warehouses, the shipment of liquor in bulk, a large bottling institution, in fact all the general work of carrying on a liquor business. Every man in the business would be a Government official, and the Government is stained by the sights that are unavoidable in carrying the business on. Further, every man or woman seen under the influence of liquor is pointed out as a victim of the Government's sin, and as there are a very considerable number of persons who overstep the limit of prudence in taking liquor, the sins of the Government pile up until they become a mountain."

The Minister goes on to point out that some of the best citizens will not enter politics on the basis of Government sale of liquor. "If the people wish to encourage good and capable men to enter their Government they should not saddle them with the responsibility of carrying on a liquor business; such a business, hide it how we may, is in its very nature opposed to sobriety and righteousness."

The present case of British Columbia is interesting. The citizens were told tht if they would reject prohibition and try Government control they would be able to get rid of the bootlegger, and that no one wanted the bar back again. No sooner was the ruse given than efforts were put forth to include in the new bill what was simply the bar over again. And as to the bootlegger, confession is now openly made that, without the aid of the Federal law closing the frontier, it is impossible to prevent illegal sale.

Let our opponents come into the open. "Government control" is only a nice name for State-provided facilities for liquor consumption.

WINTER OF '77-'78 WAS MILDER THAN LAST.

Mr. T. G. Grieve Tells of Mediterranean Weather All Season.

Dear Sir,—As an old timer I have been so often asked if I could remember a winter as mild as the present one. That of 1877-78 was a great deal milder. No cold snaps, no sleighing, and logs without number were left in the woods through lack of snow. That a winter resembling that of a Mediterranean summer resort, should without aparent reason, suddenly tumble on this portion of old Ontario, was passing strange. The men who knew it all puzzled their heads and scratched them too, for a reason, but without result. My two scientific friends, after much wondering, concluded that it "just came," and not far wrong.

Day after day, and week passed week, with an atmospheric sameness truly uncanny—quite mild, cloudy, and with a total absence of wind.

We had a green Christmas with a vengeance, and I failed to notice any increase of fatness in churchyards which a Christmas of that description is supposed to produce. In fact it was quite the reverse. People seemed healthier then. There were fewer operations; grippe did not come till eleven years later. Food was cheaper then, and men were more contented, not always looking for that "penny," as the Scotch say. We had one great drawback and sore evil—our road. The only thing I can compare it to, was a river of pea soup, such as I used to get at sea, rich and thick. It was the cause of much unprintable language. We oculd draw absolutely nothing. My next door neighbor in an empty waggon, struck an extra soft spot, and sank almost to the box. It took the combined efforts of three teams to draw him out. Mud piled on mud makes a poor roadbed. It that time I lived between Lakefield and Young's Point, and yearly cleared about a ten acre piece. Never was weather more ideal for the purpose. With the ground clear we could get about with the greatest ease. Not plunging and tumbling about as in other years in knee deep snow. The work went well, never the slightest sign of a grouch, and we did slam in. Daily we drank at a small stream that trickled through the place and did not even freeze. But we had something else to drink—noble stuff—that made the chips fly. "Meminisse juvabit recordor." But that is all changed now. About the end of March we had a flurry of snow; that disappeared as quickly as it came. However on the 4th of April we found six inches had fallen during the night. We made all haste to draw from a woodpile to remove out of reach of fire. We accomplshed little as the snow was all gone by ten o'clock. 82 degrees Fah. in the shade and new fallen snow don't agree. A friend close by who had the reputation of being out first on runners, and last in, hitched up his cutter for Peterboro. A lady of robust proportions accompanied him. They arrived in town after much scraping. The return was a very different matter. There was as much snow as you would find on a 12th of July Orange walk. They had the pleasure of footing it to the other side of the cutter. The conversation on the road I learnt afterwards was strained (very strained) and the tone anything but friendly. That finished the winter.

BED BUG POISON

There are dozens of preparations recommended to desroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is POST'S BED BUG POISON.

A few applications of this poison will soon wipe out the pest. It is composed of corrosive sublimate, methyl-hydrate and carbolic acid, and as it is very poisonous it should be kept out of the reach of children.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is sold at Lynch's drug store, 168 Hunter St.

A BUTTERFLY

A butterfly was captured to-day by Mr. A. J. Fitzgerald, 206 Smith street. It seems a pity that an airy, fairy little creature like a butterfly should ever be captured, particularly when it has sufficient enterprise to start out on its summer furlough so early in the season. Some of the smaller inhabitants of the insect and animal world seem to be imbued with a sort of reckless courage that sends them out on the quest for summer long before men and women have cast off their winter garments. Big, fat-breasted robins were strutting brightly about severa lweeks ago. They are among the most courageous of the feathered family, and often fall a prey to the prowling cats that stalk them with such bright eyes and stealthy approaches. The blackbirds, with their immaculately groomed appearance and beautiful blue neck covering, are far more wary, and the tiny little sparrows are the most careful of all. Just a hint of approach and away they fly, to sit in groups on bare branches and chirp an endless stream of bird conversation. There is always a great amount of consternation apparent amongst the birds when one of their number falls a victim to a prowling feline. They emit peculiar notes of distress, and fly back and forth overhead in powerless attempts to succor the one in distress or summon aid. If the victim happens to be a youngster of the flock, the clamor is very great, and there is something sorrowful in their helpless downward swoops and piercing cries. But pussy doesn't heed them at all. She will play with a tiny bird for the sheer love of the struggle, turning it over and over with rapid sweeps of her paws and bright, hard green eyes. If interrupted, she will sit nonchalantly blinking in the sun or licking a soft paw with an air of innocent virtue that is quite disarming to one filled with righteous wrath.

NO PROVISION FOR GRANTS CITY BANDS

QUESTION REVIVED IN COUNCIL BY ALD. TURNER LAST NIGHT

Ald. Turner revived the question of band grants in the council last night. He understood that when striking the rates while he was overseas no provision in the estimates for music in the parks had been made. He wondered if the Fire Water and Light Committee would not do without that small car for the department and Chief this year, and the council apply part of the $2600 toward a grant for music.

Ald. Morrison—"In striking the estimates the Fire, Water and Light Committee had been trimmed until now it is beyond trimming."

The Mayor—"Each of the chairmen might contribute their quota to this purpose." His Worship expressed himself strongly in favour of some provision for summer evening open air band concerts, as heretofore.

Ald. Whitehouse—"In striking the estimates all were anxious to keep down the mill rate and unfortunately were placed in such a financial standing as to render imperative the elimination of grants wherever possible.' He apreciated good band music being encouraged by the city as much as any person.

Ald. Gainey and Crowe both contended that the money granted for band music being encouraged by the city as much as any person.

Ald. Gainey and Crowe both contended that the money granted for band music last year had been well spent.

No definite action however was reached.

ASSOCIATION HELD MONTHLY MEETING

The Home and School Association of the Queen Alexandra School held their regular monthly meeting last evening. Mrs. Yenney, who represented this association in Toronto last week at the convention of the Home and School Associations, gave a report of the proceedings. Peterborough was well represented at the gathering in Toronto. Besides Mrs. Yenney, the Queen Mary Association was represented by Mrs. S. T. Medd, the South Central by Mrs. E. V. Frederick, and the King George School by Miss I. Morgan. About 200 delegates were present from all parts of the Province for the meetings held last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the Knox College Association Hall.

From a hearing of the delegates from other towns and cities, and their reports of difficulties in procuring medical examination in the schools, the installation of a school nurse and of a Playgrounds Committee, and the placing of lady trustees on School Boards, the trouble experienced in some centres in getting permission to hold meetings, the inference was easily drawn that Peterborough has accomplished a great deal of work with regard to its Home and School Associations with the co-operation afforded them by the local Board of Education. A great deal of stress was laid on the necessity of teachers working in conjunction with the Associations, and a number of women speakers addressed the convention, one lady from Vancouver being present to represent the Western schools. Dr. Marty, one of the lady inspectors in Toronto, spoke on Thursday, and Mr. McCready, President of the Federated Associations, also addressed the gathering. Luncheon was served the members at the Central Y. M. C. A. Building.

There was a good attendance at the meeting last evening, little Jack McEwen sang, and Mr. Dyer gave some fine lantern slides of Bible pictures and welfare work.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, April 5.—(Canadian Press). — Initial dealings in the Stock Market to-day were again very irregular and confusing. On the constructive side Studebaker was the most prominent, rising a point in the first few transactions and soon extending its lead to 1 5-8. General Asphalt and Houston Oil also were strong, with American Woollen, American International, St. Paul and Sears-Roebuck. Unsettled conditions in Holland probably accounted for the few points' re-action in Royal Dutch. Pressed Steel Car, Kelsey Wheel and Atlantic Gulf also were re-actionary. Mexican Petroleum, yesterday's most erratic feature, yielded a large fraction at the outset but soon strengthened.

Business slackened at mid-day, but the market reacted its advantage despite considerable profit taking. Cheaper oils and motors were in demand at one to two point advances. Motor accessories, tobacco and food shares also made similar gains.

Aside from Rails, in which dealings were nominal, and Atlantic Gulf, where further severe pressure was evident, the market forged steadily ahead during the active forenoon. Money was the propelling factor.

Call loans opened at six per cent. This is the lowest initial rate for such accommodations in more than two months. Oils, Motors and Rubbers gained one to three points, Steels, Equipments and Coppers one to two, and specialties of diverse types, notably American Woollen, Central Leather, International Paper, Beet Sugar and Sears-Roebuck, one to almost three points.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Declines of at least two points were registered by Canadian Steamships Common and Preferred and Canadian General Electric on this morning's board of the Toronto Stock Exchange. After a weak opening heavy trading forced Steamship issues down to 26 and 58 3-4 respectively for Common and Preferred. General Electric opened steady at 110, but on light trading fell off to 108. Fractional losses were suffered by a number of other stocks dealt in. War loans were in light demand.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling Exchange steady; demand, 3.90 5-8; cables, 3.91 3-8. Canadian dollars, 10 9-16 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—The close of the local Stock Exchange was unmarked by any exceptional display of brilliance, prices on the whole being weak and dull. Abitibi closed at 37½, while Atlantic Sugar strengthened fractionally from its opening quotation and closed at 30 7-8. Brompton was quiet throughout the morning at 34 1-8. Laurentide remained unchanged all morning, while National Breweries sagged a quarter point and closed at 38. Riordan closed at 102. Other issues were very quiet throughout the morning session.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts, 363; trade draggy. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $10 to $11; butcher steers, choice, $9 to $10; butcher heifers, choice, $9 to $10; butcher cows, choice, $7.50 to $8.50; medium, $5 to $7.50; calves, choice, $12 to $13; lambs, $12 to $14; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $14.25.

FINAL READING FOR AMENDMENT

T. Tooms, M.L.A., informs the Examiner that the Public Health Act has passed its final reading. "This will clear the situation with regard to North Monaghan sewer connections," states the Peterborough member.

The sub-section added to the Act of significance to Peterborough is as follows: (16) Where a sewage disposal plant or any connection therewith is constructed by an urban municipality in a township, the council of the township may enter into an agreement for the connecting with and uses of such sewage disposal plant or connections by the township municipality and residents thereof on such terms as may be mutually agreed upon.

SPECIAL MEETING LAST EVENING.

A special meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the hall of the Immaculate Conception Church last evening, when Mrs. R. Kneil, of Edmonton, the Dominion organizer for this society, gave an interesting talk on the work and methods of organization. Mrs. Jas. V. Gallivan, the local president, occupied the chair, and Rev. Monsignor McColl, present at the meeting, spoke a few words in conclusion in praise of the excellent address. Mr. Kneil was entertained after the meeting at the home of Mrs. D. Conroy, Hunter Street.

BAND CONCERT LAST EVENING

The G.W.V.A. Band gave a very bright little concert last evening in their hall on Murray street. The band, a fine organization with excellent tone and time qualities, played several numbers, the "Lutspiel" overture and "Gems of Scotland" being particularly good. The banjo numbers, a solo by Mr. F. C. Clarke and duet by Messrs. J. W. and J. A. Parkins were received with enthusiastic applause. Miss Minnie Allen sang very sweetly, accompanied by Miss Florence Leahy. Mr. A. Lee's vocal solo was loudly encored and a comic song from Mr. F. Markham was very well rendered. Mrs. Kimberey and Mrs. McKinstry gave a vocal duet. Mr. West recited, and the little Misses M. and R Roame executed a piano and violin duet in a very creditable manner, for such young performers. Mr. A. Seager was the efficient accompanist of the evening.

DAYLIGHT SAVING MAY 15 TO SEPT. 15 OR 30, IF CARRIED

The Mayor raised the question of daylight saving in Council last night, asserting that the people should be apprised of the Council's intention as to when the measure shall come into force and when the end if the by-law carries.

Ald. Hamilton moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that, providing the daylight saving by-law carries, this Council go on record as favoring the measure, remaining in force from May 15 to September 15 or 30, whichever of the latter dates will cover the Peterborough Exhibition days. This carried.

NO NUMBERING OF STREETS THIS YEAR

CITY COUNCIL CONVEY THAT IMPRESSION TO DEPUTATION FROM COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

That nothing will be done this year in regard to numbering Peterboroughs' streets, seemed evident last night, when a deputation from the Local Council of Women waited on the City Council in Committee and urged that the present system of naming be retained. This deputation consisted of Mistresses A Stevenson, Smith, Sherwood and Mowat.

Mrs. Mowat drew council's attention to a resolution of protest against street numbering passed at the Council of Women's meeting last meeting, and pointed out that this women's organization represented 27 affiliated societies, composed of Peterborough's leading ladies—patriotic, philanthropic, legislative and educative, whose opinion should carry some representative weight. She said Canada's chief cities are not resorting to street numbering, and suggested that street names here might be attached to light posts at corners, as elsewhere. The names of many of our strets are those of pioneers of old, and to eliminate them would be to blot out historical associations which they kept alive. To maintain Peterboro's streets, she asserted, would be to list this city in that category of mushoom towns so to speak, which spring up to-day and are gone to-morrow. In some cases present street names reflect that industry and intellectuality of past citizens who have contributed largely towards making this city what it is to-day. "Can we afford," Mrs. Mowat asked, "to eliminate these names from the life of our city?—names of pioneers which stand for endurance, patience, perseverance and grit. Instead of abolishing street naming the principle might well be further extended."

The other members of the deputation heartily endorsed the foregoing sentiments.

Ald. Whitehouse here explained that the whole proposition for street numbering has so far been simply a sugestion from the Board of Trade, and although a committee of the council had been appointed in regard thereto, still no action has as yet been taken.

Council generally conveyed to the ladies the impression that no street numbering would be undertaken, this year, at least, for there are no funds available for that purpose.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the blood, and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrane covering the joints and separating the muscles, thus producing severe pains. If the waste products of the human system are not properly carried off, Uric Acid forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscles. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct this by its action on the kidneys and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail your money will be refunded.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up three sizes—25c, 50c and $1 per box, at Warne's Drug Store, 351 George Street, Peterborough.

By Mme. Frances

The Famous Creator of Fashions

AMERICA, with its population drawn from every corner of the world, is peopled by many varied types of womanhood. One of the most beautiful is the girl whose ancestors sprang from the Anglo-Saxon race. Another lovely blonde reveals a strain of Viking blood in her veins. Sometimes the fair-haired beauty possesses most exquisite blue eyes or they may be violet in hue. A light shade of hazel ofttimes accompanies a very fair complexion and tresses that rival the ripening grain.

Perhaps the intermingling of races in this country is responsible for the wonderful coloring of eyes and face that is the birthright of the girl with golden hair. At any rate such types, while met with less frequently than the brunette or the raven-tressed woman, are an inspiration for the creation of beautiful dress.

If you are blessed with the fair hair and clear complexion that bespeak the radiance of youth, then the choice of your clothes should be exceedingly simple. Of course, even among blondes, there are so many variations that a certain amount of care is essential when you choose your clothes. There are shades, even among the colors that really belong to the blonde, that must be avoided should your complexion be exceptionally pale or should the color of your hair be somewhat insipid.

What No Blonde Should Wear

On the other hand, you can enhance your coloring immeasurably by selecting the special shade that accentuates the delicate texture of your skin or brings out the lovely lights in your hair. Of course, so long as you possess youth, which naturally bespeaks health, you do not need absolute perfection of line to add to your charm. Cheeks, delicately tinted like the petals of the apple blossom, hair that shines like spun gold, and eyes of blue are flattered by almost any color. The one shade, however, that blondes should never affect is scarlet. Rose looks well, and so do petunia and raspberry. Even a rich shade of coral may be chosen by the blonde-haired woman, while the fair-haired girl naturally gravitates to pink.

On this page I show illustrations of four distinctive creations for the girl with golden hair. The very pale blonde will appreciate especially the model in fawn charmeuse. The skirt clings prettily about the figure and is elaborated with a soft sash that is loosely draped around the natural waistline and a few inches lower encircles the figure again, where it is tied at one side.

Brightness in the Hat

The upper part is designed in slip-over style, with the lower part of the front effectively cut away. A row of small buttons makes an interesting sleeve decoration. The sleeves are very long and very tight, although they are curved backwards at the cuffs. Tiny pockets add another ornamental touch to the fronts.

The blouse that is worn beneath the charmeuse slip-over is fashioned from white organdie. A row of white pearl buttons down the centre pleat introduces a harmonizing note that is quite pleasing.

It is, however, in the hat that I have introduced a bright note of color, for it is originated in red violet straw. Its broad brim droops effectively about the face and accentuates the beauty of the pale blonde.

Another daytime mode is evolved from blue serge. This is inspired partly by the dress of the Russian peasant and partly by the picturesque attire of the far East. The long tunic and skirt are ornamented with black soutache braid. Here and there are raised appliqued motifs made of black satin and black silk soutache braid. A charming flash of color is found in the vest of orange linen, while the waistline is girdled with a narrow belt of black patent leather.

The sleeves of this frock are very long and very tight. At the wrist they are embroidered with black silk soutache, which also appears around the neckline. So effective were the motifs with which I ornamented this dress that I decided to fashion a hat on the same lines. Like those decorations it is made of black satin elaborated with rows of black silk soutache braid.

The dinner dress reveals another combination that greatly enhances the ethereal beauty of the blonde. This model is distinguished by its extreme simplicity. The umbrella-shaped sleeves are lined with black chiffon, while the decolletage reveals an attractive line. The overskirt, rather full, is similarly lined, so that as its wearer walks about the black chiffon lining is perceived.

Extremely rich in color is the origination that completes the group. The gown is developed in a powder blue grosgrain silk, for blue in almost every shade except the warm green blues may be worn by the golden-haired girl to great advantage. This is hemstitched at the bottom in silver. Panels of turquoise blue tulle striped with silver hemstitching extend from the shoulders down the front of the gown. In the back there are two short equal panels.

The corsage is exceedingly dainty. Over a lining of flesh-colored chiffon is a tiny vestee of cream lace. Festooned above and below the soft girdle of blue silk are clusters of black cherries surrounded by gold and silver foliage. Black cherries also disport themselves in the hair, which is artistically coiffed.

This dress would look most charming if developed in cloth of silver, for white and silver really lend a look of pastel-like loveliness to the blonde. Such a dress might even be adorned with green trimmings, for nile and jade green are exceedingly becoming to the fair-haired and fair-complexioned woman.

Black, too, greatly accentuates the beauty of the blonde. One stunning restaurant gown is fashioned from black velvet and silver shot tissue. The velvet is draped from the shoulders so that it falls in dainty folds toward the left side of the dress. From this point it swings toward the hem. It is slashed, however, so that on the sides the storied folds of silver cloth are seen. On each side the velvet is arranged in big loops that are suggestive of an enormous sash.

The velvet is lined with cobalt blue and silver shot tissue that is unusually beautiful. Under the arms one may glimpse the dainty folds of blue chiffon that add a colorful touch to the corsage.

Still another fascinating creation of silver lace and black chiffon velvet is enlivened with shaded magenta roses. On this model the corsage is fashioned entirely from the lace, while the velvet, caught at one side of the girdle with the roses, is looped well below the girdle and falls to the ground in a narrow train.

With this are worn metal lace shoes and they are cut on the picturesque square-toed lines that are the newest note in the world of footwear.

About New Coiffures

Of interest also to the woman who delights in adopting the latest modes is the new style of coiffure. As bobbed hair is no longer considered smart, the hair is now being drawn upward toward the crown of the head. It is prettily pinned in place and those who wear their hair cut short find that they must perhaps leave a stray curl or two descending from the rather tight high knob into which they twist their hair.

This method of dressing the hair is responsible for the return of the hat that is tipped high in the back and brought down in the front. On such hats one may see a gay display of flowers in all the lovely colors that are beloved by those who affect bright hues for the hours of day.

Ribbons, of course, may take their place, while some show very clever arrangements of fancy feathers in solitary state or enriched with a gay posy. Beflowered streamers may descend from such headgear, as the flaring feather of the winter hat is repeated in the spring chapeau by a ribbon or flower flare.

The Fashion Forecast

Black will be ultra-fashionable for the spring frock—not in the dead tones that are frankly expressive of mourning, but in blue or brown blacks and in shiny or dull black fabrics.

OTTAWA WINS STANLEY CUP, DEFEATING VANCOUVER 2-1

CAPITAL RETAINS WORLD'S HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE BY NARROW MARGIN IN FINAL GAME OF SERIES.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 4.—(Canadian Press).—Ottawa defeated Vancouver and retained the Stanley Cup by a score of 2 to 1 last night.

In the first period, Neighbor won in the face off and sent the rubber to Darragh at right wing, as the speedy winger rushed toward Lehman he was cut short by J. Adams who bored deep into the Ottawa defence. Cleghorn checked the millionaire and racing back shot from the blue line. Duncan caught the puck in mid air and went back with it, Skinner at his side. The first period was featured by the number of long shots tried by both teams. So close was the checking that players preferred taking chances on a lucky lift to boring in for a closer take off.

Eddie Gerard gathered two penalties in this period, Skinner and Cleghorn receiving one each. Mackay, rover went the length of the ice and passed to Harris by it the speedy Vancouver left winger overskated the puck and Gerard grabbed the lost rubber and pulled off one of his lightning rushes passed to Neighbor at centre, the latter shooting from the blue line. It was a dangerous attempt, the puck going in breast high on Lehman knocking him against the uprights but falling outside. The millionaires nagged to get more speed into their attacks and time and again Mackay came from behind the net and worked his way the entire length of the rink for shooting. Skinner was everywhere, in this period, his general activity being rewarded when following a shot to Benedict by Cook he grabbed the puck in the rebound and scored.

Darragh scored both goals for Ottawa in the second period.

SPORT COMMENT

The Ontario Athletic Commission has asked Billy Carroll to officiate as referee at the bouts to be held at Niagara Falls, Ont., next Friday night, and William has consented, which goes to show that he is feeling as well as ever after his recent illness. Billy lost considerable weight while confined to his bed, but is fast recovering it.

W. J. Lord, president of the short-ship circuit, was a visitor at Galt this week, and says that the horses which wintered there are all in splendid shape, and that the majority of them will be in readiness for the opening meetings. There will be a meeting in Galt on 24th May, but the regular circuit races there will be held later. Cayuga is also counting on a meeting for Victoria Day, so that there will be plenty of action for owners of standard breds.

The London Ball Club will start spring training the latter part of next week, which means that the Cockneys should be in midseason form by the time the League opens next month. But Wetzel is going to find the race much stiffer this year than it was last, and maybe that he will need the early start in order to keep up.

Seven weeks from to-day the Canadian racing season will open at Woodbine, and then the speculators will be able to let loose with some of the "glue" which they have been hoarding up all winter.

Billy Mitchell, brother of Richie, says that if Ward boxes Rocky Kansas, the Buffalo boy will be beaten. Better men than Ward have tried to box Rocky, bue he gets 'em whether they fight or box.

George Duncan, noted English golfer, who will visit America the coming season, has upset the scientific students of the ancient and honourable game with a statement that all this talk about following through is pure bunk. Duncan doesn't believe a word of it, and he offers a proof to substantiate his stand.

In a recent interview Duncan declares he had no intention of ruining the dreams of those who have taken their golf seriously enough to becloud their minds with a lot of fanciful rules for driving, but that his patience has been sorely tried by those who put out the propaganda about "carrying through."

Duncan points to the successful player with the half swing as the one who proves there is nothing to the "carrying through" thing. He says the loose upswing is a natural method for some golfers, and that the club cannot help but go as far after the ball is hit as it did before the ball was hit. He figured it to be a natural proposition, and not to be placed on the scientific side of golf.

The noted English player declares practically every swing goes through because to stop it would throw the player off balance and certainly hurt his game. Duncan believes the deep analysis made of golf by various writers in the past few years has helped the game by creating an interest in it, but he also declares that when read constantly such articles have a tendency to cloud the mind of new players and keep them from enjoying natural methods while on the course.

Billy Mitchell, manager of Richie, has offered to assist Boby Ward by his advice in Bobby's forthcoming clash with Rocky Kansas. He says that Ward can beat Rocky if he boxes with him, but is of the opinion that Kansas can beat any living lightweight at the mixing game, including Benny Leonard. He says Richie made the mistake of trying to beat Rocky at his own game.

Scottish Football Team

The following letter is a reply received from the Secretary-Treasurer of Dominion Football Association in regard to Scottish Football Teams suggested visit to Peterboro.

Mr. Fred Sutcliffe,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sir:— Ihave your letter of 22nd inst., requesting our Association to arrange a game for your town with the Scottish International team which will tour Canada this Summer.

As you are doubtess aware, the time at our disposal is very limited, and while we are endeavouring to touch every part of the country, it is going to be quite impossible for us to visit the numberless places from which we have had enquiries.

You can rest assured that although the official schedule has now been published, every possible additional game will be taken into consideration later, but I fear that this Association can hold out very little hope in the matter at present.

We believe that you will understand our position in this matter, and although we are anxious to satisfy all concerned, it is quite impossible for us to do so in the present case.

Yours truly,
Dominion of Canada Football Association
David W. Roy, Secretary Treasurer.

OLMYPIC GAMES 1920 A SUCCESS.

Sixty-Three Thousand Six Hundred and Twelve Persons Paid to See Football Matches.

ANTWERP, March 15.—(By Mail).—(Associated Press).—The Olympic Games of 1920 were a success from both a financial and attendance standpoint, according to a complete and detailed statement just issued by the Belgium Olympic Executive Committee. The attendance and receipt figures attached to the report show that the keen interest displayed in the soccer football play helped greatly to lift the international competition across the line which divides failure and success.

While only 28,665 persons, all told, paid admission, other than holders of season tickets to the Stadium, to witness the athletic games, in which America triumphed, 63,612 persons paid to see the Olympic football games.

A total of 219,689 persons paid to see the Olympic games, including ice hockey, and all other sports, and, according to the committee, this number exceeded the attendance at Stockholm, and put the 1920 Olympiad on an attendance footing equal to that of most of its predecessors.

Attendance and Revenue.

The detailed report, showing attendance and revenues from admissions to all Olympic events, gives an interesting index to the sport preferences of Europeans. It follows:

	Spectators.	Receipts in Francs.
Ice hockey	6,946	37,119.00
Bicycle races	835	3,913.00
Athletics	28,665	164,935.00
Gymnastics	16,795	12,882.50
Lawn tennis	7,524	57,275.00
Wrestling and boxing	15,158	80,708.50
Rowing	6,617	16,633.00
Swimming	24,549	64,682.00
Football	63,612	284,535.50
Horsemanship	11,251	54,092.50
Polo	1,149	6,805.00

In addition to these, the season tickets for sports at the Stadium, when figured for attendance records by multiplying their number by the number of days, give additional attendance of 56,570, for which the revenues were 305,850 francs. Other revenues, from programs, etc., swelled the total revenues to 1,090,917 francs, which at normal rate of exchange amounts to about $218,000.

Including 15,000 free admissions to the athletics sports and 30,000 free admissions to the football games, the grand total of spectators who saw the Olympic Games is estimated at 349,689.

As all major expenses, including cost of Stadium, etc., were met by the Belgian Govrnment, the profit, after deducting minor expenditures, reaches more than 1,000,000 francs. This will go to the Antwerp Olympic Association, which took the risk, organized the games and procured the guarantee funds.

BELLEVILLE GETS IN LINE.

BELLEVILE, April 5.—The decision has been reached to form a sports federation in this city under the name of Belleville Amateur Athletic Association. Colours — red, white, and black—have been chosen. A whirlwind membership campaign is to be conducted. Those at the head of the organisation are: Mayor Hanna, A. E. Colling, T. E. Clark, and P. J. Brockell, representing the citizens; E. D. Finkle, the G.W.V.A., George Graham, the Chamber of Commerce, J. Fahey, St. Michael's, Mackenzie Robertson, the Rotary Club, and Ray Zufelt, the Lions.

OVERSEAS WEEK IN HAMBURG.

August 20 to 28 — Big Sporting Tourney.

HAMBURG, April 5.—(Associated Press).—Oversea Week will be celebrated in Hamburg from August 20. to 28 with an international sporting tournament, including football matches in which Dutch and Scandinavian teams have indicated their willingness to participate. The committee also hopes to induce American football and hockey teams to compete, although no definite arrangements have been made as yet. There will be international swimming races and the German tennis championship series will be played.

All the sporting organizations of Hamburg are assisting in the organization of the events, which will include exhibitions by all sorts of gymnastic teams, parades and water fetes. In 1922 the committees which are arranging the Oversea Week celebrations plan to have even a more comprehensive athletic program than is possible at this time when German exchange is so unfavorable and strained international relations make negotiations with foreign athletes difficult.

LINDSAY, April 5.—R. B. McEwan has been declared winner of Sir Sam Hughes' cup for the checker championship of the club here. A few years ago Mr. McEwan competed for the Canadian Championship title, and was only defeated by the present champion, Mr. Crawford of Alton. The contest for the F. G. Sandy prize is almost concluded, with Mr. J. E. Sanford onsiderably in the lead. and he will probably be in front at the finish.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

A meeting of the clubs in the East Peterborough Baseball League has been called for Thursday night, 14th April, at the Windsor Hotel, to reorganise and prepare for the coming season. New applications for membership in the League should be made at this meeting.

F. S. Pollard, who represented the Keene Club at the annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. last Saturday, and Jake Solomon, representing the Central Leagueers, arranged for the renewal of the membership of the East Peterborough League in the Association.

Reports from the five corners of the circuit say that all the clubs will be stronger this season. Douro and Nassau have decided to join forces and go after Eddie Wright's silver cup in earnest.

Jake Solomon will be glad to meet representatives of new clubs who are desirous of entering the League.

CANADIAN GENERALS WOULD PLAY BALL WITH NO CENTRAL LEAGUERS

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETING IN BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS FRIDAY NIGHT.

Baseball took a big change for the better overnight, and City League moguls will gather at the Board of Trade Rooms on Friday night in an endeavor to start something.

Canadian Generals held a meeting last night, and took a step that is worthy of much commendation. The Generals decided in favor of entering a team in a City League, with all Central Ontario League players barred. They have seven players who worked in the Central loop last season.

It is a fine example of sportsmanship from the big plant. After sizing up the situation from every angle, the Generals have taken a stand that is in the best interest of the game. In their City League team they propose to develop the younger players. They had the same idea when entering the City Hockey League last winter, but fate, or whatever it might be termed, was against the Generals, and they were forced to carry O.H.A. players in order to compete with the other clubs.

It is believed that such a League will find favor with the Hamilton A. A., with De Laval and with the Canadian Packing Company. Nobody can forecast the possibilities of this League if it is properly handled. The cards are now on the table. It remains for the men behind amateur baseball to get together and build up a real organization.

Mercantilers Busy.

The Mercantile Baseball League will hold the annual re-organization meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday night, when the decision will likely be made to play all games at Riverside Park. It is proposed to play League fixtures in the evening and on Saturday afternoons. All games last season were played at Nicholls Oval.

ANNUAL MEETING LAST MEETING

The annual meeting of the Peterboro Curling Rink Co., was held at the Curling Club last night. The annual report of the company showed that the company because of the necessary expenditure to be made on repairs this year is unable to pay the six per cent dividend on the stock paid last year and in years when the finances warranted it. The officers for 1921-22 were re-elected as follows last night:—President—T. Brightman, Vice-President— W G. Morrow, Secretary—R. M. Waddell and the following directors:—G. Morrow, T. Brightman, R. M. Waddell, Dr. Greer, J E. A. Fitzgerald, Dr. Wightman, J. A. Cameron, S. T. Medd, W. D. Campbell, W. G Oke.

JUDGMENT IN THE GRIFFITH CASE

County Police Magistrate O. A. Langley, at the opening of court yesterday, delivered judgment in the case of an alleged breach of the Public Health Act in the Township of Belmont. In this case, Reeve W. E. Griffith was charged with disobedience to an order of the Medical Health Officer to abate conditions which the Medical Health Officer deemed objectionable.

The Magistrate, in giving judgment, stated that Dr. Thompson, the Medical Health Officer, had failed to satisfy him of the existence of a nuisance or conditions dangerous to public health, pointing out that Dr. Holdcroft and Dr. Sutton, the health officers of the neighboring municipalities, had both testified that the conditions complained of (which were of a temporary nature) could not be deemed dangerous during the winter months.

His Worship found that service of the notice, disobedience of which was charged, was not proved in evidence, and that in any event, a reasonable time had not been given for performance of the doctor's order. He therefore dismissed the complaint, holding that the failure of the complainant to prove that he had properly performed the preliminary steps required by the Statute was fatal to the success of the prosecution. The magistrate stated that as the Public Health Act gave unusual powers to a Public Health Officer it became incumbent on every such official to strictly comply with every provision of the Act, however technical in its nature.

Dr. Thompson appeared on his own behalf, and Mr. F. D. Kerr represented Reeve Griffith.

NO EXPLANATION OF MYSTERY YET DISCOVERED

BERLIN, April 5. (Canadian Press.) — Mysterious parcels containing explosives have been discovered during the past 24 hours by the police in various sections of Berlin. Some of them were found in private residences, on the door steps, in hall ways and along the tracks of the elevated railroads. Each package was found to be supplied with a fuse which was ready to be lighted.

CONSIDERS CONTENTIONS OF U. S. INCONSISTENT WITH ATTITUDE IN MEXICO.

LONDON, April 5. — (Canadian Press.) — The contentions of the United States for equality of treatment for citizens of all nations in mandated territory are held by the British government to be "scarcely consistent" with the attitude of the United States toward United States oil interests in Mexico. The British view is expressed in a long reply to Secretary Colby's note of last November, which was made public here to-day.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday highest temperature was 71 degrees in the shade. This is the highest point it has reached since the third week in October, a few days after Thanksgiving day. To-day, however is still warmer, and at noon the thermometer was up to the respectable summer temperature of 78 degrees in the shade, and still going up. A warm April shower with this heat, and vegetation would advance very quickly. —W. P.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE PRINCE OF WALES' FILM.

The Famous H.M.S. Renown Record Comes to the Grand.

At the Grand there will be screened on Thursday Captain William Barker's official film record of the 50,000 mile progress of the H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in his mission to cement the link of Empire. Those who have been privileged to glance at the initial pictures give a glowing eulogy of this film story of the Renown. Leaving Portsmouth, we are taken through the Caribbean Sea, the Panama Canal, past the Californian coast to Hawaii, the Fiji Islands, Auckland, through the New Zealand Southern Alps, Arthur's Pass, Melbourne, Sydney, and the Australian Bight; the Gold District, and Southern Australia—a bare record of names, which quite fails to convey the tremendous human interest packed in every foot. Captain Barker's sense of humor is so well-known that it would be difficult to believe there were no humorous touches in the film record. In this respect it is said picture-goers will not be disappointed. There is, for instance, an intimate series of the "Crossing the Line" ceremonies, in which the Prince himself, figures prominently, and scores of other curious episodes.

"HUMAN HEARTS."

Plays may come, and plays may go, but melodrama goes on forever. At the present time, there are definite indications that we are to witness another period in which good, old-fashioned melodrama is to have a vogue again. One such is provided by the announcement by the management of the Grand Opera House that its attraction for Monday night, April 11, will be Mr. Frank Carpenter's revival of Hal Reid's world-famous Southern story, "Human Hearts."

This play is a melodrama that makes no pretentions of being anything else. It has its powerful and impressive moments, upon which hinge a man's freedom and happiness; and it has its many comedy situations—situations that tug at the heart-strings, and those which provoke no end of merriment. The finale brings happiness to all save those characters whose evil doing has provided the fascinating series of events portrayed.

Special interest attaches to the coming production of "Human Hearts" by reason of the fact that it will bring back to Peterborough wee Dorothy MacKay, whose phenomenal success in "Cinderella" and "Babes in the Woods" is a matter of stage history. This piece presents her in a character entirely different from her previous ones, and one that gives her splendid opportunity to reveal her remarkable talents to a greater degree than ever before. The balance of the cast is comprised of capable performers.

"WAY DOWN EAST."

AT THE ALLEN

ANITA STEWART HAS ENTIRELY NEW ROLE.

The Prouty Boosters' Ball was to blame for it all!

And the theatre-goers of the Allen have the Prouty Boosters' Ball to thank for affording them one of the most appealing photoplays of the year in 'The Fighting Shepherdess,' screen version of the famous book by Caroline Lockhart, starring Anita Stewart, and which will be seen at the Allen Theatre, commencing on Wednesday.

In the role of Kate Prentice, a girl in whom a splendid character has been reposed but about whom a depressing environment has been enshrouded as a result of living in the questionable roadhouse from which her mother derives a livelihood, Miss Stewart has a role that calls for a vigorous delineation of the natural effects these circumstances and surroundings would have on a girl.

The plot begins to unravel when Kate is saved from the advances of a rough character through the chivalry of "Mormon Joe," a recluse sheep herder, whose moody exclusiveness has a tendency to make the villagers wary of him. He provides a separate hut for Kate on his sheep ranch and thereupon hinges the big events in the girl's life and the murder of Joe, all matters combining in a most interesting and gripping tale of a girl who dared to fight for the right despite the preponderance of odds.

AT THE REGENT.

"THE DEVIL" SETS NEW MARK FOR PHOTODRAMAS

"The Devil," starring George Arliss, shown yesterday at the Regent Theatre, where it remains three days, is more than an exceptionally fine picture. It is a record for posterity of one of the theatre's greatest characterizations by one of its foremost actors. It sets a new mark for future photoplays to measure up to.

This is Mr. Arliss' first appearance before the camera, and we hope not his last. The devil of Edmund Goulding's story is a well-groomed, well-mannered gentleman with a wide circle of acquaintances. To him men and women are human toys for him to play with and break. Mr. Arliss makes this devil suave, bantering, cynical; clever, crafty and very fascinating.

"The Devil," an Associated Exhibitors' feature, is excellently produced, directed and acted. Sylvia Breamer, Lucy Cotton, Edmund Lowe, Roland Bottomley and Mrs. Arliss are splendidly cast in leading roles. James Young's direction is virile, poignant and the essence of dramatic artistry.

Much praise may be lavished on the lighting, photography, and particularly the settings. Their equal has never before been seen on the screen, which proves the value of having sets designed by architects, decorators and highly skilled technical men, as was the case in "The Devil."

Miss Mae Perry returned to the Margaret Eaton College yesterday afternoon after spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Perry.

Miss Gretta Louis went to Lindsay last night, where she will participate in several dances in a concert given in the Opera House in that town.

Nurse Jory gave an interesting talk on medical inspection in schools at the meeting of the South Central Home and School Association held last evening. Mrs. E. V. Frederick gave an interesting report on the convention of these associations held in Toronto last week, and Mrs. Clark occupied the chair. Mrs. Clark, the retiring president, has been succeeded in office by Mrs. E. V. Frederick.

During the evening, little Miss Winnie Evans played several violin selections very nicely, accompanied by Miss Johnson.

The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Church held a very pretty little shower last evening for Miss V. Tucker, who is to be married shortly. The usual monthly tea was held in the Sunday School Hall, after which the girls, numbering about 25, presented Miss Tucker with a number of useful household gifts in a miscellaneous shower. The room was brightly decorated with beautiful azalea plants and cunning little kewpie dolls.

Miss Jean McIlwain, Lake Street, returned home after spending a few days visiting Mr. Geo. Hankinson, of Campbellford.

Mrs. R. Kneil, of Edmonton, the Dominion organizer for the Catholic Women's League, left for Ottawa last night.

The many friends of Master Walter Rose will be pleased to know he is progressing favorably at the Nicholls Hospital.

The King George Home and School Association held their usual monthly business meeting in the Kindergarten Room last evening. At the conclusion of the routine work, the parents and children, the pupils of Mr. Park's room, and the members of last year's entrance class, who had been invited to attend, about 85 being present altogether, were entertained by the Association. The presentation of the flag won by Mr. Park's room in the banner contest, a very handsome Union Jack, was made by Mrs. V. Hamilton, the first vice-president, and an address was read by the president, Mrs. R. H. Parsons. Little Miss Marion Runnings received the flag for the class, and Mr. Park, the Principal, made a very excellent little speech in acknowledgment and praise of the good work of the Home and School organization. Refreshments were served later, and a pretty musical and recitative programme rendered by the pupils of Mr. Park's room, with Miss E. Scott as accompanist.

The weekly "At Home" of the Entertainment committee of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, held last evening, was well attended. The music and refreshments supplied at these weekly affairs are always of the very best. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. S. J. Anglesey; a ladies' shopping bag, and by Mr. Wm. Lynch; a box of cigars.

Mrs. James Burnie and Mrs. Wm. McKinnan of Victoria Harbor, have returned home after visiting friends in Peterborough and vicinity.

WEDDING BELLS

DOWNS—MOFFAT.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Solomon on Wednesday, March 30 at 3 o'clock when their niece, Ruby Elizabeth Moffat was united in marriage to John Downs, of Woodstock. Rev. G. I. Craw performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends.

The bride entered the parlour to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Craw. She looked beautiful in a navy blue silk dress with corsage bouquet of pink roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Ethyle Reynolds, who looked very dainty in champagne silk crepe de chine and georgette crepe with corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Dentzil Moffat ably supported the groom.

During the signing of the register, Miss Elsie Henkle, of Rochester, sang "O Promise Me."

After the ceremony a hountiful supper was partaken of by the guests.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome cheque, to the bridesmaid a brooch, to the groomsman cuff links, and to the soloist, a silver brooch.

The bride received many costly and beautiful presents. One being a beautiful silver and pyrex pie plate from Y. W. M. S. of Springville church, of which she was a member.

On Friday morning the happy couple left for Woodstock, where they will make their home, followed by the good wishes of hosts of friends and well wishers.

WOULD DAMAGE OUR CREDIT TO GREAT EXTENT

MANCHESTER GUARDIAN DECLARES NON-FULFILLMENT OF OBLIGATIONS BY CANADA SERIOUS.

G.T.R. STOCK SLUMPS

LONDON, April 6. — (Canadian Press).—In the absence of authoritative news regarding the controversy between the Canadian Government and the Grand Trunk Railway Company, the depression of the latter's stock continues.

Also there is a continuation of expressions of surprise and annoyance in the press.

The Manchester Guardian remarks that the non-fulfilment of financial obligations by a British colony is almost without precedent, and that if the situation is not cleared up speedily the damage to the Dominion's credit will be incalculable.

The Yorkshire Post points out that the interest on the Grand Trunk debentures was paid last October, and that notes of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the value of two millions were paid off quite recently.

OTTAWA PLUMBERS REFUSED INCREASE

MASTER PLUMBERS DETERMINED TO ENFORCE A REDUCTION INSTEAD.

OTTAWA, April 6.—The master plumbers here think that, in the face of present economic conditions, their men should have made a voluntary reduction in wages instead of demanding a 25 per cent. increase, which demand the Master Plumbers' Association has unanimously decided to refuse.

At a large representative meeting of the Association, when the men's demands for $1 an hour were discussed, it was agreed to adhere to the offer of 75c an hour made some time ago. Journey-mens' wages are now 80c and the agreement expires May first.

The Master Plumbers are determined that their proposed reduction shall be enforced, and also announce that they will make a reduction of 10c an hour to the public on the first of May.

BOX CONTAINING BONES UNEARTHED BY WORKMEN BEHIND LOCAL STORE

A box filled with lime, in which was a human skeleton, has been unearthed by workmen excavating behind a local store. The lime has eaten the flesh from the bones, and the interior of the box is as well preserved as the exterior.

Now anybody who has read at least two detective stories realizes at once that here we have all the necessary elements of a mystery, with excellent grounds for suspecting foul play. The lime would have been placed in the box for one purpose only, the purpose which it accomplished, that of eating the flesh from the bones and preventing any smell of decay. Continuing the reasoning according to the most approved Sherlock Holmes or Craig Kennedy methods, the fact that the outside of the box was well preserved, would lead to the conclusion that the interment had taken place comparatively recently.

There is the rugged outline of a plot which would delight Arthur Conal Doyle, Edgar Allen Poe, or Arthur B. Reeve. The only drawback is that the blamed thing is not that way, according to the police. It has entertained the street corner cliques and added spice to the monotonous grind of prosaic, everyday life, and there it apparently ends.

But it doesn't end there. And that is where the grain of truth comes in.

The police were declared to have the gruesome remains in their possession, and were conducting an investigation. They have. Down in the garage behind the police station, just to the northwest of the "Black Maria," reposes a pasteboard box, whose dimensions are about 18 inches both ways. In the box is a collection of bones which resemble those the pet pup might have gnawed. Coroner Dr. Greer declared them to be canine bones.

Board Must Increase Accommodation at Collegiate Institute

INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS SCORES CONGESTION AND SAYS REMEDY MUST BE PROVIDED OR GRANT DISCONTINUED.

COMMENDS THE STAFF

If the local Board of Education desires that the Provincial Government's grant be continued, increased accommodation at the Collegiate Institute must be provided.

This was the virtual ultimatum contained in the report of I. M. Levan, Provincial Inspector of High Schools, which was presented to the Board last night. The congested condition at the Institute has increased to such an extent that it is hampering the efficiency of the school's work, Mr. Levan pointed out. Makeshift remedies, he declared, are no longer possible, and the only solution of the difficulty is increased accommodation.

The Inspector commended the work of the staff, but in addition to the lack of accommodation, found cause for adverse criticism in the ventilation of the Institute, which has been frequently complained of by pupils.

The following members were present: Dr. F. C. Neal, chairman; Mrs. W. R. Morris, Messrs. E. G. Patterson, R. Denne, J. A. McKone, A. A. Fowler, J. W. Worth, J. M. Greene, G. O. Cameron, G. H. Thompson, secretary, and Jos. J. Duffus, who has been appointed as High School representative from the Separate School Board for the balance of the late Mr T B. McGrath's term of office.

A communication was received from Miss Jory reporting attendance at the Educational Convention held in Toronto in Easter week, and a letter from Miss McGrath acknowledging a gift of flowers and message of condolence from the Board on the occasion of the late Mr. McGrath's death.

Submitted Report.

Mr. Worth, one of the members who attended the Trustees' Convention held in Toronto, submitted the following report:

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Trustees,

I am not desirous of taking up your valuable time unnecessarily, but feel that it is incumbent for us to take up for discussion the matter of Urban Government Grants. They are, in my opinion, woefully inadequate, and I think that we should pass a resolution asking the Ontario Government to do something to lift the heavy load for educational purposes under which the Urban municipalities are staggering at the present time.

The inadequate grants to Urban School Boards during the last few years have been the source of great annoyance to these Boards, and have caused a great amount of friction

UNEMPLOYMENT ENDED WITHIN MONTH'S TIME

RELIEF OFLICER MILLER HOPEFUL THAT THE SITUATION WILL HAVE ABATED AND WORK SUPPLIED.

FALSE CASE EXPOSED

Relief Officer F. W. Miller is expending relief under the provincial plan reached between the municipalities, and the Dominion and Provincial governments.

It is hoped to conclude all relief measures within a month. In that time it is believed the employment situation will be greatly improved, the army of unemployed at work again.

Mr. Miller is disbursing relief as sparingly as possible and very few persons have obtained relief without good cause being shown.

Last Thursday, however, the last day of March, when the relief would have ceased had not the two governments and the city extended it, a returned soldier, a married man, was exposed, who had under false pretences obtained relief. This man according to Mr. Miller had obtained orders for groceries and on that day secured a $6 order for groceries. Mr. Miller discovered that he had the same day drawn $11 vocational training money and had been receiving this money right along while receiving grocery orders from Mr. Miller. This man later told the relief officer that he had deliberately misinformed Hugh Robertson, Superintendent of the Ontario Employment Bureau, to obtain his certificate as out of work, and in need of relief. He was threatened with a police court charge and promised to pay $6, the value of the grocery order, on March 31, to Mr. Miller, from his first pay, as he has now obtained work.

This is the only case of misrepresentation that has come to the Relief Officer's attention.

NEW YORK, April 6 (Canadian Press).—After marrying Kiyoski Hosokawa, a Japanese, for love, an American girl committed suicide at 102 West 109th Street, because she could not stand the stares and sneers of friends.

Lloyd George Trying to Effect Resumption Strike Negotiations

PROPOSED THIS TO OFFICIALS OF THE MINERS' UNION THIS AFTERNOON.

ORDERS PLACED HERE

LONDON, April 6. — (Canadian Press.) — The Executive body of the Miners' Union this afternoon accepted the government's proposals that the miners' delegates meet representatives of the owners and the government for the reopening of negotiations with a view to the settlement of the coal strike.

LONDON, April 6. — (Canadian Press). — An effort to bring the miners and their employers together again was made by Mr. Lloyd George, Prime Minister, this afternoon. It was announced he had written to the President of the Mining Association and the Secretary of the Miners' Federation, asking them to meet to resume negotiations.

It was learned this morning that large coal orders have been placed in Canada as a result of the strike situation. The announcement was also made that Germany is offering steam coal from the Rhur district at 54 shillings per ton, c.i.f. Liverpool.

The hope for a peaceful solution of the admittedly serious situation before the country was declared today not to have been abandoned in responsible quarters.

The National Transport Workers' Federation, which voted to-day to extend aid to the British miners in their strike, comprises thirty-five affiliated unions with an aggregate membership of about 500 thousand. A strike ordered by the Federation, if it becomes generally effective, would call out all types and classes of workers engaged in transportation by road, rail, or sea. The services of several of these varieties of workers are much more vital to industry in Great Britain than in Canada.

ADVERTISING IS MOVING STOCKS

William A. Thomson, director of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, made the following statement:

"The latest reports we have received from all parts of the country show that newspaper advertising continues to increase and in some sections is simply enormous. There is no doubt that newspaper advertising is going to play a great part in getting us over the period of readjustment by moving stocks on hand which, mind you, must be sold at the old prices. The American manufacturer has shown his far-sightedness by advertising to develop business and move these stocks and so hasten the time of readjustment."

FELL 25 FEET; BAD INJURIES

GEORGE ROUSSEAU, LINEMAN, BELIEVED TO HAVE SUSTAINED CONCUSSION OF THE BRAIN.

DROPPED FROM POLE

George Rousseau, a lineman of the G.N.W. Telegraph Company received serious injuries about six o'clock yesterday afternoon when he fell a distance of 25 feet from a pole back of the G.T.R. depot.

Several ribs were broken, and it is believed he has a concussion of the brain. He is in St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was taken in Belleghem's motor ambulance, following first aid by the station employees, in which they are trained. Dr. Moir and Cameron attended the injured man.

The cause of the fall is unknown. The Examiner was unable to ascertain whether the lineman's belt broke, as commonly said to have caused the fall.

HIAWATHA INDIANS ABANDON AUCTION FOR OPEN BIDDING

MANY OF THEM SOLD INDEPENDENTLY, BUT 1,500 RATS WENT AT $2 YESTERDAY.

Hiawatha Indians disposed of about 1,500 rats yesterday afternoon, the average price being around two dollars. Cyril Lech, of Wm. Lech and Sons, and a representative of the Hallam Company, Toronto, were the buyers. They divided the offering of pelts about evenly. After being whipsawed in the auction they held last year, the Hiawatha trappers were reluctant to try it again. Once bit, twice shy, was their attitude to the white man's business method. When the price was five dollars last spring many of the Hiawatha men held out for $5.50, believing that the sky was the limit. Probably if they had been offered that price they would have demanded $6. At any rate, the market broke under the strain, and the hold out trappers had to take whatever they could get. That was nothing compared with the losses of some of the buyers. This year they may recoup their fortunes somewhat. Local buyers of Hudson seal coats, so favored by women and their fashions, should realize that the Rice Lake rat is the best of the rat pelts that reach the market. They are preferred by local furriers, who are thus enabled to provide the trade with the best quality of garments into the manufacture of which rat pelts enter.

T. E. Curvin said he expected to sell to Barries, Limited, the pelts he bought at Hall's Landing yesterday. Wm. Lech and Sons have already bought 8,000 skins, many of them from Rice Lake.

NEW GRANDSTAND FOR EXHIBITION

PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION BOARD MET LAST EVENING.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board met in the Board of Trade Rooms last night. The attendance was representative.

A rate for the renting of the grounds was set, both on a percentage and a flat basis, that is expected to be satisfactory to all parties who may want to rent the grounds during the season.

The Transportation Committee reported, and were given power to act, and the Amusement Committee was given authority to select the Fair attractions.

New Grand Stand.

Plans and specifications both for a steel and a concrete grand stand are being prepared, and this matter will be fully discussed, and action taken, at the next meeting.

The Grounds Committee were empowered to deal with horsemen who wish to rent the grounds for training purposes during the summer.

The Board took definite action last night on horse racing, deciding that races be held only on special days and on Fair days, and that no Saturday afternoon matinees be held as some of the local horsemen favoured under the auspices of the Board.

PREDICTER OF GREATNESS OF NORTH PASSES

JACOB LEWIS ENGLEHART, CHAIRMAN OF T. AND N.O. BOARD, DESCRIBED IT AS "GREATER ONTARIO."

A PHILANTHROPIST

TORONTO, April 6. (Canadian Press.) — Jacob Lewis Englehart, a former chairman of the Temiskamin gand Northern Ontario Railway for 15 years, died to-day after an illness of several weeks duration.

Mr. Englehart was 74 years of age and had been actively engaged in his duties until ill health compelled him to retire a few months ago. He was well known as a financial expert and was noted for his philanthropic works.

The late Mr. Englehart was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1847, and entered commercial life there. He came to Ontario in 1870, entering the petroleum business and becoming in 1881 vice-president of the Imperial Oil Company. He became chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Railway in 1905, following his resignation of the then commission as a consequence of the provincial election.

Since that time he was himself known for his painstaking management of the undertaking and convincing faith in the future of the country that it traversed. North Ontario he described as "Greater Ontario."

Campbellford War Veterans Elected Officers for Year

PRESIDENT H. STEPHENS WAS RE-ELECTED--COMRADES OUT OF EMPLOYMENT—BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6. —A meeting of the Campbellford Great War Veterans Association was held in their rooms on Front street last evening. There was a large number present and President H. Stephens took the chair. Vice President Clarke and Secretary H. Anderson were also present. The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The Secretary-treasurer read the financial statement which showed that when all accounts were paid there would be a small balance in the treasury. The secretary then read the club correspondence, among which was a letter of thanks from Mrs. Hardy expressing deep gratitude for the assistance which the veterans gave her when she was getting her pension. The sad case of Pte. S J. Lambert, who served overseas with the 215th battalion and who is not a member of the club was discussed. Mr. Lambert has ben sick for fifteen weeks and has his family to support and rent to pay. He is having a very hard time to get along and the members decided to do all they could and took up a collection for his immediate relief. The president asked for the names of those out of employment and the following reported Comrades W. H. Hicks laborer, Charles Cowan, carpenter, G. Clarke, Spinner

Dance Committee

The report from the dance committee was received and accepted. A motion was passed that all outstanding bills be paid and that the question of re-organization be discussed. Comrade Philips said the club should be kept up because the boys had to have a place to meet. Other comrades were in favor of carrying on the club as a branch of the "Great War Veterans Association" and that it be conducted strictly according to rules Comrade Wilkinson said he thought the "Grand Army of Veterans" was all right but the club should continue to be a branch of the Great War Veterans Association. The visiting fee was reduced to 35 cents a month

Officers Elected

The re-election of officers then commenced.

The old officers were:—President H. Stephens, 1st Vice President—G. Clarke, 2nd Vice President.— G Salter, Secretary Treasurer—H. Anderson, Executive P. Peeling, J. Owens, C. Weston.

OBITUARY

I. H. DENIKE.

The following additional particulars have been received regarding the death of I. H. Denike, a former resident of Campbellford:

Seldom has the text, "In the midst of life we are in death" been more vividly illustrated in Amherstburg than in the sudden death on Wednesday forenoon, of I. H. Denike, druggist, and owing to his close business associations with the mass of the people the whole town was profoundly shocked and saddened. Since occupying, a few months ago, the beautiful new home he built on Laird Avenue, he had spent his mornings levelling the grounds, and it was while working in the yard on Wednesday forenoon that he was stricken with apoplexy, and was breathing his last when found a few moments afterwards lying near the back porch.

Dr. Teeter, who was on hand within a short time, pronounced death as instantaneous.

Mr. Denike came to Amherstburg eight years ago, and took over the McEvoy drug business from Geo. Wilkinson. During that time he participated in public and fraternal affairs, being a member of the Council for four years, a member of the Thistle Lodge, recently appointed the county's representative on the High School Board, and was local vice-president of the Liberal Association. He was a good worker, and whatever he undertook he fearlessly and aggressively followed up to the limit. He occupied an important place in the business life of the town which will be hard to fill.

Mr. Denike was a son of Rev. R. B. Denike, a former well-known Methodist minister, of Campbellford. After taking a course in the High School there he entered the Ontario Pharmacy College, Toronto, and graduating from there he went into the drug business with his brother-in-law, F. W. Wood, Campbellford. He was married to Miss Della May Eaton, of Campbellford, and she survives him, together with two children, Robert and Betty. Their second son Howard died at the age of three years. He is also survived by a brother Howard, of Dartford, and two sisters, Mrs. F. W. Wood, of Campbellford, and Mrs. Ed. Fennell, of Havelock

Though the stricken family are suffering with poignant grief, their sorrow is somewhat assuaged by the extreme kindness of all classes of citizens, who have called to extend their condolences.

Funeral services, which were under Masonic auspices, were held at the residence on Sunday afternoon, and burial took place in Rose Hill Cemetery.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CAMPBELLFORD WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY—SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6.—Yesterday afternoon the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Luther Denike, Second street. The weather was ideal and a large number of ladies were present.

Last year's report showed the society to be in a flourishing condition. Then followed the election of officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. W. E. Carnahan, the capable president of last year, was re-elected, and assisting her are the following energetic and faithful members:

1st Vice-President— Mrs. G. A. Kingston.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. William Stanbury.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. T. L. Diamond.

Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Luther Denike.

Treasurer—Mrs. C. W. Turner.

Strangers' Secretary—Mrs. L. F. Gould.

After the election the following excellent programme was rendered: Vocal duet by Mesdames Turner and Cowell, A reading enttiled, "The Man by the Side of the Road" by Mrs. A. Malcolm. Mrs. Robt. Moore then gave a very instructive and interesting address on the Life of Mary Jones, of Wales.

The Women's Missionary Society has been doing excellent work in the past and this year they hope to even surpass the efforts of previous years.

Golden Rule Lodge 126, A.F. & A.M.

One of hte most successful meetings in the history of Golden Rule Lodge No. 126, A.F. & A.M., took place last evening and marked the occasion for the year of the official visit of R. W. Bro. W. J. Potts, District Deputy Grand Master for Prince Edward District No. 13.

There was an unusual number of members and visitors present. After the regular business and the exemplifying of the firs tdegree, which was performed by W. Bro. C. H. Harris, W.M., with the assistance of a number of past masters, the members listened to an extremely fine programme.

After the usual toast to the King a selection was given by a trio of Bros. Caskey, Glover and Henson. Mr. William Clark of Meyersburg, then gave a most interesting account of masonry in the earlier days, particularly appertaining to Golden Rule Lodge. W. Bro. Clark is the oldest past master of Golden Rule Lodge at the present time in this jurisdiction. A toast to Grand Lodge was then proposed by R. W. Bro. Dr. O. C. Watson, P. D. D. G. M, which was responded to by D.D.G. M. R. W. Bro. Potts. A very interesting sketch was then given by W. Bro. F. C. Bonnycastle. A song by Bro. Humphries was followed by a toast to Canada, proposed by Bro. Longmore and replied to by W. Bro. Dr. E. J. Free. An address followed this, given by Bro. Rev. C. E. Clarke, which was most interesting and instructive. A selection then followed again from the trio, after which the W.M. Bro. C. H. Harris proposed a toast to the visiting members which was appropriately replied to.

Songs, a toast to the ladies and to the newly initiated, finished up the evening's programme.

Among the prominent out of town brothers who attended were the following: V. W. Brother McIntosh, Belleville; G. E. Sine and E. E. Ketcheson, Frankford; W. B. J. O. Herity, Belleville; W. B. D. D. Yeares, Sterling; Geo. Sprentall, and J. Galva, Trenton; J. H. Redick; G. B. Bedford and J. A. Donald, Sterling; T. T. Burkett, Niagara Falls; W. M. McLeod, Rednersville; D. A. Montgomery, Belleville; H. Sager, J. C. Byham, M. Anderson, Trenton; G. A. Sprentall, R. Gamble; B. Buchanan, T. Moone, J. Philips and A. Bloomfield, Warkworth.

There were twenty-two members from out of town and seventy-eight local members present.

Mission Band Concert.

The annual Mission Band concert was held in the school room of the Methodist church last evening, every available seat was occupied, many being forced to stand. The President, Miss Gay, and her assistants, are to be congratulated upon the success of the evening. Special mention must be made of the clever little pianist of the evening, Miss Cherrie Turner. The opening number was a welcome chorus, followed by O Canada, rendered in fine style by the Band.

Miss Roxina Wilson and Miss Cherrie Turner then favored the audience with an instrumental duet, which was much enjoyed. Little Miss Mary Smith sang very sweetly, "If I were a Sunbeam." A humorous reading, "The Farmer," by little Miss Mary McGregor, was well received and this was followed by another equally humorous "Mr. Horner in Grumble Corner."

A most pleasing feature was "Mother Goose Rhymes," rendered by a large number of boys and girls in costume. A solo, Back to the Harbor of Home Sweet Home" followed, and this was followed by a hoop drill by 14 girls, who showed careful training. Chorus entitled "Little

VANDERLIP IS DICTATOR NOW OF RED TRADE

A UNIQUE POSITION

PARIS, April 6. (Canadian Press.) Washington D. Vanderlip, the American, who last winter brought back concessions for a United States syndicate in Siberia, is now occupying an unique position in Russia, accordng to reports here. He is now said to be practically dictator of the commercial and economic policy of Russia, replacing Lenine in the direction of that division of the government. He is declared to be forcing the Soviets to denationalize all factories, mines and oil fields, and to institute liberty in commerce on the ground that it is Russia's only hope to gain the interests of foreign capitalists. Vanderlip is said to be living in Lenine's house.

GENERAL RUSH EARLY SPRING FARM WORK

CONDITION FALL WHEAT MORE OR LESS FAVOURABLE—FRUIT PROSPECTS ENCOURAGING.

HAY MORE PLENTIFUL

The following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture;—

Several representatives speak of plowing, seeding and a general rush of early spring work.

Reports from Essex, Elgin, Welland, Lambton, Huron, Grey, Simcoe and Brant, concerning the condition of fall wheat are all more or less favorable.

Clover also has wintered fairly, but not relatively so well as the wheat.

Lennox and Addington representative says that some farmers are sowing from twelve to fifteen pounds of sweet clover seed on old meadows that have partly run out and on new seeding partly winter-killed.

References to fruit prospects are of a most encouraging nature, very little winter injury being observed.

Grain is being marketed very slowly, owing to bad roads and unsatisfactory prices.

Hay is more plentiful than was counted on early in the season, and is selling in some localities as low as $16 a ton, although most of it is going from $20 to $25. The abundance of straw, ensilage, and roots has helped to carry over the hay.

Potatoes are very cheap. A Huron dealer claims to have lost money on a carload that he bought at fifty cents a bag.

Live stock are in good general condition. Huron reports a considerable number of cattle changing hands among farmers only

Grey mentions a farmer in the township of Derby having forty-four Shorthorn grade steers in exceptionally good condition that he is fitting for the export trade to be shipped in May. This representative also rmarks: "The cream can is more in evidence again, although only one local creamery is running"

Hogs everywhere are selling more slowly than formerly, and are bringing from $13 to $13.50 a cwt.

Simcoe states that at recent auctions a carload of horses brought prices ranging from $165 to $235 each, mature cows from $65 to $100 each, and hogs running from 120 to 130 lbs about $19.

Brant says that good Shorthorn grade cows at an all day sale brought only $95, while brood sows fetched round $90. Small pigs are unusually scarce on the market this spring, and run from $12 to $16 a pair, according to age.

Several speak of the local distribution of newly arrived old country farm laborers through the co-operation branch.

WEDDING BELLS

NORTHEY—McILMOYLE.

At the Methodist parsonage, Lakefield, on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 30th, a quiet wedding was solemnized, when Ethel May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. McIlmoyle, was united in marriage to Wellington R. D. Northey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Northey of Smith, Rev. S. F. Dixon officiating. The couple were unattended. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Northey receiving in white silk crepe de chine, followed by a wedding supper to about fifty guests. A large number of costly gifts were received by the young people, who will reside in Smith.

CROP OUTLOOK FOR THE YEAR IS EXCELLENT

EARLY SPRING BENEFIT

From present indications, the farmers of Peterborough County seem in a fair way to enjoy another season of bumper crops, according to those in a position to express an opinion. The early spring and good growing start augurs well for bountiful crops if the rest of the growing seasons keeps up the good record.

Getting Out Ploughs.

Ploughing is expected to begin in places in the county more favoured by sun and weather in a few days—in fact, there may be already some ploughing accomplished.

Despite the fact that the cold weather of a week ago was declared to by some persons of a rather pessimistic turn of mind to have destroyed everything in general, little damage, even to the fruit trees, has been observed as yet. The agrarians have been able to get farming operations started much earlier this year than last and far ahead of the disastrous year of 1919.

Fall Wheat Good.

In spite of the light snowfall last winter, providing a poor blanket for the fall wheat, it is looking very well, largely, it is said, because of the fact that there has been little thawing and freezing, which results in "heaving." The wheat has come through the winter months satisfactorily, and only an occasional bad field can be seen in the country. The poor field is certainly the exception in this part of Ontario.

The early spring, it is believed, will result in a good fruit crop, and already the buds are swelling to a considerable size.

Roads Improving.

The roads in the country have dried up wonderfully during the last couple of days and motor traffic will soon be fully resumed throughout the country.

The price of the farmer's hay on the market dropped on Friday last to $28, after maintaining the $30 level all winter.

The tepid weather has put the "kibosh" on the maple sap and the syrup on Saturday's market will be the last of the season, it is expected.

GERMANS PROTEST TO ALLIES AGAIN

OBJECT TO COLLECTING CUSTOMS AT MAYENCE WITHOUT OFFICIAL ORDER.

COBLENZ, April 6.— (Canadian Press.)—The German local authorities have delivered a protest to the Rhineland Commission, declaring that the French are already enforcing the new customs regulations in the Mayence Bridge Head, although the Commission has not yet officially authorized this.

Transport Workers Decide to Support Strike of Miners

WILL EXPLORE BAFFIN'S LAND

COPENHAGEN, April 6. — (Canadian Press). — The announcement has just been made here that Knud Rasmussen, the explorer, will head an expedition which will leave Denmark this year for the North American Arctic Archipelago to investigate the life and conditions of the Eskimos and to complete the survey of Baffins Land and adjacent territory.

The Denmark Government will contribute 100,000 kroner to the support of the expedition, which will leave Copenhagen on board the motor ship Solkongen, and will remain in the field about two years.

OWN SEA FOOD NOW POPULAR

INLAND NOT INCLUDED

OTTAWA, April 6.—(Canadian Press).—That Canadian sea food is becoming more popular throughout the Dominion is demonstrated by statistics which have been compiled during the past year by the Fisheries Branch, Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, based upon the movements of fresh and frozen fish by freight and express from Atlantic and Pacific stations to points in the interior. The information does not take into consideration the extensive supplies being placed on the Canadian market from inland fishing areas, nor does it include canned, cured or pickled fish. There is every indication, however, that the increase in the demand for fresh and frozen fish in the Canadian market applies to the commodity in other forms as well.

During the first six months of 1920 approximately 15,260,000 pounds of fish were transported from both coasts to interior markets. As a general rule, the first part of the year is more prosperous for those engaged in the industry than the latter half, chiefly because of the fact that the former period includes the Lenten season. In spite of this, however, shipments from both coasts increased to about 19,400,000 pounds during the latter six months. The increase of more than 4,000,000 when a falling off would have been quite understandable, is clearly indicative of the growing popularity of fish.

The quantity of fresh and frozen fish moved from both coasts during the year was about 34,660,000 pounds, about 19,830,000 pounds of which emanated from Atlantic stations.

Trade from Pacific fishing stations showed the greater development during the year. In the case of the Atlantic coast, the increase in movements in the latter half of the year as compared with the early half amounted to only 600,000 pounds, while from the Pacific coast the increase was nearly 3,500,000 pounds, or more than fifty per cent. of the previous six months' business.

The gains in the Atlantic business were very equally distributed, but with a marked extension of business west of Ontario.

The Pacific business progressed with the distance. The market in Ontario increased its demand for Pacific fish by nearly 100 per cent., while Quebec and the Maritime Provinces increased their demand in almost equal proportion. Undoubtedly the Pacific coast is developing in importance as a source of supply for the Canadian market.

MOVE TO SECURE IMMEDIATE ACTION BY "TRIPLE ALLIANCE" ON THE STRIKE SITUATION.

VOTE WAS UNANIMOUS

LONDON, April 6. — (Canadain Press.) — Decision to support the British miners in their stroke was reached by the Transport Workers Federation at a meeting held here this morning. The vote taken by the Transport Workers was unanimously ly favor of lending aid to the miners. It was decided to meet in conference immediately with delegates of the National Union of Railway men and the Miners Union of Railwaymen and the Miners' Union for the purupose of securing action on the strike situation by the "Triple Alliance."

The "Triple Alliance," the most powerful labor group in Britain, consists of the Miners, Transport Workers and Railwaymen.

Disorders in Scotland.

LONDON, April 6.— (Canadian Press.)—Disorders which began yesterday in the coal mining town of Cowdenbeath in Fifeshire, Scotland, become more serious at midnight last night, and in a series of melees with the police a number of strikers were injured, says a Central News despatch from Dunfermline. The message staes that several policemen were wounded. The rioters repeatedly broke through the police of police and succeeded in cutting the electric light wires, throwing the town into darkness. Police reinforcements are being rushed to the scene.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday's highest temperature was 79 degrees in the shade. This is a high figure for so early in the spring. The warm weather has brought out the snow drops, and other delicate spring flowers. It has also brought out the straw hat (for gentlemen), as one could have been seen this forenoon shielding the rays of the sun from the head of one of the male sex, as he walked up George street.—W. "Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

WENDESDAY, APRIL 6TH, 1921.

APATHY OVER THE REFERENDUM.

In connection with the referendum on April 18th there seems to be in Peterborough more than the usual amount of apathy. The lack of interest in the vote is shown by the fact that many people who were eligible to be put on the lists failed to take advantage of the opportunity offered them last week, and as a result, are deprived of a chance to express their opinion, while generally throughout the city, there is not that keen interest in the referendum that was in evidence on the last occasion when Ontario voted on a temperance issue. A similiar condition of affairs is reported from other sections of the Province; people are refusing to allow themselves to get excited over the referendum and the heated arguments of other campaigns are absent. What is to be gathered from the indifference many voters are displaying? The feeling that the vote is bound to go against the importation of liquor explains the apathy of some of the people, but fails to supply a reason for the general lack of interest. Voting day is less than two weeks away, and unless the campaign livens up in the last few days, the vote polled in Peterborough will not constitute a very high proportion of the names on the lists.

IMMIGRATION.

Mr. Toolns inquiries as to the activities of the Provincial Government's emigration officials in the British Isles are pertinent for, rightly or wrongly, the impression prevails that the Ontario representatives overseas have not been as careful as they might have been in their choice of new citizens for the Province. With the industrial conditions as they are at present, only farm labourers and men anxious to take up farms should be encouraged to come; and the questions of the representative from West Peterborough should throw some welcome light on this subject. The other day a young man arrived in Peterborough from the motherland with a notice to the local employment bureau to place him with a farmer, and it transpired that the newcomer was entirely without experience in farm work. How many more untrained men of this kind have been sent out to eventually augment the ranks of the unemployed in the cities? The Dominion Government has recognized the necessity of checking immigration for the present, and has placed in operation some rather drastic regulations. It would, therefore, be a very foolish policy on the part of the Provincial agents to continue to induce mechanics or industrial workers to come to Canada until the conditions are altered.

AN OPPORTUNITY LOST.

The committee in charge of the Drink-More-Milk Campaign showed poor judgment in asking Hon. Manning Doherty to milk a cow in front of the Parliament buildings as an official opening for their enterprise. Why ask a member of the Farmer Government, for milking—cows, of course—is second nature to them, and the feat was carried out so smoothly as to make the performance of very ordinary interest. But think of the excitement if Hartley Dewart or Howard Ferguson had attempted the demonstration. Thousands of people would have flocked to Queen's Park in the hope of seeing the Liberal leader attempting to make the cow sit down on the milking stool, or hearing the Conservative chieftain's remarks when the pail was kicked over. That would have been an advertisement for the D. M. M. that would have been worth while, for the moving picture companies would have regarded the performance as funnier than a Charlie Chaplin release, and for once patrons of the "movies" would have been provided with something interesting in the weekly news films. It was a golden opportunity that the more milk promoters threw away when they booked Manning Doherty.

Anyway, as one cynical citizen puts it, there is nothing novel in finding milking going on in Queen's Park. And, unfortunately, it has not always been as harmless as was yesterday's demonstration.

TIME TO CLEAN UP.

Leaving itself open to the charge of attempting to interfere with personal liberty, about which considerable talk is heard these days, The Examiner ventures to suggest to its readers that the coming of summerlike weather conditions makes it desirable that early attention be paid to cleaning up backyards and lanes. There should be no necessity of waiting until the Board of Trade or some other organization inaugurates a clean-up week, but every householder should constitute himself a committee of one to do what he can to improve not only the appearance of his own property, but to add to the attractiveness of the whole city. Peterborough enjoys a reputation for cleanliness, and in general, it is well earned. A walk around the city just now, however, reveals unsightly conditions around many premises that should not be allowed to continue now that the winter may be considered as safely left behind. Citizens who have not the time to attend to this important matter and are able to pay for the work being done are reminded that there are hundreds of unemployed men in the city at the present time who would welcome the opportunity of earning some money. "Eventually; why not now?" may be borrowed from the advertising columns to give point to this plea for a cleaner Peterborough.

"RULE OR RUIN."

"Rule or ruin" is the declared policy of the British Miners' Federation as announced by Secretary Frank Hodges. Practical destruction of the industry, already bent under the losses caused by former strikes, is offered to the nation as the alternative to a continuance of wage scales subsidized by the Government.

Meanwhile, the destruction of mines goes on—not by mob violence, but according to considered orders from the Miners' Federation. For the first time in its existence that body has ordered the abandonment of the pits to flooding.

The spirit of the strike is illustrated by an incident reported from Fifeshire. Strikers refused to permit the ponies to be brought up above ground and the animals were left to starve in their stalls.

The policy of blind destruction chosen by the British miners suggests a willing defiance of public opinion. It is more amazing than that. On what grounds of reason do men deliberately choose to destroy their own means of livelihood? What future benefit can possibly come from the wiping out of the places where they earn their bread?

Secretary Hodges admits that it is a terrible thing to destroy the mines. "But the decision has been arrived at," he says, "and must command characteristic loyalty until it is altered, if ever it is altered." Statements such as this offer no explanation nor excuse to the public for what is being done.

The background of the present strike makes it all the more distressing. The former strike in November caused the loss of Great Britain's valuable export market for coal. The country suffered a prolonged attack of industrial uncertainty and actual injury, which militated against reconstruction. Even the most moderate form of warfare in the coal industry at this time would be a disaster. But a warfare conducted by frightfulness, eating up not only production, but productive capacity, is a calamity without precedent or example.

Industrial convulsions in Great Britain command the most serious attention everywhere, because the whole world has felt the probable causes of these trials. The war period witnessed an increase not only in wages but in standards of living. Development by the world's workers of settled habits of better living is a stubborn stumbling-block in the path of any proposed reduction of wages. The question is one not so much of money as of mentality. Is Labor to look upon the readjustment which many hold to be inevitable as a test of its intelligence or as a challenge to its rights? The example of the British miners is not encourafing. This readiness for destructive industrial warfare, if widely demonstrated, would rock the very foundations of civilization.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Uncle Sam seems to be still inclined to yap a little about Yap.

Esmonde, alleged Sinn Fein envoy to Australia, has been arrested for making what is described as a seditious speech at Vancouver. Why arrest one man for one address when Lindsay Crawford and others are making similiar speeches every week?

Proportional representation has been referred to a committee of the House of Commons. It will be some time before it emerges from that convenient storage place.

If the Provincial Board of Works Department has a purchasing agent he must have been on his holidays when those trucks were bought.

"Government control" is not on trial on April 18th. The only issue is whether or not the importation of liquor shall cease.

The ball teams and the millionaires are both moving north—a pretty accurate indication that summer is not far away.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Too often voice culture seems to be one of the many things which are more likely to affect quantity than quality.

Another crisis has developed in the Old Country. Soon they'll need a filing system over there to keep track of them all.

The term "weatherman" is antiquated and misleading, for the sudden and frequent changes recently prove conclusively that a woman is running the weather.

And speaking of the weather, the slush which we had with us so recently has nothing on the exhibition of slush when two girl chums meet after an hour's separation.

No, Hortense, the real reason for making thrilling "movies" is to take your attention away from the nuisance in the row behind who persists in reading the sub-titles aloud.

An historian has come forward with the announcement that Mary, Queen of Scots, was a golfist. Probably she was one of the kind who went about telling of making a hole in one; hence the axe.

The best way to shut off some of these long-winded people would be to give them a course in writing newspaper headings. Nothing like having to cram umpteen thoughts into half a dozen words to make for concise thinking.

If the vote on April 18 is for a "dry" Ontario, lots of men this spring won't curse the little dandelions sprouting on their lawns.

In fact, anybody with a vacant lot well carpeted with dandelions would be able to rent the dandelion rights for more than enough to pay the taxes.

In such cases as the foregoing, it might be well to scrap the ancient "No Trespassing" sign and substitute one something like this: "Home-Brew Rights Fully Protected: Trespassers Will Be Prosecuted."

Owners of such lots, however, would be wise to refuse to accept payment in the products of the dandelion-pickers, for some of this home-made hootch has more kick than a Missouri mule afflicted with dyspepsia.

AGED 100, PORT HOPE LADY DEAD.

Miss Lydia Barham Was Oldest Citizen in Lake Front Town.

PORT HOPE, April 6.—Miss Lydia Barham, Port Hope's oldest resident, passed away Sunday at the home of Mrs. Barlow Cumberland. Deceased celebrated her one hundredth birthday on October 13th, 1920. She was born in London, England, and came to Canada in 1843, and shortly after to this town. Except for several trips across the Atlantic, she has lived here almost ever since. For many years Miss Barham was a noted private teacher, and was governess to such well-known families as the McCauley's, of Kingston; the Hon. Frank Cayley, Toronto; the Meredith's, Col. Williams, Hayward's and Boulton's, of Port Hope, and Mrs. Seymour, of Niagara Falls.

Up to a short time before her death Miss Barham was able to go out for long rides in a wheel chair, and except for being somewhat deaf, was in possession of all her faculties. She knitted a great deal, was very fond of reading, and what was most remarkable, took a particular delight in playing the piano for an hour at a time.

On the occasion of Miss Barham's hundredth anniversary, the following telegram was received from Hon. Adam Brown, of Hamilton:

"Adam Brown, ninety-five, sends congratulations to Miss Barham on her 100th birthday."

STARTING FORTH.

Chapter 20.

It had been decided that I would go to Atlantic City on Wednesday. Leonard would appear on the following Friday night, spend Saturday and Sunday, and we would return together either Sunday night or Monday morning.

On Tuesday I weakened. I was on the point of giving it all up. I hinted of my feeling to Leonard and he laughed at me. But behind the laugh I knew he was in earnest. He had planned this little trip for me and he would be greatly disappointed if I backed out at the last minute.

"You always feel a reaction just before going anywhere, Noreen," he told me. "Remember the time we took the big trip to California and how just the day before we both wondered if it wouldn't be just as good to stay at home after all? You'll be keen for it when you get there," he reasoned.

There was truth in his logic, I knew. But this trip was different. I felt that I was going to be very lonely.

"It's different going alone," I said after a minute, and then changed the conversation. "You have my ticket and the Pullman chair receipt?" I asked. "Better let me take them and put them in my purse now, or I'll be sure to go off withou them in the morning."

Leonard took from his pocket a small thin envelope with Pennsulvania Railroad in big type, plus some other small type and a picture of an engine printed across the face of it. Those little actualities did thrill. They diffused the essence of adventure.

I took it from him and fondled the envelope, slipping my fingers in to make sure the two tickets were there.

"You'll have a good time," Leonard said again as if aware of my emotions.

Wednesday morning was generous of green and blue sky. The tint of spring was in the air.

When the last thing was placed in the week-end case I had to call Leonard to help me close it.

"Pretty full," he said, straightening up, a trifle flushed in the face. "Guess you are planning to stay away a month," he laughed.

"Don't joke with me like that, Leonard—or I'll just dissolve in tears and not leave you at all," I said half in earnest.

"Guess I'll call a taxi," he suggested looking at his watch. "You won't have to hurry so, and that suitcase is a whopper to carry."

Before I knew it the taxi was chugging in front of the house, and Leonard was pacing up and down the hall yelling to me to hurry.

"We've only 25 minutes to make the train in, Noreen, aren't you ready?" he called nervously.

I was giving Emma a few last instructions.

"You'll take good care of Mr. Allen," I admonished her. "Give him plenty to eat for breakfast but don't give him eggs every morning. He gets tired of them. And Emma," I called back, as Leonard's voice rose to a mandatory height, "be sure to lock up well when you go out."

At the Pennsylvania station Leonard managed to slip through the gates and go down to the train with me. He saw me comfortably fixed in one of the luxurious Pullman chairs, slipped a big box of candy in my lap and was gone—his kiss still lingering on my trembling lips.

I thought of Leonard behind, hurrying to the office. Men had an unending job of it after all. There was nothing carefree about a married man's existence. He had to keep his shoulder to the wheel everlastingly.

The wheels of the now fast-moving train had settled down to a rhythmical grinding. I found myself saying over and over with them—

"Shouldn't leave him—shouldn't leave him—shouldn't leave him."

Tomorrow—Along the Board Walk.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In connection with the Daylight Saving Measure which is to be voted on to-day, I would respectfully urge every woman voter in the city to turn out and oppose the measure through the medium of the ballot box. If Daylight Saving was a Federal enactment and included the railways we would be prepared to submit to its inconveniences but not when it is adopted in widely scattered communities as it is at present. The chief advocates of daylight saving in Peterboro are members of various athletic organizations and as such are decidedly in the minority, they and their cause existed long before Day light Saving was ever thought of in Peterboro. There is no good reason why the business and domestic life of the City and the district surrounding should be thrown into chaos in order to satisfy the sporting fraternity of the city.

MRS. H. FERGUSON.

Peterborough, Ont., April 4, /21.

Editor Peterborough, Examiner,
City :

Dear Sir,—My attention has been called to an editorial in your issue of March 31st, re contributions to Vimy Memorial Church Fund. In the letter quoted, from the Central committee, they state that "no contributions have so far come from your city. As this statement, going unchallenged, might be misconstrued, I desire to state that a contribution was taken in St. Paul's church for that fund, and the amount contributed forwarded to the secretary, Brig. Gen. J. G. Ross, who acknowledged receipt of same. Kindly give this space and oblige,

Yours truly,
W. A. LOGAN,
Financial Secretary.

Editor of Examiner: I sincerely hope that all those who have a vote will use it to express their view on Daylight Saving to-day.

There is some misunderstanding in this matter. Some people are of the opinion that only the ratepayers can vote on it. Such is not the case. All those whose names are on the voters list are entitled to a vote on Daylight saving, while only the ratepayers can vote on the storm drain bylaw which is to be voted on the same day.

For my part I don't see any necessity for Daylight Saving. The railways are not going to have it. Standard time has stood the test for centuries, and why change it now? The workingmen who have to get to work at 7 a.m., do not want it. The street railway men do not want it. The tired mothers don't want it. It is only the office men who don't have to go to work until 8 or 9 a.m. One hour in the morning does not make much difference to them and they have the extra hour at night to joy ride. Those wh oare affected the worse by daylight saving are our growing boys and girls. Under daylight saving they lose one hour of their much needed sleep just in the two months when it is most needed. when all the school children are preparing for the mid-summer examinations and the studies are hard. Under Daylight Saving they cannot get to sleep at night until 10 or 11 o'clock as it is quite light until almost 10 p.m. and the streets are crowded with noisy children playing .These children have to arise one hour earlier in the morning to attend school and they lose one hour of their sleep. I hope all mothers will come out on Wednesday and vote against this Daylight Saving measure if only for their children's sake.

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper.

Your truly,
MRS. L. T. BUYERS.

The City's Account.

2. We received a letter from the manager of the Bank of Montreal saying that the Bank would loan money for the current expenses of the City at the rate of six per cent. per annum and would allow four per cent. on credit balances. We recommend that the Clerk write to the manager and draw his attention to the fact that last year when the City's account was transferred to that bank it was on the arrangement that the rate of interest would be 5½ per cent. and that the Bank be asked to continue to make the advances at that rate.

5. That the membership fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) in the Ontario Municipal Association be paid.

6. That the amount of debentures to be reissued to take up portions of debentures falling due be ascertained from the City Trust and By-laws for that purpose prepared.

7. That letters received from the Assessment Commissioner of Sault Ste. Marie regarding the collection of income taxes in the year in which they are assessed, be acknowledged and that he be informed that this Council endorses the idea and hopes that the Municipal Association will be able to work out a practical scheme for that purpose.

8. That the demands of the Board of Education, the Separate School Board, the Nicholls Hospital Board and the Public Library Board, be paid in monthly instalments as requested by them respectively.

13. That this Committee be authorized to sell the debentures that have been authorized and not sold, and those that may be authorized to be issued during the year.

Government Control OR Prohibition Which Does Ontario Prefer?

The issue in the coming Referendum is a clean-cut one between total prohibition and Government Control. To make an honest decision in favor of one or the other, every man and woman in the Province should consider the effects of both.

Look on This Picture

Today the Ontario Temperance Act is being openly defied, and crime and criminals are being bred wholesale. As long as there is a demand for liquor there will be a supply, and an attempt to enforce total prohibition is merely playing into the hands of the bootleggers, who would reap a richer harvest than before. Ten illicit stills would spring up in the place of every one existing at present, the drug habit would increase amazingly and the general result would be a lowering of the standard of morality throughout the Province, an ever-growing contempt for a law which is bound to be violated, and an increasing feeling of distrust and unrest. This is not romancing, it is a picture painted from life in such countries and communities as have already adopted—and regretted—so called total prohibition.

And on This

As an alternative the Citizen's Liberty League, which stands for moderation in all things, urges the people of Ontario to make possible the enactment of a sane, safe and practicable Temperance measure under which the Government would control the sale of every bottle of liquor.

Government control respects the sanctity of the home; it replaces the bootlegger, the illicit manufacturer and the drug peddler by a responsible body of men answerable to the people; it assumes that you are a respectable citizen until you prove yourself otherwise; it places no stigma on the law-abiding man or woman of decent habits. There will be no more liquor in the Country under Government Control than under Prohibition and what there is will be pure.

The bar will remain abolished under Government Control—which has proved its efficacy as the enemy of drunkenness and the champion of True Temperance.

Vote "NO" in the coming Referendum and sign the Ontario Temperance Memorial for Government Control.

PILES

ARE GENERALLY CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION

There are few, if any, complaints more common than hemorrhoids, or piles, as they are commonly called, and scarcely any which cause more trouble, annoyance and misery.

Ninety per cent. are troubled with them at some time or other, owing to allowing the bowels to become in a constipated condition.

Piles are classed under three headings, i.e., itching, bleeding and protruding, and the excruciating pains which accompany them cause misery wrich is beyond description.

Ointments and suppositories may help and relieve for a while, but to get rid of them, it is necessary to have a free, easy and natural motion of the bowels, at least once or twice a day, and by doing this the cause will be quickly removed.

Milburn's Lava-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the liver and bowels, thus removing the constipation and all of its allied troubles.

They contain no calomel or drastic mineral ingredients, being purely vegetable. They are small and easy to take and do not gripe, weaken or sicken.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Presbyterian Church News.

The concert given by the young people was a most enjoyable affair. Mr. F. S. Pollard made an ideal chairman. Splendid solos were rendered by Miss Bryce and Mrs. Barraclough. Two selections by Messrs. Harold Weir, William Drummond and Hugh Renwick, greatly pleased the audience. Mr. Barnes and Mrs. McEachern gave short addresses suitable to the occasion. Messrs. Stanley Taylor and Wm. Plunkett in their monologues, even excelled their usual happy way with an audience. Musical and vocal selections were well given by Jean and Annt Eggleton, R. A. McEachern, Marion Comrie and Archie McFarlane. The refreshments were abundant and tasty. The whole neighborhood joined in the affair, and made it a delightful evening. Mrs. Stanley Taylor, Miss Skinner and Miss Eleanor McFarlane must be mentioned and congratulated for the interest and enthusiasm they put into the evening.

The S.O.S. meeting Sunday evening was well attended. Mr. Fred Eason gave an address on Citizenship which was much apreciated.

Next Sunday a special programme of good things will be offered. Rev. Mr. Mathieson of Knox College, Toronto, will give an address. Mr. Mathieson will speak at all the services on Sunday as the minister is spending a few days in Ottawa.

In church attendance the rural people are supposed to excel their city brethren. In a survey it has been found that 100 families out of a total of 125 families are regular in their attendance at worship. An effort is being made to secure the attendance of the 25 families that have lapsed in their attendance. It is felt that such a group of non-church-goers in a country community have a far more deadening influence than such a group would have in city life. A very sympathetic movement is on foot in an effort to win the attendance of every family.

Methodist News.

The W. M. S. Easter Thankoffering amounted to $105.

The Young Peoples' meeting has been postponed on Friday evening on account of the Protestant rally meeting in the town hall.

Perhaps the most amusing feature of the programme was an exercise and chorus, conducted by Mr. Dowell, presented by sixteen boys dressed as negroes, and rendering "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" and "Johnny Smoker."

Rev. H. B. Kenny very acceptably acted as chairman, and after a very lengthy programme, the crowd dispersed after singing the National Anthem.

Poultry Association.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT AIRED IN THE COUNTY COURT.

The single case on the docket of the County Court spring non-jury sittings, that of O'Reilley vs. Gladstone Cartage Co., was concluded before Judge Huycke yesterday afternoon, and at four o'clock, after hearing counsel's argument for an hour, His Honour reserved judgment.

Automobile Case.

The plaintiff, Joseph O'Reilley, is a local farm implement dealer. On the day in question, October 10, he had been to see a farmer living west of Oshawa about purchasing a milking machine. Returning home that night with a single passenger, D. Kennedy, of Peterborough, he suffered a collision with a heavy truck of the Gladstone Cartage Co. of Toronto about 1 mile west of Bowmanville, due to the negligent driving of the truck, plaintiff alleged. He claimed damages of $400 for injuries to the car and personal injuries received himself and claimed costs of the action.

A Counter-claim.

The accident happened just west of the turn on the Kingston Road. Plaintiff was travelling in an easterly direction and the truck in a westerly and, alleged by O'Reilley, to be on the left side of the road. Defendants denied plaintiff's claim and entered a counter-claim of $300 for injury to the truck.

V. G. McElderry represented plaintiff and Augus C. Heighington of Toronto was counsel for defendants.

Plaintiff's Evidence.

Joseph O'Reilley said the accident happened about 8 or 9 o'clock at night. It was very foggy and he did not see the truck till it was upon him. He was travelling about 20 miles an hour, he said. The road was wide enough for three cars. He was on his right side, his right wheels, he estimated, being only four feet from the edge of the grass. The truck, he swore, only carried two small coal-oil lamps. On the front was an unlit Prest-O-Lite light. He was thrown forward in his seat when the impact occurred and received a sprained right wrist, which he was unable to use for some days. His car was smashed up to such an extent that he paid the West End Garage, Bowmanville, $91.50 and the Jackson Motor Co., Bowmanville, $130.80. Dr. Gallivan was paid $15 for attending his wrist, and during the two weeks his car was being repaired, he had to rent cars from Fontaine's and Gibbs & Halpin's, paying the former $15 the latter $24.

Plaintiff told Mr. Heighington it was such a cloudy night he could not see the truck, which was loaded with three tons of furniture and stood 16 feet high.

Chief Jarvis' Evidence.

Chief of Police R. Jarvis of Bowmanville called after plaintiff, said that he visited the scene of the accident that night and saw tracks showing that the car was on the wrong side of the road but was, when the smash occurred, evidently trying to cross to the right side.

No Headlight.

D. Kennedy testified that in his opinion the truck was not on the required side of the road, and G. Wilson of Bowmanville, who saw a truck similar to the description pass the West End Garage where he was standing, said it had only the two small coal-oil lamps burning, and he remarked then, that the car was not properly lighted.

The evidence of Frank Maitland and C. Wise of Bowmanville, who first came along after the accident, was as to the conditions of the two automobiles when they arrived.

The Defence.

The principal evidence of the defence was given by Frank Spademan, owner and manager of the company, and his brothers, George and Arthur, who were in charge of the truck.

The three Spademan brothers were on the truck at the time. They stated that they were on the crown of the road and testified that the lamp had been lit but went out. They stated that plaintiff could easily have avoided the accident by turning a foot to the right. He demanded the whole right side of the road. They stated they did their best to avoid the accident by turning out, but the rear of the car skidded.

Harold Boys and T. F. Irwin of Bowmanville, garagemen, who extricated plaintiff's car from the truck, testified as to their part in the affair.

Counsel's Argument.

In his argument Mr. McElderry contended there was nothing that plaintiff could have done to avoid the accident. The defendants were on the wrong side of the road from Chief Jarvis' unbiased evidence. The lights on the truck were insufficient. According to the Act, the lamps should be visible 200 feet away and the onus was on the defendants to prove that these could be seen at that distance.

O'Reilley did not have time to turn out. Mr. McElderry said.

Counsel for defendants claimed that plaintiff's lights did not meet the requirements of the Motor Vehicles Act and the boy driving the truck was blinded by the glare of the lights. He also maintained that O'Reilley should have turned our another foot and avoided the accident. The grass, he said, was perfectly level and there was no ditch. This, he said, amounted to negligence on the plaintiff's part. The coal-oil lamps were all that were required by law. Plaintiff, he submitted, should have seen the lights, and when he did see them, slowed down.

EIGHT HOUR DAY LEGISLATION IS DOOMED BY U.F.O.

J. A. FLETT FEARS FOR SAFETY OF MEASURE, BECAUSE OP FARMERS' STAND.

BROCKVILLE, April 6.—(Canadian Press).—The prediction that the eight hour day bill introduced in the Legisature is likely to be "Emasculated or passed on to some other quarters because of the objection of the farmers group and that its passage in its original form would embarrass the Drury government, was made here last night by J. A. Fleet, Hamilton, General Organizer of the American Federation of Labor, speaking to a labor meeting.

He scored what he termed "Contemptible subterfuge" of the Federal Government, in attempting to evade the responsibilities which it contracted in signing the labor clauses of the peace treaty and later passing them on to the Provincial governments for these governmnts to act upon and characterized the recent Thorold strike, as evidence of the introduction into Canada, of the so-called American Plan, which he claimed was aimed at the annihilation of trades organizations.

SPECIAL COUNTY RATE FOR ROADS IS INSUFFICIENT

THREE MILLS PROVIDE $26,661.50, BUT DEMAND FOR $30,000 TOWARD COST OF PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY IS EXPECTED.

The three mill rate levied by the good roads group of townships in Peterborough at the meeting here last week will yiled $26,661.50 for this year's operations in road work. The taxes from the separate townships have been computed as follows:

Asphodel	$ 3,072.94
Belmont and Methuen	1,042.13
Dummer	1,986.27
Douro	2,872.95
Ennismore	1,343.60
North Monaghan	2,293.02
Otonabee	6,811.32
Smith	5,179.20
Lakefield	862.80
Norwood	687.06
Havelock	510.21
	$26,661.50

Of this sum, $11,000 may be regarded as spent before a yard of gravel has been laid on the county roads, properly called. There is an item of $8,000 to be paid the Suburban Road Commission, $1,500 for the superintendent's salary and $1,500 for his incidental expenses. When these payments have been made there remains $15,000 for the construction and improvement of roads in the county system.

Even this credit fund may be wiped out if the county has to contribute to the payment of the provincial highway which is being built through North Monaghan to the city. Its estimated cost is $30,000 a mile on the basis of the minimum of the Hon. Mr. Bigg's forecast. The entire five miles would therefore cost $150,000. If the county has to pay 20 per cent. of that amount the assessment for the provincial highway will be $30,000.

Thus the total for county and provincial roads in Peterborough this year may be approximated at $56,000. To produce this sum not three, but nearly seven mills would have to be applied on the assessments of the good roads municipalities listed above. If North Monghan had to bear the entire 20 p.c. of the provincial highway, as some townships in Ontario have borne, its ratepayers would be shouldered with a real load. And some of them, it is said, have a first hand knowledge of how provincial highway costs mount up. Wages paid for the hauling of stones during the winter to be crushed for use on the new road were $6.50 for a team and $3.50 for laborers. The nine hour day was in force. While this work probably gave employment to some men who needed it during the winter, the bulk of the wages are said to have gone to some of the richest farmers in the township.

FIRE DESTROYED HOME IN APSLEY

CONTENTS SAVED THROUGH EFFORTS OF THE NEIGHBORS.

APSLEY, April 6.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCauley, on the Burlegh Road, was destroyed by fire on Saturday evening, caused by the overheating of the stove pipes. "Fairy Glen."

A delightful evening's entertainment, entitled "Fairy Glen," a spring fancy, was given in the Parish Room on Friday evening, 1st April, by the Girl Guides, under the direction of Mrs. Spence. There were three scenes: "Dawn," depicting a charming woodland scene, the curtain slowly rising to the accompaniment of the twitter of birds; the second, "Play Land"; and the third, "Fairy Glen." The fairies and butterflies costumes were very pretty, and were made by Mrs. Spence, who also painted the scenery. A tableau in the third scene, "The Queen of the Night," showing Stella Jones seated on the crescent moon up in the clouds, was most effective. The dances and drills were skilfully executed, and reflect credit on the girls and their instructress.

The programme was as follows:

Song—"Woodland Voices," Miss M. Spence.
Chorus—"Welcome Merry Springtime."
Dance of the March Winds.
Chorus—"You Can't Play in Our Yard."
Song—"Won't You Come Out and Play," Miss M. Spence.
Chorus—"Pickles Are We."
Dollies' Dancing Lesson—Cicely Spence.
Chorus—"The Way of the World."
"Won't You Come to My Tea Party," M. Spence.
Recitation—Cicely Spence.
"Three Jolly Chappies."
Recitation—Alma Jones.

DAYLIGHT SAVING NOT FOR RAILWAYS

So Far No Attempt This Year to Change the Time.

MONTREAL, April 6. — "Daylight-saving time has not been adopted and will not be adopted by the railways of Canada this year, so far as is known at present. A special Federal enactment would be necessary before railways could make this change in time, and such an enactment has not been asked for."

This statement was issued by the Railway Association of Canada to clear up a misunderstanding which arose out of an appeal issued by the railways to various municipalities, asking them, if they did adopt daylight-saving time, to make it effective all at one time.

The railways suggested that this should be May 1 and October 2, as these are the dates on which the railways make their usual spring and autumn timetable changes.

HISTORY LOCAL HEALTH ASSN.

(By Stewart Cameron.)

The Peterborough Health Association was organized in 1911 under a charter from the Provincial Government. It was primarily organized to offer help and assistance to those in our city who are suffering from tuberculous diseases and who are, in many instances, unable to get the assistance that such patients require.

In the second place, we hoped that some day we would be able to build a sanitorium where these patients could be treated and cared for on modern lines.

Educative Campaign.

The first year of our existence, we endeavoured to carry on an educative campaign by means of lectures given in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute. The first lecture of this course was given by Sir Adam Beck, and he was followed by several well-known health organizers.

Made-In-Peterborough.

In June, 1912, we gave a "Made-in-Peterborough" Fair in the Armouries. It is unnecessary for me to say anything about this exhibition as you are quite familiar, no doubt, with the big success which it was. Suffice it to say that from this exhibition, we secured sufficient funds to warrant us placing a full-time nurse in the field. This was done in the autumn of 1912. Shortly after this, we discovered that it was practically impossible to carry on satisfactorily the work of nursing tuberculous patients and have no service for the general diseases. The next step, therefore, in the efforts of the Health Association was to secure a nurse for the general work and place her at the service or the profession in Peterborough.

Two Nurses.

Up until the outbreak of the war in 1914, we were able to keep two nurses in the field, the one doing nothing but tuberculous work and the other attending to general medicine. With the outbreak of war, the general collapse which took place compelled us to withdraw one of our nurses, with the result that we were only able to keep the one nurse doing general medicine and such tuberculous work as she has been able to carry on.

As our work progressed, it was discovered that we had in the city quite a large number of children who were physically sub-normal and who were financially unable to get out to the country or to enjoy a holiday. We, therefore, decided in the spring of 1914 to institute what has been known as "The Summer Camp" in Jackson's Park. This was opened about July, 1914, and was continued until the middle of August, when the onset of war compelled us to close. That year we took care of thirty-five children.

Summer Camps.

"The Summer Camp" is operated after this fashion: We have a cook and a nurse as our staff. Every morning the nurse sets out about 8 o'clock with a motor bus and gathers up the children and takes them to Jackson's Park. Upon their arrival, they are given milk and biscuits, and under the guidance of the nurse, they are allowed to walk and play about the park. At mid-day they are given a wholesome meal; after which every child is expected to rest for one hour or more upon cots in a marque provided by the Association.

After their rest, they are again permitted to play about the park until half-past four o'clock, when another ration of milk and biscuits is served. Then the children are taken home under the supervision of the nurse in the motor bus.

This is the daily routine, and last year it was carried out for two months, and some seventy-five children were cared for.

FARMER'S SON EARNS $530 IN SHORT MONTH WITH HIS TRAPS; AUCTION SALE AT RICE LAKE

911 MUSKRAT PELTS BOUGHT BY T. E. CURRIN AT HALL'S LANDING—PRICE WAS $2—EARLY OPEN SEASONS HAVE DEPLETED THE MARSHES AT MOUTH OF THE OTONABEE.

FARMERS HAVE BENEFITTED

Rice Lake trappers, who work the marshes at the mouth of the Otonabee River, and as far north as Hale's Bridge, cashed their season's catch of musk rats by auction at Hall's Landing, on the South Monaghan shore, a mile west of Jubilee Point, yesterday afternoon. For 911 pelts they received $1822, paid by T. E Curvin, of Peterboro, who bid $2 against George Boucher's $1.97. To all practical extent the sale was by sealed bids, and after the business of counting and examining the skins was completed, and the money counted out, the trappers dispersed in all direction to their homes, some paddling across to Gore's Landing, others turning up toward Bewdley, and some were farmers who drove down to the designated meeting place with their pelts securely tied in gunny sacks to the rumble seats of their buggies.

The land and water conveyances departed lighter than they had had come, but not so light as the expansive feeling that warmed the trappers as they stowed the bills into their pockets, and that brightened their eyes with that "I'll tell the world" smile of satisfaction as they felt the comforting bulge where all men carry their money. Not that these trappers were unaccustomed to the sensation of being freighted with money. Two dollars looked comparatively small against last year's five, when, in the soaring market two hundred rats meant an even thousand dollars. Besides, the rats are regarded as a sort of manna to be had for the gathering in the brief period of a month every spring. It is like finding the money after all, however exacting or disappointing the work may be. A special gift of nature seems this annual harvest of fur, supplementing the earnings of men who are engaged in farming and various other ordinary occupations, more or less remunerative ,but lacking the lure of trapping. Men like Fred Harris, of the Rice Lake House, Gore's Landing, or the veteran Dan McAllister, also from the Landing, probably reacted indifferently to the receipt of their shares of the $1822, but young Thompson Huggins, son of a farmer of the same name living in South Monaghan, near Hales' Bridge, must certainly have tingled to his finger tips when T. E. Curvin handed him fifty-three ten dollar bills. Huggins junior harrassed the rats in the marsh along the river front of his father's farm until he had 265 of them skinned and stretched on willow gads. For hardly a month's work he received $530, and it is not every day that a mere youth bundles a Woodbine wad into his trousers' pocket. Unquestionably the spirit of elation rested a while at Hall's landing yesterday. Some of the men felt less than $100 of it; others experienced a $200 portion, but Thompson Huggins, Jr., was the happiest of the group.

Auction Preliminaries.

The preliminaries to the auction were just what might have been expected of such an informal proceeding in such a setting . The trappers were all set for business, but conversation consciously evaded the purpose of the meeting, passing desultorily from one current topic of interest, such as the weather, to another, which might be the prospects of prohibition, or the whereabout of the fishing inspector. That last mention of course, was by way of jest.

Finally some one suggested that they get down to business, and in a general movement, for which all had been waiting, each trapper dumped his bags of pelts upon the ground for the inspection of the buyers. The detail of counting and examining the hides concluded, the trappers sat back in a receptive mood, waiting for the buyers to begin. Dan McAllister was tacitly recognized as the representative of the trappers. To him T. E. Curvin handed a folded slip of Paper, on which he had written his bid. George Boucher handed his over a moment later and Mr. McAllister read the offers previously referred to. With the two dollar price, three cents a pelt higher than his competitor, Mr. Curvin's bid was accepted without further parley, except that one of the men jocularly remarked that both buyers had come in the same car.

Two automobiles up the road of course contradicted that suggestion and besides both men are well known as fur buyers. Mr. Curvin has secured the Hall's Landing rats for four years in succession, and from all accounts the local buyers have the confidence of the trappers.

Among the men assembled on the shore of the lake yesterday were Dan and Jack McAllister, Fred Harris and Tom and George Wallace of Gore's Landing, Jack Armour and George Smithson of Bensfort, and Thompson Huggins, father and son, who also live near Bensfort. Geo. Nurse, whose island combines the features of a farm and summer resort, hadn't the most rats, but he had a lot of good nature and geniality.

Trapping is Changing.

Mr. Justice Meredith's judgment at Cobourg last fall deciding the right of farmers to exclude other trapers from the marshes along their properties bordering the river, is already having a pronounced effect.

Thompson Huggins, Sr., told the Examiner that his son's big catch was a direct result of that High Court decision. "Last year my son got far less than a hundred rats," he said. "Anyone who wanted to, could trap on my land. My boy often found his traps empty or gone entirely. He had to get up around 3 o'clock in the morning in order to collect his rats. If he didn't he would have got mighty few. Now he can trap in peace. He's not bothered by outsiders and we don't go after the last rat. He is content with a good catch, and leaves enough to breed for next year. We don't intend to catch them all. We have the place to ourselves and we can make sure that there will be a good supply for next year. In that way we can let the number of rats increase instead of cleaning them out because prices are good."

Mr. Huggins stated that all the farmers had benefitted by the action before Mr. Justice Meredith. He himself had guaranteed to pay part of the costs. If all the farmers interested would contribute the average would be about five dollars, but some of them were holding out evidently declining to bear any part of the costs of the trial. Mr. Huggins said that he was paying ten dollars and regarded it as a highly profitable investment.

Where Traps are Numerous.

Dan McAllister remarked that it had been generally expected the government would have declared this a closed season for musk rats. "Last year we had an early season and this is still earlier," he said. The price has been high and all the conditions have been against the rats. There are mighty few left in the marshes around the mouth of the river. This whole district is being depleted so rapidly that the rats will be wiped out at the present rate. I suppose the trappers would have been satisfied with a closed season if the buyers and everyone had joined together.

There are about 200 acres of marshes around Jubilee Point and this year 22 trappers were working there. They had on an average from 150 to 250 traps out. Honestly the traps were so thick it's a wonder there is one rat left."

On the basis of 200 traps for each of the 22 trapers the total would have been 4400 according to Mr. McAllister's figures. The Rice Lake rats are a prime fur, he said, and command the highest price. For that reason he believes there should be some effort made to replenish the supply, to protect the rats for a season .

UNEMPLOYMENT IS VERY ACUTE IN TORONTO CITY.

Hundreds Toil Daily in Their Hunt and Hustle For Work — Distressing Scenes.

THEY RACE FOR JOBS.

There are unemployed who want work—who are hunting daily for it.

In the early afternoon they collect in hundreds, coming one or two at a time and lining up against the grey stone money marts in the financial section. Here they wait until the evening paper is on the street to make another try at fortune through its 'Help Wanted" columns.

Smart men, clean-collared and well-groomed, unemployed only a short time, and not quite grasping the difficulty of discovering another niche of usefulness in society; men not so smart, with linen collars turned in preparation for the interview which has now existed in prospect for many weeks, and others who begin to show the listlessness of mechanical and fruitless job-hunting, which has not quite bludgeoned them into numbness—all line up, side-by-side, waiting to join the melee around the newsboy when he appears.

Each is out of work. Each is seeking work. But each is impelled into the crowd by a different train of circumstances.

To Land of Promise.

One young Englishman came to this land of promise about three months ago, high in hopes and filled with the purpose of using about 150 pounds of potential working stuff to make a livelihood. But every day since his arrival he has taken part in this drama outside the newspaper office. Every day he has waited for the paper's appearance, joined in the scuffle to secure a copy, fumbled for the "Help Wanted" columns with eyes inexperienced to lay-outs of Canadian journals, then groped through the maze of a strange city to find that scores of more expert applicants have outstripped him. In England he had been employed at £3 10s per week. He landed in Canada with $40 in his pocket—it had not been explained before embarking that $250 was necessary, so friends helped him out. All this he told with the forced nonchalance which his race cannot sucessfully affect when they are deeply concerned. It could not conceal the heartbreaking keenness of disappointment and disillusion.

Wails for Himself—and Others.

Another in the lineup had been a contractor in the Old Country. His appearance suggested something of John Bull—short, robust, seeming to carry burdens lightly. This stood him in good steam, because he has been here seven months, landing from the Meyantic on September 4, and has not been able to obtain employment yet. His mother and sister are here, his wife and two children are in the Old Country. On landing he had five hundred dollars, which has shrunk considerably in the seven months of experience in the country of promise. He explained that in England there was a prevailing conviction that conditions were favorable to good, steady, profitable employment in Canada. As in the case of others questioned, he could not state definitely how this opinion had taken hold. "It is in the air," he said. Having been a contractor he is skilled in several lines of work, but has not been able to secure any employment.

Westerner Who Came East.

One man came from the West when depression deprived him of a responsible position which he had occupied. In Toronto three months, he has gone through the routine day after day faithfully waiting for the paper and a first chance at a position. He has not the advantage of being a stranger, because he has lived in Toronto before, but always someone gets to the vacancy before him. "I haden't succeeded in being the first there yet," he said, though he had secured more than once the first of the editions to come out and had made all possible speed on street cars and walking.

Hope is Not Eternal.

These are conditions among the unemployed who want work. They are so earnest in wanting it that they pursue it through months of discouraging failure. And in the pursuit they suffer a downward progression—from the white-collared, well-groomed man out of work only a short time to the man not so well groomed who now turns his collar in, and finally to the man whom adversity has all but bludgeoned into numbness. After that they do not wait or scuffle for the paper—there is a limit to hope. It is not eternal. —Toronto Globe.

Gives Tanlac Credit For Splendid Health

T. J. PARKER,
4246 Juneau Street, Seattle, Wash.

"I used to think all the Tanlac testimonials were exaggerated, but I have felt thankful a thousand times I ever believed in it strong enough to give the medicine a trial," said T. J. Parker, well-known salesman for Gately's Clothing Store, residing at 4246 Juneau St., Seattle, Wash.

"Several years ago I commenced having periodic spells of sickness and a few months ago I had an attack that I thought would finish me. When I did finally get up, I was scarcely able to go. I had no appetite and what little I forced myself to eat caused so much gas on my stomach I could hardly get my breath.

"At night I was often so bloated I couldn't breathe while lying down and just had to sit up and struggle for air. At times I had cramps so bad I could hardly endure it.

"My liver was sluggish and sometimes I got so dizzy I would nearly fall. I felt tired and miserable all the time, couldn't even sleep and for days at a time I wasn't able to go to work.

"Well, a friend of mine finally got me to try Tanlac, and it certainly has done a good job for me. My appetite is fine now and although I am eating just anything I want and as much as I please, my stomach never gives me the least trouble. I have picked up in weight, my strength has come back to me, and I am now enjoying the best of health.

"All the men at the store know Tanlac put me back on my feet, and I am glad to give this statement for what it may be worth to others."

A SMOKELESS AMERICA BY 1925 IS CRY OF WOMEN IN DRIVE AGAINST TOBACCO

NEW YORK, April 6.—The National Women's Christian Temperance Union has launched a drive against tobacco. The object is a smokeless United States by 1925.

"To disclose our campaign plans now would play into the hands of the liquor interests, who are seeking to discredit our prohibition enforcement fight by the blue law bugaboo,' said Mrs. Ella Boole, vice-president of the national organization, to-day to The Star. "But you may say we are opposed to all narcotics and tobacco is a narcotic."

Propaganda is being sent all over the country advising members to create public sentiment against girls and women selling tobacco, to petition colleges and clubs to abandon entertainment smokers, and to work for prohibition of smoking in markets, stores and public places.

At first the heavy artillery of the campaign will be unlimbered only on the cigaret. Juvenile addicts will receive premier attention. Signs labelled "important to boys" and quoting the New York penal laws forbidding minors to smoke, are being printed by thousands for public display in this state "But the siren of the Sumatra wrapper, as well as the cork tioped flapper," will be shelled in the final barrage preceding 'over the top' for a smokeless U.S.A. in 1925", it was said. —Toronto Star.

I SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Paris, Ont.—"For five years I suffered from pains caused by displacement of my organs and in my back. All of this time I was unfit for work and was taking different medicines that I thought were good. I saw the advertisement in the papers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it faithfully. I am now in perfect health and do all my own work. I recommend it to others, and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers as a testimonial." —Mrs. D. CASSADY, Box 461, Paris, Ont.

Why women will continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound!

For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ILL HEALTH FORCES ASTOR'S RESIGNATION

RETIRES FROM PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARYSHIP OF MINISTRY OF HEALTH.

LONDON, April 6. — (Canadian Press.) — The resignation of Viscount Astor as Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Health is officially announced. Viscount Astor has been in Egypt and is reported to be suffering from lung trouble.

Viscount Astor is a son of the late William Waldorf Astor. He succeeded his father on the latter's death in 1919 to the title of Viscount Astor of Hever Castle.

"I Feel as Tho' I Could Not Drag Thru the Day's Work" is the complaint of many a woman in the household, office or factory.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol.

Druggists sell it in tablets or liquid, or send Doctor Pierce, at Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package.

BARRIE, ONTARIO.—"I was suffering from a run-down system some time ago, was unfit to perform my daily duties, and was advised to try Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I tried it, took two bottles, and was restored to my natural strength. I cannot praise Doctor Pierce's medicines too highly, and will be willing to write to anyone sending a stamped envelope."—MRS. A. H. BISHOP, R. R. No. 1.

FLEEING FROM MURDER AND VIOLENCE, POLISH FAMILY HAVE REACHED CITY

Mr. and Mrs. R. Botnick and Children Find Happy Asylum With Son in Peterborough — A Graphic Story.

That they wouldn't go back to Poland if presented with a shipload of gold and would prefer to stay in Canada if obliged to subsist on dry bread, is the pronouncement of Mr. and Mrs. R. Botnick and family, who came to Peterborough last week from Poland. They didn't say this, because they can't speak a word of English, but their son, the George street merchant, translated it from a series of unintelligible sentences. "If you had seen him a week ago, you would have thought he was ninety years old," Mr. Botnick said of his father, who is a man of about sixty years of age, and, with his wife, a youngish-looking, black-haired woman, are bright, intelligent-eyed people, glad enough, if one may judge from their smiles, to have escaped to a free land from the bondage of their unhappy country.

As Bad As Ever.

From their account, things are just as bad as ever in that section of the globe. People go in fear and trembling, afraid to lift their eyes on the streets, and ready at any moment for death at the hands of a brutal soldiery. Mr. Botnick's brother-in-law, venturing forth with a pair of new boots, was despoiled by a passing soldier and compelled to return home bare-footed. A recent order confiscated the table and bed linen of a large section for the use of the military authorities. One man who dared to retain a small pillow for a sick baby was instantly shot dead.

Mr. Botnick's father, during a search of his house in which practically everything was carried off, had his hat snatched from his head with such violence that portions of his hair came with it. Half a loaf of bread costs 130 marks, and the money which Mr. Botnick, a merchant of Lemburg in Galicia, was saving to transport his own immediate family with his daughter and son-in-law across the ocean, was buried carefully in the ground, with the constant fear of discovery and robbery haunting its burial place.

Separated From Family.

During the war, Mr. Botnick, who was too old for military service, was separated from his wife and family for eight months, and one of his sons languished in a Russian prison for three long years.

Many Difficulties.

From Lemburg to Antwerp, the little party encountered many difficulties, and despaired at times, because of the harsh treatment accorded them, of ever reaching Canada. Their journey occupied only about three weeks altogether, their progress rendered easier than that of most emigrants by reason of Mr. Botnick's business experience and natural intelligence. They came over on the Canadian Pacific liner "Scandinavian," reaching Peterborough last week, and the son they had not seen for fourteen years.

It will probably take them some time to become accustomed to a land where murder and violence are not customary incidents of everyday life, and where men and even women may walk abroad after eight o'clock in the evening with perfect security and confidence. They conveyed through their interpreter the information that they already liked Canada very much, and a warm hand-clasp and bright smiles from these refugees from a down-trodden land conveyed the impression of a feeling of considerable good luck on their part when compared with the majority of their unhappy countrymen.

FLOW OF LIQUOR INTO PETERBORO NOT INCREASING.

That Supply From Montreal May Be Cut Off Soon—Not an Incentive to Buy Prodigally.

License Inspector J. Stewart has informed The Examiner that the humidity of neither Peterborough or district has not increased very much during the last few months, in spite of the fact that the liquor supply from Montreal may be cut off suddenly after the 18th of this month.

This statement he bases on his daily inspections of the books of the express companies that indicate the flow of liquor into the city. It would only be natural to suppose that the rush of spirits from the Montreal liquor houses would be quickened as the date for the referendum drew nigh, but Mr. Stewart declares that the last-minute panic to stock up the cellar is nowhere in evidence. He explains the situation in two reasons—the people are resting on their oars, figuratively speaking, satisfied with past efforts rewarded by a snug supply against the "dry" day, and the price is, as a rule, out of reach of the ordinary pocketbook. This latter reason for the lagging orders he believes the more probable. For financial reasons, the people are foregoing liquid refreshment, waiting for lower prices before the cut-off occurrs.

In towns like Havelock and Norwood, there is also no apparent heavy Montreal trade, for the same reasons as here, he believes. A long drought is anticipated in the brands ordered, however. Light wines and ales can be almost counted out. Whiskies, brandies and all the heavy weights up to rum comprise most of the shipments now. Any thinning down to be accomplished will be done by the owner himself. Concentrated products form all the demand now.

RHEIMS CITIZENS WANT TO REBUILD CITY THEMSELVES

OBJECT TO GERMAN LABOR BEING EMPLOYED.

PARIS, April 6. (Canadian Press.) —The former inhabitants of Rheims, 70,000 of whom have returned to the huins of that city, object to any plan of having German laborers rebuild the town and have announced that they want to do the work themselves.

M. Loucher, Minister of the Devastated Regions, who recently visited Rheims, was told by the Mayor of that place that it had suffered damages from the war to the extent of 74 million pounds.

WM. J. O'BRIEN GAVE ADDRESS

An interesting address was given at the Knights of Columbus meeting last evening by Mr. Wm. J. O'Brien of Toronto, formerly principal of St. Peter's School here. Mr. O'Brien spoke on the Catholic College Clubs movement. He outlined the work being attempted by the Federation of Catholic College Clubs of America, of which he is the first Vice President, and described the activities of Newman Hall, Toronto, the Canadian Unit of the Federation. This latter institution is the chapel, home and club of Catholic students in attendance at the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall ;has grown from a membership of 40 in 1913 to nearly 500 in the present year. Mr. O'Brien, in the course of his addres, urged the appointment of a standing Educational Committee to co-operate with the local Separate School authorities in the matter of founding scholarships in the schools and encouraging the idea of higher education amongst Catholics

HAD BAD COUGH FOR THREE YEARS

The constant hacking, racking, persistent cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it, is the kind that is dangerous.

The longer the cough sticks, the more serious menace it becomes to your health.

There is no remedy that will relieve coughs—coughs that won't let go—like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It has a healing and soothing action on the air passages, and at the same time acts as a disinfectant of the respiratory organs, destroying the germs that produce serious lung complications.

Mrs. John Miller, Minburn, Alta., writes:—"I had a very bad cough for three years. I went to several doctors and tried different cough medicines, but nothing seemed to help me. One day a friend told me about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using several bottles I became completely relieved. I always keep a bottle in the house, and also recommend it to others.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has been universally used for over 30 years, and so great has been its success, it is only natural that a great many imitations have been placed on the market. The genuine is put up in yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 35c. and 60c. a bottle; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto ,Ont.

BOARD MUST INCREASE ACCOMMODATION

between the School Boards of the municipalities concerned and their respective City Councils. There has been an illuminating example of the trouble I am alluding to in the City of Toronto, and I have no doubt that you are all aware of the trouble the School Board of London, Ontario, are being put to by the City Council there, by being forced into the position where they have to collect their own rates. This friction between the Urban School Boards and their respective Councils could, to a great extent, be eliminated if an adequate Government in conformity with other provinces of the Dominion, be given.

I desire herewith to submit to you the figures for Government grants for Rural Schools and Urban Schools in Ontario and also Government grants for Urban Schools for most of the other provinces, also New York State.

Ontario.

1—Grants to Rural Schools, 1920 ..... $987.580
2—Grants to Urban Schools, 1920 115,612

The average grant to Rural Schools is between $200.00 and $300.00 per teacher.

The average grant to Urban School is about $25.00 per teacher.

The following is an explanation of the distribution of the grants to Rural Schools:

(a) Where assessment is over $300.000 and the teacher is holding a second-class certificate, and employed at a salary of $1.000 per year, the Government grant is $200.00 per year.

(b) Where assessment is between $100,000 and $300,000 the grant is $30.00.

As you will notice, the grants increase as the assessment decreases. In poor schools the grants cover most of the cost of education. I am not mentioning these grants to the Rural Schools in any derogatory tone, as I do not consider them at all excessive, or, in fact, fully adequate, but with a desire to show that the Urban grant is altogether inadequate.

Manitoba.

Manitoba gives a grant of $150.00 per teacher to Urban Schools.

Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan gives $180.00 per teacher to Urban Schools and this grant is being increased for 1920.

Alberta.

Alberta gives $160.00 per teacher to Urban Schools.

New York State.

New York State pays two-thirds of all teachers' salaries, and I may say that very liberal grants are paid in all the northern and western States.

I may say further that more children are being taught in the Urban Schools in Ontario than in the rural schools, and, therefore, I feel sure that you will all unite with me in acknowledging that the grants to Urban Schools in Ontario are altogether inadequate; therefore, I respectfully beg to urge upon you the necessity of taking some action with regard to Urban Government grants by this Board.

A Resolution.

The following resolution was then moved by Mr. J. W. Worth, and seconded by Mr. G. O. Cameron:

Whereas, in our opinion grants to Urban School Boards per teacher are altogether inadequate, and whereas, the municipal taxes are proving to be too great a burden upon the Urban dwellers, be it, therefore, resolved that this Board respectfully request the Honourable the Minister of Education to favourably consider the upward revision of Urban Government grants at the very earliest opportunity.

The report of the School Inspector, Mr. I. M. Levan, who made a recent visit to Peterborough, was then submitted to the Board.

The efficient work of the teaching and managing staff of the Collegiate Institute was favorably mentioned, but the inadequate accomodation was strongly scored by the Inspector in several instances. Under the head of grading of accomodations, he said: "Two new class-rooms have been fitted up and a part of the Assembly Hall has been partitioned off for a typewriting-room.

"As the accomodations are inadequate for the present attendance, I have had to lower the grading of several items.

"The desks provided for Forms 5 and Cs are ordinary tables, with no provision for the storage of books.

Provision for teaching the courses: "In many respects very unsatisfactory. The attendance in several rooms is so congested that effective teaching is impossible. The classroom accomodation is now inadequate for the attendance, though the art-room and a part of the Assembly Hall have been sacrificed in an attempt to find room to seat the pupils. There is no gymnasium, so that the boys have to be taken to the Young Men's Christian Association for the classes in physical culture, where they are instructed by a teacher who is not qualified."

General remarks: "So far as the work of the teachers is concerned, this school is in a satisfactory condition. The organization is as good as is possible with the existing accomodation. The management is in capable hands, the staff is a strong, well-balanced and competent one, and there is an excellent spirit of co-operation between pupils and teachers.

"The effectiveness of the teaching, however, is seriously impaired by the congested attendance and the inadequate accomodation. Though two teachers have recently been added to the staff and two new classes organized, the enrollment in some classes is still so great as to interfere in a marked degree with the pupils' progress.

"The Board has so long turned a deaf ear to the Inspector's recommendations for added accomodation that, with the rapidly growing attendance, matters have now reached an acute stage where immediate action is necessary. Makeshift remedies are no longer possible. The addition of a wing to the present building is the only satisfactory solution of the difficulty. The need is immediate and present. If the Board desire that the grant should be continued, the accomodations required to provide for immediate needs must be provided."

Committee Reports.

The Property Committee was authorized to advertise for tenders for the fuel required for the ensuing year, with power to act.

"HUMAN HEARTS" AT THE GRAND.

When Hal Reid wrote "Human Hearts," he wrote a play that was destined to become one of the most successful productions in the history of the stage. His piece took popular fancy, with the result that it was played in almost every city and town on the continent, and also scored a big hit in Europe. Like Tennyson's brook, it seems destined to "go on for ever," being taken out regularly every year by many companies. However, it has been many a day since Peterborough theatre-goers have had an opportunity to be impressed by its powerful scenes and amused by its comedy situations.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the announcement of the Grand Opera House that this famous play has been revived by Mr. Frank Carpenter, and it will be presented at that amusement house on Monday 11th April.

An elaborate production is promised, and the fact that wee Dorothy Mackay will have the leading role is in itself sufficient to attract generous patronage. This little lady's remarkable work in "Cinderella" and "Babes in the Wood" have gained for her a large following, and many will want to see "Human Hearts," if for nothing else than to note her development since her last appearance here. The role is eminently well suited to her exceptional abilities, and her support is a very capable one, including several artistes who have pleased in previous productions.

WAY DOWN EAST.

With its wealth of scenic splendor, musical embellishment, and compelling love tale, D. W. Griffith's master elaboration of "Way Down East" is coming to the Grand Theatre, with a record for success surpassing, if posssible, that attained by "The Birth of a Nation" and "Broken Blossoms." Of the many factors that enter into the sweeping success of this picturisation, none is more elemental than the truly remarkable manner in which the producer has added to the appeal and compelling interest revolving around the love tale of Anna Moore and David Bartlett. With its attendant snow storm and ice gorge scenes of enthralling grandeur, the story of inspiring love is without donbt the potent charm. There is a matinee presentation on Friday and Saturday and an evening showing at 8.15.

The special musical programme furnished by an augmented orchestra is not the least interesting feature of this unusual presentation.

AT THE ALLEN.

Thrills, Mystery, Love and Anita Stewart in Novel Role In "Fighting Shepherdess"

Screen Version Of Famous Story By Caroline Lockhart Provides Exciting Action.

An almost lifelike story of how a simple, inconspicuous girl, through a strange series of incidents arose from the depths of a western roadhouse and obscure and uncertain parentage to a position of wealth and power in her community is the story of "The Fighting Shepherdess," from the famous book by Caroline Lockhart ,and the latest Anita Stewart production which will be seen at the Allen Theatre, commencing to-day.

The natural inclinations of the girl are against the surroundings in which she was placed and it so transpired that by chance a recluse sheep-herder with a sense of chivalry arrived at the tavern to champion her cause against the advances of an objectionable character. It was through the opportunity offered by this man that Kate, played by Anita Stewart, was able to leave the tavern and take up a life as a hermit girl.

An appealing romance enters the story shortly after Kate leaves the tavern. Hughie Disston played by Wallace MacDonald, visiting the ttle country becomes enamored of the simple shepherdess and an engagement is effected. Little does the youth realize that when he revisits the sheep country after his years in college he will find a difference in his little shepherd girl and a difference that causes him much pain but makes for a very interesting picture.

AT THE EMPIRE.

NEWPORT LIFE ON SCREEN.

Action in New Elsie Ferguson Picture Takes Place There.

Elsie Ferguson's latest photoplay, "Counterfeit," which is coming to the Empire Theatre for three days, commencing Thursday, is said to port ray faithfully life in the homes of the rich at Newport. The sets used were copied exactly from the interiors of the summer palaces at the ultra-fashionable resort. An especially elaborate and beautiful scene reproduces a ballroom with a fountain in the centre. "Extras" thoroughly in keeping with the surroundings were selected and some of the gowns and jewels worn are declared to be striking. Newport is the setting for the activities of the character played by Miss Ferguson —a Southern girl in the Secret Service seeking to capture a band of counterfeiters who have been traced to society's summer capital. A love story runs through the extiting incidents of the plot. The leading man is David Powell, and the picture was directed by George Fitzmaurice.

ASKED FOR "COLD TEA" AND BUSTER GOT IT

Buster Keaton and his company were on the train. The train halted at Santa Barbara, Cal., for a few moments and a litle old man boarded the car containing the Metro-Buster Keaton company .He carried a covered basket.

His manner wasn't exactly furtive and it wasn't bold, either. Approaching Buster, he winked and broadly asked:

"Like to buy some nice cold tea?"

He lifted the cover of his basket cautiously and permitted a glimpse of some brown bottles couched in some cracked ice.

"How much?" asked Buster.

"Five dollars a bottle," was the reply, accompanied by another wink.

Four bottles were purchased and the old man extracted a promise not to open the "iced tea" until after the train had pulled out of the station. He said he might get into trouble otherwise.

When the train had left Santa Barbara some miles behind, the bottles were opened and in them was found——

Yep, it was just iced tea that the star of the comedy, "One Week," had bought.

Announcement
To the Theatregoers of Peterborough

It affords me great pleasure to announce that starting Thursday night, April 14th, will be presented at the Grand Opera House, for a special limited engagement, the most interesting and unusual attraction ever offered in Peterborough.

It will amaze, delight and thrill you. It is not drama; it is not opera; it is neither tragedy, comedy nor pantomime; nor can it be called poetry or painting!

And yet, you will find it compact of all these arts — A NEW EIGHTH ART — combining the beauties of the others and welded into a perfect whole by one of the master magicians of the age.

Respectfully,
WILL. L. PHILLIPS,
Manager Grand Opera House,
Peterborough, Ont.

AT THE REGENT.

GEORGE WALSH PARTY NEAR WALL ST. BLAST

The William Fox company which produced "The Plunger," starring George Walsh, narrowly escaped being in the big explosion in Wall Street. It completed its work in the vicinity of Broad and Wall Streets only a short time before the explosion took place.

"The Plunger," which is to open an engagement at the Regent Theatre next Thursday, tells a story of frenzied finance in which Walsh assumes the part of "Take a Chance" Schuyler, a millionaire stock broker, whose activity was of a spectacular nature. Because of the Wall Street at mosphere of the picture views were filmed which include an excellent shot of the exact spot at which the explosion occurred. The cameraman and Thomas F. Fallon, the author, who assisted Dell Henderson in directing the production, had finished photography on September 16, and barely got their material away from the scene when the blast let go.

"The Plunger," said to be one of the liveliest and most pretentious productions depicting Wall Street activities eevr attempted, will remain at the Regent Theatre until Saturday.

ALGONQUIN PARK.

It is expected that the coming season will be a record one in Algonquin Park, and to avoid disappointment, early application should be made for reservation. The Highland Inn is now electric lighted throughout. Tennis, bowling, on the green, clock golf, hikes through the woods, boating, canoeing, camping, fishing and bathing are some of the attractions. Deer and beaver are more plentiful than for past years and they are seen daily. Two thousand feet above sea level, Algonquin Park is ideal for the amateur photographer. Log cabins away from civilization for those desiring quiet and rest. Write N. T. Clarke, Manager, Highland Inn, for booklet telling you all about it, or to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont. 1d-81

Among the new features offered by the fashionable Parisian dressmakers is a different odor for every frock. The scent is provided by sewing sachet into the seams of the gowns or by artfully hiding little bags of the most delicate odor in corsages and panniers.

Soup wil be eliminated from the menu at the White House, as announced by Mrs. Warren G. Harding She has joined a nation-wide housewives' movement to eliminate one article of diet from the dining table and give the money saved to the relief of the starving in China.

SPORT COMMENT

Bonnie Scotland is going to be well represented in Toronto boxing circles, with Eddie Gallagher looking after the featherweights and Billy Smith ready for the heavies

Frankie Schoell was to have boxed Benny Leonard at Buffalo last night, but the bout has been postponed. It means that Frankie will not be sent to slumberland for another week or two.

Ross Young is the most recent addition to the cripple list of the New York Giants. The star outfielder was limping around to-day with a bad knee, injured yesterday in a game at Memphis. Goldie Rapp is back in the game, however, and Dave Bancroft is about ready. The Giants open a series with Washington here to-day.

With five more days until the "open season" closes, the "hunting" for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight continues along large lines. Tex Rickard is still hearing by wire and mail from the four corners of fortunes that are waiting for him if he will dispose of the contracts with the two heavyweights. The latest comes from one J. L. Sexsmith, Spokane lumberman, who asks Rickard to let him know the best offer and he'll go it $50,000 better. He wants to get the fight for Northern Idaho. To each and all of them, and to all curious ones Rickard has a patented answer: "I'll tell you Saturday."

BASEBALL NOTES

The members of the Wm. Hamilton A. A. hockey team, champions of the City Hockey League, were honored by the Association last night, when each of the players was presented with a gold signet ring.

Walter Jackson is slated to manage the C. G. E. ball team in the City Baseball League.

Edgar LeBarr and Joe Murphy will represent Wm. Hamilton A. A. at the City baseball meeting on Friday night.

If the present brand of weather holds good for the remainder of the week, ball players will be given the opportunity of working out at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon.

De Laval will operate their factory department ball league again this summer. The feeling is growing that a team should be entered in the City Baseball League.

Supper at six o'clock will precede the business before the Mercantile League at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow night.

Baseball clubs have no need to fear a falling off in patronage by reason of the absence of Central Leaguers from the teams. Properly handled, a four-club city circuit with the factories well represented would be a big success. The fans want to see some of the youngsters.

G.W.V.A. FOOTBALL TEAM FOR SATURDAY

The following team will represent the G.W.V.A. in their game against the De Laval on Saturday next:—W. Jones, goal; N. Crowe and A. Walker full-backs; H. Burrows, T. E. Haycock and O. M. Hurele half-backs; S. Curtiss, T. E. Monks, (Capt.) Stanley Wallis, A. Rorrison and J. W. Charman forwards. Reserves—R. Willshaw, Charlie Wallis and Sidney Youngs. All members of the above teams are requested to continue the practice games every night this week.

SHAMROCKS WILL ATTEMPT TO LIFT FAMED MINTO CUP

MEET VANCOUVER NEXT MONTH IN CHAMPIONSHIP LACROSSE SERIES.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Vancouver lacrosse players, world champions, will defend the famous Minto Cup against the Shamrocks of Montreal, champions of the N. L. U., on the local grounds on May 11, 14 and 21. The total goals scored in the three matches will decide the championship. In the past inter-provincial series, only two matches have been played. Owing to the increasing costs in connection with professional lacrosse, it has been decided to extend the future series to three games. The coming series will be the first between the Eastern and Western champions since 1913, when Cornwall made a futile attempt to lift the cup.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, April 6. (Canadian Press.) — The Shorts again found it expedient to cover their contracts in the popular issues at the opening of to-day's stock market. Oils, steels and motors were the dominant factors. General Asphalt, Cal. Petroleum, Crucible and Republic Steels and Chandler Motors mounted 1 to 1 1-2 points in early dealings. Sears-Roebuck and Famous Players featured the stronger Specialties and Twin City Rapid Transit, ordinarily one of the most inactive stocks, made an initial gain of 4 3-4 points. Summatra Tobacco, yesterday's most reactionary stock, was subjected to renewed pressure with Royal Dutch. Rails were dull but firm, notably Grangers and Pacifics.

Irregular tendencies were shown by Metals, Petroleum and Atlantic Gulf, but the market otherwise held or increased its early gains. Californit Petroleum, common and preferred, Pan-American Petroleum, Studebaker, Chandler and Goodrich were in further demand at gains of one to two points. Vanadium and Sloss and Sheffield weer added to the stronger Steels and American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive and Chicago Pneumatic Tube represented the higher equipments. American Smeuting, common and preferred, rose one and three points respectively and American Woollen, International Paper, Industrial Alcohol and Endicott-Johnson featured the firm specialties.

Call money repeated yesterday's initial rate of 5 1-2 per cent.

Foreign Exchange was strong, especially British and Italian rates.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, April 6.— (Canadian Press.) — Sterling Exchange fidm; Demand 3.91 1-2; Cables, 3.92 1-4. Canadian Dollars, 10 1-2 per cent. discount.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Trading in steamship issues furnished most of the business on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Further declines were made in both common and preferred stock, with rallies at the close wiping out most of the loss sustained by common. The preferred issue was not so well taken care of and the noon close found it 3 1-2 points lower than the opening, and 4 1-2 under last nights final quotations. Common was at 23 3-4 under yesterday's close. Twin City, on sales of 260, sold up to 59 3-4, a jump of eight points over yesterday. Duluth was 1-2 higher at 20. Government loans were dull.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, April 6.—(Canadian Press).—Trading was very brisk just before th e close but the general tone of the market remained the same, viz, weak and unreliable. Abitibi weakened another quarter point and closed at 36 1-2 while Atlantic Sugar sagged a half to 29 3-4. Brazilian was weak, closing at 31, which represented a drop of 3-4 from its closing figure last night Brompton remained the same throughout the morning. Bell telephone did not appear until nearly the close when a quotation showed a drop of a point to 102. There were no sales. Canada steamships did not vary and closed at 22 1-2. Laurentide was fractionally weaker at 85 1-2 while National Breweries lost a point to 37. Spanish river was unchanged all morning at 72. Wayagamack was the weakest issue on the list losing two and a half points to 64 12, at which figure it closed for the morning.

TORONTO, April 6 — (Canadian Press.) — Cattle receipts 529; trade fair. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $10 to $11; butcher steers, choice $9 to $10; butcher heifers, choice, $9 to $10; butcher cows, choice, $7.50 to $8.50; medium, $5 to $7.50; calves, $10 to $12; lamb $12.50 to $14.25; hogs, $14.25.

CANADIAN WOOLLENS, LTD., PASSES COMMON DIVIDEND.

A circular to shareholders of Canadian Woollens, Limited, announces the passing of the quarterly dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on the common stock. Dividend on this stock began in September last, the company having been organized in 1919. According to the first annual report, made public in August of last year, after deducing preferred dividends, net earnings was $300,727, or over 17 per cent. on common stock. Outstanding stock is $1,750,000 each of common and preferred. Mills are located at Peterborough and Toronto.

In the circular to shareholders, it is stated: "In view of the marked period of readjustment through which all textile industries are passing, with a considerable falling off in business and drop in values, it is considered in the best interests that the company's reserves during this period should be carefully conserved. They have, therefore, deemed it wise to discontinue payment of the dividend on the common stock for the time being. The company is in an excellent position both financially and physically, and with the return to normal trade the company should be able to look forward to a bright future."

AT THE GRAND

"THE GIRL FROM NOWHERE."

The scenery of "The Girl From Nowhere," which will occupy the stage of the Grand on Tuesday, April 12th, has been painted by Mr. William Drake and assistants. Mr. Drake was the artist who painted the wonderful scenery for "Cinderella," and in this production he has surpassed all his previous efforts. The second act is especially fine, and takes us to Sunny California, with its quaint mission churches, its adobe houses and orange groves. Truly a riot of color and artistic design. You will like "The Girl From Nowhere." As one gentleman said, "It's a corking good show."

According to Mrs. Annette Abbott Adams, now Assistant Attorney General at Washington, women can compete equally with men in any field.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR

Peterborough may well be proud of its Male Voice Choir. The concert held last evening in the Grand Opera House was a triumphant exposition of splendid training and attention to detail on the part of every one of the fifty-odd members of this musical organization. The musical director and conductor, Mr. J. H. Renwick, has evolved a combination of voices in this choir with a fine repertoire and a wonderful co-operative spirit. Every eye is turned to the central figure, the conductor, who dominates the swelling voices with a masterly effect. A slight turn of the tiny baton and a firm volume of crescendo melody rolls out, while an almost imperceptible signal brings a softening of the finely blended voices. One outstanding feature is the clear enunciation. Every word is distinctly heard. The first number by the choir, "Comrades in Arms," was a well-chosen introduction, showing the fine team-work of the different units. The choruses, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and the minor cadences of the dainty little "Secrets' were effectively rendered, followed by an encore number of "Lead, Kindly Light." "Watchman! What of the Night?" brought out in solo effects the sweetly clear tenor voice of Mr. Edward Jones, and Mr. H. Rush's rich baritone. Enthusiastic applause was followed by a Southern Melody, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," its haunting melody rising above the hummed accompaniment of deep voices and the twanging undertone of simulated banjos. Dudley Buck's arrangement of "Then You'll Remember Me" and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," was a unique offering which required perfect technical skill and true tones to carry it through to the successful termination with both songs rendered in unison which was triumphantly achieved by the choir without the slightest noticeable slip. A very popular number, which brought forth repeated encores for its repetition, was the Spanish Students' Song. "Estudiantina," a bright, swinging chorus in rapid tempo, a highly sweet soprano obligato by Miss Elva McIntyre adding greatly to the effetciveness of the arrangement. The variety of the programme rendered by the choir was an added charm, each number, although entirely different to the one preceding, bringing out a different vocal element. The final offering, "The Martyrs of the Arena," with a semi-chorus composed of Messrs. H. F. McKeown, J. Anderson, A. Marshall, F. Walter, J. W. Ridyard, A. Barton, F. W. Gibbons and W. F. Skitch, was exceptionally well rendered.

Miss Pearl Newton captivated her audience from the beginning. She has a versatile method, and her impersonations covered a wide ground. "Our Leap Year Privileges" was a "Sis Mirandy" monologue, giving the fair sex some lessons in the capturing of a husband. The men who choose their partners in life as they would a china dish, by the shape and the paint, and the women who have in mind an iron pot, "warranted never to go bust, and to stand any amount of wear and tear," came in for a deal of "Sis'" comment and a burst of loud applause brought "A Small Boy's Description of a Cow." Miss Newton achieved a triumph, however, when she donned specs, a shawl and a wee bonnet, and proceeded to "Cheering the Invalid," in a high, melancholy voice, followed by a demonstration of a crying baby dressed in a big white cap. "The Son of Jupiter" was a realistic recital of a blue-grass country race which took a tremendous power of concenration on the part of the performer, and elicited repeated applause, followed by "The Empire Flag," a patriotic number splendidly rendered.

Mr. Boris Hambourg is an evident favorite. His numbers received repeated encores. Absolutely without the affectations which mar the performances of some of our major musicians, and a master of his instrument to such an extent that he seems to become wrapped up in his beautiful renditions of difficult music, he has a legate style of playing of playing that seems to favor long, sweeping bow effects and a broad tone phrasing, with a peculiar holding quality which kept the close attention of his audience right to the last faint, pizzicate note. There is a singing, dreamy quality to his music which seemed to penetrate even the lighter, staccato numbers, and a soft, singing tone was the most noticeable element of his fascinating programme. His first offering, "The Lake," was followed by a little melodic symphony with muted strings, an "Aria" and a Victor Herbert "Serenade," and a Chopin "Nocturne," called forth repeated applause, and his final number was a Spanish Dance. Suggestions of dainty, twinkling feet, gay, whirling skirts and tinkling tambourines followed the magic bow, and an absolutely silent, listening house waited for the last faint, far-away notes.

Much credit is due Miss Ida Sanderson, for her sympathetic accompaniments of the different numbers, and the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, with its efficient conductor, Mr. J. H. Renwick, is to be congratulated on such a splendid musical offering, which called forth a crowded house of enthusiastic music-lovers.

COMRADES TEAM FOR SATURDAY

The Comrades team against the C. G. E. on Saturday afternoon will be G. T. Poste goal; R. Jolliffe and F. Mallinson backs; A. Jackson H. Cowle and J. Mulvihill, half-backs, W. Warman, J. P. Roberts, E. G. Hardie, Wm. McDougall and C. Hopkins forwards. Reserves —T Bolan and M. Dunkley.

GERMANS AFTER SPANISH MARKET.

LONDON, April 6.—(Associated Press.)—George White, an American, writing from Barcelona to the Daily Mail ,says the Germans are making "a drive to secure the Spanish market in practically every line of industry" and says they are quoting prices irrespective of value in order to capture the market.

The writer gives several instances of the prices quoted by the Germans as compared with those quoted by firms of other countries. He cites the case where a big American firm offered a cement mill f.o.b. New York for $110,000; the Germans bid on practically the same machine f.o.b. Hamburg for $20,000 less.

The Germans, he says, are quoting cement delivered in any port in Spain at 100 pesetas which is about 20 pesetas below the standard price Spanish manufacturers ask. Tramway tickets they are offering at less than half the sum any of the local people can print them for and they guarantee delivery in four weeks as against three months.

The writer concludes that if the Germans continue their present programme they are "going to drive many of the Spanish manufacturers to the wall."

The financial success of the Motor Show makes it possible for the Peterborough Health Association to operate to the extent it does. The money you spend at the Motor Show is going to be used for the betterment of the health of some little boy or girl during the summer and for other equally worthy causes.

WILL HOLD CADET CAMPS THIS YEAR

PARLIAMENT VOTES THE NECESSARY CASH—ALSO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CADET INSTRUCTORS.

There is to be cadet camps in M. D. No. 3 this coming summer. This has been decided upon and the money has been appropriated by parliament to cover the expense.

Lt.-Col. G. H. Gillespie, officer commanding cadet services for this military district, is now engaged in working out with the headquarters staff the best scheme to put into operation. It is hardly likely that one big camp will be undertaken, but the district will be divided up into four or perhaps five sections with a local camp in each, following the experiment of last summer at Ottawa and Peterborough. This would give a camp at Kingston, Lindsay, Ottawa and possibly Brockville and Cobourg. The camps will open on June 30th and last from six to eight days, although the date has not yet been definitely fixed.

Last year it was stated that the price of potatoes prevented camps being held, although the matter was really delayed too long, and when the decision was reached the boys had all left their schools and could not be got together again. But in addition to the high cost of potatoes, all supplies were at the peak and there was no disposition on the part of the Government to incur heavy expense. This year an appropriation was provided for the cadet camp and as groceries and other supplies can be obtained at greatly reduced prices, the expenditure will not be so great.

A summer training school for cadet instructors will be opened with the camp and will likely be carried on for some weeks after the camps break up. Certificates of qualification as N.C.O.'s and subalterns will be issued by the school.

Brig.-Gen. W. B. King, C.M.G., G.O.C., M.D. No. 3, is giving close study to the efficient training of all units in his district, and he has valuable assistants in Lt.-Col. Hodgins, G.S.O., and Lt.-Col. Gillespie. —The British Whig, Kingston.

FORD SEDANS AND COUPES FAVORITES

THESE REFINED, POPULAR PRICED CARS IN STRONG DEMAND.

From a standpoint of sales and deliveries last week was a tremendous week with the Duffus Motor Sales in regard to Ford Cars and Tractors, the number having run into the dozens. This week has also started off with a "Bang," a half dozen sold yesterday.

Mr. Duffus was in Toronto last week and while talking with a dealer who sells a popular priced large car, he stated that he had lost nine of his best prospects last week by seven of them buying Ford Sedans and the other two buying Ford Coupes which would indicate that the Ford Car with its new equipment and attractive price is more popular than ever. 1d-1w

THE REAL MAN.

I take no thought of my neighbor's birth, or the way he makes his prayer,
I grant him a white man's place on earth, if his game is on the square.

All rank but this is a worn-out lie, for each CLEAN man is as good as I.

IN MEMORIAM.
MORTON— In loving memory of our dear mother, Aann Morton, of Cavan, who died April 6, 1919:

A loving mother kind
She was to us in heart and mind,
For all of us she did her best.
And now in heaven she is at rest.

Two years have passed, our heart still sore.
As time goes on we miss her more,
Her loving smile, her gentle ways,
No one on earth can take her place.

We think of her in silence
And her name we oft recall,
But there is nothing left to answer
—Daughter, Mrs. F. J. Redpath, 144 Murray street.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of wee Sandy, the dearly beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. William Herd, who died at the Isolation Hospital, 6th April, 1916, aged 7 years:
He is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking.
Thoughts of him are always near.

Fare thee well, our darling treasure.
Dear wee Sandy, fare thee well;
God who lent thee, hath received thee,
To thy home on high to dwell.

Dear is the spot where wee Sandy is laid,
Sweet is his memory which never will fade;
Fond is the hope that again we will meet,
Kneeling together at Jesus' feet.

STYLES MADE TO EXPLOIT WOMEN.

Such is Charge of Chief of Police.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 6.—To-day's styles are made to exploit women and "get the money," according to Chief of Police Francis Walker.

Here's how: Filmy, transparent waists require expensive silken lingerie. Short skirts require expensive silk stockings. Low necks require expensive summer furs. Short sleeves require expensive long gloves.

The whole makeup requires equally expensive and "showy" millinery and bootery.

Thus the styles are based on extravagance—extravagance on vanity, etc., etc., etc.,

DELEGATES OF MINERS REFUSE TO ORDER THE PUMPMEN BACK TO WORK AT AFFECTED MINES.

NAVY IN READINESS

LONDON, April 7. — (Canadian Press.) — The National Union of Railwaymen to-day unanimously decided to support the coal miners in their strike.

LONDON, April 7th —(Canadian Press).—Leaders of the Miners Unions, who conferred with Prime Minister Lloyd George this morning, refused to order the pumpmen and enginers in the mines affected by the coal strike to resume work, pending negotiations with the mine owners. As result of this refusal, the miners and their employers will not meet to-day.

A complete breakup of the conference between representatives of the miners, owners and government with a view to settling the coal strike was announced in the House of Commons by Premier Lloyd George this afternoon.

SUCH IS LONDON PAPER'S INTERPRETATION OF U.S. VIEW.

This newspaper asks the people of the United States if they are "convinced that they would have observed similar self-denial in like circumstances."

BANDITS' HAUL WAS OVER $500,000

CHICAGO, Apr. 7. — (Canadian Press.) — An abandoned mail sack found by the police early to-day and believed to be the registered pouch stolen by bandits from a mail truck late yesterday, contained wrappers for money which the police said show that from $500,000 to $750,000 was obtained by the robbers. It was reported last night that the loss would not exceed $50,000.

LIQUOR STOCK MUST GO SOON

QUEBEC REFUSES DELAY TO DEALERS TO DISPOSE OF THEIR STOCKS.

EFFECTIVE MAY 1ST

QUEBEC, April 7. — (Canadian Press.) — The Provincial government will grant no delay to the liquor dealers of the province in disposing of their stocks, Premier Taschereau stated yesterday. All the liquor stocks must be disposed of or handed over to the control of the commission by May 1st, when the new law becomes effective.

Progress is reported by the officials engaged to look after the collecting of signatures for the repeal of the Scott Act in Quebec. Over ten thousand names have been obtained, all of which are those of qualified ratepayers. The Quebec Liquor Commission has given instruction to keep on the golden signatures until the lists are closed and forwarded to the Federal authorities.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Early dealings in the stock market to-day showed no definite tendencies although advances outnumbered declines. The bullish sentiment was somewhat dampened by the latest developments in the British Coal Strike situation and the decision of the United States Railroad Labor against temporary reduction of wages Gains of one to two points in Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt and U. S. Rubber were of outstanding features. Rails were inclined to ease and recent pressure against European oils was resumed. Exchange of London reacted slightly from yesterday's highest quotations.

After moderate overnight accumulation of buying orders had been satisfied, prices dropped back. Cables dealing with the latest aspects of the British coal strike provoked short selling. Motors, Steels, Equipments and Leathers were the first to yield, falling 1 to 1½ points under yesterday's final quotations, and Mexican Petroleum lost the greater part of its early rise. Twin City Rapid Transit, yesterday's strongest feature, re-acted 2 3-4 points. Among the few stocks to show support were Coppers and Western Union, the latter advancing two points. Call money opened at 5½ per cent. on further liberal offerings.

WHEAT CROP 91 PER CENT. OF NORMAL.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—A forecast of the winter wheat crop in the United States of about 621,000,000 bushels was made to-day by the Department of Agriculture, basing its estimate on the condition of the crop on April 1st, which was 91 per cent. of normal.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange heavy; demand, 3.91 3-4; cables, 3.92½. Canadian dollars, 10 9-16 per cent discount.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, April 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Declines were scored by a number of stocks on the Toronto Exchange this morning. Twin City, after a spectacular advance yesterday, weakened during the morning and dropped abruptly to 55 1-2, closing at noon with a net loss of 4 points. Canadian Steamship common held steady, but preferred, after a strong opening at 55, rapidly sold off to 52 1-4 with the last quotation at 52 1-2. Paper stocks were among the weak issues. Abitibi losing a 1-2 at 35; Brompton in the unlisted department, sold off from 32 to 29 3-4. In the War Loan sales of $100,000 in the 1937 issues were made at 99 1-2.

THE CITY MANAGER PLAN; WOULD IT BE BENEFICIAL HERE?

In view of the discussion which has taken place here at different times past as to changes in the present system of city government in Peterborough, The Examiner, beginning tomorrow, will publish a series of articles on the City Manager plan, written for The Montreal Star by H. S. Gilbertson.

At one time the matter of government by commission was brought up in the City Council by Ald. John Edgar and since then many suggestions have been made unofficially as to possible improvements in the present unwieldy and inefficient system. The City Manager plan has been tried by 150 cities with excellent results.

BRIDGE NEARS FINAL STAGES

POURING OF RAILS EXPECTED TO BE FINISHED WITHIN A MONTH, INSPECTOR SAYS.

EMPLOYING FORTY MEN

The pouring of the cement hand rail on the Hunter street bridge is progressing very satisfactorily and the terra cotta rail across the main arch is being put up as expeditiously as a large gang of men can accomplish it, according to Fred Christie, Engineer Frank Barber's inspector, on the bridge.

Citizens cannot complain of the dullness of the structure if the portion of terra cotta already exposed, is a sample of the whole. Green and white form the basic colour scheme.

About forty men are now employed on the bridge, practically all of them working on the hand rail Inspector Christie said yesterday that it would be a month before the entire railings were completed.

WARSHIPS ARE OBSOLETE NOW, SAYS AIR MAN

SIR PERCY SCOTT PROPOSES MONEY BE SPENT ON RESEARCH AND NEWER WEAPONS.

LAUDS AIR WARFARE

LONDON, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)— Admiral Sir Percy Scott, commander of the aerial defense of London in the world war, has no use for battleships. He believes the British navy would be better off if it spent the £40,000,000 intended for battleship construction in research and providing newer weapons of warfare.

"The late war," Sir Percy said, "showed that the only safe policy as regards battleships was to stow them away as far as possible from the emenmy. If we go to war with France I do no thing our battleships will be safe unless we construct a harbor to contain them in Iceland.

"Personally," continued Sir Percy, in a newspaper interview, "I am fully in accord with Rear Admiral Adair when he said that we ought not to spend one penny on battleships, but whatever money we may have to spare should be laid out on research work. Rear-Admiral Adair told the House of Commons that if we built new battleships we should also have to provide new bases at great cost at Halifax, Bermuda and Jamaica, on the West Coast of Canada, in New Guinea, and at Singapore. I say this nation, with the income tax at six shillings in the pound, canot afford this huge expenditure, when nobody can tell me what we are going to do with these battleships when we get them.

"In the first few hours of the next war Plymouth, Dover and even London, may be reduced to ashes unless we are prepared with an adequate counter to fleets of airplanes that would attack us. It seems to me, therefore, nothing but plain common sense that we should spend, what only we can spare, not on battleships that are 'no d——d good,' as the midshipman said, but in providing the very best we can buy of the newer weapons that will count in the war of the future."

Speaking of the latest developments in death dealing instruments, Sir Percy explained the principles of the new Davis gun, which fires from both ends and with he said all American airplanes were to be armed. It would be possible for an airplane to carry a 12-inch gun and fire at battelships from 10,000 feet up. Battleships could have no protection against such weapons.

Speaking of the progress that had been made in planning aerial attacks on warships, Sir Percy Scott said, in an interview in the Evening Standard "It is no secret now—every man in the service knows it—that had the war lasted another fortnight, we would probably, by means of an aerial attack, have sunk all the German ships in the Kiel Canal."

STILL AFTER A FISH HATCHERY FOR PETERBORO

In concert with the assured development of the tourist traffic on the Trent Waterway for this season, the Board of Trade forwarded an application to the Game and Fisheries Department of the Provincial Government to re-stock the Kawartha Lakes with fish fry and fingerling. The following reply has been received from the Deputy Minister, Mr. D. McDonald: "I beg to acknowledge receipt of your application for bass fry for the Kawartha Lakes, endorsed by Mr. Thos. Tooms, M.P.P.

"This application will receive due consideration when the time arrives for the distribution of fry."

Mr. J. I. Duffus, President of the Board of Trade, states that a special committee will be appointed from the Board to make a specific recommendation for the establishment of a fish hatchery in the lake district, and the co-operation of other interested bodies will be requested to create joint action.

Charles Ray radiates a charm and humor on the screen all his own. This was never better illustrated than in "Paris Green," his latest release, which will be the attraction at the Allen Theatre on Friday and Saturday. The star has the role of a doughboy who spends an hour in Paris, then returns to overalls in Jersey.

Daylight Saving and Storm Drain By-laws Repudiated at Polls

$40,000 STORM DRAIN MEASURE DEFEATED BY 265 AND DAYLIGHT SAVING BY 187.

VERY LIGHT VOTE

The two by-laws submitted to the electors yesterday were both defeated by an overwhelming majority. The apathy over the result was indicated in the small number of voters who exercised their franchise. Only a fraction of the total number of voters turned out at the polls. There was not one poll with a majority for the storm drain by-law. This by-law was rejected by a majority of 265 votes, and the daylight saving suffered nearly as bad a fate, only three polls showing a majority for it. These were division Nos. 6, 7, 8 and 9, the Council Chambers, where a majority of 20 was recorded; No. 12, Mrs. M. Lyle's, Pearl avenue, where there was a majority of 2, and in the North Ward, No. 19, J. T. Braund's, gave a majority of 3 for this by-law.

Doubled Up.

The polling sub-divisions were doubled up yesterday, only 13 polls being open. The polls were as follows:

Nos. 1 and 3—Mr. H. Halpin's, corner George and Perry streets.

Nos. 2 and 5—T. J. Murray's 111 Rubidge street.

No. 4—Fitzpatrick & Geraghty's, corner of Rubidge and Dalhousie streets.

Nos. 6, 7, 8 and 9—City Council Chambers.

Nos. 10 and 11 — Fitzpatrick & Geraghty's store, corner of Park and Charlotte streets.

No. 12—Mrs. M. Lyle's, Pearl avenue.

Nos. 13 and 14—N. Routley's, corner of Park and Brock streets.

No. 15—Harrison's store, corner of Smith and Water streets.

Nos. 16 and 17—Dawson Bros., 550 George street.

No. 18—T. Hooper's store, 601 George street.

No. 19—J. T. Braund's store, 720 George street.

Nos. 20 and 21—Mrs. Swanston's, 46 Hunter street east.

No. 22—M. Kylie's, 558 Roger street.

The first results received came from the Council Chambers and gave a false impression of the way the votes for the daylight saving by-law were going. In a few minutes, however, it was seen there was no hope of this by-law passing, and the storm drain by-law was already lost. All the results were in before six o'clock, probably because of the fact that only about one thousand votes were cast.

AIRPLANE FOR THE MOUNTIES

AIR TRANSIT LIKELY TO SUPERSEDE PRESENT METHODS IN ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE.

COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

OTTAWA, April 7. (Canadian Press.) — If the plans now projected work out, the old idea of the red coated riders of the plains dashing over the crests of hills on horseback or mushing along lone trails with huskies and sleds, is due for a revision.

Instead, in the not far distant future the mounted police are due to arrive at the outside posts by airplane, thus, by being enabled to carry "white man's law" to the natives in the farthest north, covering in a few hours their patrols which now take as many days.

In the report of the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, tabled in the House to-day by Hon. J. A. Calder, Commissioner Perry says a request has been made to the air board to share in an air service to Fort Norman, from Peace River, next summer.

"The force," says Commissioner Perry, "has placed at the disposal of the Board suitable quarters at Peace River and storage and accommodation at all posts down the Mackenzie River."

"I anticipate an extension of this service to other points in the Northwest Territories which are very remote and difficult of access."

ASK NATIONAL EDUCATION AT ORANGE RALLY

M. J. O'BRIEN URGES SCHOOLS IN WHICH NO RELIGION WOULD BE TAUGHT WHATEVER.

ATTACKS SINN FEIN

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was practically filled last night for the Protestant rally held there in connection with the series of meetings being held throughout the Province. Mr. M. J. O'Brien of Ottawa, Chief Organizer of the Orange Association, was the principal speaker. Rev. R. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, occupied the chair. A musical programme was given, including organ solos by Mr. Tattersall, vocal solos by Mrs. Wells and recitations by Miss Hazel Davidson, all of which contributed much to the success of the rally.

Vote of Thanks.

"I have never heard a more temperate presentation of the case than we have just listened to. Surely we should be permitted to express such feelings in our own churches, not in public halls or in the public press," said Rev. Pogue in tendering the vote of thanks to Mr. O'Brien, moved by Rev. J. R. Webb and Rev. G. E. Ross, who both commended highly. Mr. O'Brien's address.

Principal Address.

Mr. O'Brien spoke for an hour and a half. He opened his address by touching on the important subject of Separate schools.

In the West.

"At the present time in Canada," he said, "we have in the Western Provinces a very critical situation to face. Thousands upon thousands of people have been brought over from all parts of Central Europe and have been given land freely in these Provinces, and but a very small percentage of them have any knowledge whatever of the English language. In the Province of Quebec we have a population of over a million and a half with practically no knowledge whatever of the English language. If we are to pursue the course we have been following for generations in Canada we need never hope for a great united, loyal and British Dominion, as we are becoming more divided each day."

The only solution, he said, to this question was a great national school, in which no religion would be taught whatever, leaving the religious instructions to the homes and the churches. And to this national school all Roman Catholic, Protestants, Jews and Gentiles alike would be compelled to attend. "It would have the same text books from coast to coast," the speaker said, "and would be a great English-speaking school throughout the Dominion, with the exception, perhaps, of the Province of Quebec. To our friends in Quebec we would explain that if they insist upon their rights to the French language, which were granted to them under the British North America Act, we have no desire to interfere whatever with such rights, but would ask them to at least accept these text books and translate them into the French language so that their children would be receiving the same education as the children in other portions of the Dominion and thus have the same fair chance in life.

BAR TURK WOMEN FROM THE STAGE

LABOR OPPOSED TO MILITARISM

HUN WORKERS PETITION GOVERNMENT TO ABANDON NAMING SHIPS AFTER FAMOUS GENERALS.

NAVY SUPPORTS THEM

BERLIN, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Workmen engaged in construction of ships in several German seaports have petitioned the German government to abandon the policy of naming new ships after famous generals in the war or men who won renown for military service before the war. The petition says the principles of democracy are undermined, by such "glorification of military characters" and that such procedure ill-becomes the servants of the new republic. The unions have threatened to quit work unless the practice ceases.

It was this feeling which caused workmen recently to stop the launching of the 12,000 ton ship "Tirpitz", named after the German admiral. Protest also was made agaisst the launching of the "Ludesdorff," and the "Hindenburg" although the former Field Marshal von Hindenburg still enjoys some popularity with the union workmen employed in the sea trades.

The dock workers and shipyard workers unions generally are bitterly anti-militarist and take advantage of every opportunity to demonstrate their allegiance to the principle of democratic government. They have frequently delayed ship building operations or stopped them altogether by strikes involving "political questions".

Former sailors of the German navy and some former officers, have been supporting the unions in their anti-militarist position.

INSISTENCE OF GOVERNMENT THAT RESUMPTION OF PUMPING MUST COME FIRST CAUSED HOLD-UP.

AN IMPASSE REACHED

LONDON, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)—A day of great excitement, which looked as though it were leading to amicable negotiations to find an issue to the wages dispute in the coal crisis, closed with still another hitch owing to the insistence on the part of the government that resumption of pumping operations at the mines be preliminary to any negotiations.

The first meeting of the government with miners and mine owners had been set for eleven o'clock tomorrow morning at the Board of Trade and meantime all questions of action by railway men and transport workers, who together with the miners form the Triple Alliance, had been temporarily suspended. Then the Prime Minister made the announcement in the House of Commons that the Miners' Federation had informed him that it was unable to see its way clear to instruct the pump men to resume work during the negotiations. Mr. Lloyd George added that the negotiations could not proceed unless this obstacle was overcome.

HAS NO INTENTION OF RESTORING THE BAR

MONTREAL, April 7. — Under the new Quebec liquor law, to come into operation on May 1st, the matter of the old bar or counter is left to the discretion of the Quebec Liquor Commission. Information gleaned is to the effect that the commission has no intention of restoring the bar.

Wholesale liquor merchants in conference decided to send a delegation to Premier Taschereau a pealing for a delay in which to get rid of their stocks. The law says that all authorized vendors and licensees shall make a statement on April 30th of all stocks remaining in their possession and shall place them under the control and in the possession of the Liquor Commission on pain of seizure of stock.

SIR THOMAS WHITE OUT.

The resignation of his seat in Parliament by Sir Thomas White, member for Leeds and former Minister of Finance, comes as a big surprise, especially, in view of the fast that two days ago the Deputy Minister of Justice had ruled that it was not necessary that Sir Thomas should resign because he was a member of the Board of Arbitration in connection with the taking over of the Grand Trunk Railway by the Govrnment. The resignation of any member under present conditions would be a heavy loss to the Meighen administration, and the departure of the ex-Minister must be a rather crushing blow. Sir Thomas White, who was a member of the original Borden Cabinet, has always ranked as one of the biggest men on the Government side of the House. Upon his shoulders was the gigantic task of financing Canada's war efforts, and the verdict of history will undoubtedly be that he measured up to the onerous responsibilities of his position. He was Acting Prime Minister during the absence of Sir Robert Borden at the Peace Conference, and at one time was considered the logical successor to Sir Robert. His departure from the deliberations of Parliament at a time when great problems require the best thought of all Canadians, is to be regretted, but Sir Thomas has given some of his best years to his country's services and doubtless feels that he has earned a rest.

BLAZING THE TRAIL.

The advent of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir is a step forward towards the musical development of this city and should be welcomed by all music-lovers, not only because of what the organization has already accomplished, but because of the proof that it affords of the possibilities offered here. The ability and leadership of Mr. J. H. Renwick and the enthusiasm and zeal of the individual members—who cheerfully paid $2.00 each as an initiation fee and gave up one evening a week for over five months for practice purposes—have combined to produce the results achieved on Tuesday evening. And it is to be hoped that the choir will be encouraged by its initial success to remain in the field, add to its number and perfect its work, for it is too valuable an asset to musical Peterborough to be allowed to dissolve now.

The formation of a ladies' chorus on similiar lines to that of the Male Voice Choir is the next logical step, to be followed by the amalgamation of the two into a choral society and afterwards by the formation of an orchestra. When all this has been accomplished—and none of these things would be attended by more work than has been necessary in the organization of the men's chorus—Peterborough would be on a plane musically with some of the centres in Western Ontario, where community musical societies form a big feature in the activities of the people. The material is here, the ability to train and duett is at hand. Tuesday night's concert has shown that there is no lack of enthusiasm among the vocalists or dearth of appreciation among the people, and the programme outlined in this article is one that could easily be carried out. To Mr. Renwick and the members of his choir goes the credit for blazing the trail.

CIVIC APATHY.

Once more the indifference of a very large portion of the electbrate of Peterborough to questions that directly affect their welfare has been demonstrated. The small vote that was polled yesterday on the daylight saving question and on the storm drain by-law shows that many people are careless and apathetic in the discharge of their responsibility as citizens. Although both by-laws were advertised and had been discussed in The Examiner in communications from readers and otherwise, hundreds of people did not even know that a vote was being taken and hundreds more would not take the trouble to go out and vote, especially when they found that the number of polling booths had been reduced, and it would be necessary, in some cases, to go a block or two further in order to exercise their franchise. People complain about the tax rate, they criticize the actions of the Council on this, that and the other question, they grumble about errors of omission or commission on the part of the civic government, but they never stop to realize their own indifference to municipal problems and their disinclination to even spend a few minutes in casting a vote at the municipal elections, or in deciding the fate of a by-law, are the chief factors in bringing about the conditions of which they complain. There is nobody more inconsistent than the man who continually picks flaws in the system of municipal government and yet contributes no assistance towards a betterment of civic affairs. Citizens who remain away from the polling booths should refrain from criticism.

YESTERDAY'S VOTE.

A chilly response was given by the ratepayers yesterday to the by-law authorizing the expenditure of $40,000 in the construction of storm drains, the measure being decisively beaten, while the electors also indicated their preference for standard time, as opposed to a local system of daylight saving during the summer months. While the vote polled was remarkably light, there was no doubt as to the wishes of that proportion of the electorate which exercised the franchise, for there was a majority against the storm drain by-law at every polling place, and in only three sections was there a majority in favour of daylight saving.

The defeat of the drainage by-law is explainable partially by reason of the unwillingness of the ratepayers to authorize any further expenditure and of their anxiety to protest against what they consider excessive taxation, and, to some extent, too, because they were not given much enlightenment as to the proposed work or its necessity. When the people of the sections to be directly benefitted by the construction of an adequate drainage system flatly turned down the by-law it is no wonder that the measure was everywhere else defeated. Whether the rejection of the by-law will eventually prove to be mistaken economy on the part of the ratepayers, or not, future developments will have to reveal.

The votes taken in several of the local factories recently indicated a favourable sentiment towards daylight saving, but the balloting yesterday told a different story, and, as a result, Peterborough will continue to operate on standard time. In the Centre Ward there was a majority of twenty in favour of summer time, and two other polling places showed advocates of daylight saving to be slightly more numerous than its opponents, but everywhere else throughout the city, the vote was strong for standard time. The fact that the railways are not to have daylight saving, coupled with the opposition of many women with small children, to the scheme, turned the tide against the proposal, especially as the sporting organizations of the city, who were chiefly responsible for the referendum being taken, failed to do anything to get the favourable vote out. They cannot blame anybody but themselves, for the Council left the matter squarely up to the people, and they had their opportunity yesterday.

THE GOVERNMENT MERCHANT MARINE.

In the statement submitted to the House of Commons on Tuesday last Hon. Mr. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine, made the best of a somewhat difficult case. A year ago he was able to give what was considered a fairly satisfactory account of the operations of the Government owned steamships. During the war, and for some time after the armistice, ships were in great demand, freights were very high, and almost everything that was capable of floating and carrying cargo made money easily. It was before that boom ended that the Government owned merchant ships began their operations. Thus the first year's business, that of 1919, yielded not only the cost of operation, but also a fair return on the capital invested. Such a result, while pleasing to all Canadians, was particularly gratifying to people who warmly support the principle of public ownership. In 1920 the Minister faced a very different condition. The large fleet of ships built by the allied countries to make good the war losses was found to be much more than sufficient to meet the demand of peace time. There was a glut of ships Consequently freights fell sharply and the values of ships diminished. Under such conditions an entirely satisfactory report for the year was not to be expected.

Nevertheless, in quarters close to the Government, the report was circulated that the forthcoming statement would disclose "a surplus" on the year's operations. In one way of calculating surpluses—a way which is found much easier in the case of Government's affairs than in those of private concerns—the expectation was realized. Mr. Ballantyne was able to show that, in the face of the adverse conditions, the ships had earned their operating expenses and a surplus of $981,460. Considering all the circumstances this result is quite as good as anybody could have expected, and apparently better than some of Mr. Ballantyne's critics expected. But when the result is proclaimed in friendly journals as a "profit" on the year's business exception must be taken to the claim.

Mr. Ballantyne explained that during the year there were 47 vessels of the fleet in commission, the cost of construction of which was very close to $50,000,000. The "surplus" was equal to 2.35 per cent. on the cost of the ships. But when it is remembered that the money to pay for the ships cost the country 5½ per cent. or more the fact stands out that the year's operations show not a profit but a heavy loss. A further consideration of importance is that the ships were contracted for at a time when construction was expensive and that their present value is very far below their cost. Indeed there is at present such a plethora of ships that there would be difficulty in selling our vessels at any price. Viewing the matter in this light it must be admitted that while, as we have said, the statement is as good as was to be expected, the outlook for this branch of the Government's business gives good cause for some anxiety. The case is not so bad as that of the Government owned railways. Both are disturbing to all who are interested in the finances of the Dominion.

When the programme of the Government is completed, and all the ships contracted for are in commission, there will be a fleet of 63 vessels forming the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, with an approximate tonnage of 375,000. What shall we do with them? On that question there may be as much perplexity as there is regarding our great national railway system. The handling of the fleet in competition with the ships of private owners, must prove a very difficult problem for the Government. We are by no means convinced that it will be wise for Canada to undertake to make such business a permanent part of our public affairs. But for the present, as we have the ships, we must make the best of them. Parliament is not likely to at once adopt a policy of getting rid of them. Advocates of public ownership will claim that the system should have a longer trial, and their views will for the present prevail.—Journal of Commerce.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Judging by yesterday's vote, most people are not worrying much about the time anyway.

Sir Thomas White is no longer a member of Parliament. His passing removes a strong man from a body in which they are sorely needed.

Well, anyway, no storm drains will be necessary to carry away the water from the new motor sprinkler, judging by the demonstration it has given so far.

Perhaps the people thought that $40,000 might yet be needed for the Hunter street bridge.

The majority evidently saw the drain by-law only as another drain on the Treasury.

ALONG THE BOARD WALK.

Chapter 21.

My room at the Traymore was on the ocean side with an expansive view of the Board Walk and its ever-changing scene of interest.

It was after one o'clock when I reached the hotel and I tidied my hair a little, kept on my suit and hat, and hurried down to the noon meal.

I liked the atmosphere of the hotel. One felt at ease in such a perfect setting.

I had a little round table in an obscure corner of the dining room and I quite enjoyed my seclusion. What a joy to eat when one had not planned every mouthful!

After lunch I unpacked the suitcase, put on my tan duvetyn and heavy coat and went out for a stroll on the Board Walk. When one is alone there comes an exhilarating thrill of independence. I felt it and the salt air added to my buoyancy.

There were the ever interesting attractions.

I stood for a minute at the door or an auction shop while the glib auctioneer knocked down a teak-wood chair to the highest bidder.

I walked on. The little shop windows held a medley of allurement.

Tired, I dropped into an easy chair at the concert pavilion. The band was playing "Tales From Hoffman." I closed my eyes and drank in its beauty.

Near me a lanky youth sprawled easily in a wicker chair. His slender hand hung listlessly over the arm toward me and I noticed its extreme whiteness. He had a burnt-out cigarette between his long fingers. He had fallen asleep.

The music ended with a crash. The boy at my side moved restlessly and opened his eyes. They were blue—blue as the ocean itself, and they looked straight into mine. He had been caught napping. I smiled—but I must not let him see me. Oh, the extreme self-consciousness and egotism of youth! I watched him nervously smooth down his dark brown norfolk suit, adjust a bright orange tie and rise awkwardly. His height touched six foot surely. In statue and self opinion he was a man, but his fair complexion and almost baby face stirred one with maternal emotions.

I knew he was distressed that he had slumped for one minute from that high pinnacle of pomposity which adolescence wears so seriously.

I smiled again at the little tableaux of self-conscious youth and watched his not too broad shoulders disappear with amusing dignity.

But those blue eyes and arrogant shoulders were to play an amusing part in my little visit to the shore.

I arrived at the hotel hungry as a bear. The ultra of society dined late, but I cared more for the satisfaction of the inner man. So I hurried down to dinner.

As I passed through the foyer I saw the youth of the pavilion smoking a cigarette and talking to an elderly man. His long thin legs were placed far apart and one hand jammed down in his trouser pocket. His air had the consciousness of a young tyro at acting.

He saw me and the pink flush spread over his face and neck.

We passed again in the early evening on the Board Walk. Poor boy, seeing me seemed quite disturbing.

Then I entirely forgot him until at dinner the next day. I had hardly been seated in the dining room in my little obscure corner when the head waiter placed someone at the table with me. I was annoyed. My head was bent, scanning the inviting menu, and I did not see who it was at first. I think I was cross and obstinate about looking up.

What was my great surprise to look up finally into the blue eyes of my bashful youth.

He stammered the tell-tale blush spread over his fine baby skin.

"Pardon me. You won't mind? First I fell asleep, ridiculously—and, and now I intrude my unworthy presence." He was so much in earnest, so embarrassed and yet such a child about it, I could only laugh and say what I knew he longed to have me,

"No, stay. I am glad."

Says Indigestion comes from an Excess of Hydrochloric acid.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important it neutralize he acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with litha and sodum phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thouand of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

ONE REASON FOR KEEPING UP THE PRICE OF GOODS.

OTTAWA, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Perhaps one of the main reasons for keeping up the retail price of goods in Ottawa, and elsewhere, has been brought to light in a statement issued by J. C. Campbell, District Secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada. This is the solicitation of prizes for various events held under the auspices of clubs and associations, which has attained such proportions that many merchants are obliged to count it as a problem.

Mr. Campbell states that this custom is rapidly becoming a nuisance, and cites one merchant in the city having been called on to contribute to seven canvassers in one day. He also states that during the war retail merchants contributed thousands of dollars to war causes, and then it was necessary to secure a permit from a Government official before a solicitor could canvass. There is no such provision now, and the solicitors are increasing instead of diminishing.

EDMONTON, Alta., April 7. — (Canadian Press).—The Provincial Government has decided to submit to the present session of the Legislature legislation giving a full Provincial bond guarantee to both principal and interest to irrigation districts formed under the General Irrigation Act, but upon terms and conditions considered adequate to protect the Province in connection with such guarantee, Premier Stewart announces.

The assistance will be general in its application to irrigation districts and each scheme will be dealt with separately in cases where a guarantee is sought.

A new General Drainage Act, with provisions similar to the General Irrigation Act, is now before the Legislature, and it is the intention of the Government to place drainage schemes upon the same basis with respect to guarantee assistance as in the case of irrigation.

OSHAWA WOMAN GOES TO JAIL.

Second Offence Against Temperance Act.

OSHAWA, April 7.—Convicted of a third offence against the Ontario Temperance Act, Mrs. Elena Smith, 611 Simcoe street south, was sentenced to one year in prison with hard labor by Magistrate Hind.

Robert Stewart, who was previously convicted of a breach of the O. T. A., was meted out a nine months' term at hard labor, also a two years' indeterminate sentence less one day.

In August last, Mrs. Smith was convicted and sentenced to a term of six months for selling liquor which naturally converted her house into a public place for a year. She had just recently got out of jail. When the police entered the house, they found it fairly reeking with the smell of liquor and there was every evidence that illegal practises were being carried on there.

In Italy, nearly every woman above the class of "labor" smokes endless cigarettes. They use long mouthpieces made of tortoise shell or amber with a band of gold, rubies or diamonds. These holders cost from $10 to $100 each.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.

"Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs."

After hair growth

INDIANS' SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

Mr. Brittain certified further; "At a time when I had become discouraged at trying to grow my hair again, I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

True Hair Grower at Last

"That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the then mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

GOOD ROADS IN DUMMER LIKELY

NOT BEFORE IT'S TIME—PROVINCIAL ENGINEER MAKING INSPECTION—READY FOR REFERENDUM—WARSAW HAPPENINGS

WARSAW, April 6.—Mr. David Miller went to Norwood Monday, to meet Mr. C. H. Meader of Toronto and go over some of Dummer's roads. Mr. Meader is Provincial engineer and is inspecting roads with a view to seeing what can be done to improve them. Dummer people have suffered greatly on account of bad roads.

Some few are starting to work on the land.

Miss Ella Dewart principal of S. S. No. 4, Stamford, Welland Co., returned to Stamford on Saturday. Miss Dewart is delighted with her work and its possibilities. It is a 4-room public school of 140 pupils, 65 of whom have hot lunch at the school every day. At times groups of pupils are taken out to the peach orchards; graperies, etc., and see the pruning and other care of the vines and trees. They also observe the preparation of the soil; indeed, everything pertaining to the industry of fruit growing, as carried on near the school is intelligently noted by the pupils.

In the Churches.

Service in the Anglican Church on Sunday afternoon was conducted by Mr. Hughes. His subject was "Keeping the Sabbath day holy."

Rev. Girard Graham's morning subject was 'Certainly I will be with thee". In the evening he preached on "The key of Life" Obedience. On Wednesday evening he will take up "Behold I come quickly" as a study.

Syrup Season Over.

Some syrup makers have taken in their pails and the season is really over now. It has not been a very profitable one.

Evening Mail

On April 1st the couriers for the Warsaw No. 1 and No. 11 mail routes started the evening delivery of mail.

Stage Driver Quits

On March 31st., Mr. Adolphus Crapp finished his term as official driver of the Warsaw stage. Genuine regret is generally expressed as Mr Crapp was one to whom people could entrust their business. He was always courteous and obliging and thoroughly reliable. He had done the work for six years. Mr. Herbert Richmond assumed the duties on April 1st.

Interred at Warsaw.

The funeral of Mrs. Dunk of Young's Point, which was very largely attended took place Sunday afternoon. The interment was at Warsaw Cemetery. Services conducted by Mr. Hughes.

Woman's Institute

The regular meeting of the Woman's Institute will be held, likely in the room once used by Mrs. Choate for a millinery parlour. This room opens from street and there are no stairs, also it is central. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of the members and also of all mothers. The subject is "Child Welfare" also it will be decided whether the Institute will open a rest room. Many should be interested in this.

ASK NATIONAL EDUCATION AT ORANGE RALLY

tablishment of such a school that we will be driving God out of the schools, as stated by Mr. C. J. Foy of Perth, as I believe that God will be present with the children regardless of whether they sit in a Separate school or in a great national school of this kind."

Mr. O'Brien warned the audience about the danger of the campaign being carried on for the establishment of French schools in this Province. He also referred to the campaign being carried on to abolish appeals to the Privy Council—such a proposition can only emanate from those who wish to sever the bonds of Empire. He spoke with satisfaction of the decision of the Privy Council on the marriage question, which makes it impossible for any courts in this land to annul marriages on the grounds that Protestant clergymen are not competent to perform such ceremonies when one of the contracting parties is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

The speaker also made an appeal for greater unity in the great Protestant church, and also advocated the better support of the Protestant churches by those who call themselves Protestants.

Best Friend of Catholics.

In closing, he explained that the much-slandered Loyal Orange Association is really the best friend that Roman Catholics in this Dominion have to-day, the main platform of the Orange Association being equal rights for all, and special privileges to none. This is all that Orangemen ask for Protestantism and they also demand that, no one shall have more, the fact being that if anyone attempted to deprive our Roman Catholic brothers of the great civil and religious liberties they enjoy the Orangemen would be the first to take up their rifles and fight on behalf of their Roman Catholic friends.

"I would also point out that the Orange Association has no desire whatever to interfere with the Church of Rome," said Mr. O'Brien, "and the scattering abroad of doctrines of her faith. It is not, as a religious body, that we oppose the Church of Rome, but only as a political organization attempting to grasp special privileges which she would deny to the rest of the people of the country."

Sinn Fein Movement.

Mr. O'Brien covered the Irish question briefly, pointing out that those who are advocating the establishment of an Irish republic are really engaged in a campaign for the dismemberment of the British Empire. He appealed for a united front against the disloyal Sinn Fein movement in Canada, masquerading under the title of the Self-Determination for Ireland League. He dwelt on the historical side of the Irish question to show that the claims of the rebels are based upon falsehood.

Seventy-Five Garments to Sell

We would like to shout loud and long about this sale, with the boldest and blackest type the printer has, but we are afraid people would mistake the class of dresses we are offering.

They might think we are offering a collection of job lots, bought in quantities and in such cases the merchant has to take the bad garments with the good.

Our Stock Is Not That Kind

It is made up of regular goods, bought in the regular way, and every garment had to have many excellent qualities before we made room for it on our racks.

On Friday and Saturday it will be your privilege to select any of these dresses from the stateliest to the lowliest and

Pay 30% Less Than Regular

We have heard people say, "I never get a bargain." Perhaps they are not on the alert, and maybe it is their own fault. It certainly will be if they do not grasp this chance that presents itself on Friday and Saturday.

$45 to $49 Models for $32.50

In this lot you can select from a wide range of styles, but nearly all have at least one thing in common—the fashionable, circular flare skirt. Serges and tricotine are the materials and the qualities are worthy of these splendid cloths. The colours are black, navy, sand and taupe. A few combine silk or satin with the woollen fabrics.

Embroidery, braid or beads supply the trimmings and they are used to good purpose in many novel patterns. Some are short waisted, some are long waisted, some have short sleeves, some have long sleeves, and there are round and square collarless necks. The long tunic effect from the shoulder to below the knees is shown to advantage in many pleasing forms.

$39 to $42 Models at $27.50

These have the principal characteristics that distinguish the $32.50 assortment. They may not have just as much trimming or maybe have a little less quality in the material. Sometimes it is one and sometimes the other. They are certainly good value, and there is an excellent range to select from.

$29 to $33 Models for $19.75

In these the materials are serges and jerseys and the colors are navy, black and Pekin blue. Some of the chief characteristics are panels, plain skirts, pleated overskirts, girdle of satin and narrow girdle of the material, long sleeves, short sleeves, tuxedo and round collars, side pockets and round and square yokes in collarless styles.

They are practical, well made garments artistically trimmed with braids, beads or embroidery workings.

$55 Model for $39.75

ONE ONLY

It is of navy tricotine and is made in the long tunic style with a black satin underskirt that is exposed at the bottom and shows as a panel in front. The sleeves are short and have cuffs of purple and green wool and a vestee is of the same. Military braid motifs in diamond shape pattern the tunic. The neck is collarless.

$22 to $25 Models for $15

Like most of the other groups, the materials are serges and tricotines, and the colors are navy blue and black. The lines are straight and the trimming has been attended to with embroidery, bugle beads and braid. A number of them have long sleeves and others are ¾ length.

A Group of $10.95 Models for $7.95

Here is a group of low priced Dresses that are excellent value. For the miss, or any one who needs a garment for knockabout wear, they will serve to good purpose. They are plain, but not entirely so, for they are relieved with touches of trimming. The material is serge in navy blue and black.

$59 Model for $39.75

ONE ONLY

It is of navy blue serge and distinguished by a bolero effect prettily trimmed with beads. A vestee is of navy satin and bright, hued, Roman striped ribbon girdle encircles the waist and hangs at the side in sash fashion. The skirt is a cluster of pleats. The sleeves are long.

All the Cloth Dresses in The Redfern Store Are in This Sale Too

The average reduction of 30% applies to all the Cloth Dresses in the Redfern Stofe and there is a fine assortment to choose from. Their general lines are similar to those described above, but, of course, the details are quite different, for in all this collection of seventy-five Dresses, there are not two alike.

HAVE PLENTY TO EAT AND WEAR BUT NO MONEY.

TOKIO, March 1. (By Mail to Associated Press.) — Residents of Vladivostok have plenty to eat and plenty of clothes but no money, according to a correspondent of the Kokusai News Agency who has just returned from that city.

"Good beef can be purchased for 20 cents a pound," he says and continues: "A good suit of clothes costs about one-tihrd what they do in America and other things in proportion. The only thing the people lack is money to spend. Coin has virtually disappeared from circulation and nobody will accept the paper notes. Wages, even of government employees ,are paid in food, clothes and tickets for use with the public utilities.

"The plentitude of these necessities is explained by the fact that huge stores have been imported into Vladivostok for shipment into the interior and are being held there indefinitely. These stores are being drawn upon.

"A few miles out of Vladivostok to the north conditions are very different. There the population has neither money nor supplies, and hunger and cold have taken liberal tolls of the Russians. The Chita authorities have been sending clamorous demands that Vladivostok share her supplies with the rest of Siberia, a call to which the local authorities have shown no disposition to respond, even if the Japanese would let them.

"These latter have been taking the stand that until it is certain that Japan will not have to fight Chita they will not permit the exportation of anything that may later be used against the Japanese forces.

"The lack of acceptable money in Vladivostok is resulting in business stagnation. Anyone with good money can buy anything he wants and cheaply but in its absence nothing can be sold. Business houses are fast closing their doors and factories are shutting down."

Boils So Bad

HAD TO GIVE UP WORK

Frou the days of Job, up to the present time, boils have been one of the afflictions of the human race.

All the poultricing and lancing you may do will not prevent them from breaking out again.

Boils are simply caused by the bad blood bursting out; and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters, which has been on the market for over forty years, is well known as the greatest blood medicine procurable.

It purifies the blood by removing every particle of foul matter from the system, and when this is done the boils vanish, and you should never be troubled again.

Mr. James Fahey, Newport Island, Que., writes:—"I was troubled with boils on my back and neck, so bad that I was obliged to give up work. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. Finally, I went to a doctor, and he treated me for several weeks, and all without benefit. At last a friend told me of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I decided to give it a trial. I got three bottles, but before I had taken two the boils were all gone. It is eight months now, and I have had no return of the old trouble, and have never felt so well."

BAKER MILLIONS A MYTH AND BASIS FOR SWINDLING.

Story Used By Some As Lure to Extract Money From Credulous Claimants.

LOS ANGELES.— Hundreds of people named "Baker" have just learned with keen surprise that the famed Baker estate is a myth and also the basis of swindling operations. Twelve claimants to the supposed Philadelphia realty millions have cropped up in Los Angeles, while many others have recorded their claims in other States.

Until now it was supposed the Baker Estae merely was a a bit of American folk-lore, handed from father to son with no more injury than comes of disillusionment. But the Bank of North America, of Philadelphia, yesterday advised that confidence men have taken advantage of the historical groundwork, with its get-rich-quick qualities so essential to them.

Philadelphia authorities henceforth will trace each applicant for a share in Col. Baker's holdings and thus will seek to come upon the persons that are perpetuating the story with criminal intent.

An American Fable.

The fable has it that Jacob Baker, a colonel in the Revolutionary War, left land in Philadelphia now worth $800,000,000 and that the City Hall is built on Baker property. To make it better other Baker holdings are located at Chillicothe, O.

It is the method of these operators to write a man or woman named Baker, or one related to a Baker. They are advised by the well-intentioned stranger, also under the name of Baker, that a ninety-nine year lease on this vast propery soon will expire and that the family is raising a fund to fight in the courts for possession. Eight hundred million dollars surely will make enough to go around. If the Mr. Baker solicited comes from Philadelphia, or has relatives that come from or might have come from Philadelphia, he is apt to send the money, for whom has not heard of the Baker estate?

In this connection it should be stated that there is a legitimate association of Baker heirs, whose backers are not to be confused with these preyers upon the credulous.

The Bank of North America is interested in the matter because its name usually is given as that of the administrator. For thirty years the bank has kept form letters denying knowledge of the Baker estate and the printer's bill has not been insignificant. The Register of Wills at Philadelphia also was so annoyed with inquiries that he issued printed postal cards denying knowledge of Col. Baker and his domain. But the rumor persisted. Now the mail-order fakirs have taken it up.

The Colonel Did Exist.

The Bureau of Legal Aid of Philadelphia made an investigation a few days ago and found that like most fables there is a grain of truth in the Col. Baker matter.

Col. Jacob Baker did exist and he was an officer in the Revolution and he lived in Philadelphia. He also left property, the aged records show, but it was disposed of in 1847 and the estate then was valued at from $6,000 to $7,000. The archives of the Philadelphia Orphans' Court, where the will was filed, show no record of any realty fortune leased or unsettled.

Col. Jacob Baker probably was a very worthy person, no doubt an intimate of Benjamin Franklin, but there is no evidence that he left a fortune in benefit of all the Bakers.

BOUNDLESS OIL FIELD IN NORTH CANADA LIKELY.

Three Edmonton Men May Have Made Remarkable Discovery—Round Trip of 3,000 Miles.

That a boundless oil field has been discovered in Northern Canada is the opinion of three Edmonton men who just lately returned from a trip to the Fort Norman oil fields, having made the round trip of almost three thousand miles, 2,500 of which were mushed with dog teams, in the dead of winter. These men are the first to bring back accurate information since the big strike of the Imperial Oil Company at Norman, and they believe that adequate transportation and development are the only factors necessary in the exploitation of these wonderful fields. The party, which left Edmonton on Dec. 31st and arrived back at Fort McMurray on March 25th, had the singular experience of beating their own mail, a letter for Edmonton posted at Fort Simpson, 340 miles this side of Fort Norman, arriving in Edmonton on the next train after its writer's arrival home.

The round trip was made at a cost to each individual of $2,000, one supper for their dogs alone, owing to the scarcity and high prices of provisions in the far north, costing $[illegible] or an average of $3 per dog, the sole article on the menu consisting of fish.

The coldest weather experienced on the entire trip was 47 degrees below zero, the party sleeping out in the open over 25 nights in temperatures ranging from 30 to 40 degrees below. It was a nightly task to scrape the snow down to ground level for a depth of from three to four feet.

Run Out of Provisions.

The party encountered on the trail a Jap named Waddo who, accompanied by four native guides, was making strenuous efforts to make his goal, Fort Norman. Having run out of provisions, he was feeding his dogs on butter, corn beef and rice.

They describe the kindness and hospitality of the mission priests along the route as a great boon to the man on the trail. The furthest of these missions is at Red River, in the Arctic circles, 500 miles north of Fort Norman, the long line of these outposts of Christianity extending from there to Fort McMurray, almost three thousand miles. On the north shore of Great Slave Lake, a lone mission is maintained, the late priest of which was unfortunately drowned this winter with his dog team while on an errand of mercy to one of the distant habitants of the country.

FOUR-OARED SHELL IN WHICH WORLD TROPHIES WERE WON

Presented to Philadelphia Barge Club By Ulis F. Ward, Former Rowing Coach, University of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(Associated Press.)—A four-oared shell, in which two world's rowing championships and a number of national championships were won, has just been presented to the Philadelphia Barge Club by Ellis F. Ward, former rowing coach of the University of Pennsylvania.

Built in 1869, the thin cedar craft had been in continuous use up until two years ago and is still in good condition and though a little narrow, has been used as a model by boat builders in this country for years. It is 42 feet long.

For English Crew.

Originally the shell was built for an English crew, the Renforths, who rowed against the Paris crew of St. Johns, New Brunswick, for the world's championship. This was the first race in which the shell was used, and the English crew won. The boat was named the "Dunstan-on-Tyne."

Shortly afterward the shell was purchased by the mayor of Pittsburg as a souvenir.

World Championship.

In 1871 another match race was arranged for the championship of the world, to be held at Saratoga Lake. Ellis Ward and his three brothers had gained the reputation of being the best American blade wielders, but were without a shell. They ordered a new boat from Robert Jewett, of England, who built the "Dunstan-on-Tyne" but he disappointed them. Shortly afterward they received a telegram from the Mayor of Pittsburg offering to sell them the "Dunstan-on-Tyne." The Wards accepted. They found the boat narrow and hard to "set up," but they soon mastered it.

The race was rowed over a four-mile course, and the Wards won, setting a new record of 24 minutes, 40 seconds, which still stands. They defeated two English and three American crews. The Ward crew was seated as follows: Ellis Ward, bow, 150 pounds; Gilbert Ward, No. 2, 155 pounds; Josh Ward, No. 3, 165 pounds and Henry Ward, stroke, 158 pounds. Ther average age was 32 1-2 years. Ellis being 25, while Henry was 45.

"At Forty-Five"

"YES, at my age I suppose I should expect a change in my condition. But I am so nervous and irritable, so easily excited and worried, that I cannot understand what is wrong."

"I know just how you feel, my dear, for I have gone through exactly what you are experiencing now."

"But you are not nervous."

"No, not now, but I was in a far worse condition than you are, when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I need not tell you more, for you know how well I have been for the last few years."

Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald St., Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was recommended to me by an aunt who used it while passing through the change of life and was completely built up by its use. From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."

A LETTER TO MR. J. H. BURNHAM

Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., for West Peterboro, has addressed the following letter to Mr. J. H. Burnham This letter follows one that was received by Mr. Burnham some days ago.

Ottawa, 6th., April, 1921

Dear Sir:—When you wrote me sometime ago regarding the reduction of the indemnity paid to the Members of the House of Commons I did not have last Session's Hansard before me, and I did not have an opportunity of going into the facts with some of the Members of this House. I found that in the last days of the Session, you introduced the matter of the increased indemnity and placed this partly upon the grounds that the Session was lengthy and that the members earn the increase by reason of their requiring to keep up their homes in their constituencies and, also require to live in Ottawa, and thus keep up two establishments.

You also stated and named certain men who unquestionably were earning, in private life, for more than their indemnity could possibly recoup them for loss of time while attending their parliamentary duties Page 4070 of Hansard, you stated as follows:

"Now if my constituents think that my advocacy of an increased indemnity from $1,200.00 to $2500.-00 is "graft" they are welcome to ask for my retirement. I do not propose to go on with any such niggardly salary."

And again on the same page you concluded the argument with the following words:

"Now all I can say is that 95 per cent. of the Members of this House demand an increase of this indemnity."

"Now let me recur to this fact; it is up to the three leaders to say whether they are in favour of an increase of indemnity; to say "No, we will not" or "Yes, we will" etc.

"Once more therefore, I appeal to the various leaders—to the Prime Minister; to the leader of the Opposition; to the leader of the Farmers' Party—to say whether they are going to hear us in the predicament that we are in just now, where we are the envy of neither gods or man or whether they are going to do the unfair thing by us under the circumstances. Every body also has received increases surely the poor member of parliament should receive the same."

Your speech indicates that you never had in mind and did not suggest to the members that this increase was to be of a temporary character .I have spoken to many members of the House and they advise me that, it was never suggested by you that the increase which you introduced in the dying days of the Session, was to be anything else than a permanent increase of indemnity.

I would therefore suggest, that your invitation to me that I introduce this matter was an after thought and was something that you never had in mind, except after the By-Election in Peterborough. My own position proves quite clearly to me and for the time I am giving to my duties as a Member and neglecting my profession will entail a loss to me of a sum greater than the indemnity I shall receive, so my diversion of getting into politics is not from a financial standpoint in gain to me, but will be of very considerable loss.

However, I thank you for drawing my attention to this matter as it is a proper thing that I should receive suggestions from those who are interested in public affairs and who are willing to give the benefit of their views to me.

I beg to remain,

Yours faithfully,

G. N. GORDON.

RATE CUT ON LUMBER SOON FROM FAR WEST.

C.P.R. Takes Steps Meet Competition—Millers Jubilant.

TORONTO, April 7. — Railway rates are about to follow other costs towards lower levels. An announcement will be made by the C. P. R. early next week of a reduction of freight rates on lumber from Pacific Coast competitive points, and it is understood this cut will be followed shortly after by a substantial general reduction on the initiative of the railways themselves. Since the rates were increased last fall transcontinental freight has diminished sadly, and the lumber traffic between British Columbia and the east has almost entirely succumbed. This condition together together with the fact that the Great Northern Railway, which also touches British Columbia at several points, has announced reductions effective April 1st, the C. P. R. has decided to lower rates in their own interests. The first cut, it is understood, will affect only the points where the company has to meet competition, particularly Vancouver, New Westminster and Vancouver Island, and the preference is given to eastern points where the United States railways touch, as for instance Windsor. The present rate from Vancouver to Windsor is 98½c a hundred pounds on lumber and the new rate will be 90 or 91c, a reduction of about 9 per cent. Five cents per 100 will be taken off the Toronto rate which is now about $1.03 per hundred. The cut will mean about $1.35 a thousand feet reduction to the Toronto trade, and about $2.50 to Windsor.

The Toronto agents of the B. C. mills are jubilant over the prospect of getting back some of the business as a result of the reduction which they had been assured would come into effect this week. They have done very little business in the past six months. One of them said that the coast freight business was going to the Americans railways and that the C. P. R. was taking steps to meet the situation. The increase granted last year by Mr. Carvell of the railway commission, he said, had paralyzed the British Columbia lumber industry, and had thrown a number of plants into liquidation, and had also permitted southern pine to flood the Ontario market. The difference in freight rates is about $14 a thousand feet in favor of the southern millers.

BISHOPS OPPOSE AUXILIARIES; NEW OUTBURST OF ANARCHY.

LONDON, April 7. (Canadian Press.) — Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, in a letter to Mr. Lloyd George, says that the Roman Catholic Bishops at their annual meeting, expressed the conviction that the restoration of law and order in Ireland would be greatly promoted "were the auxiliary troops withdrawn without delay."

BELFAST, Ireland, April 7. — (Canadian Press.) — Flying columns of Sinn Feiners have been operating in County Tyrone and to their activities the officals here attribute a series of attacks which occurred late Tuesday and early yetserday.

Two attacks were made early this morning on the Mountfield barracks The barracks in Coat Island were attacked with bombs, rifles and revolvers, but reinforcements arrived and drove off the attackers.

The Droman barracks were also bombed and a constable seriously wounded. A patrol was attacked at Drumnaforbe and two constables wounded. All attacks occurred within a period of 12 hours.

A NEW BOAT OF NOVEL DESIGN.

Launched For the Hudson Bay Company.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 7 (Canadian Press).—A boat of novel design has been launched here for the Hudson's Bay Company to be used during this season on the Peace River from Hudson Hope, three hundred miles west of Peace River Crossing, to Vermillion Chutes, 350 miles north-east of the same central point, present northern terminus of the Edmonton and Dunvegan Railway.

The boat is 60 feet over all, with a beam of 11 feet, and 4 feet depth of hull. A tunnel is built into the body, giving plenty of room for the play of the powerful propeller and for the twin rudders within the lines of the boat. By this ingenious means both propeller and rudders are protected, and there are no projections to interfere with the phenomenally light draught for so large a craft of but nine inches, with a maximum of not more than 20 inches when the boat is fully loaded.

When the propeller turns, the arched cavity in the bottom of the boat is filled with water, which is hurled astern with the force of an hydraulic ram, imparting a speed of 17 miles an hour to the vessel.

LIGHT SESSION OF TRADES COUNCIL

BUSINESS OF ONLY MINOR IMPORTANCE AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

Harold Gilbert presided at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labour Council in the absence of T. H. Lane, who is out of the city on business for a few days. A proposal to request the City Council to take some means toward the proper numbering of houses was laid over for two weeks for the reason that the regular meeting of the City Council for April has already been held. The suggestion was broached by the secretary, Mr. James Dodds, but its discussion was deferred.

Peterboro Health Association Nurse Goes Everywhere in Order to Relieve the Poor Suffering

The Peterobrough Health Association nurse goes everywhere. She does not pick and choose and decline to consider a case that is distasteful. Tuberculosis, cancer, which is more prevalent in Peterborough than most people would imagine, the evils to growing children that dirt, ignorance and underfeeding bring in their wake, all come within the scope of her daily activity.

A prospective mother in a one-roomed house, with seven other children to look after, and a bed lacking sheets, a cancerous growth of such malignity as to require the destruction of all linens, a little girl with tubercular bones, demanding instant attention—all these, and many similar cases. It is hard to get details of this work. Only a chance word here and there reveals the extent of the good done. The motto of the Association and its members seems to be "Never let thy right hand know what thy left hand has done," but a consideration of some of the yearly records tells its own tale. Sputum cups with their hundreds of refills, linen, blankets, comforters, absorbent cotton, cod liver oil, milk, eggs, medicine, even cots, coal oil stoves, soap stones, and electric fans; these things are not bestowed in vain.

And the record of visits: 1,878 in 1919 alone, with 12 at night. Not a casual social call for a cup of tea or a "dish of gossip," but a real, downright errand of mercy, bringing mental and material help to some pain-racked sufferer forgotten by the majority of his or her fellow-creatures.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish

(Boudoir Secrets.)

The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.

Annual Meeting of Women's Mission

The annual meeting of the Women's Mission Circle, Murray Street Baptist Church, held last Tuesday afternoon, was made very interesting by an address from Mrs. Thomas Urquhart, of Toronto, on "Family Worship." Two of the ladies of the Circle were made life members at this meeting by their friends, one for the Home Missions Society and one for the Foreign Missions. Officers for the following year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. D. Scott; 1st Vice-President, Miss A. Walton; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Porter White; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. J. R. Webb; Secretary, Miss Stratton; Home Mission Board Secretary, Mrs. Westbrook; Assistant, Mrs. Wearing; Treasurer, Mrs. Somerville; Foreign Missions Board Treasurer, Mrs. Stenton.

This Mission Circle does a great deal of good work in both Home and Foreign Mission fields, and one of the members supports a Bible Woman in India. This woman is one of the native converts who goes about doing missionary work amongst her country people, her chief endeavor being the teaching of the Bible. Her food, clothing and lodging are all provided by this local lady.

Spring Fair

The Spring Fair, which the Campers' League of the Young Women's Christian Association is holding in the gymnasium next Friday, afternoon and evening, promises to be a very jolly affair. Extensive preparations are going forward for decorations, for the provisioning of fancy work, home-made cooking and candy booths, for the installation of a tea-room and a "stunt" room, where one may have a good laugh.

The purpose of the proceeding is to provide necessaries and more boats for the summer camp maintained for the last two years by the Y.W.C.A., at very reasonable rates, at Stoney Lake, where girls from all over the city may go for a short or long summer vacation.

AN IDEAL REMEDY FOR SPRING ILLS

Weak, Run Down People Should Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

'Do you find it hard these spring days to apply yourself to your work Do you feel tired without ambition or energy? These are the symptoms of a condition which our grandparents used to meet each spring with a medical tonic and medical practice to-day supports their wisdom. During the winter months the blood frequently becomes weak and thin, especially in those whose work keeps them indoors most of the time.

Weak blood frequently causes indigestion, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, and a constantly tired feeling. Sometimes there are headaches or a feeling of nervousness, or there may be unsightly pimples or blotches on the skin. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of condition, and any improvement in the condition of the blood improves the general health. The right tonic to improve the blood is shown by the statement of Miss L. Evelyn Brown Milltown, N.B., who says: "I can say for myself that I was greatly benefitted by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My work keeps me indoors many hours in the day and many days in the year. PRESS OF LONDON PAYS TRIBUTE TO RETIRING MEMBER

CONSIDERABLE EDITORIAL COMMENT ON RESIGNATION OF SIR THOMAS WHITE

LONDON, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—The resignation of Sir Thomas White from the Canadian House of Commons is the subject of editorial comment in several morning papers. Appreciative reference is made to his work as Canada's finance minister, during the difficult days of the war and to the conspicuous ability he showed in tapping unsuspected reservoirs of native credit to enable the Dominion to carry on her part in the great conflict.

The Times in grateful tribute to the ex-minister speaks of his singularly attractive personality, his unusual power of persuasive speaking and his high reputation for rigid integrity.

MEMBERSHIP IS ON THE INCREASE

PLANS FOR BEAUTIFYING PARKS IN THE CITY.

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors of the Horticultural Society, Dr. J. E. Middleton, the president, submitted an encouraging report on the membership for this year, showing already an increase of fifty above the complete membership of last year, and that this was obtained without any special effort. The directors appreciate considerably the support of the citizens in the work of beautifying the city, and by the end of the month, through the special canvass, will endeavor to reach the objective of a thousand members. All citizens who are in possession of option lists are requested to forward them to the Secretary, 358 George Street, as early as possible, so as to ensure an early delivery of the seedings or plants. Option lists may be obtained from any of the Directors, the Secretary, or by 'phoning 1360.

With the advent of spring, the contemplated improvements of last year will be carried out, namely, that of beautifying the south-west corner of Inverlea Park, and the corner of Park and Reid Streets.

Further work is contemplated by the Society, and all interested in beautifying the city, both in lawns, gardens, and public places, should be included on the membership roll.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR THE WEEK

MOTHERS, BE CAREFUL

Much of the trouble in weaning the baby is developed by the use of a cheap and unsanitary nipple. The NOBILITY nipple is sterilized and is sanitary, transparent and non-collapsible. It is put up in a separate box with a red band on each nipple. You will meet with the doctor's approval if baby uses NOBILITY nipple. tts.

A New Branch

A branch of the Catholic Women's League, which already boasts a large membership locally, was started in Lindsay last Sunday by Mrs. R. Kneil, Dominion organiser, accompanied by Mrs. G. H. Popham, first vice-president, and Miss Margaret McGrath, recording secretary of the Peterborough organisation, which is the head of all branches which may be started in the county.

Mrs. B. Gough was elected president of the Lindsay society, which has a nucleus of 115 members.

The League in Peterborough will erect a hut at the coming Motor Show for the sale of coffee and of doughnuts.

Bread with Raisins is a Better Food

Forget for a moment, the delicious flavor of raisin bread and think of its value as a food.

Raisins furnish 1560 units of energizing nutriment per pound, as well as natural iron which brings the rose tint to women's and children's cheeks.

The raisin's pure fruit sugar is in practically predigested form, so it is almost immediately assimilated. This fruit-food value added to the nourishment of wheat, forms an almost ideal food.

Send 'round the corner or telephone to your grocer or bake shop for a loaf of Sun-Maid Raisin Bread or bake a loaf at home according to the recipe at the right.

The raisin flavor permeates the bread. Try the bread plain, with or without butter. Learn what delicious toast it makes. Serve at least twice a week to break the monotony of plain bread.

Every first-class baker sells Sun-Maid Raisin Bread

STEWED RAISINS.

Cover Sun-Maid Raisins with cold water, and add a slice of lemon or orange to each half pound. Place on fire, bring to a boil and allow to simmer for one hour. Sugar may be added but is not necessary, as Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins contain 75 per cent. natural fruit sugar. Serve with or without cream.

RAISIN RICE PUDDING.

1-2 cup Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
1-3 cup rice, 1-2 cup sugar,
3 cups milk, 1 cup water,
2 eggs, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg (may omit)

Wash rice and place in double boiler with 1 cup water. Cook until water is absorbed. Add 2 cups milk, cook until rice is tender. To the remaining 1 cup milk add the sugar, spice and well beaten eggs, combine with rice and raisins, pour into pudding dish, set in pan of hot water and bake until custard is set.

SUN-MAID RAISIN BREAD

3 cups flour,
1 teaspoon salt.
6 level teaspoons baking powder
1 1-2 tablespoons of sugar.

Sift well together.

1-2 package Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins.
1 1-2 cups milk.

If desired to make bread a little richer 2 tablespoons of butter and 1 beaten egg may be worked in. Bake 50 minutes. Will make one loaf. Cannot fail.

This recipe makes delicious raisin muffins.

RAISIN SALAD.

1 cup Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins.
1-4 cup lemon juice.
2 cups chopped apples or pears
2 cups coarsely shredded lettuce.
1 cup cream mayonnaise.

Wash and dry the raisins, add to the apples and lemon juice. Line bowl or plates with shredded lettuce, pile raisins and apples in centre, cover with mayonnaise, serve with Neufchatel cheese balls, and garnish top with small pieces of red, tart jelly. Shredded lettuce is a matter of taste. It will go farther and decorates better if shredded.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—In the High Scrool Inspector's report re the Collegiate Institute, published in Wednesday's issue, the following sentence occurs: "There is no gymnasium, so that the boys have to be taken to the Y.M.C.A. for their classes in physical culture where they are instructed by a teacher who is not qualified."

The word qualified in the above sentence is apt to convey a wrong impression. Mr. Loomis—to whom reference is made—is, indeed, well qualified as a teacher of physical culture, and the Inspector was well pleased with his work. What Inspector Levan means is that Mr. Loomis does not hold a Departmental certificate qualifying him to teach in a High School or Collegiate Institute This the regulations require.

In justice to Mr Loomis will you please publish this explanation?

Yours truly,
H. R. H. KENNER.

THE SASKATCHEWAN AS A COAL ROUTE.

Would Cheapen Coal, it is Claimed.

EDMONTON, Alta., April 7. — A suggestion that the Saskatchewan river route be used for moving Edmonton coal east, enabling the cost of transportation to be greatly reduced, was recently made by R. Cunningham, the assistant engineer of the Dominion public works agency here. He claims that the river route to northern Saskatchewan points, and even to Winnipeg, is not only feasible, but would solve the problem of shipping local mined coal to the eastern markets.

The river is navigable all the way, states Mr. Cunningham, and, contrary to the general impression, would give a channel with an average height of water. It would not be necessary to dredge the river as the coal barges would be of light draft and the Saskatchewan is already a respectable stream in the same class as the Athabasca and the Peace.

As to the business that would offer for the Saskatchewan river route, Mr. Cunningham points out that there should be enough within the 410 miles to Prince Albert to pay the initial cost of a steamer and fleet of barges out of one year's coal profits. An estimate on the freight charges made a few years ago was based on $1 per ton, and even if this had now to be doubled it would still be possible to deliver coal to Prince Albert at a cost away under that of the railway haul. Once the route were opened up it could easily be extended to Winnipeg.

Mr. Cunningham claims that from an engineer's standpoint the route is entirely practicable.

SHOT AT WILD GEESE.

Ottawa Boys Brought Into Court and Warned.

OTTAWA, April 7.—Boys shooting at wild geese were brought into the Juvenile Court here, but were allowed off on suspended sentence after paying costs. The complaint was laid by R. Lloyd, supervisor of wild life preservation, Department of Agriculture, under the treaty between Canada and the United States for the protection of migratory birds. The treaty provides that the flight of such birds shall not be molested during the closed season. The magistrate warned that future offenders of this nature would be severely dealt with.

LACROSSE WORK OUT ON SATURDAY

Arragements for the first lacrosse practice of the season next Saturday were made by the executive of the club last night. All last year's players and any others who have played the game or who wish to learn it are invited to turn out at the Exhibition Park. Dr. N. H. Sutton, vice-president, was chairman in the absence of the president, C. S. Cummer. Encouraging reports were made by the members who interviewed some of the principals of the Public schools requesting their support of a juvenile or school league. It is recognized that lacrosse has been displaced by baseball, but the promoters of the game are confident that it will appeal to the youth of to-day as strongly as to their fathers. Leading citizens of Peterborough, and in fact of this country are graduates of the lacrosse field, and such men as Sir Sam Hughes to mention just one prominent Canadian, attribute much of their success to the lessons they learned on athletic fields.

The Club has printed several hundred season tickets, which will be offered to the public for one dollar, admitting the holder to all the games in the local group. This was considered a more acceptable method of raising the money required to carry the intermediate team through the season's games. If a double schedule is arranged with Campbellford and Havelock the dollar tickets will secure admission for the entire series.

First District Games.

The Toronto Star says:

The first scheduled lacrosse games of the season have been announced from Havelock. The team of that town will meet Campbellford at the latter place on May 24th, and Campbellford will return the compliment on June 3rd. This is a record for early announcements and shows that the boys down east are right on the job.

When it comes to evangelistic work you have to hand it to Councillor W. H. Roe, of Havelock, who since the Good Friday convention has been Johnnie on the spot, lining up two teams in his own town. He will take the war path this week and visit Campbellford, Peterborough, Hastings, Madoc, Warkworth, etc., and hopes to report additional teams within the next few days. Looks like Mr. Roe is paddling the game to success in his end of the country. Good luck to him.

50,000 MILES WITH PRINCE

Captain William Barker, that doyen of kinematographers, having now completed the editing of his picture story of the H.M.S. Renown tour, arrangements have been made for the screening of this Official Film Record at the Grand Picture House starting to-day.

The film is likely to remain unique in the annals of history as the film record of the progress of H.R.H. The Prince of Wales in his mission as heir to the British Throne to cement that link of Empire, the fostering of which is so close to the heart of every Britisher.

Interviewed the other day in connection with his chef-d'oeuvre, Captain Will Barker was brimming over with the wonders the Royal party had witnessed on the tour of Empire.

"Apart altogether from the success of the main object of the tour, the opportunity it gave to get an insight into the varied customs of British Empire citizens, white and otherwise, was, to my mind, absolutely unique. It gave every place and every people we visited a chance of "epitomising" themselves in a dramatic way that enabled the traveller to realize their chief characteristics at a glance. It was almost as though some unseen film producer were working behind the scenes and determined, in fact, to present us with a Travel Super.

"It was on March 14, on a cold, miserable afternoon, that H.M.S. Renown started out on her 50,000 mile journey from Portsmouth. Barbados was our initial port of call—the first link of Empire, and you felt somewhat thrilled to realize that here Devonshire Drake and Henry Morgan, some three hundred years ago, had done their bit in welding up our Destiny of Empire.

FAMOUS AUTHOR TURNS TO SCENARIO WRITING

Frank M. Dazey has added another feather to his cap in writing the continuity for "The Fighting Shepherdess," starrring Anita Stewart, to be shown at the Allen Theatre, last time to-day. Mr. Dazey was called to the Louis B. Mayer studio in Los Angeles to write the continuity for "In Old Kentucky," a previous Stewart picture released through First National. He went with Miss Stewart to the southern California sheep-raising country for filming scenes in "The Fighting Shepherdess."

JOHN BARLEYCORN'S WAKE ENLIVENS STAID OLD TOWN

You will have some idea of the savage intensity with which the mourning sons of J. Barleycorn will revel on the night of June 30, when you see "Smiling Bill" Parsons' new Capitol Comedy, "The Sea Woof," which comes to the Allen Theatre, beginning Friday.

The scene is in Silkeville on Booze Eve, and though "Smiling Bill's" wife (Rena Rogers) won't let him venture out of doors, the camera gives us a vivid idea of what is going on along the rialto.

If Bacchus were in Silkeville on that night his smile of approval would reach from ear to ear, for there certainly are some goings on in the picture. The liquor almost floods Silkeville on that night, and the procession of disheveled full dress suits is indeed a sight to behold. The climax of the affair comes with the Prohibition rites at the bier of John Barleycorn.

There is old John, all in black, with a ribbon around his neck, stretched out in his coffin, and his vast number of red nose worshippers are grouped all around the corpse. It is pitiful, pathetic, overwhelmingly sad.

AT THE EMPIRE

"COUNTERFEIT" HAS NOVEL SETTING FOR HAUNT OF FORGERS.

Elsie Ferguson as Secret Service Agent Discovers that Yacht Off Newport is Criminals' Workshop.

At the risk of tipping off some enterprising criminal we venture to remark that if one of the ideas advanced in Elsie Ferguson's new picture, "Counterfeit," which is pleasing the patrons of the Empire Theatre this week, were adapted to real life, it would keep the Secret Service authorities sitting up nights. The film presents Miss Ferguson as a Southern girl of a distinguished family, now in financial straits, who joins the Secret Service to try and win the reward offered for rounding up a band of counterfeiters. The clews lead her to the homes of the rich at Newport and she traces the forgers not to a sordid den in some secluded spot, but to a lavishly furnished yacht lying in the harbor, which is certainly something new in the way of fake money-making establishments. It has everything to recommend it—novelty, safety, and the means of a quick get-away. If any arch-crook does make use of this idea, let us hope some capable sleuthess like Miss Ferguson is on the job to foil him.

The picture is thoroughly entertaining, and in addition to the star's pleasing work introduces a supporting cast of uniform excellence. George Fitzmaurice was the director and the scenario is by Ouida Bergere.

AT THE REGENT.

JIMMY AUBREY GETS BARREL OF FUN OUT OF EVERTHING HE HAS

Jimmy Aubrey can take a broom or a shovel, or a wheelbarrow, or any old thing and keep a motion picture audience roaring with laughter with no other paraphernalia. He is always on the alert, however, for new materials and novel situations in his comedies.

In "His Jonah Day," a Jimmy Aubrey comedy, which will be shown at the Regent theatre to-day, there is a big whale, a banana peel, a bottomless boat, an octopus, a sea-going baby carriage and various other peculiar things. Jimmy tries to launch the bottomless boat through a heavy surf, to rescue the boy from the sea-going baby carriage and his struggles are uproariously funny. Abandoning the useless boat at last, he tries to capture and ride a passing whale. The big sea beast eats him, but has to laugh when it finds him so funny, and Jimmy escapes. He mounts the leviathan and rides it after the baby carriage, rescuing the boy but getting into a fight with an octopus. Then the strangest thing happens.

MACDONALD'S CUT BRIER

¶ MACDONALD'S "BRIER" has become a Canadian institution. Smoked by the men who made history. In the bush, on the trail, in mining camps, prospectors' huts, factory yards, on trains, steamships, in the luxurious homes and downtown clubs of our Canadian cities—Macdonald's has always been recognized as the smoke.

¶ MACDONALD'S CUT "BRIER"—the same tobacco but in new form—maintains every Macdonald tradition since 1858, and gives to smokers—more tobacco for the money.

EXPECT FRESH ADVANCE FROM GERMANS SOON

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS THAT HUNS ARE AGAIN TRYING TO INTEREST UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON MEETING?

PARIS, April 8. — (Canadian Press).—It was stated semi-officially here to-day that a fresh proposition on reparations was expected from Germany.

Unconfirmed reports are in circulation that the Germans are making another effort to interest the United States in the question by negotiations between Karl Bergmann, German Under Secretary of the Treasury, and Roland W. Boyden, formerly United States Unofficial Representative with the Allied Reparations Commission. Mr. Boyden, however, is now in Vienna, it is understood.

Nothing is known in official circles of the reported invitation to the Allies and Germans to meet in Washington to discuss reparations, and it is declared here there is little liklihood of such procedure being favored by the Allies.

SMART HATS FOR GIRLS AT P. BLACK'S

JUST COME IN, AND OFFERED ACTUALLY AT HALF — COATS AND SUITS EQUALLY GOOD VALUE.

Mrs. Black, while in Toronto this week, made a fortunate purchase by clearing out a large lot of Girls' Hats at a remarkably low price. Among these were also several dozen Ladies' Hats, which will be included in the low half-price offerings. It is a collection in which money can easily be saved for the feminine members of the family.

The Girls' Hats are wide-brimmed models in light hemp maline straw, with pretty green hat bands and trimmings. G. N. GORDON DEFENDS RIGHTS OF MUNICIPALITIES SUCCESSFULLY

OTTAWA, April 8. (Special to the Examiner.) — G. N. Gordon, M. P., West Peterboro, put up a fight for municipal rights before the Private Bills Committee of the House yesterday.

He opposed the recommendation of a sub-committee that the James McLaren Company, which is applying to increase its capital to $10,000,000, be allowed to appeal to the Dominion Railway Board to project its electric lines in any municipality, in defiance of the municipalty's protest.

Mr. Gordon proposed that in Ontario the Hydro-Electric Power Commission should have the power to decide and to fix the rates, after a vote of the ratepayers of each municipality affected, had been taken. Considerable discussion followed, but finally the bill was reported amended along the lines advocated by the Peterboro member, preventing the company from invading any municipality in Ontario without securing a franchise by the vote of the ratepayers.

There was considerable comment upon Mr. Gordon's technical knowledge of the legal points involved.

Demonstrates Health Officers Have Right to Appeal Their Fee

PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED AT PORT HOPE FOLLOWED IN SETTLEMENT REACHED IN BELMONT CASE.

SUGGEST A TARIFF

A tentative settlement was reached this morning on Dr. Arthur S. Thompson's remuneration as M.O. H. for the townships of Belmont and Methuen between O. A. Langley, representing Dr. Thompson and F. D. Kerr, counsel for the joint townships in the appeal brought by Dr. Thompson to the County Judge yesterday under the Public Health Act to secure a remuneration compatible to the services he rendered.

Inadequate Payment.

Dr. Thompson for 3 years has been M.O.H. for these townships. In 1919 he was paid by fees and a small salary, receiving in all $194.73. Last year he received $176.50 exclusive of $86.70 paid him for making a sanitary survey of the schools. However, these monies were only collected after recourse to the law courts. On January 29, this year, the Council fixed his salary at $150 a year by by-law. Dr. Thompson alleges he was refused a fair hearing in making application to be paid by what he considers the most satisfactory way to all parties—by regulation fees. The salary of $150 was totally inadequate he claimed and appeal to Judge Huycke to fix a remuneration compatible to his duties.

His Honour, however, did not have to do this as a satisfactory agreement was effected through counsels, whereby Dr. Thompson will be paid on the basis of services rendered. A by-law pursuant to this settlement will be passed when the Belmont and Methuen townships meet shortly.

Counsels asked that His Honour adjourn the case sin die. "I think this is the proper conclusion. Perhaps this is the dawn of a new era. They do not seem to be able to get along down there without fighting," said Judge Huycke with a smile in adjourning the case sine die.

The suggested tariff to be paid Dr. Thompson on calls for the townships is $1 for the first mile and 75 cents for each subsequent mile. He will also be paid for the annual sanitary inspection of the 14 schools in the township. Dr. J. A. Morgan, M. O.H. for Smith township, testified yesterday that the salary offered Dr. Thompson was very small. He said he was paid by nominal salary and fees and received $576 last year. He favoured a tariff similar to what was later settled on. Dr. J. Cameron, Smith, of Lakefield, temporary M. O.H. for Harvey township, declared the salary refused by Dr. Thompson grossly inadequate for the duties of M.O.H. for a territory covering 229 square miles, somewhat thinly populated and with poor roads.

CONSCIENTIOUS AS TO INCOME TAX

PARIS, April 8. — (Canadian Press).—The Turkish Nationalists have resumed their advance in the Brusa sector of Asia Minor, according to despatches received at the French Foreign Office.

Fears are entertained here for the safety of the entire Greek Expeditionary Forces. The magnitude of the reverse suffered by the Greeks appears to be greater than at first supposed, judging from the latest information. Six thousand wounded Greeks are said to be in hospital at Brusa.

THE WORST OF UNEMPLOYMENT IS YET AHEAD

SO HON. G. H. FERGUSON WARNS AT SESSION OF LEGISLATURE WHICH LASTED TILL FIVE THIS MORNING.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press).—The Ontario Legislature sat until five again this morning, and when the House rose very little further progress had been made with the supplementary estimates.

Those for the Department of Labour were passed. Nothing was done, however with the estimates for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. These will probably not be touched until next week.

Dealing with the costs of operating the employment bureau, Hon. G. H. Ferguson warned the Government that the worst was yet to come as far as the unemployment situation was concerned.

The Premier replied that this was probably true, but no amount of public works, which the Government could provide would adequately meet the situation.

Discussing the Mothers' Allowance Act, the Premier declared that there was such a thing as a list of regulations for the several Boards throughout the Province.

Replying to Mr. Ferguson, he stated that the Cabinet was too busy to consider regulations while the House was in session.

Britain Faces An Industrial Crisis Unprecedented in Its Magnitude as Strike Spreads

RAILWAYMEN AND TRANSPORT WORKERS DECIDE TO STRIKE IN SUPPORT OF COAL MINERS, INCREASING ARMY OF STRIKERS TO OVER 3,000,000 AND PRECIPITATING BRITISH INDUSTRY INTO STATE OF UTTER CHAOS.

COAL MINERS REJECT GOVERNMENT ADVANCES

LONDON, Apil 8. — Canadian Press.) — The railwaymen and transport workers this evening decided to strike in sympathy with the miners, on Tuesday morning, failing the re-opening of negotiations for the coal strike s ettlement.

LONDON, April 8. (Canadian Press.) — Great Britain to-day appeared to be face to face with an industrial crisis of unprecedented proportions.

The National Union of Railwaymen and the Federation of Transport Workers, decided to strike in support of the British miners, who have been out since early this week.

The hopes that the miners and the coal pit owners might meet with government officials to discuss means of settling the strike were apparently blasted shortly after noon, when it was announced that the miners had refused to meet their employers. They based their refusal upon the fact that the mine owners had accepted the Government's proposal of a conference on condition that the striking pump men and engineers would return to work at once, pending negotiation of the difficulties which caused the strike.

The miners took the position that the next conference should be entirely free from restrictions upon discussions.

The official announcement that the "Triple Alliance" had decided upon a strike, was made shortly after noon.

J. H. Thomas, the railway leader, appeared much distressed.

"A Tripel Alliance strike has been decided upon," he said. "It will be controlled by the joint executive committees of the three bodies, which will meet this afternoon to take charge."

(Special Cable by Henry Somerville. Copyright 1921.)

LONDON, April 8. — On the simple question of wages the miners have a strong case which appeals to all workers, and to the public generally. The terms of the mine owners imply wage reductions of fifty per cent., in some cases, and twenty-five per cent. in the majority of cases. All the men in South Wales—the largest coal field in the country—are reduced thirty-five shillings a week. British workers have never known such heavy cuts at one stroke, and therefore they consider the miners have a legitimate grievance.

The Government is also condemned for the sudden forcing of the crisis. Legislation had provided for the continuance of control till August 31st, but the Government gave three weeks' notice of decontrol on March 31st, on the plea that the State could not afford continued subsidies.

As the government, until December last, was making large profits out of the coal industry, it might fairly be claimed that the government should not abandon control immediately profits cease. Presumably the government would have retained control until August if the industry had remained profitable.

The workers are convinced that the government's sudden decision for decontrol was not simply due to the desire to avoid losses. The legislation provides for railway decontrol on August 31st, and doubtless this means wage reductions also. The government would desire to dispose of the miners before attacking the railway men, rather than fight them both together.

This view of the government's policy is bringing the Triple Aliance together as never before. The railwaymen and transport workers say "we must support the miners, if ou turn is to come next."

An essential part of the owners' terms is that the lower paid workers suffer the heaviest loss proportionately because they take off the flat rate advances granted since 1914. The owners strongly object to flat rate advances and prefer percentage increases because of the effect on the output.

The owners' offer was arrived by the following method: They took the February wages and deducted from them the three flat rate advances made since 1914. These three advances total seven shillings per day and applied to all grades of workers equally.

The standard wage of 1914 being thus reached, the owners added to it all the present costs plus seventeen per cent. of the 1914 wage to represent the owners' profits. This total was then compared with the selling value of coal in February and the result was a surplus. This surplus was added to the 1914 wage and the sum was the new wage offered by the owners. Owing to this method of calculation the terms affect different districts very unequally. South Wales produces export coal, which has fallen heavily in price. The consequence was that the South Wales' wage rates fall seven shillings a day. South Yorkshire produces domestic coal, of which the price is maintained, and in some grades the Yorkshire miners will actually get higher wages under the owners' schedule.

NEWSPAPER IS BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM

P. C. Larkin, of Toronto, acclaimed the "Tea King of America," and president of the Salada Tea Company, lays great stress on the newspaper as an advertising medium. He says that, in spite of every sort of set-back from dealers and others, their policy of daily newspaper advertising only, has forced the merchants to obey the poplar voice of the tea-drinkers. "I could easily quote figures to show how incalculably large a share newspaper advertising may have in the forming of a national tastes and in building up a mighty industry."

CITY COUNCIL REFUNDS $560

ROUTINE BUSINESS

The Committee of the Whole Council met last night, later going into Council. The business last night was all of a cursory nature.

The Reception committee of the City Council will likely participate in the feting of the Y.M.C.A. basketball team, who captured the Intermediate Ontario Championship. Ald. A request of Mrs. Luke that she be given permission to use part of Albertus avenue for a garden that she utilized last yar, was left with Mayor McIntyre to deal with.

Council Meeting.

In Council M. Pappas was heard in regard to licenses procured for fourteen billiard tables at 380 George street, but had not been used, and he asked a refund of the license fees of $560.

Ald. White house moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that Mr. Pappas' request be granted and that the City Treasurer issues a cheque to him for $560 upon Mr. Pappas filing evidence satisfactory to the City Solicitor that he owns the licenses and handing them in for cancellation.

The Peterborough Rangers Band was given the use of the Central Park in which to hold Chautauqua concerts in June, by the Council last night.

W. E. Lech, secretary of the band, wrote the Council asking for the use of these ground.

Ald. Gainey moved the motion, which was seconded by Ald. Crowe.

The Council last night lacked only Ald. Gordon to be complete. Mayor McIntyre presided, with Aldermen Phelan, Hay, Whitehouse, Jones, Crowe, Morrison. Turner, Hamilton and Gainey present.

Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. A. Mowat renewed the request to the Council for a grant to the Playgrounds Association.

On Ald. Crowe's motion, seconded by Ald. Jones, it was decided to contribute $500 to the Association, half the sum to be paid on July 1 and the remainder on August 1.

JAZZ FURNITURE AND CLOTHING.

Described by Sir Charles Allen in London.

LONDON, April 8.—"Jazz" furniture, clothing and wall paper were decried by Sir Charles C. Allen in an address before the first National Furnishing Trades convention here.

"English furniture has ranked so high in the estimation of the world that one wonders how it comes that in it at this moment a diseases is developing of the jazz type," he said. "Will the public buy the jazz types of clothing material we see offered for sale, and the far worse things one finds printed and in wall papers in the wholesale stores? Jazz of all kinds is like rubbish of all kinds; it is not likely to last long.

"I have recently been shown great quanties of materials of most unharmonious color and crude design," he said, "things which might suitably be exhibited in a very dark cellar rather than in the light of day or in our homes. I was assured dressmakers were buying them largely. What a home should be like to match such clothing I do not care to think.

"It makes me devoutly trust that skirts of such materials will be nothing like so long as they are to-day. The human form will certainly occasionally be better to look upon than these monstrosities. They are products of a dangerously decadent movement."

Campbellford May Encourage Domestic Power Use in Block

LIGHT AND POWER COMMISSION WILL INSTAL ONE MAXIMUM DEMAND METER AND OTHERS MAY BE APPLIED FOR—MEANS MORE EXTENSIVE USE OF ELECTRIC POWER IN HOMES.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8.—A resolution passed at the meeting of the Light and Power Commission last night instructing B. A. McLean, manager of these public utilities, to instal a maximum demand meter in the St. Lawrence hotel, subject to Mr. J. A. Kerr's agreement to the meter rental, opened a discussion upon the possibility of increasing the local domestic consumption of power.

A. E. Wragg, chairman of the commission, presided with the other members, Mayor Meyers and S. J. Abernethy, present.

As an explanation of Mr. Kerr's request it was stated that he was furnishing his hotel with the latest electric labour-saving devices, but, instead of the power rate decreasing as the consumption increased, the cost was mounting beyond what he had expected. It was therefore proposed to put in a maximum demand meter as a substitute for charging on the connected load. Mr. Kerr had asked for house power rates or for a block of power.

Mayor Meyers— I suppose you could put a maximum demand meter in any place.

Mr. McLean—Yes.

Mayor Meyers—Ten horse power would supply my needs at home for a whole year at a cost of about $160. We sell to manufacturers the same way.

Mr. Abernethy—That's what I've been fighting for all the time.

Mr. McLean—As a Commission you will have to arrange a classification of that service and also the rating for it.

Mr. Wragg—We might have to draw the line on how much power any person should take on that basis.

Mayor Meyers— I'd say take 10 h.p. Put a meter on and, if that amount was overrun, pay for the excess.

Mr. McLean—It would pay you to heat your house that way. If two or three persons would apply for it the Commission take it up.

It was remarked that 20 or 30 persons might take from 10 to 20 horse power on that basis and pay for it whether they used all of it or not.

Have Plenty of Power.

Mayor Meyers—We have the power to sell. What difference does it make whether we sell it to private individuals or manufacturers so long as they pay for it.

Mr. McLean said that the price of maximum demand meters was around $80 and one of them should give service for 10 or 15 years.

Mr. Wragg suggested that two mibht be required for replacement purposes in the event of one breaking down.

Mr. Abernethy—If we had there or four applications we might keep a spare meter.

Mr. Wagg asked whether the Commission would decide on the rental rate for the maximum demand meter.

Mr. McLean—I would recommend a percentage charge.

Mayor Meyers moved, seconded by Mr. Abernethy, that the rental be fixed at ten per cent.

This resolution and the one authorizing Mr. McLean to buy a meter for the St. Lawrence hotel were adopted.

May Go to Ottawa.

The Commission decided to ask for an appointment with the Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, in order to present to him certain aspects of the local power situation. They will also request C. A. Munson, M.P., to introduce the deputation.

Protect Fire System.

Mr. McLean reported that in the tapping of the water mains to put in connections some of the materials used were not up to the standard he regarded as necessary. Under the present method the water consumer pays for the expense of the work under the supervision of the superintendent of the waterworks. When some material of standard quality was not available an inferior grade was passed so as to preclude keeping the street open until the proper material could be procured.

"We should do the work and charge the consumer for it, or do it ourselves and also assume the cost," said Mr. McLean. "No plumber or citizens should be allowed to touch our mains. As soon as the fire bell rings the pressure is pushed up to 125 opunds. We should have absolute control to the sidewalk lines."

Mr. Wragg declared that it was essential to safeguard the water service for fire protection.

Mr. Abernethy—We should control the pipes to the edge of private property.

Mayor Meyers—What is the cost of a connection?

Mr. McLean—Some of them are $15.

Mayor Meyers suggested that it might be preferable to follow the present pratcice. "Out of the goodness of our hearts," he added.

The following resolution was finally adopted on the Mayor's motion, seconded by Mr. Abernethy:

That hereafter any connections made to the water mains of the town must meet the approval of the inspector for the Commission and the materials used must be up to a standard quality which will be set by the Commission, and that sufficient of such materials be kept in stock by the Commission to supply a possible urgent demand, and that such materials be sold at cost by the Commission.

Mr. Wragg raised the point that if the materials were supplied at cost the local plumbers might object.

"They might think we were interfering with their business," said Mr. Abernethy.

Mayor Meyers pointed out that the Commission would stock only a small supply, which should not enter into the question. The proposal was mainly to provide for emergencies when the materials required were not otherwise available locally.

Mr. McLean— They will either have to buy from us or show something just as good.

RE-OPEN OLD QUARRIES.

KINGSTON, April 8.—It is reported here that Cleveland capitalists are about to re-open the old Forsythe stone quarries on Grindstone Island, which have been closed ever since the declaration of a strike about 25 to 30 years ago. The entire plant installed by the original owner is now nothing but scrap.

BOWLING AND TENNIS CLUB PREPARE FOR THE COMING SEASON—A SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8. — The Bowling and Tennis Club met last evening for the purpose of preparing for the coming season. The following officers, patrons and patronesses were re-elected: Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Tait, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wood. Hon. Pres., Dr. A. Haig; President, H. Brewster; Vice-Pres., P. Kelly; Sec.-Treasurer, R. J. Allan; convenor of the Tennis committee, Dr. H. B. Longmore; committee, Mrs. D. W. Douglas, Miss Robertson, H. B. Free, C. H. Harris; convenor of Bowling committee, Dr. A. Haig; committee, Dr. O. C. Watson, Ed. Tait, L. Glover, A. Rundeau, Mr. Morris.

A motion was passed that Mr. F. A. Burger be added to the Tennis committee and Mr. S. H. Hale be added to the Bowling committee.

Mr. A. L. Rundeau and Mr. P. J. Kelly were appointed to audit the books for 1920.

Mr. Allan, Mr. Kelly, Mr. Reindeau, Mr. Brewster were appointed a committee with full power to act, to see about their gas pump, to arrange for the obtaining of a large roller and to engage a competent caretaker.

Mr. Ed. Tait was authorized to purchase a sufficient quantity of grass seed to put the green in good condition.

The general improvement of the ground was discussed and it was decided to call a general business meeting for Tuesday evening.

"Blue Bird Bazaar."

The "Blue Bird' bazaar held yesterday afternoon in the Parish Hall by the Willing Workers of Christ church was one of the most successful bazaars ever held in Campbellford. The weather was ideal, and the ladies one and all determined to make the bazaar a success. The hall was beautifully decorated with blue birds and pussy willows, in fact the blue bird good luck idea was carried out throughout the whole programme. The display of fancy work and plain and fancy sewing was a credit to the ladies and as very reasonable prices were asked for the various articles they were quickly disposed of. The home cooking section demanded special attention and quite displayed the skill of the ladies in the culinary art.

Very special mention must be made of the excellent supper which was served from 6 to 8 o'clock and those who were fortunate enough to attend will not soon forget the repast. Mrs. C. W. Smith being in charge.

In the evening an excellent programme was provided. Rev. Mr. Clark acted as chairman and announced the opening number, which was a selection by the C.S.E.T. jazz band in costume. This number, as did the following number, rendered by the C.S.E.T. band, called forth streams of applause. Mr. Brunelle then rendered a violin solo very sweetly and for which he was encored. The Blue Bird chorus, given by the girls of Mrs. Matthew Sergean't Sunday school class in blue bird costume, was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. R .T. Cowell, A.R.C.O., or-

"RATEPAYER" SCORES THE NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL FOR DONATING TO CHARITY ON TOO GREAT SCALE

The North Monaghan Council has received the following letter from a "Ratepayer:"

"Brownton, Mar. 18, 1921.

"Mr. McIntosh: I write to you. There is a lot paid out for charity in North Monaghan. Some of the ratepayers are grumbling about it, so they got me to write a letter to you. It is a shame. Able bodied men feeding at our expense. So much work on the farms to do. We might as well all quit work and get charity. When they are offered work, only picked jobs for them. If this goes on, the Council will have more to keep next winter. Prove yourself a good councillor then and notice this.

FROM A RATEPAYER.

P. S.: Them eating the very best eatables. Good eatables on the table we cant get. Come day, go summer. God speed next winter. Charity, keep us.

TOWNSHIP AND ITS M.O.H. IN DISAGREEMENT

DR. A. S. THOMPSON, OF HAVELOCK, AND TOWNSHIP OF BELMONT IN CONTROVERSY OVER FEES.

APPLIES TO JUDGE

Dr Arthur Septimus Thompson of Havelock, has had a serious disagreement with the township of Belmont and Methuen over his remuneration as M.O.H. of the two townhhips. Dr. Thompson has been M.O.H. for three years The first year he was paid $194.73 in fees for his work Last year he received $176.50 exclusive $86.70 paid him for making a sanitary survey of the schools. He collected this remuneration only after a law suite. On January 29, this year, the Council fixed his salary at $150 a year by bylaw. Dr. Thompson alleges he was refused a fair hearing in making application to be paid by fees as this he considered the most satisfactory form of remuneration to all parties. He further alleges he was forcibly ejected from the meeting by the burly Reeve for trying to create a disturbance.

His salary was fixed at $150 a year, this to include an annual inspection of all the schools in the township as required by the Provincial Board of Health

This salary he declares is not adequate for the service he has to perform. He has applied to Judge Huycke under the Public Health Act to fix a salay compatible to the services rendered. The appeal is being heard by Judge Huycke today in the Judge's Chambers, at the Court House.

O. A. Langley is representing Dr. Thompson and F. D. Kerr is counsel for the townships.

Dr. Thompon's Case

Dr. Thompson first testified this morning.

"The fees for 1920 were fair and reasonable in every particular," Dr. Thompson said. The inspection of schools is now an annual affair. It involves a full inspection of schools as regards heating, lighting, etc., and reports must also be made out for the Provincial Board of Health and the townships council. The examinations of the schools is imperative by the Board of Health he said.

14 Schools

Dr. Thompson said he had 14 schools to inspect scattered over an area of 229 square miles

The roads are bad throughout both townships he said, in a worse condition he told Mr. Langley than those of Asphodel.

Dr. Thompson gave a lengthy resume of a M.O.H.'s duties. The doctor said the people in that part of the country were poorer than in the front townships and his work was more difficult because of the poverty and general ignorance of sanitation and ventilation. Diseases are often communicated from Havelock as it is a divisional railway point he said Last year there were 22 cases of small pox and several the year before. Eeach year there have been some communicable diseases in the townships necessitating placarding and isolation.

Dr. Thompson admitted to Mr. Kerr he had no written instructions to make a sanitary survey in 1921. He had the original circular letter from the Department and was previously told by Dr. McCullough Provincial M.O.H that the survey was to be made annually.

Dr. Thompson admitted that medical fees were graded by the size of the community.

Dr. Thompson favoured remuneration by fees but Dr. McCullough opposed payment by fees and wanted the M.O.H's. paid salaries. Estimating his work on a salary basis Dr. Thompson said he would consent to not less than $300.

There was only one school, which was the farthest north, that he did not inspect last year he told Mr. Kerr, the Board of Health, consenting to this non-inspection.

Mr. Kerr attempted to cross-examine if a public school inspector could not have performed much of the routine sanitary inspection work but could not secure any satisfactory answer.

Dr. Thompson said in his evidence to-day that he had 229 square miles of territory in his township whereas in Smith there is only 90 square miles and 119 miles in Marmora Township Evidence will be submitted of the salary the Health Officers of these townships receive.

The case is proceeding.

24-HOUR PLAN.

WINNIPEG, April 8 (Canadian Press).—The 24-hour system of recording arrival and departure of Canadian National trains through the medium of the bulletin board is to be abolished, and the 12-hour system introduced.

This change has been made in view of the fact that passengers have experienced considerable difficulty readily determining the time of arrival and departure.

POLITE FOOTPAD FUR CONNOISEUR

CHICAGO, April 8.— "Pardon, madam, but will you kindly remove your furs? Your hat, too? What a pretty effect! Just matches the furs, or I wouud not take it. So sorry, madam. Good evening."

This is the modern bandit's manner of saying, "Your money or your life!" Mrs. Cecil Bycroft, 4516 Ellis avenue, told Jerry Vaugn, desk sergeant at the Hyde Park station. She was held up in Drexel boulevard while returning from a movie.

Tre robber did not demand money, but at the point of a gun forcer her to give him her hat and furs valued at $150. He was extremely polite she said.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

In its advertising campaign in connection with the referendum the Citizens' Liberty League is repeating its mistake of 1919, of assuming that the people of Ontario are without brains. When it declares that "the issue in the coming referendum is a clean-cut one between total prohibition and Government control," the League is simply insulting public intelligence. The issue is nothing of the sort, and nobody knows that fact better than the officers of the Liberty League. The question to be decided by the voters of the Province on April 18th is whether or not the importation of liquor is to be prohibited. Government control was an issue in the previous referendum and its principle was rejected by a majority of nearly a quarter of a million votes, but it has nothing whatever to do with the present campaign, and no voter who is sincere in his advocacy of Government control would be logical in voting for the importation of liquor, because in so doing he would be lessening the chances of securing the system in which he believes. If the Liberty League really has confidence in its own propaganda and has any desire to be thought logical, it should advise the people to shut off the importation of liquor in order to pave the way for the introduction of Government control, which certainly would not mean anything if every individual had the power to bring in liquor for his own use. In the present campaign, however, the cry of "Government control" represents the proverbial red herring, and its adoption by the Liberty League will surely deceive no one when the issue is so simple.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

The efforts of the Board of Trade to secure a fish hatchery for the Kawartha Lakes district should be endorsed by all the municipalities in the section affected, for unless some such step is taken to ensure the re-stocking of the fishing grounds in this locality much of the drawing power of the Kawartha chain will be lost. It is not of great importance just where the hatchery is located so long as it is installed somewhere in the Kawartha district, and the municipalities should get together and make a joint effort to induce the Government to recognize the claims of this district. The releasing of a quantity of bass fry every two or three years is not of very great assistance in maintaining the Kawartha Lakes fishing at a normal standard, and unless a fish hatchery is established soon the probabilities are that the lakes will be almost completely fished out and the anglers who have flocked into this district from all over the United States and Canada will seek new scenes. The loss of a large portion of the tourist trade would be felt by the municipalities in all parts of the lake region and they should be eager to do their part to improve the conditions and to ensure a steady supply of fish for the Kawartha section. Locally, the newly formed Fish and Game Association the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association, and other interested organizations should lose no time in joining forces with the Board of Trade in the campaign that is being inaugurated.

BE TRUTHFUL.

Under the above heading the Ogdensburg Journal has a very timely article when it says:

"No man who is truthful needs a press agent or any advertising medium to convince the people that he is a person in whom they may place confidence. As a result his demeanor will denote character. Unless it does, ordinarily, all publicity methods known will not help in the long run. Few ever depart from first impressions. When we meet a man whose appearance bespeaks integrity we seldom change our minds. That will occur occasionally, but the instances are rare. Nothing in the size of type, however, from agate to the largest font will get him on top and keep him there unless he is truthful.

"With proper advertising a yellow dog without pedigree can be sold as the best registered kennel product. This unquestionably is so, but the sale can only be made once. The same rule applies to the man heralded as great but who after he is placed upon a pinnacle fails to meet requirements. From that moment he is numbered among those found and 'not wanted.' An unlimited supply of ink and argument may be used to explain the whys and wherefore, but if the public has purchased a bogus article it will not be fooled into any subsequent transaction.

"To-day the people are demanding the truth. They want the facts as they are and not as they might wish they were. Intelligent people can see no benefit in coloring any situation to make it appear right if it is wrong. If it is wrong the truth might just as well be known. Hiding it makes the problem more difficult to adjust later. Putting off is always dangerous and there is a natural tendency of a great many to evade. The honest man, however, is the man who seeks the truth and when he finds it is willing to declare it frankly and openly.

"The whole trend, in politics, in business, and in every walk, seems to be for truth. But aside from that, and as a personal proposition, truth has a tremendous value. The man who is truthful has standing and it makes no difference who he is or what he is, and the man who is not truthful has no standing no matter who he is or what he is. It has been said that a liar is worse than a thief and it can be added that it is harder to catch a liar than it is a thief. To use that short and ugly word, aiming it at any individual, seems to be more damaging as an accusatory utterance than any other charge that could be made.

"The man whose word is good is the man who counts. If he is prominent and it is said that he is truthful it solidifies his standing, and if he is not prominent it emphasizes his personal worth immeasurably. As to the standing of the truthful man there is no room for debate, for there is no community where there is not one whose shining characteristic is, 'he tells the truth.' And when this is said of any of us we can claim the respect of the people who count and our bank deposits will not have any influence one way or the other, for truth means character."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

The difference between a man and a woman is that a woman reaches a conclusion first and reasons it out afterward.

Who says talk is cheap? Listen! Parliament sits for an average of 100 days each session, costing the country approximately $2,000,000. Thus when a member delivers a three-hour speech he is costing the country about three times as much as his enlarged indemnity of $4,000 a year.

To continue our mathematics, the other day Parliament invested $7,500 worth of time in discussing whether the Chief Justice should be exempt from an income tax which amounts to about $1,300.

And the foregoing figures by no means include the cost of newsprint and labor which the newspapers of the country waste in carrying the long-winded messages from Ottawa back to the constituents for whose approbation those messages were delivered.

Ask Us.

Q.—How many dances should a girl's escort take with her providing he likes the girl as well as her dancing? Is it still correct to send a girl candy? Is a man of 19 too young to be engaged to girl of 18? And why is it that a girl likes to be liked by a fellow some other girl likes? "Anxious."

A.—(1) If he doesn't neglect to ask her before she is surrounded he takes first, last and "supper" dances, and as many more as he can without neglecting the girl who he asked to accompany to the dance first. (2) Yes, it is correct to send candy, although cigarettes are much more modern. (3) It is far better to be engaged when only 19 for it gives you more time to patch your heart afterwards. (4) Perhaps because every women wants what she doesn't possess, or perhaps because the advent of women into business has taught their sex to believe that competition is the life of trade.

Pretty stenographers are like money. Everybody wants them but nobody can keep them.

If daylight saving had been approved by the voters a woman would have an excuse for being late for a train at least.

SPLENDID COMMUNITY SPIRIT AT FAIRVIEW.

Delightful Social Gathering to Welcome Newcomers.

FAIRVIEW, April 8.—The coming to this community of a number of families recently and within the last year was made the occasion of a largely attended social gathering in the Methodist Church on Friday evening, April 5th. A most delightful social time it proved to be and cannot but make our newcomers feel very much at home amongst us. After the programme, which consisted of music, readings and short addresses, the meeting became very informal. While the first tables were being served in the spacious dining hall at the rear of the church, those in the building improved the time in social chat. Everybody was smiling, and altogether a very fine community spirit prevailed.

The people of Fairview are to be congratulated for their thoughtfulness in extending such an open-hearted welcome to their new neighbors, and, indirectly, making such a fine contribution toward solving one of the problems confronting rural life. They are further to be commended in erecting the new building, which lends itself so admirably in serving the social life of the community.

A Laxative The Old Can Rely On

Let them take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin for Constipation. Mild and gentle. Never loses its good effect.

ELDERLY people know how much more difficult it is each year as they get older to avoid the ill effects of chronic constipation. The stomach and bowel muscles relax as age advances, and as you are naturally less active, in time they work only by stimulation. You try dieting and exercise, and then take medicine.

All medicines, however, are not suited to elderly people any more than to children, so you will be glad to know of a particular medicine that acts as near to Nature as has yet been found. It is a prescription written thirty odd years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who is himself now in the 82nd year of his age and still active in his profession. It is known in the trade as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and you can buy it under that name at any drug store. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months, and all can use it.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It acts mildly, gently and without griping. It so trains the stomach and bowel muscles that in time medicine of all kinds can be dispensed with. When people learn of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin and see how wonderfully it acts they realize how unnecessary it is to use drastic salt waters, pills and powders, for these do but temporary good and are weakening to most constitutions. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, on the contrary, is so natural and safe, (it contains no narcotic or strong drugs), that two generations of mothers have given it to their babies.

Take a teaspoonful the next time you feel any distress of the stomach, liver or bowels, if you are constipated, have a headache, cold or fever, if you are bilious, dyspeptic, tired. If Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin should ever fail to do as claimed you can have your money refunded. More people use it than any other laxative in the world.

A DINNER COMPANION.

Chapter 22

"What did you think of me?" my egotistical youth entreated across the little table. He turned a fork over and over with nervous fingers.

I thought a moment. It was so hard in life to be strictly honest. I could not tell him that I had not thought much one way or the other. I had only been amused.

"In the pavilion where I fell asleep?" he went on quickly.

"Oh, there—that was just a compliment to the music," I answered with a smile. "I envied you."

"That's broad of you," he said largely. I wondered if he could be more than 18 years of age—hardly that perhaps. His cheeks were quite pale now and I marvelled at the fine texture and transparency of the skin.

"I could not help noticing you in the pavilion," he explained. "It's beastly dull here. I've been hunting up diversion for the last two weeks," he went on, eager to talk of himself. "The Governor sent me down to convalesce after a 'flu' knockout. There were 100 cases in college."

"I noticed you were a little pale," I ventured solicitously—but the paleness gave place quickly to the self-conscious redness at my personal allusion.

"I'm just finishing my sophomore year at Princeton. It's a man's college," he told me proudly.

"Yes, my husband is a Princeton graduate. He thought it about the right place, too," I answered, glad to find a mutual interest.

"Of course I knew you would be married," he said impulsively. Then added quickly, "And you would get a big man. I might have known that. How long are you staying?"

"A week—ten days perhaps." I could not be cross with him. His seeming rudeness was very youthful straightforwardness. He would lose it all too soon, and not far beyond the lofty towers of those precious college days.

"Is Mr.—your husband, coming down over the weekend?" He inquired eagerly.

"I don't expect him this week—next perhaps," I said a bit sadly, thinking longingly of Leonard. What was he doing? If only I could see him this very minute.

"Not this week, then?" he repeated with undisguised pleasure. Only 18 years could be so honestly egotistical.

"Gosh, your eyes are black," he suddenly flung at me.

It was my turn to color.

"I've been trying to make out ever since seeing you yesterday in the pavilion. One is always reading in novels about black eyes but I've never believed there was such a thing. Never seen them myself," he added. His manner was delightfully personal.

"Do you like them?" I indulged my vanity.

An adorable smile spread over his young face. His lips trembled a little emotionally.

"I'm keen for them. Honest! Would you take a walk with me on the Board Walk this evening?" he asked hopefully.

It was lovely. He was so amusing.

"I won't bore you?" I teased.

"I'd—I'd be crazy about it," he exploded vehemently. "My name is Thierry Brunswick. You haven't told me yours."

"Mine's Allen—Mrs. Leonard Allen," I told him.

He looked disappointed.

"You might call me Thie. Everyone does," he said with atht adorable smile of his.

"All right, Thie," I said kindly. "We're friends."

I thought I felt a sudden reserve and disappointment in his manner. I had hurt his feelings perhaps. He ate his dinner in silence for a while, but his youthful friendliness soon melted the reticence.

Later I discovered the cause.

We left the dining room together, and I asked for my mail at the office. There was a letter from Leonard. My heart thrilled excitedly—I was so glad to hear from him.

As I tore the letter from the envelope, it slipped from my anxious fingers and lay face upon the floor.

I had forgotten Thie. He sprang from behind me and picked up the letter. He held it a minute in his hand. Then as he handed it to me, I heard him say aloud, but scarcely audibly:

"Noreen—that's a wonderful name. I've been dying to know it. I—I beg your pardon," he said excitedly, his face crimson.

Tomorrow—Thierry Brunswick.

LAKEFIELD BOY SECURES GOOD POST AT OTTAWA.

LAKEFIELD, April 8. — The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Madill are heartily congratulating them over the splendid position secured by their son, Mr. R. Glenn Madill, B.A., who left on Tuesday for Ottawa to take up his duties as assistant magnetician in the Dominion Observatory. Very few young men are lucky enough to step into such a good birth immediately after graduating from the university, but Glenn is exceptionally clever, and is sure to make good.

Warmly Welcomed.

Miss Amy Booth, of Apsley, was a visitor in Lakefield for a couple of days this week and was warmly welcomed by her friends.

Crowds at Sale.

Lakefield was literally swarming with people on Wednesday, ostensibly out to attend the sale of the late R. Graham & Son. A citizen was heard to remark that the crowds going in and coming out reminded him of Eaton's on a bargain day. The weather was inviting and the bargains offered evidently tempting.

Garden Activity.

Out of doors the greatest activity is noticed in the gardens, where the ever-useful rake is made to do good service in clearing the lawns and boulevards of the litter of winter, and the evening breeze is laden with the pungent odor of burning leaves.

ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE.

Philadelphia Jury Frees Mary Rogers.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—Marie ("Boots") Rogers has been acquitted by a jury of the charge of being accessory after the fact in connection with the killing of Henry T. Peirce, manufacturers' sales agent, last November.

The jury had been instructed by Judge Audenreid to acquit the defendant on the indictments charging murder and manslaughter, after the defence had failed in its plea to take the case out of the jury's hands.

Marie Rogers was the last of three defendants to be tried for the killing. Peter D. Treadway, the first to go on trial, was convicted and sentenced to a term of from nineteen and a half to twenty years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

Joseph A. Moss, who pleaded guilty on Tuesday of last week to being an accessory after the fact, was sentenced by Judge Audenreid to eighteen months in the County Prison, his term to date from his commitment on December 6. A fine of $100 was also imposed. Henry M. Stevenson, in making a plea for leniency, told the Court that Moss had been subjected to a third degree by the Pittsburgh police before being brought to this city. He said two of Moss's teeth were knocked out and his eyes blackened when he refused to confess to the slaying.

Marion A. Elliott, who is accused of the actual killing of Peirce, is still being sought by the police.

After Peirce was killed, Treadway, Moss, Elliott and Marie Rogers fled in the victim's car to Wheeling. Treadway and the girl were captured a few days later in that city, while Moss was taken into custody in Pittsburgh.

PRESENTATION BY GLEANERS' CLASS OF PARK STREET

The Gleaners' Class of Park Street Baptist Church gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Albert Lee (nee Miss Amy Hewitt) at the home of Mrs. Booth, 516 Chamberlain street, on Monday evenning. As the clock struck nine, a mock marriage was performed, with Miss Marion Pilling as the bride and Mr. Albert Thomas as groom, carrying a huge decorated basket, containing many useful and costly gifts. The unpacking of the parcels by Mr. and Mrs. Lee, with the reading of the inscribed verses, caused great merriment.

Peterborough, April 5, 1921.

Mr. Albert Lee, City:

Dear Classmate,—To-night we are assembled here as two classes, yet with one purpose. The Gleaners are showing Mrs. Lee their appreciation of her services as a classmate by presenting her with gifts, and we felt this an ideal opportunity for us to express to you our good wishes and congratulations.

Kindly accept this gift from the boys, and with it, our sincere hope that you and Mrs. Lee may enjoy many years of unmarred happiness.

As you sit by the heat of your own fireside getting your shins still warmer just think of the Comrades who'll conquer the tide. The Class that's in the corner.

Yours till Niagara Falls Up
THE COMRADES.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee acknowledged in suitable terms the gifts of the various classes, and expressed their appreciation of the kindly feeling shown. The evening was pleasantly spent in the enjoyment of games and music, and a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

A Friend of the Family

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in Pennsylvania and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. R. V. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores in the United States and Canada, so that the public could easily obtain this remarkable tonic, corrective, and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks without alcohol—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Introduce pure red blood into the system, and health is assured. When you feel run-down, out of sorts, blue and despondent try the energizing influence of this reliable tonic. You can obtain Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form at all drug stores, or send 10c for a trial package to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y.

CARLOAD HORSES FOR MISSIONARY PURPOSES

WINNIPEG, Man., April 7. — Short on cash, but long on stock, the parishioners of Rev. Hugh Nixon, Methodist church, Elm Creek, Sask., a farming and ranching district, presented him with a carload of horses for missionary purposes. The district has suffered from drouth for some years and the people took this way of doing what they conceive to be their duty with respect to missions. That the horses were not scrubs is shown by the fact that Rev. Mr. Nixon realized close to $2,000 for them.

Last year the Elm Creek parishioners took the some method of making a substantial contribution to the Forward Movement.

REAL PIONEER OF CALARY AND WEST.

Postmaster 36 Years, Now Retires.

CALGARY, Alta., April 7 (Canadian Press).—George Clift King, for 36 years postmaster of Calgary, retired on 1st April.

Mr. King is a real pioneer of Calgary and the West. For three years he served in the Royal North-West Mounted Police, leaving the force in 1877 to take up a store managership. He became postmaster on 15th April, 1885, and has held the position ever since.

Mr. King took a keen interest in the advancement of the city, and held office of Mayor for two years, 1886 and 1887, besides serving as an alderman three years.

A veteran of the Riel Rebellion, he became the first president of the Army and Navy Club in Calgary.

Mr. King has always been a prominent figure in public affairs, and is now throwing all his enthusiasm into the organisation of the Alberta Old Timers' and Pioneers' Association.

100 HUDSON SEAL COATS WORTH $32,500 GARNERED FROM THE RICE LAKE MARSHES

APPROXIMATE RESULT OF THE SEASON'S TRAPPING ACCORDING TO THE FIGURES OF LOCAL FURRIERS—CATCH ESTIMATED AT 6,000 PELTS.

The marshes of the lower Otonabee River and Rice Lake have produced 6,000 muskrat pelts, according to the rough estimates of local fur buyers. A heavy catch of rats was made possible by the early opening of the season, and although it is almost impossible to determine the number of pelts that were sold by Rice Lake trappers, opinions of buyers run all the way from 5,000 to 7,000, with the average probably being close to 6,000. The prices was generally two dollars flat. In other words, the marshes from Bensfort or Hale's Bridge, south to Keene, or a little further east, returned a revenue of approximately $12,000. Last year, when the buyers were passing out five dollar bills for rat pelts, the total catch was worth about $35,000 or $40,000 to the trappers. One buyer said that the total might have exceeded even that figure.

As far as this year's sales go, the amount of money that changed hands was $10,000 or $12,000.

It is a simple and an interesting bit of arithmetic to compute the number of Hudson seal coats that have been gathered from the marshes of Rice Lake this spring. In the making of one coat the number of skins required will range from 45 to 65, according to the length of the garment, and whether or not it is trimmed. Accepting for present purposes that the average coat takes 60 skins, and that the year's catch at Rice Lake and the lower reaches of the Otonabee was 6,000 pelts, it is evident that the number of Hudson seal coats should be 100. There is no claim to exactitude in the result of this little sum in mental arithmetic, but if the estimates upon which it is based are nearly correct and they are the opinions of men who are familiar with the fur business in several of its departments, then the conclusion that one hundred coats will be produced by this year's catch of Rice Lake rats is not far astray.

If these 100 coats sell at $325 each, the total sum involved will be $32,500. The trappers receive $12,000 and the consumers pay $32,500. The difference covers the cost of cleaning, dyeing, trimming, and all the other processes through which the pelts pass before they are ready for the cutters and sewers. There are some losses from damaged skins and other defects, and also in shrinkage. One furrier stated that after dyeing the skins are just about half their original size. He believed that next winter's prices of Hudson seal coats would extend from $300 or $325 to $375.

Last season the dealers took their losses by selling at something more than $300 the coats that should have retailed at $500 and higher.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

To the Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you please insert the following article written on the subject of "Government Control" in an early edition?—Yours truly, Reader.

"Government control" is a herring drawn across the trail by the "wet" propagandists. An attempt is being made to delude electors into the belief that a "No" majority in the coming Referendum will usher in the retail sale of liquor in public shops by public officials. Those who are promoting this deception assume that the people of Ontario have lost their memories. "Government control" was voted down overwhelmingly in this Province in October, 1919. The issue was put plainly before the people in the second and fourther questions submitted in the last Referendum, as follows:

"(2) Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.51-100 per cent. alcohol weight measure through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

"(4) Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?"

Question No. 2 was negatived by a vote of 733,691 to 408,266. Question No. 4 was negatived by a vote of 693,829 to 447,146. The questions and the answers could not have been clearer. The "wets" coolly ignore this crushing verdict and talk as though Government control had just appeared on the horizon as the heaven-sent solution of the liquor problem. It is a method that has failed wherever tried. Said the Council for Social Service of the Church of England two years ago:

"The vaunted Gothenburg system is a proved failure in Sweden; the fact is beyond all argument. The system of State dispensaries has been found unsatisfactory wherever it has been tried. There is no evading or blinking the fact. It must be total prohibition if it is to be effective."

The State dispensaries were a fiasco in the Southern States. The Saskatchewan Government tried the system as an alternative to the barroom, and the people voted it out at the first opportunity. Said Attorney-General Turgeon: "Our Government was in the liquor business, but never again, never again." Despite the warnings of experience, Quebec and British Columbia are about to experiment with Government control, and become the saloons of the continent. For Ontario the choice on April 18 is between real prohibition and the present state of things. "Government control" is not remotely an issue. It was buried only eighteen months ago under an avalanche of ballots. The assumption that it is a live question to-day is an impertinent refusal to look facts in the face and respect the verdict of the people.

ARMED BANDITS ARE BUSY SOUTH OF ARGENTINA.

Over a Thousand Terrorize Inhabitants With Impunity.

BUENOS AIRES, March 7.— (By Mail to Associated Press.)—The Far South of the Argentine republic has been the scene lately of a series of adventures, the account of which reads as though it had been lifted from some United States' story of the "Wild West" in its palmy days of lawlessness.

Peons of some of the ranches of the territory of Santa Cruz, dissatisfied with the humdrum life of sheep shearing and sheep tending which is the occupation of the great majority of the people in those remote regions, converted themselves into a band of bushrangers and commenced to hold up the inhabitants in the best Jesse James style. Their example was quickly followed by their fellows on many other establishments and among them they soon "mobilized" formidable gangs of desperadoes which terrrorized the best parts of the territory with absolute impunity. Their number was estimated at over 1,000.

The bandits, who were well armed with rifles and mounted on the best horses, raided all the likeliest establishments, burned the buildings, stole all valuables to be found and obliged the employes to join their ranks. Even when they omitted this last outrage they would leave the owner and his employes in a helpless position by carrying of all the horses on the place.

In certain instances they did a great deal of wanton damage such as the wrecking of shearing machinery and the cutting of boundary fences.

The panic they caused among the sheep farmers and others was so great that many of them abandoned their properties and fled.

The police had more than one encounter with the "enemy" but suffered defeat with many casualties.

The Argentine government finally sent cavalry to deal with the bandits. Some of the milder spirits among the 'rebels' agve themselves up while other, numbering about 200, took to moutains and still others fled to the adjoining territory of Chubut, where they are reported still to be making trouble.

South Africa has produced 88 per cent. of the world's diamonds.

KINGSTON, April 8.—Navigation will be opened on the Rideau Canal this year from May 1 it has been announced at the offices of the Rideau Canal Commission. This is the unusual date of opening, but, unlike most seasons, little difficulty this year is being experienced in getting the canal into shape, owing to the mild weather. The commission is expecting that shipping activity will be resumed on a scale almost, if not quite, equal to last year.

WILLIAMS CLAIMS TO BE INNOCENT

PROPRIETOR OF "DEATH FARM" DENIES IMPLICATION IN DEATH OF ELEVEN NEGROES.

COURTHOUSE, COVINGTON, Ga., April 8 — "Before God, I am innocent of their death."

"These were the concluding words of John S. Williams, proprietor of the Jasper County "death farm" testifying in his own defense yesterday.

Charged with having murdered Lindsey Peterson, Willie Preston and Harry Price, Williams made a sweeping denial of any knowledge as to how the negroes were killed.

"As for the other eight men killed in Jasper County, I will explain that satisfactorily at the proper time," he said.

In an unsworn statement to the jury he told of a visit of federal agents to his place and their investigation of alleged peonage conditions.

"They told me they had found nothing wrong—that the worst thing they found was that one of the boys carried a revolver."

The state rested its case following the testimony of Sheriff B. L. Johnson, Newton County.

Sheriff Johnson testified to finding eight bodies of negro "peons" in Jasper County, as well as to the recovery of three in the Yellow a nd South Rivers.

Is Quite Composed.

"I have nothing to fear," Williams told the United Press to-day.

"I still believe that I will be acquitted. Aside from this statement I have nothing to say."

Apparently unconcerned because of failure of G. F. Johnson, defense counsel, to confuse Clyde Manning, negro "executioner" on his plantation, in his story of how eleven negroes were put to death, Williams appeared to be the least worried man in Covington to-day.

The "poker face" which he has worn since the trial began and which was in evidence throughout the four hours Manning was on the witness stand, was the mask the rich planter used to conceal his feelings as he strolled accompanied by the deputies from the jail to the little red courthouse.

"This is beautiful weather, isn't it?" he remarked to the deputy.

His step was firm despite his age —54—and his nerves seemed to be made of iron. That the defense plans to spring a surprise, was the indication given by Johnson to-day.

Says Manning Statement Weak

"The uncorroborated statement of Manning is weak," said Johnston. "The so called motive for the murder—that Williams sought to conceal evidences of peonage conditions on his plantation is preposterous. We exploded that in the examination of the Federal agents yesterday."

Johnson declined to comment on reports that the defense would endeavor to prove an alibi for Williams in the murder of Lindsey Peterson.

Murder "fans" who yesterday sat breathless while Manning, in an unaffected manner and in even tone of voice told of the murder of 11 men, packed the little court house to capacity yesterday. The chief interest was evidenced in the expected testimony of Williams. The case is expeced to go to the jury tomorrow.

PRESENTATION TO MISS JOSIE CONROY

Miss Josie Conroy, who is to be married shortly, was given a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. P. J. Allen, Concession street, by Mrs. Allen and Miss Maud Kennedy. The following address was read by Mrs. J. McCarthy:

"Dear Friend,—We, your friends and neighbors, have gathered here to-night to spend a little while with you before your departure from our midst, and also to present you with these few useful household articles, as a token of friendship. Hoping you may live long to enjoy them and that they will bring cheer to you when you look at them, and think of the givers, and wishing you many happy years of wedded life. Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors, East City."

KINGSTON, April 8.—Five dollars and costs was the penalty imposed on automobile speeders caught exceeding the 20-mile an hour limit. Another motorist, who did not carry a 1921 license, was assessed $2.

RENTALS BILL IS WITHDRAWN

EVEN THE PREMIER RAISED A DISSENTING VOICE AT ITS SECOND READING.

TORONTO, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—No other measure introduced in the Legislature during the present session experienced such a stormy reception as met Hon. Walter Rollos' fair rentals bill when it came up yesterday for a second reading.

The Minister of Labor alone had a kind word to say for this measure, even Premier Drury declining to record his approval of what appeared on the order paper as a piece of Government Legislation. As a result of the total absence of support of the bill it was withdrawn by the Minister

"There has been for some time a feeling a of deep distrust in the minds of many due to high rents", the Premier said, "and it was in response to that feeling that this bill was introduced. I must say that the government is not committed to the principle of the bill; if I were a private member I would oppose it. A vote against the bill would not affect the government one particle."

1 Pill a Laxative,
2 Pills a Cathartic,
3 Pills a Purgative,

This is the Way Millburn's Laxa-Liver Pills Work.

You will never use any of the old griping, nauseating, sickening, purging pills, containing as they do calomel and other drastic mineral ingredients, once you use Milburn's Laxa-Liver, a pill that is purely vegetable.

Owing to the great care used in procuring the highest grade of drugs from which they are manufactured, they are as near perfect as it is possible to get a laxative remedy.

They work gently and effectively, without a gripe or pain.

If you are troubled with constipation, biliousness; driven to distraction with sick headaches, if your tongue is coated, your breath bad, your complexion muddy, your eyes yellow, have floating specks before the eyes, jaundice, itching, bleeding, or protruding piles, stir up your sluggish liver with a few doses of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

Mrs. Roy Mackie, Orillia, Ont., writes: "I desire to express my thanks for the relief I have had by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I had been suffering for some time from constipation and bad headaches. I tried all sorts of cures, which did me no good, until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after taking only a few doses."

ANDRE BOILLOT TO TRY NEW FRENCH CAR.

Piloted Peugot Last Year — French Ace During War.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 8. — Temperamental Andre Boillot has forsaken the Peugeot racing outfit and will endeavor to hoist the French tricolor above the flags of competing nations at the wheel of a Talbot-Darracq in the ninth international 500-mile race, to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway on Monday, May 30.

Boillot is a brother of the late Georges Boillot, conceded to be the greatest driver who ever held a steering wheel. This year will be Boillot's third trip to the Indianapolis track. In his American racing debut, made at Indianapolis in 1919, but met with disappointment, being turned back when running in third position within twenty miles of the finish, due to the collapse of a wire wheel. The mount which Boillot handled on this occasion employed even a smaller power plant than those entered in last year's event, having only 150 cubic inches piston displacement, and it was largely due to the excellent showing against its 300 cubic inch rivals that the new speedway racing rules limiting piston displacement to 103 cubic inches were placed into effect.

Last year Boillot piloted a Peugeot at Indianapolis. Like his companion mounts, driven by Jules Goux and Howard Wilcox, the newly-designed Peugeot was found wanting, and long before the race winner was decided all three cars were pushed off the track a helpless mass of mechanism. When Boillot rolled his car off on the grass in front of the judges' stand he shrugged his shoulders, climbed from the car with a smile on his face, and said, "It 'ez through," then wrapped himself in a highly-colored sweater and left the scene.

In the last Targo Florio, run over the difficult mountain passes of Italy, he gave the most sensational exhibition of driving in history, accepting every risk and registering miraculous escapes no less than six times. His final feat of dare-devilry consisted in colliding with the grandstands to avoid hitting a spectator who had wandered on the course, and then, finding himself completely turned around, throwing on the power and cutting the finish line in reverse.

During the war Boillot was a French Ace, and the utter disregard for safety that he acquired during his numerous air combats seems to have persisted with him in his racing career.

Even the tenseness of an automobile race, with the drivers tearing around the track at breakneck speed, brings about amusing incidents to the drivers. Eddie Hearne, who will drive in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on May 30, was struck in the back when a tire rolled off Bob Burman's car while Hearne was working in the pits. The impact knocked Hearne to the ground, and he says he was scared to death and would not get up, thinking that he had been hit by one of the cars, and was waiting for it to pass on over.

SCENE FROM HUMAN HEARTS AT THE GRAND NEXT MONDAY

HIS SUICIDE WAS A FALSE ALARM.

Then His Best Girl Turned Him Down.

NEW YORK, April 8.—John Dreeski, a waiter, was reported to have jumped from the Manhattan Bridge, according to a note left in his coat, blaming Freda Julkowska of 511 East Twelfth street. This story was printed in the papers last Friday, but yesterday the police quit searching for his body. Miss Julkowska appeared at the Fifth Street Station and said that "John, he is not dead, and he comes to my house Saturday morning and knocks on the door and says 'Freda, Freda, let me in. It is me, Dreerski.'"

"Go away. You jumped in the river and you are dead," she answered. "The papers said so, and I don't want to see you any more now than before."

OPPOSE SALE BRITISH SHIPS TO FOREIGNERS.

Such is Attitude of Chamber of Shipping.

LONDON, April 8 (Associated Press).—The British Chamber of Shipping has decided to oppose the sale to foreigners of any of the merchant ships surrendered by the Germans. It holds that under no circumstances should any of them be sold back to the Germans. A vote to that effect was taken at a meeting of the Council held to decide what disposition should be made of the vessels remaining in the possession of the British Government.

Lord Inchcape, who has been entrusted with the sale of the vessels on behalf of the Reparations Commission, said that 168 German ships had been privately disposed of to British nationals, but a good number still remained to be sold, and the demand for them, owing to the slump in the shipping trade, had slackened. It had been suggested that some arrangement might be considered whereby the market for the ships might be thrown open to the whole world.

One Newcastle shipowner affirmed that Britain would be disgraced in the eyes of the world if, after all her commerce had suffered from German submarines, any of the German ships were allowed to go back to Germany, particularly at the present prevailing lo prices.

A FAKE DIVORCE MILL IN STATES.

Westchester Authorities Are Stirred Up.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The Westchester County grand jury is considering the case of a man who is alleged to have conducted a fake "divorce mill" from an office in New York. This man, whose present whereabouts are not known, is said to have forged names of the Supreme Court Judges to decrees of divorce and in some cases even to have forged and filed the minutes of divorce preceedings which actually never saw the light in a court.

The Westchester authorities decline to estimate the number of fake divorces this man has procured for his clients. One man who was "freed" through the swindler's unscrupulous facility with a pen is said to have two children by a second wife. A woman who was "granted" a divorce in the same fraudulent manner is now in China with her second husband. In all the cases where the "lawyer's" victims have re-married, the second union is bigamous, it is said.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid somach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they an go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretions or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia.

Theer is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquor, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

WHEAT PROSPECTS IN AUSTRALIA.

Washington Has Received Special Report.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—A special report has been received at the Department of Commerce from the U. S. Consul General at Melbourne, in which a review is given of Australian trade. Dealing with the Commonwealth wheat trade the report says:

"The area under wheat in Australia this year was 11,552,000 acres. Only once, 1915-1916, has there been a greater area sown in wheat, when the total area amounted to 12,484,512 acres. The yield is estimated at about 130,000,000 bushels, for which the Federal Government has guaranteed 5s per bushel. Payments are to be made in two installments, the first payable when the wheat is delivered at railway sidings, and the balance on or before April 30, 1921. Any amount over 5c obtained by the Wheat Board will, after expenses are paid, be distributed among the growers. The New South Wales Government gives to the growers of that State an additional guarantee of 2s 6d, making in all 7s 6d to New South Wales. The price of wheat to local millers is fixed at 9s per bushel. It is estimated that the quantity of wheat available for shipment will be about 100,000,000 bushels."

Why Canadians Should Buy Canadian Cars

Each $1,000 of Canadian Money will now buy (April 1921) in Canada only $680.00 of United States Car Value, because of the high exchange, duty, and production cost.

WHAT IS THE LESSON?

1.—Canada has an abundance of Economical and Efficient Labor and plenty of Expert Engineering Skill.

2.—The Canadian Ford Company, who build the Ford Car, in Ford, Ontario, had a production capacity of 225 Cars a day, operating with its entire force of employees four days a week, up until March 1. To-day the Factory is strained to its limit in the production of highly refined Motor Cars and Motor Trucks for the Canadian Public.

3.—CANADIAN MONEY BUYS MORE THAN ONE-FOURTH GREATER VALUE THAN IT DOES IN AN AMERICAN CAR

4.—The Built-in-Canada Ford Car demonstrates the greatest Car Economy and Value. At its new low price few need deny themselves of "The Universal Car"

5.—All Needed Repair parts for the Ford are constantly carried in Canada—not only in Ford Agencies but at all Repair Shops in Canada.

Is the lesson plain enough?

"SETTLED—Without an argument over technicalities."

Therefore,—Buy a Ford Coupe, Sedan, Touring Car or Roadster, and "leave the balance in the bank."

FATE PLAYED WITH MISSING MILLIONS.

$3,000,000 Came to Light By Lucky Discovery.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The announcement of the engagement of Miss Marian Stewart of the Blackstone Hotel to Robert B. Honeyman, jr., of New York recalls how fate, after playing with missing millions, delivered them safely to whom they legally belonged.

The engagement announcement came from Mr. and Mrs. Leander H. LaChance. Mr. LaChance is an uncle of Miss Stewart and her guardian.

Miss Stewart and her sister, Jeanne, are daughters of the late John K. Stewart, the founder of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation. They inherited from him about $7,000,000.

Mr. Stewart died June 1, 1916. Mrs. Stewart died nine months later. A few days after Mrs. Stewart's death Mr. LaChance received an old valise which she had sent to Chicago a few days before her death, from Acton, N. S. When the valise was opened, after being carelessly tossed about for a few days, it was found to contain more than $600,000 in cash and convertible securities.

A short time later Mr. LaChance received a bill of $7.50 for the rental of a safety deposit box, the existence of which he had not known. In the box he found a quarter of a million dollars in cash.

At about the same time the clerk in Mr. Stewart's New York offices rummaged through an old desk for some papers. He came upon some old deposit slips, which looked significant to him, and forwarded them to Mr. LaChance. Investigation disclosed almost $2,000,000, of which nothing had been known, deposited in seven Chicago banks.

RUIN UPHOLSTERY IN THE THEATRES.

Where Play-goers Take Their Suppers.

VIENNA, aMrch 15.—(Canadian Press, by Mail).—Theatre managers complain that the upholstery of their houses is being ruined by the new habit of playgoers bringing their suppers and eating them during the entre acts.

Because of the lighting and transport restrictions performances here begin at from six to seven o'clock. The result is that persons cannot go home from business and after the theatre the restaurants have closed.

It is said that dozens of sardine boxes and other meat cases, crumbs of bread and cheese and meat scraps are swept up after each performance while all the filth and dirt is trodden into carpets and rubbed in the seats.

It is not unusual to see a family open up the supper, produce wine and glasses and calmly dine between the acts.

CENSUS OF 1921 TO INCLUDE CHICKENS AND RASPBERRIES

STUPENDOUS REGISTRATION BEGINNING JUNE FIRST OF CANADA'S POPULATION, TAKING IN THE CHILD LEFT BY THE STORK THE PREVIOUS MIDNIGHT.

Canada is to have a stupendous registration, beginning by recording exactly every man, woman and child in the Dominion at the hour of midnight when May 31st is giving place to June 1st. The census is to be taken "as of June 1st" but the hour fixed is really the hour of midnight.

A tiny Canadian citizens who draws the first breath of life in the last minute of May 31st, will figure in the total millions. An aged man who goes out with the dawn on June 1st will count is the total that will stand as Canada's official population for ten years.

But this is not all. If you have a patch of garden no bigger than a man's hand that grows one currant bush capable of producing one quart of berries, that quart will swell the total. If you have a brood of chickens so will they For not only must the farmer make complete returns of almost every blade of grass, but so must the city folks of the products of their gardens and their hen houses.

The enumerators have received their instructions from Ottawa as to just how this census must be taken. There are really four forms to be filled as follows:

(1) Covering the ordinary house hold or place of permanent residence.

(2) Covering deaf mutes and blind people. These are entered on the regular form but the enumrators must also make supplementary lists.

(3) Covering business firms, giving the class of business (wholesale retail or manufacturing) and the kind or nature of the business. Financial agents, stock brokers, real estate agents, banks, insurance companies, commodity brokers, and business agents, who do not keep stocks in hand are not to be thus enumerated. Neither are doctors, lawyers, nor other professions.

(4) Covering products other than those grown on farms. So that Toronto people will have to supply details as to the number of horses, mules, cattle, poultry, bees, thoroughbred animals, animal products, gardens and hot houses, fruit trees and fruit. They will have to tell of the number of apple, plum, pear and cherry trees that flourished in their back yards during 1920, and the tonnage of each fruit tree harvested also how many quarts or boxes of small fruit such as grapes, strawberries, gooseberries and raspberries they gathered in.

The Details Required

The ordinary form (No. 1) which the enumerator will fill in at every home in the city has some 34 details to be filled in as follows:

1-5. Names of each person in the house, street, city; 6, is the house owned or rented; 7, if rented, what rent; 8, class of houses; 9 materials of construction; 10, rooms occupied by family; 11, relationship to head of family; 12, sex; 13, single or married; 14, age last birthday; 15, where person born; 16, where father born; 17, where mother born; 18, if born outside Canada, year of immigration; 19, if born a foreigner year of naturalization; 20, nationality; 21 racial or tribal origin; 22 can speak English; 23, can speak French; 24 can speak any other language; 25, religious denomination; 26, can read 27, can write, 28, months at school since September, 1920 (children); 29, chief occupation or trade; 30, employer, employe or working on own account; 31, total earnings in past 12 months; 32 if out of work on June 1st 1921; 33, number of weeks unemployed in the past twelve months; 34, number of weeks unemployed from June 1st, 1920, because of illness.

The enumerators have got to go into every home in Toronto and get this infomation. If boarders are not at home at the time of calling in lodging houses or hotels special forms will be left for them to fill in. In hotels transient guests will not be taken.

The principle is simply; where a man sleep there will his census be taken. People in jails, penitentiaries, hospitals or other institutions of any kind will be registered as of such abode.

The census commissioners are very insistent that people should understand that facts or statistics given to the enumerators may not be used excep for statistical compilation. Positive assurance may be demanded on this point by people being registered. The desire of the country is to have the censu accurate to the last degree. If a man's statement of income on the census form varies from that given on the income tax forms he need not be afraid of fine or extra levy—the finance department at Ottawa will not have access to the census sheets.

Oath of Secrecy.

The enumerators individually have also to take an oath of secrecy They cannot give out information received about individuals, show the returns, or allow anyone to inspect them Enumerators cannot try to obtain information about matters not on the schedule.

Every enumerator will carry a card of credentials, signed by R. H. Coats, Dominion Statistician. This card, which may be demanded by any person approached, has the words underlined, "All information committed to him (the enumerator) will be held to be strictly confidential."

There will also be two cards to cover "absentee families' and "closed houses", so that people gone on holidays may be checked up. These will be sent to Ottawa by the census commissioners for clearance.

THE CITY MANAGER

About eight years ago, the City of Dayton, Ohio, attracted wide attention by cabling to General Goethals, at Panama, offering him a handsome salary if he would come to Dayton, to be its city manager.

That was a new phrase then — "city manager."

And it was a new idea in America that a city could be induced to look outside its city limits for its chief administrative officer.

At that time (1914) there were only half-a-dozen places in the United States that had the city manager plan of government, but now there are over 150—Akron, Norfolk, Sacramento, Grand Rapids, Springfield (O.), Tampa, Portsmouth (Va.), Wheeling, Wichita, etc., in 24 states.

This shows the scheme:

1. THE PEOPLE elect on a non-partisan ballot—

2. THE COUNCIL, a representative body of citizens, usually five or seven in number, who serve without pay, or for merely nominal salaries, and give simply the time needed for council meetiengs. They hire, and have the powef at any time to fire, the—

3. CITY MANAGER, a non-political sub-executive, who is their agent and subordinate and who appoints and supervise, the—

4. DEPARTMENT HEADS, who in turn appoint and supervise—

5. THE RANK-AND-FILE of the municipal administration, under the usual Civil Service rules.

Business men will be quick to see its likeness to a corporation. Or to a school board with its superintendent. It is the only way to organize anything, whether it be an afternoon picnic or a great industry.

The feature of the plan is its straightforward simplicity. No lines criss-cross. Responsibility is clear-cut and undivided. The Council has power to choose the manager from out-of-town if it can get a better one by so doing—no excuse for not getting a good one!

About half the 150 cities have, in fact, gone out-of-town to get their managers, and the favorite place to seek them is among the successful managers of smaller cities.

Yes, it has already happened, not once, but more than 40 times, that successful managers of small cities have been summoned at increased salaries to the management of larger cities.

And there are several managers who have served in three cities, and there are two managers who are now in their fourth!

No manager city has ever gone back to the old form.

The city manager plan has not brought an easy millenium to any city. Nor are the city managers super-men. But there is an impressive and brilliant record of successes, stories of taxes lowered, debts cleared off, backward towns awakened, progressive towns speeded up, governments made modern and eager to serve.

We shall attempt to tell the story.

STOLEN THE MINDS OF RUSS. CHILDREN

Boys and Girls Demoralized by Reds.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 8.—(Associated Press.)—The Baroness Wrangel, wife of the general, who commanded the anti-Bolshevik army in Southern Russia until its defeat and collapse, declares that the "demoralization of our boys and girls, the next generation of Russians, is one of the blackest tragedies of the Bolshevik nightmare. They have stolen the minds of our children."

Abundant evidence from trustworthy sources among the vast Russian refugee colony is available on this subject.

"Our girls are dead, morally," is a phrase in a letter dated a month ago received here from Moscow, smuggled out by way of Reval, written by a woman to her nephew in Wrangel's army. "I am kept alive only by the hope of seeing you again. Never return here with your children. If they survive famine and disease, the Bolsheviki will make animals of them."

One of the demands of the revolutionary workmen in Moscow and other cities has been that the Communist education of children be abandoned.

Bela Kun, who in Budapest attempted to give the children of the very poor special playgrounds and introduce in a measure methods well known in the United States, has tried to organize the villas and palaces of the Crimea into rest houses and hospitals for children. Recently a Crimean wireless requested help from the American Red Cross for this purpose.

New Oil Well Brings 25,000 Barrels Daily

BUENOS AIRES, April 8.—The first big gusher among the oil wells in the Government field at Comodoro Rivadavia has just been brought in with an estimated product of 25,000 barrels a day. The previous wells in that district had been small. As this new one is in a new part of the field, it is thought that this may mean Argentina is entering on an era of large production. The oil is heavy, as is the other oil so far produced at Comodoro Rivadavia, and is of little use except for fuel.

FIRE AT ST. JOHN

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 8.—(Canadian Press).—The buildings of the Bedford Construction Company on the site of the new drydocks at Courtney Bay are afire.

Goats are immune to tuberculosis. A cubic inch will hold forty million yeast plants.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHAED

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, it becomes beautifuly dark and glossy.

LOCAL FARMERS SHIPPED CATTLE

HOW THE LOCAL BRANCH OF THE MERCHANTS BANK PERFORMED A SERVICE.

There is nothing slow about Peterborough, either in city or farming circles. A farmers' club just organized in Georgetown for the purpose of encouraging the breeding of pure-bred cattle, wanted a carload of Holsteins from this district. An advertisement inserted by them in the Farm and Dairy magazine, attracted the attention of the local manager of the Merchants' Bank, which conducts a rural service branch for the benefit of its farmer customers. He immediately got in communication with farmers in the district who have pure-bred Holsteins for sale, resulting in a carload containing 13 of these aristocratic beasts being gathered from Otonabee, Smith and Indian liver, and shipped from Peterborough yesterday. This is quite a boost for Peterborough district, as the farmers of Western Ontario, where the club is located, are supposed to be experts in these matters, and have obtained in the carload from here more than fifty per cent. of their total initial requirements.

The Merchants' Bank, which was the pioneer in the idea of a rural service branch, pays considerable attention to this branch of its activities. Bulletin boards for the benefit of their rural customers are erected in every one of the 150 branches throughout Canada, on which are posted up-to-date communications forwarded by the main branch of the service, in London, from all parts of the country, itemizing all sorts of animals and farm products for sale, or wanted. Hogs, cattle, horses, seed potatoes of different varieties, Wyandottes, Leghorns, anything that a farmer may require and which another farmer anywhere in Ontario might be able to furnish him with, is visible at a glance.

EAST EMILY, April 8.—Church service was held at Bethel on Sunday morning, it being the first Sabbath in the month. The Rev. Mr. Thomas of Toronto conducted the service and preached an instructive sermon on the Referendum.

Farmers in this neighborhood have started to work on their fields, and this impels the thought that spring is here in earnest.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

This Woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a New Woman

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains so badly I could hardly stand up. I was white and very thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds. I took ten bottles without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the last bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommend it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me."—Mrs. F. A. Baker, 4749 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backache, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," enduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles. For nearly forty years this grand old root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health.

The order for this special basket is two hundred thousand. For the Niagara district the company have a large order for the eight and eleven quart sizes. LOWER PRICE FOR PORKERS

LIVE HOGS HAVE DROPPED TO $12.50—THE FRUIT MARKETS.

Live hogs have dropped to $12.50 a hundred and the farmers did not bring very many in to-day, which is the day they sell through the U. F. O. Dressed hogs have not lowered any, and are selling at $23.

Eggs are still attracting much attention in the markets. The stores are generally retailing them at 30 cents, but on last Saturday's market, towards 12 o'clock, lots could be had at 25 cents, and this price is likely to be firmly established after Saturday. Whether eggs can fall much lower in price is the subject of many an interesting discussion, but every prediction on egg prices has been broken so far. Butter remains steady around 60 cents.

New Fruits In.

Each day now finds new fruits and vegetables coming on the local market. Pineapples have appeared. "This year, I think, we're going to have cheaper pineapples than last," said a prominent fruit man who was asking 40, 50 and 60 cents for what he had. "Last year we paid $13.00 a case for pineapples at the start. This year the same ones cost only $10.50." Apples are becoming scarcer, and, of course, more valuable at the same time. Most of the stores have nothing but British Columbia ones, selling them at from 40 to 60 cents a dozen. A good barrel of apples is now at a premium, the wholesalers quoting Greenings at as high as $8.

Hard on Fish.

The warm weather has all but killed the fish business. The fish have necessarily made a hasty exit from the fruit stores. Oysters were not observable in several stores, and one of the dealer said there would be no more this season. Old Sol came out so strong and relentless that they are only handling a few of the regular varieties that keep well.

FUNERAL OF LATE W. J. WALDON AT LAKEFIELD.

Large Attendance Testified to Esteem in Which He Was Held.

LAKEFIELD, April 8.—The funeral of the late Mr. W. J. Waldon was held Wednesday afternoon from the family residence on Regent street.

Service was conducted at the house and graveside by Rev. Soford Dixon. Many friends were present to testify to their esteem for the deceased and their sympathy with the bereaved widow and daughter.

The long illness of the late Mr. Waldon was of a peculiarly trying nature, but was borne bravely and patiently, and during the entire time the most tender and unremitting care was given him by his devoted wife and daughter.

The sorrow felt over the loss of such a highly respected citizen is greatly tempered by the thought that he is at last released from suffering, and in this feeling those nearest and dearest to him must feel some share, even though hearts will be desolate because of their irreparable loss.

A quiet, unobtrusive man always faithful in his duty to his home and unremitting in his pursuance of business, he will be missed and regretted by many.

The following friends of the deceased were pallbearers: Messrs. Fred Crawford, Theo. Crawford, George Spence, Roland Johnson, W. W. Leonard, and E. Millage.

OVERCOME THE BEAR WITHOUT AID OF GUN

EDMONDS, B. C., April 8. (Canadian Press.) — Without the aid of a gun, capturing a bear weighing 200 pounds and putting him to sleep within 15 minutes of their unexpecting meeting, was the feat of Roy Horie, surveyor, and C. I. Latimer, his companion, within a mile of New Westminster's northern boundary recently.

Bruin happened to cross the surveyors' lines. While Lattimer attracted its attention with a pole, Horie cautiously approached with an axe and now has a fine black, glossy hide.

The Whirlwind and the Trade Winds

How different, the mad, destructive, whirling gusts that travel so speedily on their crazy way from the beneficial trade winds that blow so strongly and steadily.

Often a man or a business is spoken of as a whirlwind. If the remark is intended to be complimentary, how much better it would be to substitute "trade wind."

There is nothing cyclonic about our Store. Strong and steady trade winds keep things ever on the move.

A Few of our Better Class Spring Suits will be Marked at Special Prices for Saturday only

The materials are of the finest quality of tricotine, gabardine, and French serges. The styles include tailored models, fancy models, and the long effects. Box coats, and embroidered beautifully.

No. 1. Navy Serge Suit, Regular $75.00 for $69.75

A very charming model. The coat is slightly longer in the back, displaying the new uneven effect round the bottom. It fastens in front with two links, one at the neck and the other at the waist. The collar is made to stand. The embroidery work on this suit, which is of black silk, adds the necessary touch for the Missie. A three strand silk rope girdle at waist is finished with long tassels.

No. 2. A Detachable Cape Suit, Regular $85.00 for $77.50

For the missie a smarter or more becoming model could not be had. The cape, which is detachable, buttons on to the coat at the shoulders, and can easily be removed. The bottom of the cape and the collar of coat are embroidered in a round conventionalized design with black silk relieved with grey. Both cape and coat are lined with a brightly colored fancy silk. The skirt is plain and gathered at back and just the proper length.

No. 3. Sand Colored Tricotine Suit, Regular $79.75 for $72.50

The material is a soft wonderful quality in a shade that is very popular for summer wear and the embroidery work is of the same colored silk. Small loops are used very cunningly for trimming and add considerably to the charm of this model. A long wide girdle, lined with Roman stripe silk, is an attractive feature not to be omitted, while the collar fastens up very tight at neck with a row of gold and black buttons. The skirt is very plain.

No. 4. Misses' Box Suit, Reg. $75.00 for $69.75

This model is a change from the belted effects. The coat hangs perfectly straight from the shoulders and is considerably shorter. With its panel back and man's shaped vest of black satin embroidered with scarlet silk, it makes a very striking garment. The skirt has slash pockets and is gathered at back.

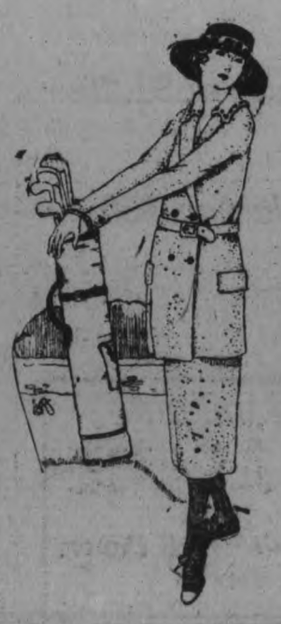
No. 5. Another Chic Cape Number, Regular $79.75 for $72.50

navy gabardine of splendid quality is used in the making of this suit, with a detachable cape, which is lined with sand colored silk. The cape has three rows of seven lines each of silk stitching which passes around bottom. The cape is entirely separate buttoning on at the shoulders, while the coat is complete in itself without the cape. The skirt is perfectly plain, gathered at back and belted.

Scalloped Suit of Triciotine, Reg. $85 for $77.50

A more fussy suit of navy tricotine. It is scalloped around bottom, creating a different appearance altogether, than in any of the other suits. The embroidery work of silk and beading of irridescent beads on this model is one of its main features, and through this, it gains its popularity. A narrow girdle is finished with fancy ornaments. The skirt is belted at top and gathered at back.

Most Popular of all Summer Suits—"The Suit of Heather Jersey"



Although there has been numerous new materials suggested as being the most prominent for Summer wear, the Suit of Heather Jersey seems to have overruled them all, and is selected as being the most fashionable for Summer wear. We are showing for Saturday a very smart range of Jersey Suits, in both Heather and Plain colours, such as Copen, Copen and Green, Blue and Grey, and Delft Blue Mixtures. Sizes 16 to 40. All priced at $42.50

One particular Suit of Copenhagen Blue would be certain to please the Sport Missie. It is made in the Norfolk style, with yoke and box pleated back, a belt of the same width as pleats buttons in front. The patch pockets are of a military style, with a pleat down the centre of them. The Skirt is plain and gathered at the back.

Other Models are more dressy, with one or two pleats down back and fine pin tucks on these pleats. The collar is the popular Summer Tuxedo style, which reaches down to the belt at waist, while the slash pockets have a fancy vertical flap. You will be surprised at the snappiness of these Suits, and the quality of material is exceedingly good. Some of the Skirts have patch pockets. The sizes range from 16 to 40. All are priced at .....

TORONTO MAN FEELS FINER THAN IN YEARS

Frank Bowden Regains His Health and Strength by Taking Tanlac and Picks Up Fifteen Pounds In Weight.

"If there is any other medicine as good as Tanlac to build a man up, and make him feel like himself, I've never been able to find it, and I've been trying for a long time," said Frank Bowden, of 164½ Sydenham Street, Toronto, Ont., a safemaker at the Taylor Safe Works.

"I suffered from a general run-down condition. I had no appetite, and was tired all the time. I got so weak I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. I was continually taking something for constipation, and had so little energy I could hardly do my work. At times I had awful pains in my left shoulder like rheumatism, and, in fact, I was almost all in.

"But Tanlac was exactly what I had needed, as it began to help me from the very first. My appetite returned with a rush, and soon I was eating three square meals a day, and the pains began to leave my left shoulder. So I kept on taking Tanlac and improving until now I am a well man. Besides gaining fifteen pounds, I am stronger and feel better than I have in years."

Tanlac is sold by The Warne Drug Company, Ltd.

Declares Husband's Family Starved and Beat Her.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Emma J Helm, pretty and golden haired and not quite 18, was compelled to take the witness stand for the second time in the Queens County Supreme Court before Justice Norman S. Dike to give testimony in an action for separation from her husband, Frederick B. Helm. The girl, who was married at 16, when she became an orphan through the death of her mother, gave testimony in the same action three months ago, and Justice Leander B. Faber on January 15 granted her prayer for separation and gave her the custody of her daughter, Dorothy, born June 18, 1920. Recently the husband, through Attorney John P. Lamerdin, petitioned for the setting aside of the decree on the grounds that the attorney who formerly represented him had failed to put in a defense and had let the action go by default This motion was granted and for that reason a retrial was started.

"I was married when I was just 16 years old," testified Mrs. Helm. "We did not have a long engagement. It was only about three weeks My mother died and I was all alone and Fred persuaded me to get married so I would have a home. Soon after our marriage we went to a room in a house which was owned by his parents. We had but one room. It was damp and cold. It was heated only by an oil heater. There was no way to cook food and I had to take what was given me. Finally my mother-in-law began to put my food out the floor in front of my door. Sometimes the dog got there before I did and scattered the food all over the floor Toward the end I had only one meal a day.

"When my baby was born they took the cream off of the top of the bottle and left me the skimmed milk for the baby. My husband bought me only one dress and one coat while we were married. They gave me his sisters' old stockings and under clothing. Fred had to give all his money to his parents. He beat me more than twenty times while we were married."

"What was the real cause of trouble between you and your husbands' family?" asked Mr. Merrill.

"The pro-German proclivities of his parents," replied Mrs. Helm "I had a brother in the American Army and when he was returning home from France my mother-in-law said she wished all American boys would sink."

Mrs. Helm testified to an alleged assault by her father-in-law in May 1920, when she said he struck her with a bucket. She testified that when she was married she weighed 145 pounds, and that when she was taken from her husbands' home she weighed only 98 pounds. She said she now weighs 137 pounds.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the blood, and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrane covering the joints and separating the muscles, thus producing severe pains. If the waste products of the human system are not properly carried off, Uric Acid forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscles. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct this by its action on the kidneys and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail your money will be refunded.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up three sizes—25c, 50c and $1 per box, at Warne's Drug Store, 351 George Street, Peterborough.

BED BUG POISON

There are dozens of preparations recommended to desroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is POST'S BED BUG POISON.

A few applications of this poison will soon wipe out the pest. It is composed of corrosive sublimate, methyl-hydrate and carbolic, acid, and as it is very poisonous it should be kept out of the reach of children.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is sold at Lynch's drug store, 168 Hunter St.

THE "REFERENDUM."

The Act Permits the Sale of Liquor For Specific Purposes.

"The ingenuity of the opponents of prohibitory legislation is exerted to confuse the issue and make it appear that those who vote to prevent the importation of liquor as a beverage seek to prevent also the use of alcohol for medicinal, sacramental and other proper purposes. There is not a word of truth in this. The Attorney-General of Ontario directs attention to an amendment to the Canada Temperance Act passed by Parliament at the session of 1919, which, after making provision to stop the carriage of liquor into Provinces in which prohibition is in force, specifically exempts "the importation, manufacture, delivery or transportation into or within any Province in which prohibtion is in force of intoxicating liquor for sacramental or medicinal purposes." It provides also that the prohibition of importation and transportation shall not aply to any intoxicating liquor which under the laws of the Province may be lawfully sold therein.

"Liquors for medicinal purposes will be available as readily under the prohibition law as they are at present. Any medical man will be within the law in prescribing alcohol, and druggists will be able legally to sell liquor as they do at present. The difference will be that the citizens who pretends to be sick in order to stock up with whiskey which he proposes to use for beverage purposes will be apt to find himself before the Magistrate and in danger of a term in jail.

"The law makes ample provision for the use of intoxicating liquor for sacramental as well as medicinal purposes. The controversy which centres around the use of fermented or unfermented wine for sacramental purposes has no bearing on the issue to be voted upon on April 18. The proper custodian of sacramental wine will be fully protected by the law, and the purchase, importation, transportation and delivery of such wine will be affected in no way by the law forbidding the use of liquor for beverage purposes."—Globe.

BANK OF TORONTO IN NEW QUARTERS

The accommodations afforded the Bank of Toronto in their new quarters beside the Peterborough Club on Water Street are, judging from appearances, a great deal better than those enjoyed by them during their thirty years' tenancy of the building at the corner of George and Hunter Streets. Excellent lighting and ventilation must be quite a welcome change to the clerical staff, and will give them the habit of expecting these things when they move into the reconstructed building next fall. Everything looks as natural as can be, with the different wickets in their proper rotation and the clerks working away as busily as usual in their new surroundings.

THIN PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

All that most weak, nervous, thin, mentally-depressed people need is ten grains of pure organic phosphate with each meal for a few weeks.

That's what nerve specialists in London, Paris and New York are prescribing with wonderful results.

It is natural food for nerve and brain cells and is known to such reliable pharmacist as McDermid & Jury as Bitro-Phosphate. Because of its power to help create healthy flesh and strengthen weak nerves, much of it is being sold to people who are lacking in vitality.

CAUTION: Although Bitro-Phosphate is an excellent aid in relieving weak, nervous condition, its use is not advised unless increased weight is desired.

DROP IN PRICES.

SEDLEY, Sask., April 8. — The drop in farm products was recently well demonstrated here when a farmer of this distict shipped a large cowhide, a calf skin and a weasel. The consignment was shipped by freight collect and the consignee, after paying the freight and allowing the market price, made the following return to the farmer—17 cents in postage stamps.

AN INSIDE BATH MAKES YOU LOOK AND FEEL FRESH

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, declaring this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the alimentary canal before eating more food.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who have bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to show the value of inside bathing

LIQUOR CONTROL.

Unifrom Price for "Red-Eye" in British Columbia.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 7.—(Canadian Press.)—The new liquor control act for the province of British Columbia will be brought into force on or about May 1, according to Attorney-General J. W. Deb Farris. The board to administer the act will be appointed this week. The Vancouver and Victoria stores, already established, will be the first to be operated under the new system.

There will be a uniform price for "hard liquor" all over the province, but this will not apply to beer. Owing to the bulk of the latter beverage it will not be possible for the government to pay carrying charges to distant points where persons are resident some distance from a government store. Express and freight charges will be paid when they are deemed fair by the control board.

More than 500 applications for positions ranging all the way from a place on the board to minor posts, have been received by the government.

HARD ON BOSS OF BERLIN SALOON.

BERLIN, April 8 (Associated Press).—A shop proprietor here who had utilised the services of a futurist painter to decorate his show windows, was ordered by the police to remove the decoration on the ground that it was "a disfiguration of the street."

The proprietor of a saloon nearby attributed a slump in business to the sign which, seen for the first time, he said, caused his patrons to conclude they were drinking too much, and that it was necessary to "go on the water waggon."

NEGRO BRANDED WITH THREE K's.

Then Turned Loose as a Warning to Others.

DALLAS, Texas, April 6.—Fifteen masked men seized Alex. Johnson, negro, alleged to have been found in a white woman's room at a hotel, and carried him out of the city. After horsewhipping and branding into his forehead the symbols of the Ku Klux Klan, they released him on a main street in Dallas "as a warning to other negroes."

The symbols "K. K. K." were painted on the negro's forehead with acid after he was lashed with a blacksnake. Upon being released near the hotel in which his alleged offense was committed, he was told to tell other employes what had happened to him.

Fred D. Ball and Paul Jones, two newspaper men, were "kidnapped" by the masked men, blindfolded, taken along with the crowd in autos and commanded to act as press agents for the affair.

Ball and Jones each received a mysterious telephone call to come to a department store corner for an "important story." The man who did the telephoning was so insistent that he finally convinced both it was not an April fool joke. They received no intimation as to what the "story" would be, they declared, but after appearing on the corner were met and taken into an automobile blindfolded.

After riding several miles the reporters said the blindfolds were snatched from their eyes.

A negro, surrounded by masked, well-dressed men, stood beneath a tree, a rope around his neck.

A "trial" was then conducted after the manner described in stories of the followers of the fiery cross in post-civil war times. During this "trial" Johnson was alleged to have confessed.

PRINCE OF WALES AT THE GRAND

FILM RECORD OF 50,000 MILE JOURNEY.

The Prince of Wales' feature appeared for the first time last night at the Grand opera house, before a large and enthusiastic audience. Interesting, educational and with many little humorous touches to enliven the record of the 50,000-mile journey of the Prince "to cement the Empire," this is a worth while production. Hawaiian music and Hawaiian maidens, Fijian warriors, with their weird war dances, presentations of the curious customs of the curious races that came within the scope of these pictured travels, the "Corroboree" of the Australian aborigines; the historic ceremony of "crossing the Line," with its pompous pageants, camera pictures of wonderful natural phenomena and the beauties of nature as manifested in many portions of the globe, are among some of the wonders of this travelogue picture. The presents with which H. R. H. was showered on every side were many and various. The generous Australians presented him with animals galore, mountain devils, lizards, emus, tortoises, opossums, wallabies, and laughing Jackasse, made a fine confusion aboard H. M. S. Renown, and the crew, too, were not overlooked, over 1000 parrots and 600 canaries falling to their share.

This picture will be shown at the Grand to-night, to-morrow and Saturday, with daily matinee, and a special children's matinee on Saturday at 2:30. It is an opportunity that should not be overlooked by anyone desiring a closer acquaintanceship with curious and out-of-the-way corners and peoples of the world, with many laugh-inducing incidents which make it is interesting as a custard pie comedy.

ANNUAL MEETING MANUFACTURERS

Officers Elected for the Year — Annual Report.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convened last evening with a representative attendance in the Board of Trade Chambers, with Mr. W. A. Richardson in the Chair.

The chairman, in his annual report reviewed the activities of the year, particularly referring to the erection of the Manufacturers' Building on the Exhibition Grounds which proved to be of particular value to our yearly exhibition, not only as an attraction, but of educational value to the visitors and citizens as to the various products of the manufacturing institutions in the city. The reception given by the local branch to the visiting manufacturers in March was also commented upon as being of inestimable value in advertising the city as an industrial centre.

Reference was also made to the power shortage during the past fall, and the Chairman remarked that no anxiety need be entertained for the future, as it was expected that ample power would be available, particularly when considering the completion of the development at Ranney Falls of an additional 10,000 H.P. which is expected by August 1st.

A representative delegation will be formed to attend the Annual Meeting of the Ontario Division C.M.A., in Hamilton on April 26th., and also to the Annual Meeting of the C.M.A. in Quebec on June 7, 8 and 9th.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected by acclamation, and instated to office—Chairman, J. J. Turner, J. J. Turner & Sons Ltd., Vice-Chairman, Jas Hamilton, The Peter Hamilton Co., Ltd; Secretary, B. Homer Meyers, Peterborough Cereal Co., Ltd., and Treasurer, Wm. T. Hall, Adam Hall Limited.

MR. F. TATTERSALL TO REMAIN HERE

RESIGNS AS ORGANIST OF ST PAUL'S CHURCH.

The musical profession and all lovers of music in Peterborough will share in the general regret that has been felt this week, on learning that Mr. Frank Tatersall, organist of St. Paul's church, has tendered his resignation. Mr. Tatersall is conceded to be one of the finest musicians in the Province. He excels particularly in his interpretation of sacred numbers ,and it is to be regretted that he has severed his connection with St. Paul's choir. While in Toronto he was examiner at the College of Music, and in England he held a high position in the musical world, having been christened there the English Paderewski. Mr. Tattersall's many friends in the musical world of Peterborough have united in an effort to induce him to remain here, and he has signified his intention of doing so and going on with the teaching of his large and ever-increasing classes, both in the city and surrounding towns.

STORY OF OLD HELLENIC EMPIRE'S STRUGGLE AGAINST BRUTAL TURK.

Put the Turk Out of Europe Forever, Let Greece Have Constantinople, Says Greece.

APPEAL TO AMERICA.

The following story, taken from a Greek newspaper of authority, contains information which reveals to a considerable extent the real situation existing betyeen Greece and Turkey to-day:

This is the month when Greece celebrates the one hundredth anniversary of her independence, while her armies advance victoriously in Asia Minor putting the Turk behind those frontiers whence he invaded Europe five hundred years ago.

America was not yet on the map when the Hellenic Empire of Constantinople fell on that ill-fated day of 29th May, 1453. The Greek struggle for national independence had begun since that time, and found its best expression in the great revolution of 1821 to 1827, which culminated in the establishment of the Greek state.

Fifteen generations of Greeks felt during five long centuries the oppression, the barbarism, and the atrocities of the most backward race that ever took possession of the most classic land of Europe. That this nation was not extinguished under the Turk during those terrible years, when Greek boys were snatched away from their homes to swell the hosts of the Janissaries, while the Greek maidens were sold to slavery in the public markets, and when the life of a Christian was worth less than that of a dog, is one of the wonders of human history but that the Greek nation has succeeded, not only in preserving its language and traditions and culture and religion, but in overthrowing the yoke of the barbarian, is one of the marvels of national vitality, which no other people has ever shown, or will ever be able to show.

To-day, almost five hundred years after the fall of Constantinople and a hundred years from the Hellenic revolution of 1821, the victorious Greek armies are battling beyond the old capital of Eski Shehir and beyond the Black Fortress of Kara-Hissar, while from the Gulf of ancient Nicomedia, renamed Ismid by the Turks, to the shores of the Black Sea, and all along the Chatalja line Greek soldiers, assisted by Greek warships, surround the Holy City of Constantinople, where the heart of the Turkish Government has almost ceased to beat.

Removed is from Stamboul the last vestige of Turkish power, and if there still is a Sultan and a Turkish guard in Constantinople, their prestige is non-existant and their authority, is dead. Christian Europe, civilized Europe, was thus late in fulfilling its duty to Christendom and Civilisation but finally she did, and the overthrow of Turkish power in Europe will stand for ever as one of the highest accomplishments of the last war, for the victorious outcome of which America has so generously contributed.

The Ottoman Empire lay prostrate: Arabia is an independent Kingdom; Palestine is free; Mesopotamia no longer pays tribute to Constantinople; Syria is an autonomous State; Thrace and the Aegean Islands, Macedonia, and Epirus have rejoined their Greek Motherland; even Albania is forming an indepenent State. There is left Armenia, still bleeding under the Turkish scimitar, and never to be free unless Turkey is definitely eliminated from Constanainople and reduced to the status of a small state whose rule will be confined to Turks alone.

The Greek armies fighting in the interior of Asia Minor are still fighting the battles of civilisation against the hordes of barbarous Asia. They go forward fully convinced that a race which has remained in the most beautiful spot of Eastern Europe for five centuries, continuously destroying all that is best in civilisation, without the capacity of producing either culture, or art, or beauty, is not a race fit to govern much more superior peoples. That was the issue at Thermopylae and Salamis between Athens and Persia, and that is the issue to-day between Greece and the Turks.

It is thanks to the Greek valour at Marathon that Europe was not submerged under the waves of Asiatic barbarism it is thanks to the millenial struggles of the Byzantine Empire against Turk and Saracen, that Europe was saved from submission to the invaders of the East.

And it is to the valour of the Greek troops fighting to-day in Asia Minor, that the final liquidation of the Ottoman Empire is being accomplished under our eyes.

The Turk his fallen, and Greece is back in her old colonies, in the cities built by the Greeks, in the fields developed by the Greeks, in the temples and churches that marked the advance of the race under both its pagan and Christian civilisation.

For one thousand years Constantinople as the centre of the Greek Byzantine Empire has served Europe and upheld the banner of Western Culture against the Barbarians of the East and North. For five hundred years the Turk remained in Constantinople and the Near East, as a butchering, demoralising, grafting, incompetent, reactionary, and uncivilised intruder, a foreigner to the civilisation of Europe, and an enemy of liberty and progress.

Now his turn to go has come, and the Greek army is accomplishing the job. But between the victories of the Greek army and nation, and the utter elimination of the Turk from all power in the Near East, stands the diplomacy of Europe and the selfishness of a few politicians, who are jealous of the Hellenic triumphs.

It is the time for American enlightened and liberal opinion, to raise first the voice of justice for this valorous people, whose armies fight since the dawn of history the battles of our own civilisation.

For five long centuries the Turk has remained in Europe only to spread discontent and terrorism and misery. He had a long chance to make good, and he did not. Greece now comes forward and asks for a chance to once more develop her old national homestead. Shall this chance, which was afforded the unspeakable Turk, be denied to Hellas?

It is up to American opinion to say the word. It is up to us to repeat the familiar American slogan: Put the Turk out of Europe for ever. Let Greece have Constantinople!

MR. SEXSMITH FOR PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

In the House of Commons, Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, member from East Peterborough, strongly advocated proportional representation, and urged that a committee be named to investigate with a view to recommending some system in this connection. Mr. Sexsmith put his views in the shape of a resolution; but Hon. J. A. Calder, while in sympathy with his advocacy, thought Mr. Sexsmith's resolution a little too definite, and moved in amendment "that a committee investigate." This found support in Hon. T. A. Crerar, A. R. McMaster (Brome) and Hon. W. L. Mackeznie King.

The Prime Minister named the committee.

MINSTREL SHOW TO BE REPEATED AGAIN TO-NIGHT

LAST NIGHT'S PRESENTATION WAS WELL WORTH SEEING.

The presentation of the Minstrel Show at St. John's church last night was a great success. It is one of the best shows of this sort seen in a long time, and is well worth a second visit. Mr. H. W. Morphet made an excellent interlocutor, and the harmony quartette, Messrs. Vern. Morphet, G. O. Cameron, Geo. Wesley and Norm. Lang were funny as could be. The cabaret setting, with its pretty Chinese lanterns, was very effective, and the solo numbers by different members of the chorus, were very tuneful, eliciting repeated encores in every instance. Mr. G. O. Cameron, who rendered his solo in a pianissimo style all his own, made capital out of the severe cold which made it necessary for him to whisper most of it, and got off some good jokes at the expense of various local celebrities. The jokes were all new and good, and created much merriment, and Mrs. J. H. Macdonald's sweet soprano and Mrs. W. McKee Bingham's lovely voice were heard to great advantage in pretty vocal numbers.

A few minutes with Mr. George Wesley were very entertaining. The "Pray as you enter" street cars, the Empress management, and other local activities came in for a few mirth-provoking remarks, and a violin solo from Master Joseph Nazinok was excellently well rendered and applauded heartily.

A feature of the programme which was exceptionally entertaining was the one-act farce, "Popping the Question," under the direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham. The amorous adventure of the neat and tidy Mr. Primrose and his ambiguous declarations of love which led to his being engaged to three ladies at the one time, were splendidly enacted by Mr. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Bingham made a most entrancing heroine "in curls and muslin," and Mr. Ted Bourne was her romantic young lover. One very well enacted part was that of the fetching little maid, Bobbin, played by Miss Minnie Long, and Mrs. J. H. Seels and Mrs. W. J. Hopwood brought forth gales of laughter from the house with their portrayals in quaint, old-fashioned costumes of the rival maiden suitors for Mr. Promrose's hand.

A great deal of credit is due the orchestra, which played several fine numbers, and to the accompanist, Mrs. G. G. Evans. The show will be repeated this evening, and will doubtless receive excellent patronage. It is certainly worth it.

ANTIQUE LACES SELL FOR $2,623.

Osterreith Collection Sold at Auction.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Returns for the sale of the interesting Osterreith collection of antique laces at the American Art Galleries brought returns of $2,623 for 223 numbers. R. C. Greenleaf gave the highest price of the day, $105, for an exquisite band of needlepoint, Italan, about 1600, a piece marking the period of transition from the geometric type of pattern to the foliated scroll of the fully developed Venetian point. It was a rare piece, 3½ inches wide and 24 feet long.

To Mrs. Benedict went a fine old piece 1½ inches wide, 3½ yards, of fine point de Milan, eighteenth century, with a pattern of small foliated scrolls, for $70. A yard and 26 inches of the sixteenth or seventeenth century Netherlandish reticelio, 4 inches wide, of the style of lace shown in the portraits of the Flemish artists, Franz Hals and others, was bought by E. Z. Noorian for $60. A benediction veil of point d'Antury, Flemish, a design of large medallions with floral vases, with a rich variety of stitches, sold to Mrs. E. King for $37.50.

ODDITIES FROM TURK'S CAPITAL.

Sailor, Classfies Some Queer Customs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 5. (Associated Press).—There are many curious things in this ancient city of the Turk which are unknown to most people. It has remained for a sailor aboard the United States warship Scorpion, to classify some of these oddities for the readers of Far Seas, the paper published by American bluejackets in Near Eastern waters.

"Just imagine," he writes, "tying up traffic on the main thoroughfare of a big city during the busiest hours of the day by driving a flock of sheep slowly down the street. But they do it over here."

Some other alleged strange things done by the Constantinopolitans he cites as follows;

A street car passenger often bargains with the conductor about the price he will pay for a ride.

If a youth takes a girl to the movies once or twice her parents expect him to marry her.

Turkish saleswomen, even in the smallest shops, are required to understand or speak seven or eight languages.

Native men are accustomed to "rent" a pipe to smoke while they sip their afternoon tea.

A policeman, if he finds a pickpocket at work, may beat him almost insensible and then let his prisoner go.

Some Constantinople stores have signs in as many as eight languages over their doors.

A tourist may engage a boatman to row him for two miles for two or three cents.

As American paper money in Turkey is worth 15 to 20 per cent. more than Turkish gold, it is possible for one to buy a $20 gold piece for 17 paper dollars.

Christmas is celebrated four times a year, once for each of the different religious calendars.

A man walking along the street often may be seen followed, five or ten paces in the rear, by a few of his wives.

A bootblack will give you a good shine for a cigarette.

There is no limit to automobile speeding in any part of Constantinople but it's a case of "all you can make."

A Turkish barber is courteous but when he shaves you he never washes off the lather but covers your face with powder.

A suit of pajamas, or its equivalent, is enough "evening dress" at a grand ball.

PICKEREL INCREASING IN THE RIVER AND LAKE

RESULT OF STOCKING LOCAL WATERS A FEW YEARS AGO.

Pickerel are rapidly multiplying in Rice Lake and the Otonabee river according to trappers who declare that they have observed the closed season but when making the rounds of their traps saw many fish. The pickerel have been noticed and caught during the last few years since these waters were stocked with fry. They are welcomed as a game fish but some of the men apprehend the gradual disappearance of bass and lunge. They believe that it would have been better to restock with these fish than to introduce pickerel. Whether or not the game laws are being effectively enforced this season is difficult to discover but one bag of forty bass were recently seen at Hastings. Probably if membership in the newly organized Game Association in Peterboro entailed the obligation of informing on such offenders or of passing a word to the inspectors the depletion of the local waters in the closed season might not be so extensive.

GAVE ADDRESS ON "JOHN BULL"

Interesting Evening at Park Street Baptist Church.

Rev,. Benjamin Goodfield, B.A., gave a most entertaining address on "John Bull and Sons" in the Park street Baptist church last evening. Mr. Goodfield is a very fine speaker, and held the attention of his audience to the last word. He treated his subject from the standpoint of several different national characteristics of the English people; their generosity, as exemplified in the case of South Africa being granted self-government within the space of four years, their tenacity, as never realizing when beaten, their self-sacrifice, shown in so many ways during the Great War, and their present bearing of a very heavy load of taxation. Their modesty in their message at the signing of the Armistice, "France has won the war with the aid of her allies," and their religious endeavors which follow so closely on their colonizing activities, were brought out in a splendid manner by the speaker, who concluded by saying that the secret of their growth was due to their attention and study of the Bible.

Mr. Moore, President of the Men's Bible Class, was the chairman of the evening. Mrs. Geo. H. King gave several fine vocal solos, and a brief piano recital by Miss Nora Moore was much enjoyed.

RUSSIAN PEASANTS SELL HORSE FOR 3 BOXES OF MATCHES

This State of Affairs Cause of the Counter-Revolution in March—First Signs of Revolt.

STOCKHOLM, April 4. (Associated Press).—Russian peasants south of Moscow gladly sell a horse for three boxes of matches or a kilo of salt, it is declared by persons said to be in touch with conditions in the interior of the country.

Observers cite this state of affairs was the cause of the counter-revolution in March, which, they say, began to take definite form in January. Unwieldiness of the Soviet administrative machine, the differences among the Bolshevist leaders and the fuel crisis with consequent stoppage of transportation and lack of food are given as the reasons for the subversive movement.

Discontent which was prevalent throughout Russia during the war period, but concealed in the presence of the invading enemy, could no longer be repressed when the fighting men returned home to find want and distress.

Revolt Against Orders.

The first signs of revolt against the existing order are said to have been apparent at the Russian trades-union congress in Moscow last November. There were further evidences of dissatisfaction in the eighth All-Russian Soviet Congress which convened in splendor at Moscow last December. These symptoms of reaction, it is stated, were unapparent on the surface, but made themselves felt among those behind the scenes. Harmonious resolutions were adopted, but the attack came from a quarter whose importance could not be doubted.

In this eighth congress, the metal workers' and miners' unions, led by Schliapnikoff, urged the democratization of the government which, it was charged, was military and bureaucratic. Schliapnikoff also demanded that the food administration be placed entirely in the hands of the trade unions. This was plainly an attack against the Communist executive committee and the highest Soviet authorities.

A Greater Freedom.

More recently the press of the country has shown signs of greater freedom and has not hesitated to attack policies of the government which, it is said, has intrenched itself by appointing thousands of petty officials.

Press controversies have revealed animosities between leaders. For instance, Trotzky and his followers are declared to be set upon a policy of nationalization of trade unions, whereas Lenine believes it wiser to maintain the independencejof the unions apart from the government and to use them as training schools for Communism. And there are numerous other groups which, it is stated, are bent upon other projects, revealing a tendency to destroy the former unity of front in Russian policy.

Less Coal Now.

Within recent weeks the transportation of coal from The Donetz valley has grown steadily less. The production was between 300,000 and 400,000 tons monthly, but only about 150,000 tons were loaded for rail haulage, due to the practice of expropriation by subordinate Soviet corporations or councils.

Simultaneously with the reduction in the coal supply, there was an almost complete cessation of delivery of wood. In addition to this, the snowless winter and the slaughter of horses in 1920 added to the difficulties of local transport.

Lack of fuel resulted in the shutting down of trail traffic. According to Soviet newspapers no trains are running on 30 lines and on the others only rudimentary schedules are being maintained.

Little hope for improvement is held out unless supplies of naptha stored at Baku can be brought into the center of the country.

For the first time in history, New York City has a police station handled entirely by and for women. Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, the first patrol woman on the force in New York, is director of the precinct, and Mrs. Isabel Goodwin, the first woman detective, is officer-in-charge. A service bureau is to be established for women desiring help or information in matters where the police may act

MISREPRESENTING INSURANCE, TELLS HOUSE COMMITTEE

AGENTS OF PRIVATE COMPANIES WORKING AMONG VETERANS CREATE WRONG IMPRESSION.

OTTAWA, April 8. — (Canadian Press).—The appointment of officials to explain the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act to all returned men, in an endeavor to remove the misunderstandings which at present exist was urged upon the special committee on re-establishment this morning by Major C. B. Topp, of the Insurance Branch of the Pensions Board.

Major Topp said that agents of private line companies were misrepresenting the soldiers' insurance provisions to veterans.

P. P. Morris, Patriotic Fund Secretary, stated that the fund still had slightly over six millions on hand. Last year the committee had expended some nine hundred thousand in temporary and regular relief. There were still many appeals for assistance coming in, he said. The tuberculosis question will be dealt with on Tuesday.

REYNOLDS' STORY REHASHED BEFORE THE BIGGS PROBE

COUNSEL ATTEMPTS TO SHOW CHANGES IN EVIDENCE.

TORONTO, April 8.— (Canadian Press.) —Roy Reynolds' story regarding 'commissions" or bonus for Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works, in connection with the purchase by the Ontaro government through L. C. Chartin, of Dundas, of $117,000 worth of motor trucks, was again before the Legislature Public Accounts committee to-day, when Reynolds was examined closely with the idea of showing that the evidence he gave before the committee was "diametrically opposed" to that given in Hamilton in the trial of his action against Perkins for commissions.

Reynolds said that there were things he had not been asked about at the Hamilton trial and he had not mentioned them. He was not considering the political side of the matter when he testified there. W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister, was called and corroborated the statements of Chief Engineer Hogarth in connection with the purchase of the trucks.

SOCIETY WOMAN COPIES RAFFLES.

Chicago Stirred By Many Thefts at Functions.

CHICAGO, April 8.—A mysterious society woman 'Raffles' it at work in Chicago's "gold coast" and making a fine collection of costly jewelry, beaded bags, furs and other articles. The harvest reaped in the last few weeks at society functions exceeds $35,000. Scarcely a luncheon or dance is now complete without a report that some woman has been robbed of jewelry or other valuables. Some of the more recent thefts include a diamond brooch valued at $5,000, a diamond bar pin worth $1,275, earrings costing $750 and similar articles.

The thief is said to be a young woman who has the entree to all society functions Officials of Lloyds Insurance Agency, which carried the policies on much of the stolen property, were loath to discuss the numerous robberies. They said a thorough investigation was in progress, but that any discussion of plans at this time would upset all calculations and permit the thief to escape.

PARIS MODELS YET OBTAIN IN VIENNA.

Tailors and Milliners in Difficulty.

VIENNA, April 8 (Associated Press).—The master tailors and milliners of Vienna are having difficulty trying to maintain the independence of Paris models and styles in women's attire which they established in war time. While the war was in progress they declared an Act of Emancipation from the rule of the Rue de la Paix, and conducted a vigorous campaign all over the then enemy and neutral states to make Vienna, instead of Paris, the arbiter of women's fshions

Now the tailors and milliners charge their own members with treason in yielding to feminine demand and bringing model costumes from Paris.

The tailors and milliners complain also of the competition in their trades which comes from the wives or the widows of former Austrian army officers of influential social standing, who have taken to millinery or to the designing of costumes for the newly rich as a means of livelihood.

One of these new competitors is the wife of an Austrian general, and many of them have their shops in their own palaces or apartments.

The master tailors are trying to have the labour laws amended so that no one may do such business without having served an apprenticeship of two and one-half years.

LIBERTY OF ACTION.

The other evening when walking along the street I saw a young lad not more than fifteen years old helplessly drunk. He was being supported by two other boys not much older than himself. All three were fresh of face and innocent of countenance. They were well-dressed, and without a doubt were from genteel homes. Where had he gotten this beverage, and how came he to drink it? He may have obtained it at his home, and gone out before the real effect started on him. He may have been among a party of older boys who dared him to drink, or he may have been forced. We do not know. I do know that he was drunk.

Now, his mother if living must belong to one of the two classes, either those women who are opposed to liquor-drinking in any form, be it wine or rum, or to those who cry "Liberty, liberty! let the boys and girls, men and women, stand on their own feet (as long as they can) regarding this matter, and let them have the liberty of deciding whether they are going to get drunk or not!"

If this lad's mother is an abstainer, and works for prohibition, then in spite of the fact that her boy has fallen, she may still be able to help him, knowing that her own soul is innocent; but if she is one of the "liberty" women, then in my opinion she by her precept and example will have to bear the burden of guilt upon her soul for the part she has taken in helping his down-fall.

As I watched the three young lads I realized the false idea of liberty that seems abroad even among women, in regard to this serious question. This boy through liberty was for the time bereft of his God-given senses, his legs were deprived of their free motion, and his poor stomach was deprived of its natural functios, for he, no doubt, had more than one spell of vomiting before the poison was out of his system. As far as I could observe by this dear young boy's condition, "Liberty" and "whiskey" seemed very far apart. If there was ever a state of helplessness and bondage, it seemed exemplified in this instance, and from one cause only.—The Canadian Churchman.

GOVERNMENT PREPARING.

LONDON, April 8. — (Canadian Press).—The intention of the British Government to issue an appeal for volunteers for transport and other essential services in view of the prospective triple alliance strike, it was announced in the House late to-day by Lloyd George. A Royal proclamation would call up the army and navy reserves, he said.

The Government also intends to enroll special constables and form a special emergency corps for a period of ninety days to protect the police in the execution of their duty, he said.

All efforts by the Prime Minister to bring the miners and mine-owners together have failed, and the executives of the triple alliance went into conference this afternoon to decide when the sympathetic strike should be called.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Recent reactionary tendencies in the stock market were again observed at the hesitant opening of to-day's session. The sudden uprush of money rates in yesterday's final dealings and overnight advices regarding the British industrial crissi prompted further caution.

Reading, Royal Dutch, and United States Rubber were strong, gaining 1 to 1 1-2 points, but other prominent issues were lower by fractions to 1 point. International Harvester and Virginia-Carolina Chemical were especially heavy, and Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt, and American Smelting denoted renewed selling pressure.

Popular specialties, notably Leathers and Oils, hardened after midday, but the downward tendency was resumed when call money rates stiffened. Quite a variety of ordinarily active shares were under pressure, losses 1 1-2 to 3 points being sustained by Harvester, Omaha, Tidewater Oil, General Electric Midvale Steel and Northwestern Preferred.

Call money rose to seven per cent. in later dealings. This was the signal for broader selling, which included oils, motors and coalers. The close was heavy.

The market settled down to its dull routine for the balance of the forenoon, dealing steadily diminishing. Further prices changes were mostly downward, steels and minor rails showing increased depression. Crucible, Lackawanna, and Republic Steel averaged one point losses, while Harvester and Texas and Pacific lost 1½ points. Pennsylvania at 33½, recorded a new low for many years. Trading was restrained by the grave character of the advices from London and uncertainty as to local money conditions. Call loans opened and renewed into next week at 6 per cent., as against yesterday's final rate of 6½.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, April 8. — (Canadian Press).—Paper stocks made recoveries in fair trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, Abitibi and Brompton being prominent with gains of two points each after recent severe liquidation. The trend of the market generally was upward, but other gains were slight and of little significance. Abitibi sold up to 37, while Brompton, after displaying considerable hesitancy during the first hour, finished strongly at 33½. Spanish river was steady at 71½. Cement and Canada Steamships were each up ½ at 57¼ and 24 respectively.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 8. — (Canadian Press). — Bearish industrial and crop conditions tended to-day to depress values in the wheat market. A house with south-western connections was conspicuous in selling. The bulls, however, contended that the difference of the present grain prices from those of a year ago had more than discounted all the weakening factors. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 3-4 lower, were followed by numerous minor changes, mostly below yesterday's finish. Corn was easier with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼ higher, the market underwent a slightly general sag. Oats duplicated the action of other cereals, starting a shade off to 1-8 advance, and later declining a little all round. Provisions were weak.

Gossip later that exporters were offering to sell led to increased pressure in wheat by bears. The close was nervous, with May 1.34 to 1.34 1-4 and July 1.11 3-4 to 1.12. Scantiness of receipts operated subsequently as a check on bear in corn. The close was unsettled, with July 63 1-4 to 63 3-8 to 1-2.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange heavy; demand, 3.90 1-8. Canadian dollars, 10. 7-8 per cent. discount.

Roy and Anderson gave a vocal duet, and solo were heard from Mrs. Clark, Miss Ethel Kennedy, Miss Byers, Mr. Anderson, asd Master Kenneth McCannan. Miss Grace Evans gave a very fine reading. IN POORHOUSE GETS A FORTUNE.

Heir to New Zealand Estate in California.

MONTREAL, April 8.— Lying on a bed in a county institution with the infirmities of age, Alfred Newsome, formerly of Philadelphia, has been found in Berkeley, California, and told that he has inherited $100,000, left by Mrs. Martha Driscoll, a sister in New Zealand.

For seven years he had wandered on the Pacific Coast as an itinerant shoe lace peddler, lost to his wife and children. Not in a half century had he seen ,and only once or twice heard from the sister in New Zealand, who dying left $200,000 to be divided between him and another brother, John, in Boston.

When the news was broken to him, he was dazed, and slowly shook his head, mumbling that it must be a mistake, as he had no friend or relative who could leave that much money.

But when his wife, 72 years old, white-haired and bent but still keen of mind, was told of the finding of her husband and the assurance that he and she would benefit by the fortune, tears of joy filled her eyes at the word that "Alf" still lived.

"Oh, is it true, is it true? Tell me, you aren't trying to break news gently to me?" she begged. "I am so afraid it will utrn out that my husband has died, and it is only his body that is being brought back to me. Oh, if he dies now I shall die, too."

Her son, Albert Newsome, and daughter, Mrs. Ida Steele, reassured her.

"Why, certainly he's alive, mother," they said. "He'll be home soon and then we'll have the gayest reunion Philadelphia ever saw."

As they talked on of the "big party," the old lady's eyes beamed and she began to smile.

"Oh, the party'll be all right for you young folks, but I'll be the happiest woman in the world if only I can sit down beside my Alfred again and have him read to me. No fortune in all the world is worth as much to me as just to hear the sound of his voice again .It will be like a voice from the grave to me."

She paused a while, and continued, more calmly in answer to a remark, "The money—oh yes," She smiled faintly. "I hardly thought of that. It'll be lovely, won't it? I don't want any for myself; I am too happy as it is. But it will be nice for Alfred. He'll never have to travel again, or if he must travel—and I hardly believe he can ever stay in one place, he has such a wanderlust—at least he can travel in comfort, as old people should."

At Left—Heavy Black Wool Stitching Makes an Unusual Decoration on This Suit of Tan Gabardine, Which Is Topped by a Hat of Black Satin with Long Black Wings.

The Wide Circular Skirt of Black Is Faced in Emerald Green and Is Belted by a Wide Girdle of Emerald and Sapphire Blue. Green Also Lines the Saucy Short Jacket and Binds the Neckline of the Blouse of Black Crepe de Chine.

Margaret Lowry

By Mme. Frances

The Famous Creator of Fashions

AMONG the fabrics that are especially desirable for the spring suit, gabardine ranks high in favor. It has many distinguishing qualities to recommend it. It lends itself well to tailored effects, yet is not too stiff to fall in pleasing folds when used in a full skirt.

Gabardine also comes in many delightful shades. It forms a delightful background for the various interesting decorations that are now in vogue. A favorite all-the-year-round color is navy blue. It is becoming to most women, and besides it possesses several practical qualities that are not to be ignored in these days of high prices. Many different colors look well with it, and if a waist is desired it is no great trouble to find one that will go with the suit of gabardine.

Distinctive Touches

I think it is always smartest when developed in a plain tailored style. However, in the model that I illustrate, I have added a little cape, as these delectable additions are one of fashion's novel touches for the spring suit.

This suit shows a long and somewhat narrow notched collar. There is a suggestion of Russian influence in the slight blousing just above the narrow belt. The skirt is plain, for this is the mode most suitable when combined with the tailored jacket.

The cape, fastened beneath the back of the collar, is adorned with rows of buttons that add rather decorative touches to its fronts. It reveals another novel fashion note, for it is lined with gray cotton crepe. This material is used in the coat, while the blouse that accompanies this suit is made of the crepe.

A gay dash of color is combined with this model, for the sailor hat is a brilliant scarlet. But lest the contrast be altogether too startling against the delicate flesh tint of the cheeks, a navy veil lends a modifying touch to this creation.

Totally different is the suit that shows a flaring circular skirt. Black gabardine is favored for its fashionings. But it is far from a dolorous-looking creation, for I have introduced emerald green for the lining. The cut of the little jacket is particularly smart and there is much distinction in the collar.

The sleeves are bell-shaped, for the wide-mouthed styles are very much admired for early spring. A straight turnback cuff makes a satisfactory finish.

A glint of green is also seen when the wearer of this model walks, for the rippling skirt is faced with emerald green.

With such costumes it is always a question as to what shall be worn around the waistline. The little jacket does not, of course, meet the skirt, and even if it did, with every swing of the figure, it flares away from the figure. So in this space I have draped about the figure a gorgeous belt of emerald green and sapphire blue, which is embroidered all over in gold.

The lovely blue of this girdle is repeated in the hat, which is a mass of cornflowers. Such hats are extremely chic in the early days of spring, when a feeling of impatience seems to possess the souls of women as they wait for the unfolding of the early woodland flowers.

Another shade which I consider very springlike is tan. That is the color I have selected for another of the suits that is pictured on this page. Very different in type, it reveals an effective way in which you may model your spring skirt. Two tiers of the gabardine are chosen for its fashioning, and they are so disposed that the front of the skirt is finished in inverted V shape.

The coat follows the same lines, only the right instead of the left side is folded over. About the edges there is some heavy black wool stitching that is unusually smart-looking. This reappears where the sleeves are attached at the shoulders, for its ornamental value is too great to be used only as a binding.

A Combination Model

Very gracefully draped are the fronts, and the solitary button occupies a rather unusual position, which, nevertheless, is decidedly interesting. A narrow belt of the gabardine is set about the waistline. The sleeves show black satin cuffs and a collar of the same smooth-surfaced material completes an attractive suit.

Of course, if you wished to copy this model, it would look equally well in other color combinations. You might affect that which I have just described in the preceding paragraphs, for black gabardine and green stitches would be wonderfully attractive. Or if you preferred you might substitute a narrow bind of silk if you wished to avoid too much handwork.

Designed especially to be worn with this suit of tan gabardine is the dainty vestee of white cotton crepe. It is stitched with black wool, so that its trimming harmonizes with that of the suit.

The jaunty hat is developed in black satin and from its crown dart black wings that give a stylish appearance to this simply fashioned model.

Its style contrasts effectively with the chapeau of tan wheat. Apparently these ears are set on without rhyme or reason, but that is not so—the skill of an artist is essential to give them that delightfully happy-go-lucky look.

This unusual hat tops a suit that is originated in a delectable shade of gray gabardine. This suit is of a still different type, for as you glance at its wide sleeves and loose fronts you are instantly reminded of the coat of the mandarin.

Of course, in seeking inspiration from the many different corners of the world, I do not believe in slavishly accepting the usual interpretations. Originality united to usability is what I seek when I create modes for the lovely women of America. So while you may see a resemblance to the dress of the Oriental, yet I have added several most attractive style touches to this creation.

The fronts are turned back and show much embroidery in a darker shade of gray that looks uncommonly well on the white lining. The high-standing collar stands away from the neck. Like the fronts, the collar is skilfully embroidered. The sleeves, too, are enriched with fine stitchery.

The fronts of the coat are held together by a sash which forms a novel decoration on the front of the skirt. Above this you may observe a straight jumper blouse of white Canton crepe—another distinctive touch from the Far East that is exceedingly smart.

Many quite attractive jumpers are being worn with the spring suits that are designed with open front or partially opened front. Sometimes these are made from fabrics whose rich colorings are inspired by the Orient. In such models no trimming is used. When plain fabrics are selected, embroidery in rather bright-hued silks is the favored method of adornment.

Concerning Handbags

Among the novelties in handbags, some of the prettiest are those designed to look like flowers. Very clever copies are executed, so that one may be excused for imagining that the gorgeous dahlia held in the hand of some richly-garbed woman is a real flower.

It is, however, merely an imitation. Each petal is faithfully reproduced in the sumptuous colorings that Nature gives these lovely autumn flowers. All are attached to a foundation of silk, and instead of using a stiff handle, a band of ribbon is tied to the frame, which, however, is entirely concealed beneath the many petals of the dahlia.

Other flowers that are most admirably adapted to such uses are pansies, nasturtiums and roses. Sometimes beads or jewels are combined with the silk or velvet from which they are made, so that the tiny stamens or pistil may be emphasized.

The Fashion Forecast

Costumes of all-white, including dress, hat, shoes and stockings, under a smart topcoat or fur coat, will be worn in early spring.

COMMENT ON LOCAL SPORT

"Hap" Harrison will likely be seen in action here this summer. He is slated to join the Central Ontario squad. Central Ontario players will not be eligible to play in any other of the local leagues. This should mean a better brand of ball for Peterborough. The Mercantile and City League aggregations are shaping up for the opening.

While many past efforts to put lacrosse on the local sporting map have not met with the best of success, there is no reason to look for the present movement to be failure. In the past, the great trouble was in securing players, but there are enough residing in the city now to assure the promoters of a strong team without importing players. That is going to be a strong factor in the success of the venture.

The Maryland Racing Association has instructed the jockey clubs in that State to recognize Guy Bedwell as agent for J. K. L. Ross, which means that a merry little turf war is liable to follow. The rulings of the New York jockey have been recognized by every other club on the Continent, but the action of the Maryland commission means that the clubs in that State are liable to have to sever all working agreements with what has been looked upon as the governing body of racing on this Continent.

If an early start means anything, the London team is certainly going to have a big edge on the rest of the outfits in the Michigan-Ontario League. Wetzel has fifteen players in camp at Delaware, Ohio, and they start to-day with real action, as an exhibition game will be played with the college team of that place. But it is only the "rookies" that he is trying out now and the regulars will not have much start on the Hams as they will report the latter part of next week. O'Rourke's men will follow shortly after.

Only two real looking finds have been dug up so far by the spring test of last fall's bush crop.

More than the usual number came up for trial with the major league clubs this season and more than usual will remain in fast company, not because of striking ability, but because there were more jobs open than usual.

Toporcer, the goggled second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Joe Tierney, slugging infielder picked up by the Pittsburg Pirates, were the only ones who stepped in and took a job under real competition.

The Cincinnati Reds picked up a valuable trio in Bohne, Fonseca and Hargrave. Bohne and Fonseca, however, had to be taken because Pat Moran had no one else for second and third base as a result of his old-outs.

The New York Yankees have a fine looking young shortstop in Johnny Mitchell brought up from the Pacific Coast League, but Miller Huggins has such a crowd of infielders that it looks as if he will have to warm the bench for most of the season.

The Giants made a find in Goldie Rapp, who came up from the association, but he stepped into an open job. Rapp is no kid, however. He's 29 years old and has been up before.

Ty Cobb has Lew Blue, who is making his second kid for major league honors at first base for the Tigers.

Lee Fohl is trying to fill the shoes of Joe Gedeon with Bill Gleason, a 26-year-old prospect from Chattanoooga. He also tell into an emergency job.

Frank Brazill, a hard-hitting youngster, perhaps will make the first base job for Connie Mack's Athletics, but he likewise came at a time when Mack would gamble with most any prospect.

The Chicago White Sox are forced to give a whole raft of "rookies" a chance to fill the places made vacant by the banishment of the "Black Sox."

LOCAL FOOTBALL GOSSIP

DE LAVAL VS. G.W.V.A. AND COMRADES V.S. C.G.E. AT EXHIBITION GROUNDS, 3 P.M.— OTHER NEWS OF INTEREST.

Two very interesting Football Games will be played in Saturday afternoon under local League Auspices. The De Laval and G.W.V.A. make their opening debut on the East End Pitch of the Exhibition Grounds and on the Wes End Pitch the Comrades will have the famous C.G.E. team as their rivals. Both games are scheduled to start at 3 p.m. prompt.

The official referees appointed by the Executive for Saturday's game are Mr. A. McKinley for De Laval vs. G.W.V.A. and Mr. W. R. Thompson for the Comrades vs. C.G.E. Both men have had practical experience in refereeing and will handle the game to satisfaction of all concerned.

After such an unexpected defeat in the opening game last week, the C.G.E. Executive have not wasted much time in trying to strengthen the team for Saturday by introducing Manders, Mann Bartley and a newcomer in Waine to replace D. Gash, A. Parkins and T. Hotston. The C.G.E. team for to-morrow reads—C. Griffine, goal; J. McDonald and R. Waine full-backs; J. Mann, H. Turner and J. Williams half-backs, J. Manders, C. Hotston, J. T. Powell, J. Williamson and T. Bartley forwards. Reserves: — J. Bestard and D. Gash.

The Comrades team for to-morrow will be:—G. T. Poste goal; R. Jolliffe and F. Mallinson backs; A. Jackson, H. Cowie and J Mulvihill half backs; W. Warman, J. P. Roberts, E. G. Hardie, Wm. McDougall and C. Hopkins forwards. Reserves —T Bolan and M. Dunkley. The Comrades inside right received an injury last Saturday that keeps him out of the team.

Next meeting of the Executive will be held on Monday evening, April 18th in the G.W.V.A. Hall at 7.30 p.m. prompt.

A special meeting of the Caledonian Football Club will be held next Wednesday Evening in Woodmen of World Hall at 7.30 p.m. prompt. All players are requested to attend.

Mr. J. Cairns of the C.G.E. Executive did a good stroke of business when he obtained the necessary permission from the City Council to acquire the north west grounds as a football field for the C. G. E. team. Others tried and failed

After a very faithful weeks practice the G.W.V.A. team anticipate a win against their old rivals—The De Laval—and place the following team on duty for Saturday—W. Jones goal; N. Crowe and A. Walker, full backs; H. Burrows, T. E Haycock and O. M. Hurele halfbacks, S. Curtiss, T. E. Monks, (Capt.) Stanley Wallis, Alex. Rorrison and J. W. Sharmon forwards. Reserves — R. Willshaw, Charlie Wallis and Sidney Youngs. All members are requested to be at Exhibition Grounds no later than 2.15 p.m.

Nobody knows what players will take the field for the De Laval team to-morrow but Jock Lindsay has a suite that has something behind it and we hear that they have a new centre forward included in the roster.

Just a little reminder to those who desire to spend a pleasant evening to-night. The Canadian Woollens Athletic Association are holding their first annual dance in G.W.V.A. hall to-night from 8.30 to 1.30 a.m. Dancing, cards and Excellent refreshments

Good news for the Football enthusiasts. A local gentleman has informed the local Secretary, Mr. Fred Sutcliffe, that he desires to give a handsome cup for competition to local Football. This is an excellent opportunity for the Football executive to replace the new cup for the present Peterboro City Cup which would be more suitable and worthy of the name and if the Association desired they could put the old trophy cup for competition among the schools in a school league

While we are on the subject of Football Trophies, the Executive have received a handsome cup from Rv. Father Phelan, which has been specfied as a Charity Cup. Would it not be a profitable proposition if the Executive would promote a fund to help unfortunate players, who may get injured during the season and could use the Fund from this competition to met the emergency. Last season three players were injured and had the pleasure of paying their own doctor's bills along with the unwelcome rest of a few weeks at a financial loss.

All Canadian Woollens Football Players are requested to meet at the Bonner-Worth to-morrow at 2.30 p.m. Business important

MERCANTILE LEAGUE WILL ENTER INTERMEDIATE SERIES OF O.B.A.A.

ALL FOUR CLUBS ENTHUSIASTIC FOR MEMBERSHIP IN ONTARIO.

The Mercantile Baseball League will have to be considered as a contender in the Intermediate series of the O.B.A.A. this season, that league having decided to apply for membership in the Association. The decision was made at a re-organization meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. last night. All four clubs, Cressman's, Westclox, Lock Works and Barrie's enthusiastically endorsed the proposal to affiliate with the O. B.A.A.

Before the meeting, officers of the league and the clubs, and a number of their supporters were dined by Barrie's Welfare Club, ladies of that organization serving a dainty repast. The table was appropriately decorated.

Good Work Appreciated.

Representatives of the club referred to the good work accomplished by the officers, and congratulations were extended to Cressman's team, who won the championship. The secretary and treasurer reviewed the league's record of last season and the financial statement showed a credit balance.

Amendments to the constitution with a view to improving the rules of the league, were brought forward, and these will be considered by a special commitee, and a report made at the next meeting.

If arrangements can be made, the games will be played at Riverside Park, some of them on Saturday afternoons.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. Presidents— Messrs. E. H. Howson, J. H. Vernor, Thos. Barrie, A. W. Cressman.
President—C. E. Curtis.
Vice-President—F. C. McBride.
Sec.-Treasurer—Frank Jobbitt.

CITY LEAGUERS' MEETING TO-NIGHT

With the Mercantile League reorganized, the East Peterborough League a certainty, and both in the Intermediate series O.B.A.A., the City Baseball Leaguers will have something to talk about at the reorganization meeting in the Board of Trade chambers. The time of the meeting has been advanced to 8.30 o'clock for the convenience of those who will take part in the banquet at the Y.M.C.A. to the Intermediate basketball champions of Ontario.

There will be a large attendance of baseball enthusiasts and some good work should be accomplished.

SOUTH CENTRAL TEAM ORGANIZE

Prospects are bright at South Central School for a strong team in the school series. After school yesterday afternoon the team was organized and the following officers elected:

Hon. Vice-President—Rev. R. B. Grobb.
President —Principal K. Wightman.
Secretary—Walter Cowling.
Treasurer—F. E. Kerr.
Mascots— Leonard Collingsworth and Gordon Dobbin.
Executive — John Morrison, Alin Gray and Jerry McGill.

The organization will meet in the near future to select a captain for the team and get the game under way.

A LETTER TO MR. G. N. GORDON, M.P.

Peterborough, April 7, 1921.

G. N. Gordon, Esq., M.P.,

Dear Mr. Gordon: Your reply to my letter to you regarding the lowering of the members' indemnity, states that my idea of lowering the indemnity was an after-thought arising out of the late bye-election.

That I can at once dispose of by telling you that last summer, several months before I had formed any idea of resigning, I sent a resolution to the Clerk of the House of Commons to go on the order paper of the House for the next session setting out the fact that in view of the fact that prices and wages had dropped, as declared by the Department of Labour, members should lower their indemnity to correspond, as was of course the intention when they were raised. This resolution was accepted by the Clerk of the House and was put on the future Order Paper accordingly, and I hold the clerk's receipt to that effect.

Prior to that I published in The Examiner a letter referring to my intention so to do. So that you will see I was quite sincere, and that I am not open to any such charge as you make. It was because of what I had done last summer, as well as because of what I have said for years in the House regarding salaries and wages, that I wrote to you. I do not wish to bind you to my ideas in that respect. I quite understand that your absence from your office means a large loss to you, and that the necessary and legal expenses of an election are enormous, but I do not wish to say more on this occasion than to show you that I was not inconsistent or piqued in determining to write to you. Permit me to congratulate you upon your very successful debut, and to state that I admire your frank and outspoken methods of discussing public questions. I am,

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

"HUMAN HEARTS."

The older generation of theatregoers will remember the days when Bob Fitzsimmons, the greatest champion in the history of boxing, appeared with cyclonic success in the role of Tom Logan in "Human Hearts," Hal Reid's famous melodrama, in which the pugilist toured the entire continent and won the plaudits of admiring audiences in cities and towns from coast to coast. Even older folks will recall that "Human Hearts" was a success even before that time.

The present generation is to see the present-day version of "Human Hearts" at the Grand Opera House on Monday, April 11. This version has no Fitzsimmons; instead, it is featuring the juvenile role of Tom Logan's daughter. This will be interpreted by wee Dorothy Mackay, whose remarkable success in "Cinderella" and "Babes in the Woods" is a matter of Canadian theatrical history. This talented, dainty miss will have greater opportunity than ever before to reveal the full extent of her histrionic ability, and she may be depended upon to take full advantage of the chance thus afforded her.

Mr. Frank Carpenter has made an elaborate production for this revival of the famous melodrama, and it promises excellent entertainment.

"THE GIRL FROM NOWHERE"

Billy Oswald, principal fun maker, with F. Stuart Whyte's gorgeous musical comedy is undoubtedly, one of the funniest of present day comedians Billie is Scottish and humorous. He has a thousand mannerisms, everyone of which will tickle your funny bone and make you forget your worries. There is a laugh in every line of him. As a detective and later, the millionaire proprietor of a Motion Picture Studio, he is a continuous source of joy. Mr. Oswald is the epitome of pawkey humor. To see him is to chuckle to hear him is to shriek. He was a big pantomine favorite in England, befor coming here, and Canada has endorsed the old countries approval wherever he has appeared In addition the 'Girl from Nowhere" is the last word in musical comedy and neither trouble and expenses has been spared to make this production the biggest brightest, and best that has appeared this season. In costliness of costumes, elaborateness of scenic sensationalism the "Girl from Nowhere" is without a peer, and the girls, shop girls, society girls, bathing girls, each one a peeress of pulcritrude, "The Girl from Nowhere' will be at Grand on Tuesday April 12th.

"WAY DOWN EAST."

D. W. Griffith's wonder picture spectacle "Way Down East," will be the special attraction at the Grand for three days commencing April 14, with a matinee each afternoon of April 15 and 16 at 2:15. It comes here direct from New York and will be presented in the same elaborate manner that marks its current run in the 44th Street Theatre, where it has settled down for a stay which gives every indication of breaking the metropolitan record for the number of consecutive performances. Griffith's first big picture production in the regular theatres, "The Birth of a Nation," held this record up to a few weeks ago when "Lightnin'" passed his mark, and now he is hopeful that "Way Down East," before it finishes there will regain this distinction for him.

The simple story of love and lovers in rural New England, upon which the spectacle is evolved, is taken from the play, "Way Down East," by Lottie Blair Parker, which had such a wonderful vogue upon the dramatic stage a few years back Griffith selected this story because of its manifold human appeals and the fatc that it is so typically American and reminiful of an era in our life which is passing all too swiftly. What he has done with the appealing material of the older narrative is difficult to imagine. In the new art form at his command he steps out from the limitations of the stage, and its encompassing proscenium arch and called into play nature covering the period of four season's in the play's duration. He has idealized its imaginative possibilities, illustrated its surroundings exquisitely and with a realism that is fascnated at times and overwhelmingly dramatic in its great storm and ice floe climax at other times has created the dramatic sensation of the year.

AT THE ALLEN.

"PARIS GREEN"? NOT VERY

Though he is just a "rube" from a small Jersey village, Charles Ray as the doughboy hero of "Paris Green" makes things hum during the single hour that he spends in Paris. Not only does he see the sights, but he learns enough French to become acquainted with a charming little girl in a restaurant. He keeps thinking about her later, when he is in "civvies" again and back on the farm. And one day, having come to America to live with an uncle here, she unexpectedly lands her ex-doughboy friend into a host of exciting adventures and a budding romance.

"Paris Green' will be the attraction at the Allen Theatre Friday. Ann May is leading woman for Charles Ray, and the picture was directed by Jerome Storm. It was produced for Thomas H. Ince and is a Paramount Artcraft.

"SMILING BILL"

Have you ever seen a dodo or a dynosaurus laugh?
If you haven't you have missed a mighty treat.
Have you ever heard the braying of the vertical giraffe.
Or the hippoan or elephantine bleat?
Well, that's the way he'll get you when you see him on the screen.
You'll laugh and laugh and laugh and laugh, until
You'll have to take the exit to avoid a public scene—
When you see the funny face of "Smiling Bill."
At the Allen To-day.

AT THE REGENT.

WALL ST. PICTURE WITH GEORGE WALSH IS A HIT

George Walsh, William Fox star energetic, plunged into greater favor than ever with the patrons of the Regent Theatre last night in his new celluloid drama of love, adventure and "big time" finance in the wilds of Wall Street. "The Plunger" was made to please—and please it certainly did. People who had been smacking their lips for more Walsh ever since they saw him in that memorable photodrama of the underworld, "From Now On," went home with their appetite perfectly satisfied.

"The Plunger," in which Walsh plays the title role as "Take a Chance" Schuyler, is steeped in the atmosphere of Wall Street, and in the unfolding of the story every interesting phase of hectic activity in the nation's great financial district has been brought out. There are excellent sceens of the spot where the recent fatal explosion occurred, the curb market, an upward panorama of the Stock Exchange taken from the roof of the Morgan building, and a riotous — almost panicky—shot of a closing hour on the floor of the Exchange. Many exterior and interior scenes were made on the two-million dollar suburban estate of a financier.

The love element is very strong in the production, but is given a new twist in portrayal as the two lovers, "Chance" and Alice Houghton, do not realize that theyare actually in love until it is almost too late.

RICHARD BARTHELMESS, in the wonder spectacle "Way Down East" at the Grand, April 14, 16 and 16.

AT ALL-PETERBORO BANQUET TO ONTARIO BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

The Sportsmen's Committee having in charge the arrangements for the banquet to be tendered the Peterborough basketball team, Intermediate champions of Ontario, at the Empress Hotel on the evening of Wednesday, 13th April, held a meeting last night, and completed the programme.

Dr. A. W. McPherson will be the chairman at the banquet.

Reports on the ticket sale and the subscription lists are very satisfactory. It is apparent that the sportsmen of the city are in the midst of a popular movement—that of bringing about an all-Peterborough gathering to do honour to the championship team. Everybody approached has declared his approval of the banquet, and there is no lack of offers to assist.

Popular speakers are being secured for the toast list, and it might be added that care is being taken by the committee to make sure that this part of the programme, while not being lengthy, will do full justice to the occasion.

ENGLISHMEN ARRIVE STRANDED IN CANADA

Emigrants Alleged to Be Victims of False Pretences

Ottawa Citizen: "A rather cruel hoax has been perpetrated on some hundreds of Englishmen, who, as a result, find themselves stranded in Canada. The chief sufferers are in Glace Bay, N. S. The game is the old one, more prevalent years ago than now, of unscrupulous immigration agents in Britain promising big wages in Canada to immigrants, who, on arriving, find that conditions are not at all as represented.

"The G. W. V. A. Dominion command has taken up the present instance, and will push it to a conclusion. It is claimed that in Wrexham, England, there is an immigration agent who has been promising jobs to immigrants at Glace Bay and at other points at ten dollars a day wages. Then men have come out in numbers, but the coal companies state they asked for no men and are certainly not paying any such wages. The men, many of whom fought in France, are stranded at Glace Bay. Others who have been sent west are in similar condition.

"Grant MacNeil states that the G. W. V. A. will endeavor to find these men temporary relief and also to see that in future the agents mentioned are stopped in their work."

SHIMMY BANNED IN U.S. VILLAGE.

PONTIAC, April 5.—"No more shimmying in Clarkston" is the edict now gone forth.

The little village on the improved roads north of Pontiac has risen in wrath against the abuses of the modern dance as exemplified by city folks who come there to take part in weekly dances staged by out-of-town committees. Complaints have been frequent during the latter part of the winter, and what they have seen has aroused them to the point where they threaten to have the law on someone.

"We've got to make an example of some of these people," is the official expression of Clarkston. "We can't spend our time watching them dance. They behave if they know we are there, but as soon as we are gone, we begin to get complaints from women of Clarkston. The dance that seems to offend most is the shimmy."

There have been a number of dancing parties held in Clarkston this winter, because of its easy access by automobile from Pontiac, and the villagers say that some of the folks who attend are not of the sort they like to welcome.

TAUNTON SAVED TO COALITION; BOSCAWEN WON

MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE ELECTED OVER LABOR CANDIDATE BY MAJORITY OF 4,700.

VACATED BY BOLES

LONDON, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—Sir Arthur Griffith's Boscawen minister of Agriculture, who was defeated at Dublin on the Canadian cattle embargo issue, has been elected over James Lunnon, Labor, at Taunton, by a majority of forty seven hundred. The Taunton seat was vacated by Lt. Col. D. Boles to make way for Sir Arthur.

In spite of the efforts of the Lord Northcliffe newspaper combine Sir Arthur was defeated in the former contest through his advocacy of keeping the embargo on Canadian cattle, Lord Beaverbrook flooding the constituency with anti-embargo propaganda. The Taunton seat, however, is conceded to be strongly coalition and the embargo issue was probably not strong enough to defeat Sir Arthur there.

A SPRING FAIR HELD YESTERDAY

STUNT ROOM AT Y.W.C.A. PROVIDED AMUSEMENT

Dainty is the word that best describes the Spring Fair held in the gymnasium of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon and evening. The decorations in white, pale green and pink on the different booths, the immaculate appearance of the different tables, the home-made candy in its delicate little paper cases, home-made, delicious-looking pies and cakes, the swimming-booth with all sorts of pretty accessories, the fancy work of all descriptions, and the tables with pink "nighties" and work-aprons just as attractively displayed as the babies' caps and pink silk knitted sweater, were all most inviting. There was a fish-pond for the little ones, a number of dances by Miss Pryce, and the stunt room provided a good laugh both afternoon and evening, with its humorous presentations of "Lord Ullin's Daughter," and the very funny Umha Family party. The tea-room, where tall vases, filled with the very nicest sort of spring decorations, soft, silvery pussy-willows, met the eye on every side, with tables in pink and white, was under the supervision of Miss Ina Allen and Miss Mary Gardiner, and, in the gymnasium, home-made cooking was in charge of Miss Ethel Elliott, and Miss Tressa Taylor, the sewing booth; Miss Helen Metheral, candy; Miss Ethel Kennedy, swimming-booth; Mrs. F. C. Weber, fish-pond; Miss Dorothy Clarke, and the "stunt" room was in the care of Miss Grace Evans.

The swimming-pool at the Y. W. C. A. opens on April 18th, under the care of a capable instructor.

4
DAYS TO PETERBOROUGH MOTOR SHOW

WILL FEED BRITAIN FROM THE AIR IF THERE IS A SHORTAGE OF FOOD

LONDON, April 9.—For the first time in modern history it was promised there would be manna from the air if a general strike leads to food shortage.

The Government's great air forces were to be turned over to food controllers to deliver necessaries from country to city, and even from the Continent. Aircraft of all kinds was to be devoted to the work.

The delivery system will be supplemented by motor lorries and by what trains volunteers can run.

The Emergency Act, which has been invoked, provides for food rationing.

Government Prepares to Meet Crisis That Strike Precipitated

RECRUITING OF VOLUNTEER WORKERS AND SAFETY UNITS ENERGETICALLY BEGUN TODAY.

STRIKERS DISAGREE

LONDON, April 9.—(Canadian Press) —Recruiting of volunteer workers and safety units and energetically begun by Government today, and other plans were perfected to meet the outcome of the widespread industrial tie-up next Tuesday, growing out of the miners strike, and involving approximately two million workers.

Meanwhile, however, reports from various parts of England, Scotland and Wales indicate that the Triple Alliance Executive may have more to do than the mere issuance of its strike decree in order to bring about general cessation of work by the railwaymen and transport workers, who with the miners make up the big labor organization.

From Glasgow, Liverpool, Cardiff Edinburgh and several other important locals of National Union of Railwaymen comes word that rank and file are challenging the right of the Railwaymens' National Executive body to call a strike without balloting by the men.

Some of these local bodies of rail way workers declare the miners resistance to cuts in wages, which brought about the strike in the coal industry is justifiable, but they do not consider they have anything to thank the miners for, and therefore should not be stampeded into a sympathetic wald-out. The general purpose of these messages was that the men do not present a solid front on the strike issue. This may account for the silence maintained by labor leaders this morning after a conference with Premier Lloyd George. After two hours spent by delegates of the Railwaymen and Transport Workers with the Prime Minister, their only statement for the press was that the depuation might return to Downing street later

A conference of Labor leaders with Lloyd George and other members of the government occurred this afternoon. It is understood the Labor delegates submitted proposals growing out of the meeting which the Triple Alliance Executive Board had held during the morning. The Premier remained firm, it was stated afterward, in his insistence upon the preminence of the question of resuming pumping in the mines. Another conference may be arranged.

FLICKERLESS FILMS AGAIN PROMISED

CHICAGO, April 9.—Do you prefer your moving pictures with or without flicker? Does the shimmering movement of the screen harrass your contemplation of the cinematic melodramas? Two University of Chicago professors and two mechanical experts claim to have just perfected a projection machine which renders moving pictures flickerless, shimmerless, and harmless to the eyes.

A revolving shutter which interrupts the light at a greater frequency than in the ordinary machine produces the change which, it is said, will revolutionize the movies from a mechanical point of view.

GREECE IS IN SERIOUS STATE

RESERVISTS REFUSE TO ANSWER CALL TO COLORS AND REPORTED PICTURES OF CONSTANTINE BURNED.

REVERSES SUFFERED

ATHENS, April 9. — (Canadian Press).—Reverses suffered by the Greek forces in Anatolia and the casualties inflicted upon them by the Turkish Nationalists have caused great depression here. Official statements on the situation are very meager, and are interpreted to mean that the Government may be withholding the truth from the people.

The first wounded soldiers arriving here would not speak, their lips having been sealed by the Government.

Cabinet councils are held almost hourly, and King Constantine is reported to have abandoned his plan for a trip to the front. Mobilization is proceeding slowly, it being reported that only twenty-five per cent. of the men answered the call to the colors. It is said that in many parts of Greece there have been flat refusals on the part of reservists to report for duty. In some localities pictures of King Constantine are reported to have been burned.

A STEADY DECLINE IN GOLD PRODUCED

BUT BRITISH EMPIRE MORE AND MORE SOURCE OF GOLD SUPPLY.

A Canadian Bank of Commerce report refers to the precious metal situation as follows:

"The preliminary returns of the world's output of precious metals during 1920 show a further steady decline in the amount of gold produced. The British Empire is becoming more and more a source of supply of gold for the world, the Transvaal mines alone yielding fifty per cent. of the world's production. This change is not due to any increased output on the part of the British mines, but to the sharp fall of the mines of the other countries during the past five years. The United States, for example, with an output of 4,868,000 fine ounces in 1916, produced in 1920 only 2,395,000 fine ounces. Canada, on the other hand, with a comparatively small output, maintained her figures fairly steadily during the period in question, and in the course of the last two years has actually increased her output, producing in 1920 gold valued at $15,853,000, as compared with $14,464,000 in 1918."

LABOR LIKELY TO ENTER THE LEEDS BATTLE

COMMENCE ORGANIZATION WITH VIEW TO ENTERING CANDIDATE FOR SEAT VACATED BY WHITE.

MAY JOIN FARMERS

BROCKVILLE Ont. April 9.—(Canadian Press).—Laborites of Brockville commenced their organization last night with a view to placing a candidate in the bye-election in the Federal riding of Leeds and Brockville made vacant by the resignation of Sir Thomas White.

An election committee was formed by the Trades and Labor Council to bring about the organization of a branch of the Independent Labor Party. Prominent Labor men state that it is most likely that a candidate will be entered to represent the organized bodies in Brockville and Gananoque where labor is strongest in the riding The necessity of effecting fusion with the farmer party in the riding was also urged at the meeting.

PETERBORO HAD 5 DISTILLERIES

STORE SHUTTERS USED TO CONVEY DRUNKS TO THE CLINK

The regular monthly meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association took place Friday evening, and a very interesting programme was given to the good-sized audience assembled. Mrs. S. T. Medd, president of the Association, gave a report covering the meeting of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations held in Toronto last week, showing the progress made by the Home and School Associations since their inception, and the society has more than doubled in number during the past year. The Home and School Associations will be important factors in the great educational reconstruction of the future.

Mrs. Arthur Stevenson gave a short history of the City of Peterborough, in an interesting and pleasing way. Peterborough is not a mushroom town. It has been 102 years in growing. The first settler was Adam Scott, who built a mill to supply the settlers with logs and lumber. Scott's Plains, as Peterborough was then called, received its first big allotment of settlers, in 1825, when the Hon. Peter Robinson brought the first ship-load of immigrants from Ireland. The story of early Peterborough, from the first school in 1826, the first survey of the Trent canal in 1833, the incorporation of Peterborough as a town in 1850, was reviewed, with such names as Mr. McDonnell, Captain Rubidge and Governor Maitland.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin then gave some humorous reminiscences of early times in his usual pleasing manner. He reviewed the by-laws of 1850, which were precise and quaintly written. At that time it was found necessary to check dishonesty in business, and profiteers were severely dealt with. In that year, Peterborough boasted of 5 distilleries and 2 breweries, and the shutters of the main street stores, according to Mr. Dobbin, served a double purpose in those days ,their ordinary functions being supplemented on occasion by use as a conveyance of the inebriated to the town lock up. The first council meetings were held in the store of Mr. Stevenson, around the old stove, and here the soap-box orators discussed such weighty matters as the town pound, the first municipal buildings, and fire prevention.

Mr. Clark moved a vote of thanks to both speakers for their interesting addresses, and during the evening a musical programme was rendered by Mrs. Tucker, Miss Tucker and Miss Margaret Johnston.

While routine business was being discussed, the question of changing the street names to numbers was brought up, and the Association made a strong resolution to the effect that it would be wrong to change the old names in any way.

Carried Amendments to Exemptions From Municipal Taxation

PUBLIC INQUIRIES ACT TO REMOVE OBSTACLES FROM TIMBER COMMISSION'S WAY SIGNED BY THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

SEVERAL BILLS SIGNED

TORONTO, April 9 (Canadian Press).—The haste of the Drury Government to get its amendment to the Public Inquiries Act through and thus clear the way of the Riddell-Latchford Commission of any injunctions or other obstacles, brought His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor to the Parliament Buildings yesterday to give his assent to the measure.

In order to give His Honour a good day's work, however, the Government secured his assent to some thirty or forty public, private, and Government Bills passed during the session.

Several of the Bills, such as that of incorporating the town of Kapuskasing, were more urgently needed than others, but the Premier decided to make a clean sweep of everything that was ready.

Legislation to provide for partial or total exemption of income, business or improvements where the ratepayers of a municipality so voted, was passed at the last session of the Legislature, but in reponse to vigorous objections from fembers of the House, was left in such shape that it left in the hands of the Council not only the initiative in submitting such a by-law, but left it free to act or not as it saw fit, on the expressed will of the elertors.

The Government has returned to the subject this session with a Bill to compel a municipal Council to submit a by-law on receipt of a petition signed by 10 per cent. of the qualified voters, and to make it the duty of the Council to put the by-law into effect "forthwith" when approved by the ratepayers.

The Bill came up for second reading yesterday, and was carried in the face of strong protests by Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Hon. Thos. Crawford, Charles McCrea, of Sudbury, and other Conservative members.

The Premier supported the Bill.

Hon. Mr. Drury's Telephone Act amendments were given a second reading. The chief clause permits of a change in the status of municipally-owned telephone systems by permitting systems organised under part two, where debentures are charged against the lands of the subscribers and those past whose farms municipal lines run to part one of the Act, which provides for the issue of debentures as a charge on the municipality, the rates being so fixed as to carry all interests and sinking fund charges

ADVERTISING AND CIGARETTE SALES

In the United States last year there were manufactured thirty-nine billion cigarettes on which a tax was paid. Probably ten billion were sent overseas, upon which there was no tax. Then the manufacture of cigarettes of the British American Tobacco Company in America would be at least another ten billion. This would bring the total up to nearly sixty billion cigarettes. The greater growth of cigarettes has been during the last ten years, and was accomplished through advertising alone. It all goes to show the great inhuence advertising has on a nation.

WILLIAMS WAS FOUND GUILTY

PROPRIETOR OF ALLEGED PEONAGE FARM CONVICTED OF MURDER OF ELEVEN NEGROES

NEW TRIAL IS ASKED

COVINGTON, Ga., April 9.—(Canadian Press.) — John S. Williams, plantation owner, was found guilty by a jury of murder in connection with the Jasper county peonage cases to-day. The jury recommends mercy, while the defense filed a motion for a new trial. The verdict automatically carries with a life imprisonment sentence.

PRICE OF BREAD TAKES A TUMBLE

BAKERS ARE ENGAGED IN PRICE-CUTTING BATTLE.

HAMILTON, April 8—The price of bread is down. This is due to a battle of prices which has broken out in the city, with the majority of the bakers particpating, to the great advantage of the housewives. Several prominent firms announced a reduction of 2 cents per 24-ounce standard loaf*, with the result that these loaves are being sold for 10 cents each. The radical reduction follows as a result of price-cuting tactics whih have been maintained recently. For many months the majority of bakers were selling their bread at one standard pride, but when the last increase was agreed upon they found that many of their reguar customers left them. In an effort to hold these customers, some of the bakers quietly sold their bread below the price agreed upon. The larger firms began to feel the effects of this, and finally decided to made the war a merry one, although a short one.

"We simply had to do something," declared one prominent baker, this morning. "Here we have been selling bread at 12 cents a loaf, while other firms have been quietly undercutting. They have invited trouble, and now we intend to let them have a taste of their own medicine. Bread cannot be sold for less than 10 cents a loaf at a profit, and those who can best absorb a loss will survive, unless they resort to using inferior ingredients in the manufacture of their bread."

Bread is being offered by some bakers and grocers at 9 cents a loaf, while one man has 8-cent bread for sale. This is the cheapest in the city. In the meantime the citizens have no complaints to offer. Lower prices always meet with approval

PRINCE OF WALES AT THE GRAND

The Prince of Wales travelogue picture, which has been attracting so much attention at the Grand Opera House, will be repeated again this afternoon and evening. A great deal of information as well as amusement, may be gleaned from a picture of this sort, and it should be interesting to all who care for knowledge of out-of-th--way customs and corners of the globe, and of especial value to children. Much more will be retained by the small, acquisitive minds from seeing a production of this sort than from the perusal of a dozen pages of geography or a long printed article on the travels of the Heir to the British Throne.

BRITISH LABOR SOLIDLY BACKS THE STRIKERS?

BELIEVED IN LONDON THAT CONVENTION OF TRADES UNIONS DELEGATES WILL ENDORSE WALK OUT.

CONFERENCE TO-DAY

LONDON, April 9. — (Canadian Press).—The Parliamentary Labor Party leaders and the Executive Committee of the Trades Union Congress held a conference in the House of Commons this morning for consideration of the industrial situation.

It was believed the conference would determine whether a special session of delegates to the Congress should be convened, at which the attitude of the affiliated unions with a membership of more than six million workers, towards the triple alliance strike might be decided.

Should it be convened it is probable it will confine its action to passing a resolution declaring the triple alliance walk out justified, thus putting the whole trades union organization behind the workers.

ADDED POWERS FOR NOTARIES

In Friday's session in the Legislature, E. M. McDonald, the member for Peterborough East, introduced a motion to extend the powers of a notary public. Rulings made by the County Board of Judges does not allow notaries public to make application for probate of wills, letters of administration and letters of guardianship.

If passed, this bill will overcome this ruling and will in many instances prove a benefit in districts where lawyers are not practicing.

KING FASHION TAILORS' SENSATION

VALUES IN MADE-TO-ORDER MEASURE CLOTHES THAT WILL STARTLE THE WHOLE CITY.

Men! You wanted lower prices—they are here now. To-morrow and Monday, King Fashion Tailors — Wholesale Tailors and Woollen Importers, of 36 Lombard street, Toronto, are making a startling offer to good dressers in order to introduce their mill-to-man plan of tailoring to the men of Peterborough and vicinity. This offer, in plain language, is to make up to measure all orders for new Spring Suits and Topcoats at two remarkably low prices, viz.—$17.50 and $24.50. One of King Fashion's master tailors will be at Landsfield's store, 199 Charlotte street, to give personal attention to customers. Every garment made to measure and to fit, and the pink of satisfaction guaranteed in every respect. These offerings are likely to crowd Landsfield's store Saturday and Monday, but these people work quick and sure, and will get through the crowds. When were such prices offered before? It is your chance, men, to cut in on the melon. Samples of cloths to satisfy the most fastidious will be ready for inspection. This is easily the lowest priced offering in made-to-measure garments since 1914 — sacred to the memory of the H.C.L.

Campbellford Council Objects to Imposition of a Power Tax

WILL SEND A DEPUTATION TO OTTAWA---COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVED---STREET WILL BE OILED.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9.— A special meeting of the town council was held last evening in the municipal room in the Ferris Block. Mapor A. J. Myers occupied chair and the following councillors were present: Deputy Reeve Stone, Councillors J. Wilkinson, W. Wiggins, Southworth, Baker, Meiklijohn, Mr. McGregor, Municipal Clerk and Mr. I. A. Humphries, Municipal Attorney.

The following communications were read a letter from the Canadian Good Roads Association of Montreal, which was placed on file; a letter from the Ontario Municipal Electric Association which togeher with accompanying reports was read In this report it was pointed out that a tax might be levied on all developed electricity at the rate of two dollars per horse-power. This would mean a tax of $5,000 a year on the electricity developed at the municipal plant. A resolution was passed that the council should endorse the resolutiin of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association in which it placed itself on record as being directly opposed to recommendations outlined in the report, whereby municipalities could be taxed for power developed.

A letter from the Hydro Electric Railway Association of Ontario which was read and laid on the table. This letter referred to electric railroads, etc., and was discussed.

A Petition.

A petition was received from tht rate payers of Sebastopol street, asking that the street be oiled as far as Arnold Joyce's residence. The petition was received and the street included in the by-law. The protest of some of the citizens against the taxes in regard to the water main and sewer on Rear street was discussed Deputy Reeve Stone said that as the ratepayers had signed the petition in which the conditions were clearly stated he saw no ground for argument. The town will pay practically 50 per cent. of the cost, as it is, and under the Local Improvement Act the property owners, who se property fronts this particular street must pay frontage tax. The question was discussed and left to the Court of Revision for Monday night.

Send Delegation.

The Water and Light Commission which is sending a delegation to Ottawa asked that the Council add delegates to accompany them. The purpose of this delegation is to get the Trent Valley Woollen Mill transferred to the town list. The Dominion Government is paying the Hydro Commission for the power used by the Trent Valley Woollen Mill at the present time and the Councillors would like to have the Company transfer their power requirements to the municipal plant. The Woollen Mill would use from three to four hundred horse power annually. The Water and Light Commission have already communicated with the member for this riding and with the Minister of Railways and Canals to arrange for an appointment

Other matters were discussed and the meeting adjourned.

CAMPBELLFORD RINK MAY BE ENLARGED

W. M. COVERT WOULD MAKE ADDITION IF CONDITIONS WARRANTED IT.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. —Although it is untimely to mention winter sports, there is a possibility, however remote and slight, that when hockey season returns again, the seating accommodation of the rink may be considerably enlarged. W. M. Covert, owner of the rink, intimated to the Examiner that if there was sufficient encouragement to warrant the expenditure necessary to cover the cost of an addition he was prepar- to to build a gallery at the north end that would increase the seating capacity for two hundred persons. It would not lessen the present size of the playing surface, which meets the O.H.A. requirements, but would be put up as a lean-to. Mr. Covert said that he had this extension in view, but was of the opinion that the financial prospects have not been sufficiently assured to encourage the outlay of the money which the addition would cost. The development of the younger players last year, and success of the High school girls team were promising signs for next season. Mr. Covert stated that he had no definite plans mapped out, but that there would be sufficient time late in the fall to extend the rink if the conditions and assurances were favorable.

THE GRAHAM SALE IN LAKEFIELD

A TREMENDOUS SUCCESS—THE BARGAINS BRINGING BUYERS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTY

The first day of the great sale of the $10,000 stock of the R. Graham & Son store, Lakefield, was an astounding success in every way. The magnitude of the business done during Wednesday far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the people in charge. Several times during the day the doors had to be closed to enable the staff to handle the crowds that flocked in thousands from Lakefield and the rural districts for miles around. Such a sale has never before been held in Lakefield, and the sight of the crowds on Queen Street will long be remembered by the residents. As the sale progresses the bargains will increase in interest and value. New items are continually being found on going through the stock, and frequent visits during the remaining days of the sale will amply repay anyone for the time spent. The sale continues until April 16th, when the store undergoes a thorough process of renovation and redecoration in readiness to receive the new and large stock of dry goods and men's furnishings.

ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN DIES.

MEETING IN THE INTERESTS OF THE REFERENDUM---BEAMERSIDE CHAPTER HELD A MEETING—SOCIAL ITEMS.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — Last evening a public meeting in the interests of the referendum was held in the Opera House, the chief speaker being Rev. J. G. Shearer, .DD., general secretary of the Dominion Social Service Council. Occupying seats on the platform were the following members of the local Referendum committee and clergymen: Rev. C. F. McIntosh, Rev. H. F. Bennett, Rev. J. E. Glover and Messrs. W. J. Armstrong, R. C. Weston, A. Winters, W. I. Stillman, The President, Mr. J. A. Irwin, occupied the chair and in a brief address introduced the speaker, Dr. Shearer.

Two Ideals.

Dr. Shearer said there were two ideals in the forefront of human thought of the present age. The obligation we owe to our fellow citizens are felt to-day as never before. It is a great thing to find social concern of people more sensitive than ever before. It is a great thing to live in this time of social awakening. A generation, even a decade ago, it was easy to get bread for the hungry or to minister to needs of individual folk. The more important thing is to stop suffering. "Prevention is better than cure." A stop to all that drink does should be our aim. Every institution has to stand the test of influence on human wellbeing. The church has to stand the acid test.

The drink habit, said the speaker, is an economic burden, a social blight, and a moral curse. Prohibition does not injure any business but that of the undertaker. In fact, prohibition favours business. Since bar-rooms were closed, there is more money on deposit in banks, less credit is asked for, more buying of staple articles of food, clothing, etc. All the nations in the past Great War put a stop to the selling of liquor at home and abroad. These countries realized that national efficiency is lowered by it use; it renders the body less able to resist disease and shortens life; its influence on mind, body and character is injurious. Surely in peace as well as in war, steady nerve, quickness of thought and trustworthiness of character are just as essential. The main issue in this campaign: Nobody can lawfully sell any form of drink in Ontario, either in bar, shop or house, because every province has the power to do that but no power to prevent the manufacture or export of liquor beyond the province.

Word to Bootleggers.

The speaker characterized bootleggers as anarchists, and in discussing short-circuiting, said short-circuiting "is getting round the law by a long road that is a short road." and further stated that Premier Drury has promised that when importation is stopped he will put into force the "Sandy bill," doing away with short-circuiting.

"Prohibition," declared the speaker, "does not interfere with the use of liquors for medicinal or sacrificial purposes. Prohibition is not the only law that interferes with personal liberty. Personal liberty is curtailed in automobile traffic, as the speed is fixed by law. Personal liberty not allowed in matter of drugs, in sanitary conditions of the yards, etc. The biggest autocrats to-day are the officers of health. If living in a city or country one cannot do exactly as he likes, unless he go to a desert island. The bootleggers said the speaker, are making the biggest howl because they make so much moneyout of it, and that from Jan. 1920, when orders-in-council were withdrawn. The Liberty League claim the use of drugs is increased when liquor is cut off. There was for a short time an increase due to tightening of drug laws in the U.S., but Hon. Rowell introduced a bill dealing with drugs in Ontario, and in the three months, April to June, 1919, cocaine imported 23,073 ounces, in the same three months 1920, after the Rowell bill was passed only 605 ounces were imported. Morphine in 1919, 11,098 ounces in 1920 3,979 ounces.

Liberty League.

The Liberty League, said Dr. Shearer, are deliberately trying to mislead the electors of the province. The government control of liquors has been settled in Ontario since Oct. 1919. British Columbia are trying out government control of intoxicating liquors and the other provinces will watch the result there.

Dr. Shearer appealed to the audience not to leave any stone unturned as it is of vital importance that the majority should be so decisive that this traffic will be settled for all time to come. He appealed to the ladies to postpone house-cleaning and concentrate on community house-cleaning. Final perseverance was impressed upon the audience and John Barleycorn could not be killed without sacrifice. Sacrifice of home pleasure, money and yourself. Our boys in Flanders showed us the true spirit of sacrifice.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the audience was not as large as it otherwise would have been. The 40th Regimental Band rendered a couple of selections which were much enjoyed.

Mr. F. W. Weston moved and Mr. A. Winter seconded, a hearty

THE CITY MANAGER

There are now more than 150 cities in the United States which have adopted the city manager plan of municipal government. They are scattered through 24 states. In addition there are another 60 cities which have found themselves balked by legal difficulties and have contrived some kind of a makeshift on the same controlled executive principle.

The list is liable to climb to 200 before 1922, so rapid is the sweep of the movement. The total population under the city-manager plan exceeds 3,000,000.

It has been spreading the fastest in the regions which know it best—a good sign. Dayton began the whole movement in 1913 and Springfield, Ohio, followed immediately. Then came Ashtabula and Sandusky and now the list includes Akron, the largest city with the plan (208,000), E. Cleveland, Lima, Painesville, Xenia, Westerville, Gallipolis and S. Charleston, with several more, Canton, Alliance, Youngstown and Cleveland, for example, which are seriously agitating it.

Michigan, where the plan started early in Manistee, Cadillac and Big Rapids, in 1914, is the state that now contributes the most cities to the list, 24 in all—Albion, Alma Alpena, Bay City, Big Rapids, Birmingham, Cadillac, Crystal Falls Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Grosse Pte. Shores, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lapeer, Manistee, Muskegon, Otsego, Petoskey, Plymouth, Pontiac, Portland, Royal Oak, St. John, Sault Ste. Marie and Three Rivers.

Virginia got the idea from Stunnton, which had a make shift variation of the plan even before the Dayton adoption and now almost all the cities of Virginia have the plan, and one fifth of the population of the state lives under it. The cities beside Staunton (which adopted the real plan in 1920) are Norfolk, Hampton, Lynchburg, Newport News, Petersburg and Radford.

In California the manager cities are: Alameda, Alhambra, Pasadena, Bakersfield, Sacramento, San Jose, and Santa Barabara.

In Texas there are seventeen, Amarillo, Beaumont, Brownsivlle, Brownwood, Bryan, Denton, Eastland, Lubbock, Lufkin, Ranger, San Angelo, Sherman, Stamford, Taylor, Terrell, Tyler and Yoakum and in Oklahoma, twelve — Cherokee, Coalgate, Collinsville, Duncan, Madill, Mangum, McAlester, Muskogee, Norman, Nowaxta, Sallisaw and Walters.

Auburn, Newburgh, Niagara Falls, Sherrill and Watertown, are the New York cities, and Mansfield, Middleboro, Norwood and Waltham are the Massachusetts list.

The rest are scattered all over the map. The larger ones are Phoenix, Ariz.; Hot Springs, Ark.; Boulder and Colorado Springs Colo; St. Augustine, Tallahasse and Tampa, Fla.; Brunswick and Rome, Ga; Dubique, Ia.; El Dorada and Wichita, Kan.; Auburn, Maine, Nashville, Tenn.; Charleston and Wheeling, W. Va.

But all this is only the beginning Every city that adopts it gets the neighbors envious and the legislatures are so besought for new charters that 12 of them have passed general blanket laws giving every city in their states power to adopt the plan. These states are: Massachusetts, New York, Virginia, Ohio, Oklahoma, Kansas, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, North Carolina, Wisconsin and Louisiana.

Efforts to secure similar laws were made in 1921 in Connecticut, Indiana, New Jersey, South Carolina Wyoming, Illinois and other States. No city that has adopted the plan has ever turned back.

LIBERAL LEADER'S MOTION THAT COMMITTEE ON RAILWAYS HAVE POWER OF INQUIRY DEFEATED 73 TO 56.

OTTAWA, April 9. — (Canadian Press.) — Early this morning in the House an amendment by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, providing that the select standing committee on the National Railways and Shipping should have the power to inquire into all matters in any way relating to railways owned and operated by the government, was defeated by a vote of 73 to 56, a government majority of 17.

The main government resolution for the appointment of a Parliamentary Committee on the government railways and shipping carried by 80 to 42, a government majority of 38. The Progressives supported the Government.

When the House opened Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Prime Minister, moved for the appointment of a select standing committee on National Railways and Shipping. The Prime Minister indicated the functions of the proposed committee.

It would endeavour to ascertain what information in regard to the railways would be submitted to Parliament and see that this information was forthcoming. This was the vital question as too much information on operating matters might tie the hands of the Board of Management.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the leader of the Opposition, differed from the Prime Minister. He took the ground that Parliament was entitled to the fullest information and that the government failed in its duty if it did not furnish it to the House. He then introduced his amendment.

The introduction of the King amendment opened the door for a number of lengthy speeches from the government side.

Sir Henry Drayton, Hon. J. D. Reid and Right Hon. C. J. Doherty inister that there was no desire to conceal anything, but that it was impossible to operate the systems successfully if all the details of management were to be laid bare. This view was opposed by Hon. W. S. Fielding.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, APRIL 9TH, 1921.

ONE EXPLANATION.

In reply to the Examiner's references to the apathy of the electors in connection with Wednesday's by-laws, several mechanics employed in local factories point out that so far as they and many others were concerned they did not have a fair opportunity to poll their votes. The hour between 12 and 1 o'clock was the only time in which they could have voted and the reduction in the number of polling booths prevented many of them from expressing an opinion on the two by-laws. Before they could locate the place at which they were entitled to vote it was time to go to work again, and scores who desired to exercise the franchise found themselves deprived of the privilege. They complain that the by-laws themselves and the list of polling places were insufficiently advertised and that Wednesday's polling was scarcely a fair test of public opinion. Undoubtedly there is in these statements a partial explanation for the light vote polled, but nevertheless the fact remains that hundreds of citizens who had no reason for so doing, save indifference, remained away from the polls when they could at slight inconvenience, have registered their opinion on the drainage by-law and on the question of daylight saving.

NO RELIEF.

Te reception tendered the Rollo Fair Rentals Bill in the Legislature, ending in the measure being withdrawn by the Minister of Labour, will not cause much surprise, although the unanimity with which the Bill was hammered and the failure of the members to show much sympathy for the people who are suffering from swollen rents were perhaps unexpected. It was thought that the introduction of the measure would at all events lead to a sympathetic discussion of the whole problem, and perhaps to the adoption of legislation that would in some measure, at least, relieve the situation. The members of the House, however, seemed to be devoid of any helpful suggestions. They were satisfied to crush the Rollo Bill but they had nothing to offer in its place, although Sam Clarke advocated a back-to-the-farm movement as a solution. The net result is that the tenants, who are victims of profiteering landlords, have been served notice that it is idle to look to the Ontario Government for relief. That knowledge is poor comfort to a good many residents of Ontario, who had hoped that some way might be found to put a check on the steadily increasing rentals.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE.

Major C. B. Topp of the Insurance Branch of the Pensions Board has suggested to the Special Parliamentary Committee the desirability of appointing officials to explain to veterans the insurance scheme inaugurated for the benefit of the returned soldiers, declaring that agents of private insurance companies had been guilty of misrepresenting the Government plan. The Examiner has heard nothing of this practice in Peterborough, but it must be admitted that there seems little interest and a great lack of knowledge among local ex-service men as to the insurance scheme launched by the Federal authorities. The establishment of such a plan had been repeatedly urged by the various associations of returned soldiers on the ground that many veterans who wished to protect the future of their families found themselves, by reason of war disabilities, unable to pass the medical examination of the private companies and hence were prevented from securing the insurance they desired. The Government was finally persuaded to establish an insurance system, but the results, so far as the majority of returned men are concerned, have been disappointing, the number of applications for insurance being very small. Possibly Major Topp's plan of appointing agents to sell Government policies to the veterans may produce better results; it, however, should not be necessary if the original demands of ex-service men were genuine.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

(Canadian Churchman).

The question of government control does not enter into the present ballot that is offered in Ontario. There are many excellent points in its favour. But it is not the question. To bring it into practical politics you would have to defeat the present issue and go back to the old system. We know that there are many persons of sincerity and earnest desire for the best solution who argue for government control. But it is beyond dispute that there also are persons in the Province who are animated by no such desire and who would welcome the defeat of this issue for reasons of personal aggrandisement. Nobody could give the assurance that if this issue were decided in the negative that legislation of a strict and effectual government control would be introduced.

MORE ACCOMMODATION.

The insistent tone of the report of the High School Inspector in connection with the local Collegiate Institute, and his threat that the Provincial grant is likely to be cancelled if the accommodation in the Institute is not brought up to the desired standard, makes it evident that the Board of Education will have to speedily grapple with the problem and find a solution.

The Inspector declares that a new wing to the present building is urgently needed, and that the accommodation is badly overtaxed. Doubtless the members of the Board would have preferred to defer building operations in the hope that the cost of construction work might drop from the present high level, but it is evident that the Provincial authorities are firm in their conviction that the suggested improvements cannot be delayed further. When the present Collegiate was built, it was considered adequate to meet the needs of Peterborough for many years to come, but the attendance has increased so rapidly that at the present time, according to the Inspector, it is not possible to get the best results. The enlarging of the present building would seem to be a necessary development of the situation; in the face of the Inspector's report, further delay in the matter seems impossible.

NO STRIKE BREAKERS NEEDED.

Under the sensational heading, "100,000,000 Strike-breakers Wanted," the Literary Digest extensively advertised an article on the business situation appearing in a recent issue. The article, which was built up around the mistaken idea that there is and has been a strike on the part of the buying public, did not, even in itself, justify such a statement; that it should be misused by such a sane publication as the Digest indicate the dangerous extent to which the "Buyers' Strike" phrase has been accepted as the explanation of the present business situation.

Let us reiterate now what we have previously declared: There is not and has not been a strike on the part of the buying public. It may be emphasised that reliable reports from many sources in the retail trade, secured by The Financial Post and associated publications, prove conclusively that during the past three months the volume of goods passing from the retailer to the public has been greater than a year ago.

This does not mean that retailers have not sacrificed profits. Nor does it mean that wholesalers and manufacturers have been receiving orders. But it does mean that it is nothing short of libellous to blame the depression in wholesale trade and the manufacturing industries on a lack of buying by the public.

The explanation is that for many months retailers had been buying all the goods that they could get; in many cases placing orders which they felt would not be filled. Their experience had been that the more goods secured before the frequent advances the bigger the profits. Then the top was reached. The public did not quit buying, but price reductions in keeping with the lower values of raw materials were demanded. Lower prices kept the volume of goods moving, but profits were sacrificed and the retailer who for so long had been striving for goods on a rising and profitable market lost all desire to place orders on a declining and unprofitable one.

The situation to-day, therefore, is the result of over-production accounted for in inflated orders for finished products. The merchant who has been buying six months in advance is still selling from his shelves or buying on a hand to mouth basis. What is desired to stabilise the situation is a return of confidence where the public will appreciate that prices have been brought to a level in keeping with costs of raw materials and merchants can book their advance orders with reasonable assurance in the normal way. That will never be attained by making the people think that there has been a buyers' strike and that it has been responsible for bringing prices down. The public does not buy for the good of the retailer, the wholesaler, or manufacturer, or of business generally; the public buys on the basis of value received. To create an unfounded idea that price reductions have been brought about by a strike would be an effective way to continue the so-called strike.—Financial Post.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Now that Chicago scientists have succeeded in eliminating the flicker from the movie film, will somebody please invent a silencer for the man who reads the titles on the screen aloud.

All-night sessions of the Legislature would not be necessary if the members would substitute action for talk in the early stages of the session.

A Detroit man has been arrested for indulging in the playful little pastime of sprinkling powdered glass on pies in restaurants. If the pies in Detroit are cut up as small as they are here, there would not be enough glass on one portion to injure the customers.

The announcement that tea and olives are being grown in Canada will be welcome news to many people who have been inclined to think that railway deficits were among the chief products of the Dominion.

William Duff, of Lunenburg, talked for four hours in the House of Commons. Reminds one of the old story concerning the man who told about a speaker who orated for many hours. "And what was he talking about?" someone inquired. "I don't know. He didn't say," was the answer.

The Mounted Police are to be kept up-to-date by being supplied with aeroplanes. And it is a safe bet that the Mounties will continue to get their men as usual.

Hon. Mr. Biggs is learning that politics, like everything else, look different when you are on the inside.

In campaign speeches, as in other things, the Canadian article is to be preferred. Ontario should be able to settle the Referendum without the aid of either Pussyfoot Johnston or the "Hon." Mr. Windle.

Fifty new members for the Horticultural Society means half a hundred more workers for the city

It is inconsistent to beg for economy in civic affairs, and then refuse to save daylight.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Probably the greatest confession is that ancient adage, "The good die young".

In too many cases singing to drive away the blues shows lack of consideration for others.

With the present trend of styles it is difficult to find good cause for remarking woman's lack of backbone.

The young lady next door wonders why the newspapers are not so bright as they used to be. My dear, Parliament is in session again.

The man who coined the phrase, "Money talks", must have lived next door to an individual whose head swelled with his pocketbook.

Speaking of practising what you preach, lots of people who tell you that they don't believe what they hear tell the same to their consciences.

One of the peculair features of the unemployment situation is the fact that, although there is great demand for it, common sense is still idle.

Future historians will probably relate how in the moment of crisis the famous woman of the twentieth century paused to coolly remark, "Just a moment till I powder my nose."

Next to the first pair of long trousers, probably one of the greatest moments in a young man's life is the first time that he smokes a cigarette in public without fear of reprimand from his family.

The don'ts are objecting to the number of crime stories which appear in the newspapers, which demonstrates another peculiarity of some reformers who seem to think that the best way to reform the world is to remain ignorant of the seamy side of life.

And perhaps, after all, their idea of reform is easier to carry out, for it's so simple to reform that of which you are ignorant and which to you doesn't exist. Looks like they might revolutionize reform if they succeed in following their motto, "Ignorance is bliss."

Curiosity not only killed the cat, but broke the heart of the young lady who took her engagement ring to the jewellers to be valued, only to find that the jeweller was looking for the purchaser, it not being paid for.

MR. AND MRS. BEST, BEST'S MILLS, 50 YEARS MARRIED.

Celebrate Golden Wedding in Company With Immediate Relatives—Born in Community.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 8.—A small but very happy gathering took place at Best's Mills on Tuesday afternoon and evening, April 5th. The occasion was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Best. Only the immediate relaties of the family were invited, excepting Mrs. Brown, an old school friend of Mrs. Best, and the Rev. R. S. and Mrs. Scott.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Best were born in this community and have always lived in it, taking an active part in all its social and business life. No family is more loved, honored and respected.

Mr. and Mrs. Best bear their years lightly. Mrs. Best goes about her household duties as one much younger in years, and in the mills driven by the waters of the little stream that has furnished the power for the milling of the commuity since the earliest settlement, Mr. Best, assisted by his son, still is found at his post, guiding the grist or turning the great piles of logs into lumber.

The only 'rift in the lute" of the enjoyment of the day for the happy old couple was the fact that Mr. John Best, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Samuel Best, of Niagara Falls, were too frail to be present.

Mr. Thomas Best is a son of the late Samuel Best, who owned and operated an oatmeal mill on the little stream that purls through Mt. Pleasant county; and Mrs. Best is a daughter of the late Frances Gardiner, a prosperous settler in the neighborhood, and whose sons and daughters are still valued members of the community.

A very enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent by the guests and the host and hostess, listening to speeches and stories and talking of the good old days and the old friends, tried and true, who live elsewhere or have gone the way of all flesh.

The guests sat down to a very bountiful repast, including a wedding cake, which was served in generous slices, reminiscent of the bounty of other days and not at all like the snippet served at our fashionable modern weddings.

During the repast some one called attention to Mr. Best's coat. It was the very coat, as was the rest of the suit, that he wore on his wedding day fifty years ago, a little odd in cut it may seem, but the material looks as if perfectly new. Delicacy of course, forbade our asking what it cost. But what a bunch of money a modern bridegroom would have to hand over to get a suit of like material and workmanship, if he could get it at all.

Before the guests gathered Mr. and Mrs. Best's two sons, with their families, had carried their gifts to their father and mother in the shape of two handsome fumed oak chairs, and a beautiful mantel clock. These sons are Mr. Austen Best, who operates a farm that has always been in connection with the mill, and Mr. Hiram Best, who is following the lineage of this Best family as a miller.

The best wishes of the whole community go to this happy couple, with the fervent hope that many year may be still be added to the happy fifty years of wedded life now in the past.

Margalo Gillmore will appear early next Autumn in Eugene O'Neill's new pay, "The Straw."

LOVE!

By KATHERINE MOORE

THIERRY BRUNSWICK.

Chapter 23

Leonard's letter was short. If he would only say more about himself. Men could only write interesting letters when they were in love. After that everything gave way to business. He did not say whether Emma was running things well or not. He was usually so particular—surely things were not going as smoothly as under my guidance. It hurt my pride a little. I wondered what he was doing to amuse himself evenings. He promised to visit with Jack Russell, or run out to Yonkers some night and have dinner with his sister. We had not been there since Dorothy's baby was born.

I was deep in moody speculation!

Thierry Brunswick was restlessly pacing back and forth across the office floor. The sight of him irritated me.

I rushed for the elevator and went quickly to my room. But up there I felt even worse. I wanted to get away from my thoughts.

I slipped into my coat and hat and sought the cool night air. The lights twinkled above the Board Walk and the ocean broke loudly in a mad roar against the white sandy beach. That was better.

I fastened up the big beaver collar on my coat and settled snugly into its warm, furry depths.

Thie passed me. He did not stop. Perhaps he had not recognized me, so engulfed in my big fur collar

I did not want to hurt the boy's feelings. After all he was only a boy, beautifully oblivious to life's deep wounds.

I turned and hurried after him. This was not difficult. He had that aimless stride of adolescence.

"I thought you would wait for me," I said, dodging the blame. "I did not see you in the hotel as I came out."

His face brightened.

"I really thought you were running away from me," he said frankly.

I did not answer.

He turned and strode easily by my side. We joined the idle, carefree throng. There was a panacea in this leisurely life. I needed it. I felt better. Two girls came out from one of the piers and the smaller one hailed Thie, and called something to him in a laughing voice

"Kids bore me so," he said turning to me. "Their conversation is inane and fatiguing. How old would you think I was?" he asked anxiously.

I pondered—afraid of making a faux pas.

"I seem 25—easy—don't I?" he asked, and waited leaning towards me.

"Aren't you that?" I tried to put surprise into my voice.

He beamed.

"You won't like me any less? I don't believe I'll tell you," he said suddenly.

"What difference does it make so long as you seem old?" I responded, giving him the honey he was hunting for.

"Well, I'll be 19 next month," he breathed intimately in my ear. "That's not such a terrible kid, is it? You seem awfully young," he said after a minute.

We went to one of the moving picture theatres. Thierry was blase and discussed the theories of life with great sophistication. He made me feel old—terribly so.

Two or three times his hand pressed near mine across the arm of the seat. I felt a little thrill.

Youth did hold an irrepressible spark of passion. I let myself be swayed by it. The dim interior of the theatre, the exciting love drama, and this arduous boy by my side, carried me on into half-forgotten depths of emotions.

As the piece ended our fingers were interlocked. We rose to go out and I noticed Thie's face was flushed and his eyes bright and snapping.

On the Board Walk he slipped his arm boldly through mine and I felt it tremble.

We walked back to the hotel in silence. I was thinking of Leonard and wondering where he was. I had had a new experience and it did not altogether please me.

Thierry was deep in his own thoughts. We said goodnight at the elevators.

Tomorrow—A Letter From Leonard.

ELEVEN YEARS AS FIRE RANGER.

Jurisdiction Extended Over 500,000 Square Miles.

WINNIPEG, April 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Eleven years in the northland as chief fire ranger, with jurisdiction over 50,000 square miles of territory, is the record of J. T. Blackford, woh recently arrived here from Norway House. Mr. Blackford has resigned his position and intends staying in more civilized parts for a while.

Within the territory under Mr. Blackford six Indian reservations are locaed and there are about 4,000 Indians in the district. The territory extends from Lake Winnipeg to Hudson's Bay and as far east as the Ontario boundary. Mr. Blackford, who was the first fire ranger in the district, organized it now 20 rangers are on the staff.

In all the time he was at Norway House, Mr. Blackford had no trouble with the Indians, he declared. As far as fires are concerned, the white traveller is far more careless, he said.

Norway House, which was Mr. Blackford's headquarters, has a population of about 1,000. Fifty per cent. of the people are white and the balance are half-breeds and Indians. Employment is found for many in the service of the three chief trading companies, the Hudson's Bay, H. P. Hyre's and R. T. Bayer's companies. In the town there are Anglican and Methodist missions, a hospital, a public school for white children and one for Indians, an Indian agency supervising all the reservations, an Indian boarding school, controlled by the Methodist mission, and other public institutions.

CAPITAL AT HALF A MILLION.

Company to Handle Commercial Paper.

WINNIPEG, Alta., April 9 (Canadian Press).—Capitalised at half a million dollars, a new company has been formed here to handle commercial paper in connection with the motor trade. Large numbers of motors are sold in the province on the instalment plan, and the method in use is for the dealers to use unpaid notes as collateral at the banks. In the United States special corporations have been formed to handle this business. In Canada, up to the present, little has been done in this way.

NOT SET SPEECH BUT DEBATING WHICH COUNTS.

Fluency Stands For Little in British House of Commons.

GLASGOW, March 21 (Associated Press, by mail).—Contrary to a popular idea, nowhere does "fluency of speech" count for less than in the House of Commons, according to Andrew Bonar Law, who for twenty years has been a member of Parlament, and, until his recent resignation, was the Government leader in the House. Mr. Bonar Law was speaking of the qualities that make for success in public life.

"In Parliament it is not the set speech but the debating speech which is effective," he said, in the course of his inaugural address as Lord Rector of Glasgow University. "As in war the guns which may secure victory are not necessarily the biggest, but those which are placed in the best position, so in Parliament the heavier the calibre of the guns the better; but at all costs they must be quick-firing.

A Great Difference.

"There is a great difference between men in the facility with which they speak. Some men speak far above their general ability, and some men far below it, but a natural gift of speech is not necessary to secure success in public life.

"There have always been, and there are now, in Parliament, men whose speaking when they began seemed hopelessly bad, but who, nevertheless, have taken their places in the front rank of statesmen. They did so because intellect is not a tool, but a hand, and they used their innate intellect and force to master the tool which was necessary for their work.

A Vital Force.

"In Parliament also there have always been, and there are now, men who from every point of view of form or of style, make speeches which cannot be considered good, but there is in them a vital force, and their utterances, however expressed, like an electric current convey that force to those who listen to them."

Eloquence, like genius, he said, was a thing apart, and the eloquent man, like the poet, was "born, not made." The former colleague of Mr. Lloyd-George said he had heard very few eloquent speeches. He had, however, listened to many very fine rhetorical efforts, but the difference between eloquence and rhetoric was as wide as the poles. Eloquence was "fire," and rhetoric, even at its best, was "fireworks." Eloquence also was always simple. There was nothing strained or mechanical about it, and it was not by piling up images but by some winged expression that the effect as produced.

No man could secure, still less could he retain, the confidence of the House of Commons or of the country unless he had gained a reputation for "disinterestedness and sincerity." Mr. Bonar Law declared, and there was only one way in which such a reputation could be permanently retained, and that was by the actual possession of those qualities. The strongest human motive, he said, should be "a sense of duty."

In looking out upon life, it was right that men should be ambitious; it was right that they should strive to excel, but if it was merely a selfish ambition, there would be in that no "vision splendid."

BOMB CASE GIVES BURNS A BOOST.

Reported He Will Succeed Flynn as Chief Investigator in Washington.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The report that William J. Burns is to succeed William J. Flynn as chief of the Bureau of Investigations of the Department of Justice, has gained strength. Word was received from Washington that the capital was placing more credence in the rumor. Burns, who arrived at night from Washington, denied it; Flynn could not then be found.

The Wall Street bomb explosion is apparenetly one of the elements in the coolness between Attorney General Daugherty and Chief Flynn. Nothing further has been accomplished toward solving that disaster, so far as is known, and at Washington it was said Chief Flynn has not submitted a report to the department. He has been unusually active in the case in the last few days and recently said the identity of the man responsible for the explosion has been known to him for weeks.

Whether Mr. Daugherty is inclined to blame Chief Flynn for not having been more successful in the explosion case is not certain, but one who is familiar with the situation said there undoubtedly is friction between Chief Flynn and his superior. The suggestion carried by the interview with Mr. Daugherty in which he referred somewhat caustically to Chief Flynn is borne out by the facts, said this person.

Mr. Burns, on his return from Washington, said there was no truth in the report that he had been appointed head of the Bureau of Investigation, and added that he had not been approached in connection with the office. He could not discuss it even if he had been offered the place, he said.

"There has been a lot of talk; but so far as I am concerned, it is not true," he said. "Mr. Daugherty and I have been friends for forty years, but that is all there is to it."

Indications are that the search for those who set the Wall Street bomb had become a personal contest between Flynn and Burns, on which each has staked his reputation, with the possibility that the directorship of the Bureau of Investigations as the prize for successful effort.

INTERVENTION OF U. S. IN MEXICO.

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—(Associated Press.)—The fear of United States' intervention, which is always apparent in Mexico was illustrated recently when an imaginative correspondent in Vera Cruz advised his Mexico City newspaper that "a fleet of American vessels, most of them cruisers formidably armed, has just anchored off this port."

The correspondent added that at the time his despatch was filed it was too dark to identify the vessels definitely but that "the entire city of Vera Cruz is in a frenzy of excitement over this entrance of United States' warships into our waters."

It was later discovered, however, that the much feared armada consisted of six small boats recently purchased by the Mexican government from Great Britain for merchant marine service

"I would like to know of some men in my condition who used it."

"'A friend told me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before I had used the treatment a week I was enjoying a good night's rest every night. I gained rapidly in every way and my general health is very much improved.'"

"That sounds all right."

"Yes. This statement is vouched for by Mr. E. M. Ahearn, the druggist, and is no doubt correct."

"Well, I will give it a try-out."

THE EVILS OF PROHIBITION

Look at

Before deciding in favor of Prohibition let every resident of the Province take stock of the results of similar enactments in other countries and provinces and then consider whether a Prohibitionist Ontario would be a desirable place to live in.

Russia

Was Russia not a Paradise before it poured its Vodka into the Neva as compared with the conditions that prevail to-day? The "Little Giant" of organized labor in America, Sam Gompers, says: "I believe that Bolshevism in Russia began in Prohibition!"

United States

The United States, after two years vainly attempting to become bone-dry, now realizes that its Prohibition blunder has invaded and upset the habits of the nation, and threatens to wreck its social and economic fabric.

Other Provinces

In those provinces of the Dominion where, by a minority vote Prohibition was recently foisted on the people, the rumblings of discontent can already be distinctly heard.

Throughout this continent wherever so-called total prohibition has gone into effect, liquor is still readily obtainable—at a price. Illicit manufacture and bootlegging is rampant, the use of poisonous drugs is increasing daily and crime and unrest prevails.

A SANE TEMPERANCE MEASURE NEEDED

Ontario is about to choose between these evils and the safer, saner policy of Government Control, which assures the wisest regulation of liquor—its importation, sale and use.

Through Government Control, Temperance can be attained without violating the personal rights of the people.

The Citizen's Liberty League, which stands for moderation in all things, headed by some of the ablest public-spirited men of Ontario, is fighting in your interests for Government Control.

You are urged to help by voting "NO" in the Referendum and by signing the ONTARIO TEMPERANCE MEMORIAL for Government Control. 6

Beaded Bags

The popular beaded bags which are so very decorative may be quite easily made at home. The materials required are, a metal top, lining material, the necessary beads, and ¼ yard of scrim, in which the lines run up and down. An accurate design of the pattern to be reproduced should be made on tissue paper, and traced on the scrim with a "4H" pencil, hard enough to prevent blurring. After tracing the design, fill in with water-color paint in the colors of the beads used. The beads are sewed on one at a time, guided by the lines of the scrim. Linen thread is used, each bead is fastened securely and the thread is retraced about every third bead, thus making the line stronger and the row straighter. Make the row straight across, in beads of the color occurring on the design.

As it is impossible to trace designs on dark velvet or satin, the pattern is applied to the underside of the cloth, and worked out with colored threads. Cotton yarns of differen t colors may be applied through a tissue paper design sewed to the material, the paper being torn off when the work is finished.

Many new afternoon frocks show little change in silhouette, which is straight as to line, with modest round decolletage, varied with the simple Florentine line, very short sleeves and low waistline, accentuated with sashes or similar contrivances.

Seventh Annual Meeting Ontario Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society Opens Here on April 25th

The seventh annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church will be held in St. Paul's Church here on April 25th, 26th and 27th, when between 400 and 500 delegates from all parts of the Province are expected to attend. The members of the Board of Management will arrive in the city for a conference to be held on Monday evening, April 25th, in the Murray Street Baptist Church. There will be a Board meeting on Tuesday morning, and the general sessions opens on Tuesday, at 2 p.m.

Not since amalgamation has Peterborough had the privilege of entertaining the Society. Since 1914, when the foreign and home workers united forces, the annual meetings have been held at Hamilton, London, Kingston, Toronto, Guelph and Stratford. The seventh annual meeting to be held here is to be distinctly a young women's meeting, stressing young women speakers and thinkers, sessions and conferences being held particularly for young women.

Peterborough has always taken a great interest in the Women's Missionary Society. One of the finest and best equipped hospitals in the chain stretching across Northern Canada is situated in the town of Canora, Saskatchewan. It is known as "The Hugh Waddell" and was placed there because of the munificent gift of $25,000 from Mrs. Hugh Waddell of Peterborough, and is named in memory of her husband.

Among the speakers at this convention will be Miss Florence Clerihill of Kharna, Central India, and Miss Agnes Dickson, South China. Both of these speakers know and love the lands of their adoption and can speak with authority on their work amongst the native people.

Officers of the Board coming to Peterborough for this meeting are: Hon. President, Mrs. McZalsten (Hamilton); President, Mrs. Charles Robertson (Toronto); Vice-Presidents, Mrs. J. D. Walker (Toronto), Mrs. Frank Rae (Unionville), Mrs. R. Barbour (Meaford), Mrs. (Dr.) L. McCrae (London); Recorder, Mrs. Charles Begg (Toronto); Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. H. Ross (Toronto); Treasurer, Mrs. John G. Gauld (Hamilton); Secretaries of Departments—Young Women, Miss Ida Malcolmson (Hamilton); Mission Band, Miss Agnes Rennie (New Hamburg); Home Helpers, Mrs. J. M. McEvoy (London); Strangers, Miss E. L. Mowat (Kington); Exchange, Miss Hopkirk (Toronto); Supply, Mrs. Alex. McMillan (Toronto); Literature, Mrs. D. E. Grant (Toronto); Life Membership, Miss H. Little (Guelph); Costume, Mrs. R. J. McLean (Toronto); Banner, Mrs. J. L. Cranston (Toronto); Press, Mrs. E. F. McL.-Smith (Alliston).

A Tragedy of the World War

On Dec. 8, 1920, there was dedicated at Verdun, France, a monument to one of the strangest tragedies of the World War. In June, 1916, a company of French soldiers, in a trench cut through the shell-shaken, rain-soaked earth, awaited with poised bayonets the command to charge. Before the word could be given, the quivering soil gave way, the trench closed in, and the entire company was buried alive. The only witness, an American flyer of the Lafayette escadville, shocked by the awful spectacle, contributed $100,000 for a monument, and was himself killed in action shortly after. Now a peristyle of marble, granite and concrete protects the lon grow of upraised bayonets that have remained protruding from the soil, gripped in buried fingers, for more than four years, and a giant cross carries the names of all who could be identified of the missing company.

Peterboro Health Association Brings Relief to the Suffering

Good health is supposed to be largely a matter of good eating, and good eating asn't by any means summed up in the consumption of rich foods. According to dietitians, one should be mindful of many things in one's daily food. One's occupation, one's complexion, the time of day, the season, the nervous condition—all have something to do with well-balanced rations. But proteids and calories might as well be Greek or Latin verbs for all the harassed mother of eight or nine youngsters cares about them. That's why, with plenty of good food at hand, a child may be often found which is really undernourished, and it is another good work of the District Nurse to give counsel on this subject, and, in some cases, to point out the results of underfeeding from one to three years of age, which number among them many crooked legs and backs and the peculiar disease of rickets. One child, suffering from this disease, caused mainly by improperly cooked food in this case, with dirty clothing and unventilated rooms as complications, was subjected to a course of fresh air, cleanliness and food rich in mineral matter, which resulted in a cure. Two poorly-nourished children supplied for three months with milk and eggs gained rapidly in weight, and a baby which at four months only tipped the scales at six pounds, with proper care and ncurishment gained seven and one-half pounds in two months' time, "and is now a fine, strong, healthy baby."

And the summer camp, where last year 75 children were cared for. With the whole of Jackson Park as a playground, with a good mid-day meal and all the milk and biscuits they can consume at other times, these children are just as happy as the tot endowed at birth with a silver spoon and perfect health.

NEW STRENGTH FOR VICTIMS OF ANAEMIA

Loss of Strength Follows When the Blood Becomes Thin.

Anaemia is the medical term for thin, watery blood. The sufferer loses strength, becomes short of breath and complains of palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, such as walking up stairs. The lightest task becomes a burden. There is a loss of ambition, the victim loses weight and as the disease progresses the appetite is affected, color fades from cheeks and lips and fainting spells may occur.

Anameia is not a disease that corrects itself, and if unchecked it progresses steadily. But it can be combated by good food, fresh air and a proper tonic for the blood. As the blood becomes rich and red under this treatment, the symptoms disappear as in the case of Miss Evelyn Joyce, Westville, N.S., whose mother says: "Almost from infancy my daughter was very delicate, and was often under the doctor's care. As her father had died of consumption my friends feared she would fall a victim to that dread disease. As the years went by and she was merging into womanhood I began to fear that I would lose her. Then I decided to try Dr. Willams' Pink Pills, and I could soon see a change for the better. For the next three years, at intervals, she took the pills, always with the best of results. Now at the age of sixteen she is a fine healthy girl, and I never tire of telling those who see the wonderful change in her condition that she owes it to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss Joyce herself says: "It gives me pleasure to confirm the statements made by my mother. Since using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have gained in weight, and from a sickly girl, suffering from headaches, dizziness and a languid feeling, I am now as well as other girls of my age, and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

I.O.D.E., Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss A. Lancaster read Sir Charles Lucas' paper on "The Meaning of the Empire," amplified by some interesting remarks on the same subject by the speaker.

A grant of $100 was voted at this meeting of the Chapter to the Peterborough Well Babies' Clinic, and arrangements were made to take charge of the tea-room at the coming Motor Show. Initial Meeting of New Council

The first meeting of the recently formed Council of the Home and School Association of Peterborough took place on Tuesday evening last at the home of Mrs. S. T. Medd, the President. Those present representing the different Home and School Associations of the city were: Mrs. Clark, Mrs. F. Miller, Mrs. Yennd, Mrs. Watt, Miss Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. Dodds, Mr. Clark, Mr. A. Mowat, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. E. V. Frederick, Secretary.

A discussion regarding the advisability of inviting outside speakers to address the Council was entered into, and it was decided to ask Dr. Martv of Toronto, one of the outstanding feminine workers in educational matters of the day, to come to Peterborough at an early date in the interests of the Home and School Council.

NOTHING TO EQUAL BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Georges Lefebvre, St. Zenon, Que., writes: "I do not think there is any other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones. I have used them for my baby and would use nothing else." What Mrs. Lefebvre says thousands of other mothers say. They have found by trial that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus banish indigestion, constipation, colds, colic, etc. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

High Tones

A musical critic, writing in The New York Evening Post, says there is a stubbornly persistent demand on the part of the public for the vocal gymnasts and tight-rope dancers known as coloratura sopranos; that is, singers who decorate melodies with runs up and down the scale, roulades, trills and dizzy top-note staccati—vocal stunts which make connoisseurs writhe in agony unless they are done absolutely in tune and with flawless facility, but which the general public always applauds frantically.

There is very little of this sort of thing in smaller communities, of course. Centres of grand opera call for this class of vocal ability, but there is something mysterious about the craze for high tones in voices. A girl may be born with a deep contralto voice, which, if left alone, would develop into rich, melting waves of sound, but let her take vocal lessons, and sooner or later, she starts to climb. A soprano voice seems to be the aim of all feminine singers, the higher the better, even if sweetness and true notes have to be ruthlessly sacrificed to attain the desired end. Men do not err in this way so often. A baritone or bass singer is usually content to remain in his own class, without aspiring to the tenor's register, but the young lady who is satisfied with a contralto, or even mezzo, is rare, and voices that would be beautifully effective if left alone, are tortured into ever higher and more squeaky registers, to satisfy the "Excelsior" motto of their aspiring owners.

Veils Necessary

Veils are an absolute necessity for the wardrobe this season. They are everywhere and do everything, from drooping shyly over the eyes in a fringy fashion to forming the entire adornment of a hat, or falling in foamy cascades for a yard or so from the brim at the rear. There is something very intriguing about a veil, but it has to be arranged correctly. The mysterious widow in the heavy drama always wears a thick, enveloping veil, and it disguises the ugly coon lady in the custard-pie comedy just as effectively. A beauty spot can be effectively contrived by one of those heavy dots placed near the mouth, and an expression of sinister malignity conveyed by the very same black splash if it happens to land directly over an eye. Veils are an adornment to almost any complexion, and sometimes give just the proper amount of softening to an over-assiduous application of rouge, which, by the way, is losing its popularity just now. Natural hues are supposed to be the thing, with a dash of powder tinted to match the complexion.

Gauntlets are as popular as ever, with their dashing look. They come in cape, French kid, suede, or the pretty silk makes, with lining of contrasting color and buttoned wrist-straps. Vestees of lace and tiny bits of organdie collars are exceptionally dainty, and handkerchiefs (for ornament, not use, these days of intermittent colds) are just as colorful as they have been for the past few seasons, perhaps more so, for you can purchase them now in more striking combinations—navy with rust, tangerine with turquoise, purple with jade.

Some of the latest ideas in housekeeping comforts are: A brush to clean the tube of a coffee percolator, a socket attachment for use with an electric iron, showing whether the current is on or off; an improved electric iron with a device that prevents overheating, an aluminum egg poaching utensil with hinged rings to keep the eggs from spreading, a new dish-washing machine to be attached directly to the faucet that will also clean veetables, a tea kettle bail with a broad metal shield to protect the user's hand from scalding steam when the kettle is tipped, and a nursery phonograph whose enamelled sides are graced with bears, ostriches and other interesting creatures.

Are you rushing on to disaster?

TRAIN, marine, street car—in fact, all disasters are on the decrease, largely due to educational propaganda preventing carelessness. The toll of human life through ill health and disease is also on the decrease. People of the 20th century are realising more and more the necessity of keeping themselves fit and well, for without health they can never attain their ambitions.

There are still some, however, who ignore a vital factor in preserving their health and strength. They ignore medical scientists who tell us the necessity of repairing the ravishes on the heart and nerve centres. These are the people who fail to wake up one morning; the people who drop dead in the street, in the car or train, and just at a critical time when they are specially needed by friends and dependents.

ARE YOU IN THESE RANKS, inviting disaster? Do you ever feel that your work is proving a slight strain upon you? Would you be able to fill a bigger position to-morrow, make the rapid, clever decisions which bring success? Would your employer choose YOU? You can rest assured he won't if you're not in robust health. He can't take chances with ailing people. But you can obtain the health that will MAKE him choose you by restoring the heart and nerve centres, the vital organs of the entire system. CRITICISM AND REMINISCENCE

(By PATERFAMILIAS)

THE PRINCE, SPARROW AND COCKNEY.

Going through an old scrap book the other day in search of a few extracts from the pen of famous poets, I chanced upon the following, printed years ago in The New York Mirror. It is not exactly what I was seeking, but for all that, it struck me as making good in arresting vernacular what is lacking in touching sentiment; and while void of all pathos, this poetical effort—what there is of it—has a measure full of forceful expression:

The Sparrow.

"An American asked an English gentleman from the heart of London, who posed as a translationist, to put into real London English the following pretty little verse:

"A charming little sparrow
Lived up a pretty spout,
There came a heavy rainstorm
And washed the sparrow out.
But when the blessed sun
Dried up the summer rain,
The pretty little sparrow
Went up the spout again.

And here was that Englishman's translation:

"There was a bleeding sparrow
Went up a blooming spout,
There came a blasted rainstorm
And washed the sparrow out.
But when the blooming sun
Dried up the blasted rain,
The bleeding little sparrow
Went up the spout again."

Now the above translation is not real London English, but Cockney dialect, pure and simple, although lacking that versatility of nouns qualifying a true Cockney could have resorted to. In fact, he would hardly have been guilty of repeating his adjectives. The adjective "bleeding" is one rarely heard, but from the lips of the coster or costeress.

Now, who is a Cockney in the true sense of the word? Not necessarily a Londoner, but one born within the sound of the Bow bells, which ring from the tower of Bow Church, Cheapside, in the heart of London City. That portion of the world's metropolis once confined within the old walls of London, comparatively speaking, but a limited area indeed. A small section of this historic city wall still stands facing one side of the Bank of England, on Wall street, if memory does not commit me.

The Prince.

Other names for Cockneys—male or female—are 'Arrys and 'Arriets, and this calls to mind an incident in the life of the late King Edward, showing the respect, if not affection, in which he was held by his subjects—no matter how lowly,—an incident which the writer witnessed himself.

'Twas a glorious day in June, and Cheapside — above referred to — known in London story as "The Chepe," was thronged with vehicular traffic.

A blockage occurred, and every wheel ceased turning, including those, of course, of a push-cart impelled by a 'Arry, in company with his 'Arriet, who happened to be negotiating this busy thoroughfare.

He was an attractive specimen of manhood, although dressed—and expensively at that—in approved coster costume, embellished with scores of real pearl buttons; she was a glorious type of healthy womanhood, rejoicing in costly picture hat, rich but flashy dress, trimmed with striking summer furbelow.

(Some costers, you know,—hawkers of this, that and the other household commodity—make all kinds of money, and on special occasions dress up well, even if on business bent.)

Well, there was considerable congestion of traffic; and lined up, cheek-by-jowl, with the coster barrow stood a splendid private Handsome cab, in which sat two gentlemen of a distinctive type.

Suddenly this observing 'Arriet waved her hand, and with happy smile and cheery voice exclaimed: "Ah, there, Edward!"

And, lo! there, in that Handsome, sat the Prince; and he, first gentleman in England, with lovable innate courtesy, raised his hat and smilingly acknowledged the salute—crude as it was—as though that lowly-born Cockney girl were the first lady in the land.

And all the crowd cheered both Prince and 'Arriet, an cheered again and again.

"Ah, there, Edward!" There was more loyalty and respect in that coarse, outwardly-seeming disrespectful salutation than in much of the honeyed-greetings showered upon England's Edward by many well-dressed court demoiselles; and he, Prince and afterwards King, knew it well.

To those who think this story far-stretched, the writer just wants to say that Edward, Prince of Wales, ran no danger in mixing with his subjects—so little, indeed, that he was a familiar figure to a vast number of Londonites. His favorite conveyance was a private Handsome cab, with no other guard than a gentleman companion; and not a few times have I personally seen His Royal Highness, as on the occasion cited, in Cheapside and other thronged city highways, and once met him afoot in Regent street, the resort of fashionable shoppers.

The Cockney.

But to return to the term "Cockney," the word is connected with cocker (Dutch for pamper, French for dandle), which Wedgwood says means primarily to rock the cradle, and hence to cherish or pamper. Cockney this originally implied a child delicately nurtured and later expressed citizens of luxurious towns. The French "Pays de Cocagne" denotes a Utopia, an imaginary land of luxurious abundance without labor. London has been faimed for its luxury from the earliest days—a veritable Cocagne as the French say, and its inhabitants have now appropriated the name of Cockney, says Webster. But this is not quite correct to-day, for a Cockney must be born within sound of the Bow bells, and a large bulk of London's luxury without labor is segregated in the West End of London "Town"—not "City," mind you—where the bells of Bow Church cannot be heard, even on the stillest night, unless, perhaps by wireless. And the bulk of the people who are really Cockneys are born where labor and poverty dominate, to the exclusion of abundant luxury.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

In the summer of 1832, a remarkable instance of good resulting from evil was afforded by the horribly revolting murders committed in Edinburg, Scotland, by two fiends in human shape, named Burke and Hare, who deliberately killed a number of people and sold their bodies to medical dissecters. Their crimes brought home to them at last, Parliament instituted an investigation which while, perhaps, not actually revealing similar crimes to those of Burke and Hare, left no room to doubt that body-snatching—robbing graves of their dead occupants for dissecting purposes—was a business resorted to by not a few. In fact, Sir Astley Cooper boldly asserted in Commons that any man's body could be obtained in the British Isles were enough money offered for it. The scandal resulted in the passage of the Anatomy Act licensing the traffic in human bodies within strict limitations. Before this reform surgeons experimenting in human anatomy had perforce to rely on body-snatchers for their subjects; and at one time it was generally conceded that none could be certain the remains buried to-day with loving care would be found in their supposedly last resting place to-morrow, were an examination of the grave made. One never knew when commercial eyes were watching the interment of one's loved one, to mark the spot for a midnight visit to disinter and sell a money-producing subject.

The repeal of the old laws in Britain in this connection removed much of the odium hitherto attached to the science of dissection, while the increase of experimental material gave fresh impetus to the study of anatomy.

CANADIAN STUDENTS CAMBRIDGE 'VARSITY

Taking Post - Graduate Work For Degree Doctor of Philosophy.

LONDON, March 23.—(By Mail, Canadian Associated Press.)— The University of Cambridge has made considerable progress with organizing post-graduate work for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and these courses will be increasingly useful to students from the Dominions and from foreign countries. Although the degree has only been going for a year, there are already seventy-two students including seven from Canada.

The course is a three year course, of which two must be spent at Cambridge, and the other year in some place recognized by the Board of Research Studies—generally the applicant's own University. This course leads to the Doctor of Philosophy Degree. Various extemptions from this period can be obtained by those who have already pursued advance work in other Universities, and a system of recognition for work done in other Universities is gradually being elaborated. The standard is a high one, as might be expected from the fact that the advanced students so far admitted have been termed by one authority, "The Pick of the Empire's Universities."

It is hoped shortly to have a parallel course lasting only two years and leading to the Degree of Master of Science and Master of Letters, and regulations for these will be in force probably by next October.

A prospectus has been drawn up especially for the use of Dominion and United States' students, and can be had on application to the Registrar of the University of Cambridge.

TOBACCO WAR ON IN TORONTO NOW.

Tobacco and Cigarettes Drop in Price 20 Per Cent.

TORONTO, April 7.—This city is the throes of a tobacco war. Three days ago the Service Tobacco Shops put into effect a price reduction of at least twenty per cent. Cigarettes which sold for 35 cents a package were reduced to 28 cents; tobacco at 15 cents a package was reduced to 12 cents; 25-cent cigarettes to 19 cents, and so on throughout a long list of cigarettes, cigars, tobaccos, and accessories.

The United Cigar Stores of Canada and many of the independent dealers put similar prices into effect.

The Service Tobacco Company, which began the price slashing, has shops in Montreal, Ottawa, London, Winnipeg, and Vancouver. Prices have not been "cut" in these cities.

The jobbers' list of the Imperial Tobacco Company quoted the most popular brand of cigarettes at $14.09 plus the tax, which makes it $14.27 a thousand cigarettes.

As these cigarettes are now sold at 14 cents for each ten-cigarette package in several dozen shops in Toronto, the independent tobacconist who is not a jobber himself, may buy from his competitor more cheaply than he can from his wholesaler.

"Events in the retailing branch of the Toronto trade," says a recent number of the Canadian Cigar and Tobacco Journal, "all presage the staging of a price-slashing contest as a showdown in the present state of the business apart from the competition that is developing exclusively between the chain store organisations in the city."

Fashions Carried To the Grave

An American casket concern recently conceived the idea of displaying samples of a new type of burial robe on feminine models. The outstanding features of these gowns is that they are made of practically indestructible material. An illustration of them, with their sprightly-looking wearers, shows a close adherence to the very latest mode in femine apparel, one young lady even sporting a corsage bouquet. Whether the prospective corpse is supposed to make an anticipatory visit to choose the frock best suited to her long sleep, or whether mourning relatives are expected to do the buying, is not explained.

OBJECTIVE REACHED WITHOUT TROUBLE

Although it is generally thought that each ailment requires a special treatment yet it has been proven to thousands that VITAL, the reliable brain and nerve remedy, has been of equal benefit in the successful treatment of rheumatism, anemia, chronic headaches, indigestion, loss of vitality and other kindred ailments. The reason for this is because VITAL gets right at the seat of all troubles—the vital organs of the body, nourishes them to perfect health, causes them to function as Nature intended they should. If you lack life, if you need toning up, if you feel twice as old as you really are start taking VITAL. Price, 50 cts a box at all druggists.

FINISH SCHOOL, THEN PUNISHMENT.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The sentencing of Carl Hendrickson, 17, convicted of manslaughter, was postponed until June 27 in the Court of Quarter Sessions, at Newark, to permit him to finish his term in Central High School, where he is in his third year. Hendrickson was convicted last week of having killed a small boy last fall while driving an automobile.

"He is only a boy, your honor," said Joseph G. Wilber, attorney for Hendrickson. "He has a widowed mother and a younger brother. He is in his third year in High School and planned to attend the summer course to finish school soon."

"It is a hard case," replied Judge Fred. G. Stickel, Jr. "I don't want to set a precedent by imposing a probation sentence in a manslaughter case, but in view of the jury's recommendation and of this youth's age, I will sentence him to serve his vacation in the reformatory. He can study there and his progress will not be interrupted. I will formally sentence him on June 27, when the present school term ends."

THE EARLIEST SOWING IN 19 YEARS, STATED

SEEDING IN NORTH AND SOUTH MONAGHAN BUT CONDITIONS NOT SO FAVORABLE ELSEWHERE.

FROST KILLS CLOVER

All this week farmers in sections of North and South Monaghan have been seeding, but evidently conditions have been more favorable for spring work in these townships than in others. So far as the Examiner could learn there has been no seeding in Douro, Smith or Ennismore townships and only a little in Otonabee. There has been considerable ploughing in all the townships excepting Douro, according to the information received. The rain yesterday, it is stated, will now delay any more work on the land till the middle of next week. Much of the ground was getting nicely dried out and ready for ploughing when the rain came along and saturated the soil with acqua pura and added to the viscosity of the roads. The rain, however, will not do much harm and will do good in bringing along the pasture. As the season is several weeks ahead of other years the agrarians are not worrying over a few days' set-back.

Seeding in Monaghan.

Reeve J. McIntosh of North Monaghan, informed the Examiner that practically all the farmers in that district started seeding on Monday and have got in four days of it. Last week ploughing was universal and progressed with steadily. The season is far ahead of other years he said. It is hard to say whether the fall wheat crop is going to be a success or not he said. Many fields are completely killed out and other partly so and then, too, some are splendid. The roads were fast improving in North Monaghan the Reeve said, but the rain would put them back in a poor state again.

Earliest in 19 Years.

Sowing of wheat has been general throughout his section, Thomas McIndoo of Cavan, told the Examiner. The ploughing was done last week under very satisfactory conditions and this week the farmers began seeding. In Mr. McIndoo's recollection this was the earliest work on the land in 19 years. Nineteen years ago the farmers started seeding on April 3. This year some were out on the fourth. Last year the earliest seeding was done on the 20th, so the season is about two weeks ahead of 1920. This has been in many ways a most unusual spring he said. The fall wheat is looking fairly good in Cavan, but in South Monaghan he said, he had been informed that 50 per cent. of the crop was winter killed.

Frost Killed Clover.

The clover crop, Mr. McIndoo said, was in good shape till the sharp frost a week ago Monday occurred. The frost killed considerable and some fields have been practically all annihilated. An unusual occurrence this spring caused by the continual thawing and freezing has been the destruction of the parsnips in the ground. When taken up the parsnips have been unfit to use. Another strange fact was there has been no "heaving" this year.

Little Seeding in Smith.

William Fowler of Smith, according to J. N. Telford, of Bridgenorth, has been about the only farmer in Smith to do any seeding. This was explained by the fact that this is sandy land and he would be one of the first to be able to get on the land. Over in Ennismore he said he did not know of any farmer who had did any seeding. Most of the farmers have been ploughing, he said, but the rain would hold up operations till about the middle of next week. From Mr. Telford's observation he said the fall wheat was poor and the clover pretty good.

Fall Wheat Poor in Douro.

In Douro the fall wheat was widely killed out and the clover is only fair. There has only been an odd field dry enough to plough and none ready to seed, so one Douro farmer said. The rain will now hold things up but will be valuable to bring on the pasturage.

The Strawberries.

The Examiner asked Bruce Johnston of North Monaghan how the strawberries and raspberries had weathered the winter. Mr. Johnston said that the strawberries did not look encouraging. The usual blanket of snow was not forthcoming last winter and the plants suffered as a consequence from the frosts last month. The raspberries seemed much as usual and were budding out now, and so far as can now be seen the fruit trees are well-budded, and a fruitful year is the prospect now.

FORETELLS FALL LLOYD GEORGE.

Labor Organizer Predicts Irish Freedom.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The overthrow of the Lloyd George Government in England within two weeks as a result of the British miners' strike and the calling in of the British Labor Party to form a new Ministry was forecasted by John L. Jones, organizer of the British Labor Party and a member of the Welsh Miners' Union, at a meeting in Bohemian Hall, 321-325 East 73rd Street. The meeting was called to consider action to aid Ireland's clause.

Mr. Jones said Ireland's freedom was certain because the British Labor Party favored granting complete independence to the "Irish Republic."

Mr. Jones advocated the use of economic force by Irish-American workers, particularly the workers of the Irish-American Labor League, to force an end of the "reign of terror in Ireland." He outlined a plan calling for a refusal on the part of longshoremen and lighter captains to handle coal and other commodities for British ships.

Thomas F. Ryan, business agent of the Warehousemen's Union and director of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, told the audience the Irish in America were 100 per cent. jackasses. He denounced their failure to contribute to sufferers in Ireland. "Our motto should be 'Direct action,'" he said.

HIGH RENTS.

Stationary, While Other Costs Decline.

WASHINGTON, April 8.— The Buchent situation throughout the car has been brought to the attention of President Harding by Secretary of Labor Davis, it was learned here.

Belief was expressed in certain government circles that the president made up this problem in his message to the forthcoming special session of congress.

Rents are remaining practically stationary, while the cost of food, clothing and nearly all other necessities are declining, according to figures obtained from the department of labor. The rent question, Davis said, is now the greatest obstacle to mediation of industrial differences.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE IN KINGSTON DISMISSED

Magistrate Said He Had Already Suffered Sufficient Punishment.

KINGSTON, April 9.—On the charge of attempted suicide, Nathan Yanofsky, the Jew who cut his throat with a safety razor in the home of a relative here, was dismissed when he appeared before Magistrate Farrell.

His Worship pointed out to the prisoner that he had suffered greatly through his confinement in the hospital, and had also been on remand three weeks. He felt that this would prove enough punishment for the prisoner, and accordingly allowed him to go.

It is understood that Yanofsky is wanted in connection with a liquor deal in Detroit, but he cannot be taken back to Detroit, as he is not an American citizen.

T. H. GILLESPIE LEAVING FORT WILLIAM SHORTLY.

Friends Gather at Farewell Party to Popular Manager of Canadian Packing Company.

It will be a matter of general regret to the citizens of Fort William and people at the head of the lakes to learn that T. H. Gillespie, for the past eight years manager for the Canadian Packing Company, is leaving for Toronto on Monday, where he will enter the sales department of the company.

Mr. Gillespie came here in 1913 from Toronto, to assume the management of the local offices of the Matthews-Blackwell Company, continuing in the same capacity with the firm after the name had been changed to that of the Canadian Packing Company. He will be very greatly missed in musical and social circles.

His removal to Toronto is one of his own seeking, as the severe bereavement which he recently experienced and which is still fresh in the memories of his many friends makes old scenes and associations here painful to him, and it is to be hoped that new surroundings may make life more congenial for him.

Wherever he goes, T. H. Gillespie has the best wishes of all the citizens of Fort William, and can take with him to Toronto the assurance that a welcome awaits him if ever he cares to return to Fort William.

R. J. L. Ball, of the Peterborough plant is Mr. Gillespie's successor here and he has already arrived in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Ball and family are residing at 19 Regent Street, Port Arthur.

Farewell Party.

A delightful farewell party was held at the home of Alfred Sear, on Cuthbertson Place, last night, when a number of his close personal friends met to say good-bye to T. H. Gillespie, manager of the Canadian Packing Company here who is leaving the city to take charge of the company's work in Toronto.

Fifteen guests sat down to a magnificent dinner at which the genial host had outdone even his great reputation as chef and caterer and after the meal was ended Mr. T. N. Andrew on behalf of his friends presented the guest of the evening with a beautiful club bag at the same time expressing the appreciaton of those present for the sterling qualities of Mr. Gillespie and their regret at the breaking of their pleasant associations.

Mr. Gillespie in a brief reply, voiced his gratitude to his friends for their kindness The remainder of the evening was spent with cards and music.

Those present were: Alfred Sear, T H. Gillespie, Geo. Birch, H. H. Trapp, T. N. Andrew, C. Birkett, M. Thomson, A. H. Knutson, D. Reid, Geo. E. Ewing, R. B. Pow, R. S. Dell, Dr. F. A Blatchford, Dr. J. S. Strachan, and N. B. Darrell. — Fort William Times-Journal.

THE SATURDAY COLUMN

(By QUINTUS)

This column will contain an article each Saturday by Quintus of general interest and of educational value

"America does not stint her surprises for those who study her ancient history," says the Marquis de Nadaillac, one of the most learned of those archaeologists of France who have devoted themselves to a study of this subject. North of the present dividing line between Canada and the U. S., there are many ancient remains of animals, some of those unearthed in Alberta of a species long extinct, dating back not less than three million years, as is proven by the strata in which they are found. But north of this dividing line there are few ruins or other evidences of the ancient and highly civilized races of which we are writing.

The mound-builders erected their enormous mounds in the Ohio valley, in the Mississippi valley in Georgia, Virginia, Florida, Connecticut, and one might say throughout the present U. S. with the exception of the southwestern part. These mounds were made of earth or fire-baked earth and fortified with huge stones. No where in the world do we find ancient peoples working in the same way. As a rule, ancient temples, forts, etc., were built of huge stones, but the mound-builders confined themselves largely to immense and very extensive earthworks. The mounds were hollow and served as temples, councilhouses and dwellings, or were erected lines of forts to protect the inhabitants as within them from their enemies.

Remains show almost every degree of skill and culture in their pottery but there are no metals except perhaps to a slight extent in the mounds of later date. The pottery bears so close a resemblance to the ancient Etruiscan pottery of Italy (1000 B.C. to 1500 B.C.) that in lieu of negative evidence it may be taken to be of similar date. No trace of the ancestral origin of the mound-builders has been discovered. When Europeans first came to America they found the Red Indian in or about many of the mounds but the Indian disclaimed any knowledge or tradition respecting them and certainly the Iroquois, Sioux, Chippeways, etc., gave no indication of having been descended from or related to the mound-builders.

Sketches and drawings in colour and engraving upon the mound pottery would indicate a primitive people of a high degree of culture, clothed and equipped as were the ancient Egyptians themselves, but in no way looking like them. The object of these articles is to induce readers, whether young or old, to look into this subject for themselves. Strange to say, it is almost impossible to find people who have made any study of American antiquities, although having a good general knowledge of those of Egypt, Babylonia and Assyria. When it is brought to the attention of the general reader that the archaeology of America is intensely interesting and extremely ancient he may be induced to devote more time to the study of it and it will make to him a different continent of America and a different and much more extensive world of the earth itself. Those archaeologists who were inclined to see something of a definite character in the records of the past, especially of Central America, were confronted with a discovery which upset all their preconceived ideas. A great cave was discovered in which were many thousands of mummies in a most perfect state of preservation and of a people in no way resembling in appearance the inhabitants of the present day or of the time of the arrival of the Spaniards or any people of which remains in the shape of mummies or statues, or other carvings before that time, gave any descriptive history. These mummies had fine silken hair, fair skins and (with the exception of metals) possessed gems, ornaments and attire of a really magnificent description. Who these people were, or if kings and chiefs of what people were they kings or chiefs, it is impossible to say but their very great antiquity is apparent. It would seem as if in the case of Palestine, Arabia and Egypt, nations had reached a high state of civilization, and then had faded away. Back to savagery or conquered by savagery seems to have been their fate. Luxury and what is called civilization as in the case of the Roman empire seem to have weakened those powers of resistance which, if we discard them, are not there to protect mankind when the hour comes. It was a mere accident, for example, that Attila and his Huns did not wipe out all culture and progress in Europe and turn back its clock by a thousand years. In America the Apaches, for example, (no doubt assisted by the destruction of the forests and the spread of drought and famine) undoubtedly destroyed the remaining peoples of culture and refinement in the southwestern States. When civilization becomes so civilized as to cease to protect itself, experience has shown that it ceases to survive.

The Great Pyramid of Mexico, destroyed by the Spaniards when they looted it no doubt would have shown much moral or material development. Like Apaches (he ancesors of the present tribes of that name) the Chichimecs cared nothing for improvement and devoted themselves to destruction. It was this general lawlessness, rivalry and fear that enabled the Spaniards to overcome the peoples of the New World, who welcomed the new-comers as allies in their continual warfare. The day came when the Spaniards found Montezuma, and all those whom that line of monarchs stood for, weak enough to defeat. The spotiation of the New World, by the greatest nation of that day is a strange evidence of civilization and throws doubt upon the religious or moral superiority of those who slew the Mexicans and the Peruvians without mercy in order to plunder them of the vast riches and tokens of progress and splendour accumulated in the course of many centuries.

In concluding then, let us summarise the present series of articles by a rapid survey of the North and South American continents from the earliest times. Geologically the continents were originally separate, the mountain ranges of the East and West coasts in North America and of the West coast in South America appearing first above the waters. Then the vast swamps which became coalbeds from the deposit of their vegetation, slow carbonization and pressure rose to their present level carrying above them the earthy deposits of the waters and the remains of those huge, and terrible animals long since extinct. This age in America is apparently of about the same remote date as the corresponding age in the old world. Ethnologically, we find the first trace of human beings in the shell-heaps which exist as did the kitchen middens of Europe near the seas or inland waters of the shell-fish. These heaps are the shell-remains of the food eaten by the natives and then cast away. After thousands of years present-day explorers have dug into them and found weapons, utensils, implements and even ornaments of the first and simplest races of mankind [illegible] probably than one remove [illegible] who dwelt in caves and disputed for the means of existence with the [illegible] ed tiger and the cave-bear. The the scientific evidences of man's [illegible] ence in America fifty and [illegible] times fifty thousand years ago. [illegible] bones of man himself are few and [illegible] the tween. As we look round for other evidences of man's occupation of the continent we came upon mounds of vast extent and number in northern North America, upon evidences of a great population, great development and still greater antiquity in Central America and further south we find in ancient Peru a striking contrast to the wildness and primieval barbarism of the other aborigines of the southern continent. If we explore farther we find in south-western North America huge dwellings built in and upon inaccessible cliffs with every evidence of a high degree of mechanical skill. The same races who dwelt upon the plains built pueblos or fortified stone dwellings in clusters or villages.

These are all since long deserted, and ethnologically, but little can be said of any of these early inhabitants of the new world. Mechanically we have discovered a great deal. The mystery of the past of a long, long buried and intensely interesting past remains yet to be unfolded ethnologically. Who they were we do not know, but what they were we have plenty of evidence of. They were like the early peoples of Europe and Asia and were not less wonderful or less ancient. A careful study of prehistoric America is an education in itself. Our museums are full of not only interesting, but of astounding remains, and, thanks to the scientists chiefly of France and America, these evidences have all been tabulated, arranged, set up and otherwise put in shape so that we can plunge into this most enchanting subject with readiness and certantiy.

Why Canadians Should Buy Canadian Cars

Each $1,000 of Canadian Money will now buy (April 1921) in Canada only $680.00 of United States Car Value, because of the high exchange, duty, and production cost.

WHAT IS THE LESSON?

1.—Canada has an abundance of Economical and Efficient Labor and plenty of Expert Engineering Skill.

2.—The Canadian Ford Company, who build the Ford Car, in Ford, Ontario, had a production capacity of 225 Cars a day, operating with its entire force of employees four days a week, up until March 1. To-day the Factory is strained to its limit in the production of highly refined Motor Cars and Motor Trucks for the Canadian Public.

3.—CANADIAN MONEY BUYS MORE THAN ONE-FOURTH GREATER VALUE THAN IT DOES IN AN AMERICAN CAR

4.—The Built-in-Canada Ford Car demonstrates the greatest Car Economy and Value. At its new low price few need deny themselves of "The Universal Car"

5.—All Needed Repair parts for the Ford are constantly carried in Canada—not only in Ford Agencies but at all Repair Shops in Canada.

Is the lesson plain enough?

"SETTLED—Without an argument over technicalities."

Therefore,—Buy a Ford Coupe, Sedan, Touring Car or Roadster, and "leave the balance in the bank."

Read the Advertisements

THE publishers of this paper draw your attention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants.

These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our community. For this reason we should buy from them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictates.

Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and inter-community commerce stimulated. We repeat---read the advertisements.

U.S. SERVICE MEN ILL-TREATED IN N.Y. HOSPITALS.

Mothers of Dead Soldiers Corroborate the Stories.

NEW YORK, April 8. — War mothers, wearing gold stars in memory of sons who were lost on the battlefields of France, appeared before the American Legion investigating committee at City Hall and corroborated stories of neglect and ill treatment at the hands of nurses and doctors in Government hospitals, related to the committee in rapid sucession by nearly a dozen disabled veterans The testimony of the witnesses, most of them young men with a wan look on their faces, frequently drew tears to the eyes of the gold star mothers.

After the tales of the disabled veterans there came a dramatic moment when, on behalf of the gold star mothers, it was stated for the purpose of the record that they were glad that their sons should have made a quick sacrifice on the battlefield rather than return to the treatment described by the veterans. As a tribute to their lost sons, many of these war mothers have been working in the war hospitals in and around New York City. They declared that they had found conditions far worse than described by the disabled veterans.

Colonel Cornelius W. Wickersham, chairman of the Investigating Commitee, invited the War Mothers to delegate one of their number to testify as to conditions they had observed. Mrs. Meta Steuer of 823, Van Wagenen Place, North Bergen, took the chair and said:

"On behalf of the Gold Star Mothers of the Union Hill, N.J., Chapter of the American War Mothers, I want to say that we gold-star mothers are 100 times gladder that our boys made the supreme sacrifice so quickly on the battle fields of France rather than that they should have been compelled to suffer the agonies that these poor boys are suffering in trying to get help and compensation That is all I have to say, gentlemen."

NEW EXPOSURE IN BALL SCANDAL.

Declare Others Unnamed Real Conspirators.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Promises of a new expose in the baseball scandal came from an unexpected quarter recently, when attorneys defending the Chicago White Sox players, indicted with ten others for conspiracy in the alleged throwing of the 1919 worl dseries, announced they had uncovered a "real scandal," in which men hitherto not mentioned in the case had won more than $30,000 on the series.

The statements were made by Attorneys Benedict Short and Michael Ahearn when they moved before Judge Charles A. McDonald for reduction in the bail of the defendants.

Judge McDonald reduced the bail for Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, Buch Weaver, Swede Risberg, Oscar Felsch, Fred McMullin, and Joe Jackson, White Sox players, from a maximum of $48,000 each to $7,500, but announced he would permit no reduction in the cases of the alleged gamblers.

Mr. Short and Mr. Ahearn refused to go into details concerning their charges of a new scandal, but promised that full particulars would be made public when the case was brought to trial.

"The players who have been indicted," said Mr. Ahearn, in pleading for bail reduction, "are not the conspirators in this case. More than $300,000 was won by a set of men who have not yet been indicted, and we are prepared to prove this charge and to prove that our defendants were not implicated. When the trial comes up we will reveal a real scandal and name the men who really are guilty."

It is believed that the seven players whose bail was set at $7,500 each will surrender within a day or two.

At Least $1,000,000 is Expected Soon.

NEW YORK, April 8. — German and Austrian gold coin is beginning to come to the United States, several consignments having been received recently. One shipment of German gold coin amounting to $1,000,000 is reported to have left a Scandinavian country two or three days ago, and other and larger shipments are expected soon. The largest shipment of Austrian gold coin thus far received was valued at a shade less than $300,000, while most are said to be worth from $50,000 to $75,000.

Some of this gold is supposed to have been smuggled out of Germany and Austria into neutral European countries, and then trans-shipped to the United States. The profits in foreign exchange is great, and it is believed that a considerable amount of gold coin which was hidden when the German and Austrian Governments attempted to collect all of the coin during the war is now making its appearance.

Recently, it is understood, the Governments of the Central European countries have been working through their banks to establish cash credits in this country. It is reported that advances have been made to several leading institutions downtown looking to the opening of German credits, and the proposals have contemplated the depositing of cash.

JUDGE FORBIDS CHEWING IN COURT.

Instructed Constable to Discard His Cud Immediately.

HULL, Que., April 9.—There was consternation for a few moments in the Hull Criminal Court yesterday morning. Mr. Justice Lane, presiding, noticed one of the constables sitting near the prisoner, Fernandi Cusson, jr., chewing gum, and at once stopped the proceedings and instructed the constable to desist chewing immediately.

"It is only gum, your honor," remarked the somewhat embarrassed constable.

"It does not matter," said the Judge, "your example is not exemplary to others in the court, and you should have more respect for the court than to indulge in such an unseemly habit."

And the question afterwards was how many in the court room swallowed their gum or tobacco. Among those who felt a little embarrassed under the circumstances were some higher officers in the court and lawyers.

AUTHOR GETS A 6-CENT VERDICT.

Objected to Criticism of His Book.

NEW YORK, April 8.—A verdict for 6 cents damages was given recent by a jury before Supreme Court Justice McAvoy in a suit of Alleyne Ireland, one-time secretary to the late Joseph Pulitzer, against the owners of The Chicago Evening Post because of a criticism of Mr. Ireland's book, "Joseph Pulitzer; Reminiscences of a Secretary."

Mr. Ireland sued because the criticism referred to him as an "anonymous" author, although he is a recognized scientific investigator, and because it was stated that Mr. Ireland had drawn upon his imagination in writing the book, because no man could be so degraded as to submit to the experiences he described.

ASKS REFORM IN KILLING CATTLE.

Suffer Anguish Seeing Others Slain.

NEW YORK, April 8. — Cattle suffer "mental anguish" when they see one another slaughtered at the abattoirs, according to officials of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which soon will sponsor legislation to have each animal killed outside the presence of others.

Hogs, sheep, and other dumb meat producers likewise are terrorised by such practices, the Society contends.

Among the reforms which the organisation will seek to effect by legislation is abolishing of the practice of "casting" animals before slaughter. This consists of binding their hind legs with rope or chain, and then hauling them up with a windlass so that their head and the foreparts suspend downward. While dangling in this position the throats of the beasts are cut, the Society asserts.

It is argued that such practices cause the animals to suffer, and that the only humane and proper way to laughter them is by first stunning with a sledge hammer blow between the eyes, causing instantaneous insensibility.

A tenth of the Kansas Alfalfa crop was destroyed by the gophers in 1919.

STILL DEMANDING BEST MEAT CUTS.

CHICAGO, April 9. — Wage cuts have brought no increased demand for the cheaper cuts of meat, according to a report of the American Institute of Meat Packers, issued here.

"It had been expected that any decrease in wages or employment would tend to increase simply the demand for forequarter meats," said the statement. "Instead the so-called choice meats still enjoy a great preference."

Read the Advertisements

THE publishers of this paper draw your attention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants.

These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our community. For this reason we should buy from them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictates.

Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and inter-community commerce stimulated. We repeat---read the advertisements.

U.S. SERVICE MEN ILL-TREATED IN N.Y. HOSPITALS.

Mothers of Dead Soldiers Corroborate the Stories.

NEW YORK, April 8. — War mothers, wearing gold stars in memory of sons who were lost on the battlefields of France, appeared before the American Legion investigating committee at City Hall and corroborated stories of neglect and ill treatment at the hands of nurses and doctors in Government hospitals, related to the committee in rapid sucession by nearly a dozen disabled veterans The testimony of the witnesses, most of them young men with a wan look on their faces, frequently drew tears to the eyes of the gold star mothers.

After the tales of the disabled veterans there came a dramatic moment when, on behalf of the gold star mothers, it was stated for the purpose of the record that they were glad that their sons should have made a quick sacrifice on the battlefield rather than return to the treatment described by the veterans. As a tribute to their lost sons, many of these war mothers have been working in the war hospitals in and around New York City. They declared that they had found conditions far worse than described by the disabled veterans.

Colonel Cornelius W. Wickersham, chairman of the Investigating Commitee, invited the War Mothers to delegate one of their number to testify as to conditions they had observed. Mrs. Meta Steuer of 823, Van Wagenen Place, North Bergen, took the chair and said:

"On behalf of the Gold Star Mothers of the Union Hill, N.J., Chapter of the American War Mothers, I want to say that we gold-star mothers are 100 times gladder that our boys made the supreme sacrifice so quickly on the battle fields of France rather than that they should have been compelled to suffer the agonies that these poor boys are suffering in trying to get help and compensation That is all I have to say, gentlemen."

NEW EXPOSURE IN BALL SCANDAL.

Declare Others Unnamed Real Conspirators.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Promises of a new expose in the baseball scandal came from an unexpected quarter recently, when attorneys defending the Chicago White Sox players, indicted with ten others for conspiracy in the alleged throwing of the 1919 worl dseries, announced they had uncovered a "real scandal," in which men hitherto not mentioned in the case had won more than $30,000 on the series.

The statements were made by Attorneys Benedict Short and Michael Ahearn when they moved before Judge Charles A. McDonald for reduction in the bail of the defendants.

Judge McDonald reduced the bail for Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, Buch Weaver, Swede Risberg, Oscar Felsch, Fred McMullin, and Joe Jackson, White Sox players, from a maximum of $48,000 each to $7,500, but announced ne would permit no reduction in the cases of the alleged gamblers.

Mr. Short and Mr. Ahearn refused to go into details concerning their charges of a new scandal, but promised that full particulars would be made public when the case was brought to trial.

"The players who have been indicted," said Mr. Ahearn, in pleading for bail reduction, "are not the conspirators in this case. More than $100,000 was won by a set of men who have not yet been indicted, and we are prepared to prove this charge and to prove that our defendants were not implicated. When the trial comes up we will reveal a real scandal and name the men who really are guilty."

It is believed that the seven players whose bail was set at $7,500 each will surrender within a day or two.

SEARCH POCKETS OF DEAD MAN FOR INCOME RETURNS.

Conscientious Widow Had Husband's Grave Opened in Search of Missing Papers.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., April 8.—So conscientious is Mrs. Edmund Albers of this city that, in order to send a correct return to the Government of her past year's income, she has just had the grave of her husband, who died 18 months' ago, opened to ascertain if it contained any secrets Uncle Sam should know.

Searching through her husband's effects for some documentary evidence that would help her to estimate correctly just what she is worth, as well as for records showing cash paid out by Albers, the widow could locate nothing she was looking for.

She remembered that her husband had been buried in his business suit. Perhaps there were some papers in the pockets which she had overlooked.

The grave-digger did their duty, but no records were found.

FEARED ROBBERS DROPPED DEAD.

Woman Hears Them at Her Door.

TROY, N.Y., April 8.—Mrs. Wm. H. Fitzgerald, wife of the late Deputy Commissioner of Public Works, died of fright about 2 o'clock in the morning when she was awakened by burglars, who were trying to effect an entrance to her residence.

Mrs. Fitzgerald heard the noise and aroused members of the family, then suddenly fell lifeless to the floor. Death was attributed to heart disease, caused by excitement.

BARKEEPERS FIND LOOP-HOLE IN LAW.

MONTREAL, April 9. — The ham sandwich which enabled barrooms in American cities to pose as restaurants in other days, and sell drinks at all hours, will migrate to Montreal on May 1st. This is the outcome of the ruling by the Board of license commissioners, that they cannot grant restaurant and tavern licenses to places which are no bona fide hotels. Proprietors of the down town eating houses had thought that they could secure one license to sell beer all day and another to sell wine with meals. Since the board has decided otherwise they have gotten together and decided to apply for the restaurant license in preference to the beer one. When not serving a real meal, the sandwich bought with every drink, but never eaten, acts as a substitute.

SCOTCH WOMEN FOR DETECTIVES.

Ferreting Out Intricacies of Crime.

LONDON, April 9.—(Associated Press).—Conservative Scotland Yard is finding women of decided value on its detective force, especially in ferreting out the intricacies of certain sorts of crime. The talent of these feminine sleuths, it is said, is due largely because of their greater success at practicing deception. And it has been found that they can keep a secret.

Many of the women detectives cover assignments at social events where it is necessary for them to wear evening gowns and jewels and to display the social graces.

Women detectives were employed first in London, but now their activities have extended to the Provinces.

NEARLY CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

No rest day or night for those who are afflicted with that terrible skin disease, eczema, or as it is often called, salt rheum.

With its unbearable burning, itching and torturing, relief is gladly welcomed.

There is no remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers; no remedy that has done, or can do more for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Apply it externally and it takes out the stinging, itching and burning, and proomtes a healthy healing.

Take it internally and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood,—for eczema is a blood disease—and drives it out of the system.

Miss L. M. Boutilier, 89 Victoria Road, Halifax, N.S., writes:—"I have suffered for years from eczema. I could not rest day or night. I suffered great agony, and was nearly crazy with the itching and burning. I used all kinds of salves, but nothing seemed to help me. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised, and was advised to try a bottle. I found great relief, and I really cannot recommend it highly enough for what it has done for me."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over forty years, and during that time has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 9.— Life imprisonment was the sentence given George Drew, and four years penal servitude with a whipping to William Nearn, who have been found guilty of offences aaginst little girls, in the circuit court here. In announcing the sentences Judge Crockett said he had hesitaed whether or not to pass a death sentence on Drew. The prisoner said he would rather be hanged than put in prison for life. The judge added that Nearn was to get eight strokes with the lash. A big crowd filled the court room and a squad of police took extra precautions against a demonstration as the prisoners were taken back to jail in the patrol wagon.

Calls For Extensions to St. John Immigration Building.

OTTAWA, April 9 (by Canadian Press).—Twenty years ago the Immigration Building that was erected at St. John, N.B., by the Dominion Department of Immigration and Colonisation was believed to be large enough to meet the demands that would be made on it for forty or fifty years. A few years later it became evident that the optimistic belief of twenty years ago was not based on a correct estimate of the rapid development of Canada, partly due to the growth in the number of settlers from across the seas. Additions and improvements have for some time been considered necessary and would have been carried out earlier, but for the war. Last December work was begun on the required extensions, which have just been completed. The immigration and terminal facilities at St. John, N.B., are now regarded as the most complete on the North Atlantic Coast.

Comfort Provided.

The recent extensions, with the improvements made to the old building, provide everything for the comfort and convenience of settlers arriving in Canada from overseas. Many of the handicaps and difficulties that were evident in the old quarters, due to lack of space, etc., have now been overcome. The new building provides a covered, heated baggage shed, so planned that baggage can be assembled in divisions arranged alphabetically, an assembly hall, rest room, dormitories for men and women, a nursery equipped with every essential appliance for children, incidentally the first in the world to be established in an immigration building, modern lavatories, railway ticket departments, canteen and other conveniences. It is now arranged that from the time of leaving the ship to the time of their departure on the train for their ultimate destinations, settlers are under shelter. The C.P.R. trains run alongside the baggage shed and the passengers pass from the rest room down an inclined ramp to the trains. This baggage shed is 500 feet long and 60 feet wide and has a well covered platform on both sides; it is electrically lighted, and well ventilated, and with the up-to-date features it contains has already proved a valuable factor in rapid embarkation of passengers after they have passed the immigration inspection.

Floors of Hardwood.

Throughout the buildings there is splendid interior workmanship, the floors are in hardwood, polished, while the walls and ceilings are in Pedlar metal sheeting, harmoniously painted in two shades of grey, the heating, lighting, and ventilating systems being done in white. The result is that the building as a whole is comfortable, bright, and sanitary.

Passengers are landed from the ship's gangway on the floor of wharf shed number three, entering an inclined covered passageway. This passageway is provided with handrails and the floor covered with rubber matting. In the Immigration Hall separate examination rooms are provided for both Canadian and United States Services. After the examination, the passengers pass into a railway ticketing hall, where tickets can be obtained for both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways, and telegrams can be sent. Refreshments can also be purchased for the train journey by those who do not wish to make use of dining-cars, from a canteen run under Government supervision.

VAIN HUNT FOR WEALTHY WIDOW.

Strangely Vanishes After Leaving Car.

NEW YORK, April 9. — A three-days' police search has failed to reveal any clue to the disapeparance of Mrs. William Birch Rankins, the widow of a millionaire lawyer and electric power plant owner, who got out of her automobile last Friday evening at the Manhattan approach of the Queensboro Bridge and failed to return to her home at 14 east 60th street.

It became known Tuesday that relatives had been hunting for Mrs. Rankins since Friday night and that reports had been made to the East Fifty-first street police station and to the Bureau of Missing persons at Police Headquarters. Inquiry at the hospitals has not disclosed any person answering her description and detectives have not been able to find anyone who saw her after her chauffeur caught his last glimpse of her on Friday night at 59th street and second avenue.

Mrs. Rankins suffered a nervous breakdown about four years ago and Mrs. Rankins suffered a nervous breakdown about four years ago and has been in such ill health lately that a nurse has been her companion almost constantly. One theory is that she was seized with a fainting spell or suffered some injury in a traffic accident that might have caused a mental lapse and that she is either wandering about the city or in some institution or a private home as an unidentified patient. No credence is given to the theory that she met with foul play.

TRAVELLED 4,000 MILES; SERVICES NOT WANTED

PORT ARTHUR, April 9.—When Justice Maston and his court reporter got back to Toronto, having passed through Port Arthur, they will have travelled four thousand miles, at a cost of $400, to hold a court at which there were no cases to be heard. Arriving at Kenora the Judge found one case settled out of court and decided that the other listed for him should properly go before the district judge.

AT THE ALLEN

To those who have not had the opportunity of seeing Leo Ditrichstein in "The Concert" — and to those who have—a treat is afforded in the film version produced by Goldwyn, which is being shown at the Allen Theatre for two days, commencing Monday. The hit made by the play on the legitimate stage promises to be duplicated on the screen, for in every respect it is a remarkable entertainment.

"The Concert" is the story of a temperamental middle-aged music master and the impressionable young wife of a physician who together take a shy at "soul mating" under the chaperonage of wife and husband, respectively. The main point brought out by the story of the play is this: that some of us perhaps would like to take other wives, or other husbands, but few of us would like others to take our husbands or our wives and that a fair exchange would be terrible robbery.

The humorous situations of which Mr. Ditrichstein made so much are carried out with splendid emphasis in the screen version. The cast selected to interpret the play is well proportioned, and the acting uniformly excellent. A surprising innovation is introduced to convey to the screen the impressions that are created by the piano playing of a genius — that is, the audience is made actually to "see" music which it cannot hear. This is done by the use of double exposures.

LESS DAIRY CATTLE NOW THAN IN 1919.

In six out of the nine Provinces of Canaad there were fewer dairy cattle in 1920 than there were in 1919.

Nova Scotia shows a loss of 15,000, New Brunswick and Quebec of 26,000 each, Manitoba of 17,000, Sasaktchewan of 36,000, and Alberta of 31,000.

STOP SELF-POISONING BY REMOVING CAUSE

Internal Bathing Reaches Source of Trouble, Cleanses and Purifies.

Buoyant spirits and a zest for the work of the day are never found in company with a constipated condition.

Auto-intoxication, or self-poisoning results from the accumulation of waste matter in the lower intestine. Its ill-effects are manifested commonly in headaches, indigestion, piles, impure blood or sleeplessness, and particularly in hardening of the arteries and heart trouble.

Internal bathing is the one sure means of cleansing the intestinal tract, and keeping the system in the state which perfect health demands. Medicines only force nature, while internal bathing gently assists her.

The effects of the Internal Bath—the scientific application of warm water by means of "The J. B. L. Cascade"—is an immediate invigoration of the entire system. It restores vim, confidence, and the glow of health.

Mrs. Robert Gordon, 422 Cadillac street, Montreal, Que., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of the J. B. L. Cascade. It has saved my life. I have been troubled with constipation, piles and ulceration of the bowels for years, have only been using the Cascade for three months, and am happy to be doing my own work again after having been laid up for many months. I would not take one hundred dollars for my Cascade if I could not procure another."

The J. B. L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing. It is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co., Druggists, Peterborough. Telephone or write to them for free booklet, "Why Man of To-day is Only 50% Efficient"—or telephone or write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College street, Toronto.

NEW RAILWAY IN ARGENTINA.

First Rail on International Road.

BUENOS AIRES, April 9.—(Associated Press).—The first rail has just been placed on the new international railway that is eventually to connect the Argentine city of Salta with the sea coast of Chile, thus realigning to a certain extent the trade routes of Argentina and Chile. The Argentine section of the road is being built from Salta to Huatiquina, a place in the Andes on the frontier of Chile, while the Chilean section probably will be constructed either to Antofogasta or Mejillones. In Argentina, construction is being done by the State railways. Construction in Chile is not yet definitely provided for.

The Argentine half of the road is approximately 475 kilometers long. As a part of the work 6,000 meters of hard rock tunneling will have to be done.

DROP IN PRICE OF HENEQUEN.

Yucatan Establish State-Wide Moratorium.

MERIDA, Yucatan, April 9. — Merchants here have entered vigorous protest against the recent establishment of a State-wide moratorium by the Yucatan Congress. The moratorium is to last until March, 1922, and is designed to relieve the acute business conditions within the State due to the low price of henequen.

There are now more than 800,000 bales of henequen stored within the State, the market price of which is 4 3-4 cents per pound, whereas production cost is said to be between six and seven cents per pound.

CHICAGO LOSES RADIUM STOCK.

Fifty Milligrams Have Disappeared.

CHICAGO, April 9.— Fifty milligrams of radium, valued at $5,000, and the joint property of a group of phyiscians, is lost somewhere in the city, a constant menace to its finder. It was contained in a golden capsule. Miss Lillian Brown, the custodian of the treasure, had been sent to a hosptial to get it for use elsewhere, and placed the precious box on a window sill of an elevated train car. There was some confusion in the car and when she alighted she forgot the radium for a moment.

The train was searched later, but the box had disappeared. This capsule represents practically all the radium owned in Chicago.

Physicians have issued warnings to the finder that he is dealing with a living death, and that even in the hands of an expert radium is a dangerous element. The effects are lasting and may be quickly fatal.

EGGS ABUNDANT AT 26, 28, 30 CTS.

BUYERS VIGOROUSLY PROTEST AT 65 CTS. A LB. FOR BUTTER—POTATOES $1 THE BAG.

It was damp and chilly around the farmers' market today, and buying seemed a little slow. Upstairs there were the same full, just-about over-filled baskets, of eggs, if anything, more capacity-packed than on other Saturdays. The farmers' wives asked 26, 28 and as high as 30 cents to start with, but at 10 o'clock it looked as if 25 cents or lower would be the general prices established. There seemed to be so many baskets one would wonder where the thousands of eggs would find purchasers.

Butter seemed fairly plentiful, a price hotly protested against by many city folk. Chickens were very scarce. There probably being not more than a score on all the tables. The price a pound was 35 and 40 cents.

Eggs for Hatching

In the square, eggs for hatching could be found at 75 cents a dozen. Calmly awaiting their disposal by the auctioneer were ten Rhode Island red hens and one cockerel, guaranteed by the owner to be no relation, and 11 months old.

Two guinea hens were also on sale by auction.

Potatoes were $1 a bag and onions, carrots, parsnips and other vegetables were unchanged in price.

Dried beans in jars and bottles and Dutch sets were promiscuous on today's market. A small jar of beans cost 10 cents and onions were 10 cents a pint measure.

Last of Syrup

There were only three or four syrup wagons in evidence this morning. The syrup men say the season is about over. Prices a quart were generally 80 and 90 and $1.00 and by the gallon from $3.00 to $3.75. The sugar made in the old-fashioned corrugated molds did not seem to sell by weight. The small ones went for 10 cents and the larger pieces of sugar at 25 cents up.

Live Pigs

There was a little pork on the market selling at 23 cents, but there were several crates of young pigs, mostly of a nubian shade. These sold at $10 each, although they were only a couple of months old. "They're only worth $5 each," said a rural-looking individual who came up. "Well, 've sold two at $10," heplied the owner of the porkers, not a bit disturbed.

WORK OF CANADIAN RED CROSS FOR VICTIMS OF WAR.

Following Hard on Heels of Retreating Germans, Administered to Tens of Thousands of Civilians.

TORONTO, Ont., April 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Every Canadian soldier who took part in the final drive of 1918 will recall with pride the wonderful work the Canadian Red Cross then did in administering to the needs of the "evacuees" and the liberated people of the recaptured areas. Following hard on the heels of the sullenly retreating enemy, the Canadian Corps soon found itself with tens of thousands of civilians on its hands to be provided for until such time as the French civil authority could step in with organized relief. A quarter of a million in all were thus liberated between Cambrai and Mons, including people of Denain, Valenciennes and numerous towns and villages.

Most of these people were destitute; the saddest sight of all being the long stream of evacuees returning along the Mons road to their ruined homes. The function of the Red Cross was not to ration these many thousands but to care for the sick and the helpless, ailing women and starving children. Wherever need was greatest—and often close up to the firing line—there were to be found the diligent officers of the Canadian Red Cross.

The statistics of this work both before and after the armistice, together with the general account of the work of the Canadian Red Cross throughout the war, were presented by R. B. Bennett, K.C., of Calgary, on March 31 to the tenth International Red Cross Conference at Geneva. Such an official report is necessarily rather a dry-as-dust affair of figures and statements, but these in themselves have a very great interest, and are briefly summarized below.

Affiliated With British.

The Canadian Red Cross Society is affiliated with the British Red Cross Society, being founded in 1896, the first overseas branch in the British Empire, its prime duty as outlined in its charter being, "to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war." It is interesting to note that by Dominion legislation in 1919 the new and additional purpose of the Canadian Red Cross is set forth as follows: "In time of peace or war to carry on and assist in work for the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world." This sufficiently indicates the widened scope the Society has embarked upon.

Collected Millions.

Of the report submitted by Mr. Bennett at Geneva, Section II, "Work during the War," naturally has chief interest for the general public. Up to the end of 1919 the Canadan Red Cross collected from its members and by public subscription for war work and after war relief the considerable sum of nine million dollars, made up as follows:

Alberta	$ 486,253.06
British Columbia	469,468.63
Manitoba	965,371.72
New Brunswick	66,107.11
Nova Scotia	398,166.68
Ontario	3,737,994.11
Prince Edward Island	51,362.90
Quebec	491,071.53
Saskatchewan	1,746,404.30
Yukon Territory	31,147.14
United States	609,816.76
Cuba	20,000.00
Other	321.62

Supplies sent overseas during the war totalled 341,325 cases, of which 147,270 were supplied to hospital units in England. Assistance was also afforded to the French hospitals, particularly after the enemy drive of March, 1918, and to Serbia, Belgium, Rumania and Italy.

As An Auxiliary.

The work of the Canadian Red Cross overseas as an auxiliary to the Canadian Army Medical Corps included the whole or part of the buildings and equipment of such hospitals as those at Taplow, Bushey Park, Ramsgate, Bexhill, Buxton, etc., and it issues supplies to the scores of Canadian military hospitals of the Shorncliffe area. Similar work was done for the military hospitals in France, and two convoys of ambulances were provided and maintained in France.

Only passing reference can be made here to the work of the Canadian Red Cross for Canadian prisoners of war and for the individual soldier and his family at home, which justly earned the Society the name of the Soldier's Friend.

In Liberated Area.

Reference has been made to its work in the liberated areas, and the Society has received thousands of letters of thanks from French hospitals and towns thus benefitted. Gifts to France in money amounted to nearly five million francs in addition to 94,000 cases of supplies valued at nearly five million dollars. Work for the refugees began immediately after the armistice and in many cases officers of the Canadian Red Cross entered French and Belgian towns before the Germans had evacuated them. Soup kitchens were opened up and food supplied the inhabitants, especially children, who in the French liberated areas in some cases had not seen fresh meat or sugar for three or four years.

Peace found the Society with a very large plan on its hands. Hospital equipment was either returned to Canada for use in civil and military hospitals or sold when such was more economical. On the suggestion of the King the huts at Bushey were presented to the London County Council as a home for delicate children, and the huts at Taplow were presented to the city of Birmingham for conversion into a 300-bed hospital for tubercular and crippled children.

The multifarious activities of the Canadian Red Cross have only been touched upon above, but the Canadian representative at Geneva in presenting his report must have felt a proper pride in the remarkable achievements of the Canadian Society.

For "Out of Luck."

NEW YORK, April 9.—A suggestion that Mayor Hylan use the $200,000 contributed for a memorial to New York City's soldier dead in the interests of the "out of luck" soldiers of to-day was made in a letter sent the Mayor by Henry H. Curran, President of Manhattanborough.

Doctors Say New Drug Makes You Feel 100% Better In Two to Five Days

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, you are constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your Liver is out of order, and is not excreting Bile into the Bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90% of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour Bile into the intestines, your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome, you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about fifteen minutes before each meal, or you may take two at bedtime, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No seidlitz, salts, or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminatnig.

Tanated Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad after-effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste, relieving your system of all this waste poison making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous and vivacious again.

PUSSYFOOT IS WORSTED WHEN AT KINGSTON

W. E. JOHNSON GETS POOR RECEPTION AND IS UNABLE TO SPEAK BECAUSE OF DISTURBANCE.

APPEALS IN VAIN

KINGSTON, April 9. — (Canadian Press.) — "Pussyfoot" Johnston the famous "dry" orator, was worsted at a meeting in the Grand opera house last night. The programme was so disorderly that he was unable to make his speech. All that he was able to do was to make a few disjointed remarks between the lulls in the storm of yells, hisses and songs.

Appeals were made from the platform and from the audience for a hearing for "Pussyfoot," but in vain.

R. J. Rodgers, a member of the City Council appealed for order, but as he referred to the disturbers as a bunch of rowdies, he did not have much success.

Lieutenant A. T. Adney, as an anti-prohibitionist, next appealed to the audience to be good, but his request fell on deaf ears.

A lady on the platform then tried to calm the boisterous ones but her efforts were ungallantly ignored.

In desperation Mayor Nickle was sent for and he made a strong appeal for order, but with no success. He told the disturbers that they were hurting their cause and the good name of the city, but they kept right on.

PETERBORO' TALENT AT BRIDGENORTH

BRIDGENORTH, April 9.— On Friday evening four youthful artists of Peterborough were seen to good advantage in C.O.F. hall, Bridgenorth. The programme opened with an address from the chairman, Mr. Fred Jopling. Miss Dorothy Stuart, well known in the musical circles here, rendered three very difficult selections in a way that delighted the audience. Miss Martha Kirn and Irene Bates rendered two very pretty duet dances, also some solo dances. Miss Barbara Cook sang four pretty selections in a way that pleased the audience. Miss Irene Bates gave some very fine readings and character sketches.

Miss Freida Jobe of Bridgenorth and Dorothy Stuart were heard to good advantage in a piano duet, entitled, "Waves of the Ocean." Mr. Fred Jopling gave some very humorous little talks between numbers and made an ideal chairman.

Despite the unpleasant weather the large audience filled the hall and the entertainment was a huge success.

REMOVE CLOSED SEASON ON HARES.

TORONTO, April 9.—There will be no closed season for hares and rabbits if the amendment to the Fish and Game Act, which the Fish and Game Committee have passed, is approved by the Legislators. Hon. Harry Mills stated that if extermination is threatened the closed season can be restored again.

The season for woodcock was advanced between October 15 and November 15 to between September 15 and October 15. These birds go south early, and it has been found that those which fatten in Canada during the summer fall to the guns of Americans in the fall. One member of the committee thought a woodcock was a woodpecker.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of some one who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one table spoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

SPORT COMMENT

Although Edward E. McLean, the President's friend, is building a $300,000 golf course on Friendship, his suburban estate, for the private use of President Harding, members of the Cabinet and their intimate associates, the public golf course in Potomac Park was good enough for Mr. Harding yesterday.

After many strenuous hours of work, which included a Cabinet meeting, the President was anxious to play a round of golf. It was too late to motor to one of the suburban courses. The President was reminded that for 25 cents he could play on the municipal course and could get there in five minutes. At five o'clock, with Senators Hale, Frelinghuysen and Elkins, he crossed the White House lot, approached the public course-keeper, tendered his "two-bits," and trailed over the course behind Government clerks and others who cannot join expensive golf clubs or be declared in on $300,000 private courses.

How the French fans feel towards anything connected with the war was demonstrated during the morning at a recent six-day race, when an orchestra started to play "Sambre et Meuse," a battle song of the war of 1870. The occupants of the gallery, who were mostly poilus who had fought in the Great War, drowned out the music by booing and whistling. "Give us jazz," they cried.

The French champion boxer, Georges Carpentier, brought down some of the crowd's wrath on himself when he offered 50 francs (about $3 at the present rate of exchange) and a set of aluminum kitchen utensils, which he manufactures, to the winner of the race. The announcement was greeted with boos from the gallery.

There is a story circulating among baseball men down in Texas to the effect that Dan McGrew, the Galveston pitcher, who is seven feet tall, killed 10 rabbits with 10 stones. The late Frank Selee tried out a pitcher from North Carolina who was so deadly accurate in throwing that he used only stones when he went squirrel hunting. This eminent "Tarheel" put the first 14 balls he pitched over the plate in his initial tryout in the game and then he "blew" and went back to the bushes.

Rocky Kansas has received an offer from a moving picture company at the Pacific Coast to appear in three pictures, for which he is to receive the sum of $10,000 and all expenses. Rocky has a couple of good bouts in view, but if the match with Leonard is not made within the next few days he may accept the "movie" offer.

Ted Meredith, in discussing Charley Paddock's remarkable performance at Berkley, Cal., last week, when he was credited with running the 220-yard dash in 20 4-5 sec., recalls to an eastern scribe, the incident of Al Robertson's great performance in a furlong dash, when he and Ted were students at Mercersburg. The Westboro lad made a wonderful record that spring, nine years ago, whether at sprinting or in relay racing.

In the particular race in question, the timers were so startled by the times recorded that they were ashamed to acknowledge what their watches showed, and some of them put their timers in their pockets and walked away. The truth was every watch but one stopped at 20 3-5 sec., while that one registered 20 4-5 sec. Later this "phenom," who as Meredith says, had weak legs, never showed speed approaching what the watches registered in this memorable race, and so the record was thrown into the discard and forgotten. Jimmy Curran held a watch on the 20 3-5 sec. race. Meredith says that Robinson had great speed, but his legs would not stand a hard season.

CARPENTIER POSTS FORFEIT OF $50,000.

Frenchman Deposits Money—Is Forwarded to New York.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Further evidence that Georges Carpentier has no intention of breaking his contract to meet Jack Dempsey on July 2 was received by Tex Rickard in the form of word from Robert Edgren, stake holder for the match. Edgen notified Rickard that the French champion's $50,000 forfeit had been forwarded to this country. Edgren notified Rickard that the effect that the money had been sent from the Morgan-Harjes Bank of Paris to the Central Union Trust Company of New York.

"The stories coming from the other side that Carpentier was to take down his forfeit and box Moran were created in London by promoters eager to stage a Moran-Carpentier bout," said Rickard. "Carpentier has kept his word with me, fulfilling every detail in his contract and the cable to-day gives further assurance that there will be no hitch in the match."

CHURCH LEAGUE BOWLING.

Next week will see the conclusion of the second round of the Church Five Pin League. This week, on Wednesday night, St. Paul's went down to defeat three times before the strong Trinity team. On Thursday evening a double header was played, All Saints' winning three from St. Andrew's in the first match and Excelsiors two out of three from St. Luke's in the second. At the conclusion of the second section of the League the winners of the round will play George Street, winners of the first round. Blind scores will also be rolled.

ARE TUNING UP "BLUE NOSE" FOR SCHOONER RACE.

Will Soon Make Maiden Trip to Halifax, Where Public May Inspect Her.

LUNENBURG, N. S., April 9.—(Canadian Press).—Bluenose, one of Nova Scotia's entries for the elimination races which will determine th Canadian Challenyer in the great International Fisherman's Schooner Races for the Halifax Herald Trophy to be sailed this fall, is rapidly being tuned up for a trip to Halifax, where she will be thrown open for inspection, preparatory to a start being made for the Grand Banks about the middle of the month.

Immediately following her launching from the yards of Smith and Rhuland on March 26 the work of stepping her masts was begun. This was completed in jig time without incident and the schooner was turned over to the riggers, who are now engaged in applying the finishing touches to what all are agreed in the language of the Banks is a "right smart boat."

Captain Angus Walters, expert fisherman, master and part owner of the Bluenose, is enthusiastic over his new charge and confident that she will prove one of the high-liners of the great Lunenburg fleet of upwards of one hundred sail. He is not so optimistic concerning the fishing capabilities of the possible American defender, Mayflower, now building at Esser, Massachusetts, and expresses the belief that she has not got the necessary carrying capacity to pay her way as a Banks fisherman, which he holds should be the first qualification for entrance in the elimination races. Walters points out that in the preservation of a proper spirit in college athletics it was found necessary to rule that no man should represent his university unless he maintained a certain standard in his studies, and contends that a somewhat similar rule should be applied to fishing schooner racing, if the sport is to be saved from degenerating into a game for designers expert in creating freak boats. He holds that no boat should be permitted to enter the International Fisherman's Race unless it is able to demonstrate its ability to deliver the goods as a fisherman. "Of course," said Waters, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating, and if the Mayflower can pay her way as a Banks fisherman, I will be among the first to take off my hat to her."

Yachting experts who have examined the plans of both schooners are inclined to agree with 'Captain Angus." They say that in order to give her sufficient carrying capacity to prove a successful fisherman, it was necessary to carry Bluenose's beam well below the waterline, while in the case of the Mayflower a slightly lesser beam at the deck loses itself almost immediately in the hairlines of a racing machine. The concensus of their opinion is that the "Bluenose will prove no match for Mayflower except in a blow or extremely light airs."

The respective merits of the two boats form the chief topic of discussion at present throughout the fishing communities of Nova Scotia. Members of the Canadian committee in charge of the event are more reticient, declining to be quoted for the time being. It is understood that a delegation representing this committee is proceeding shortly to Massachusetts to inspect the Mayflower on the spot.

A WEEK OF GOLF PLAY, MANITOBA.

A Precedent to Be Established in Winnipeg, Aug. 22 to 27.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 8.— A review of the recently adopted programme for the Canadian amateur golf championship matches to be held here August 22 to 27, indicates a week of interesting play with representatives from coast to coast present for the initial games. INDIANAPOLIS, April 9.—It is practically assured that there will be at least $85,000 dangling on the finish wire when the crack gasoline charioteers of two continents line up for the start of the International 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30.

To the $50,000 prize always given by the Speedway management will be an added purse of $20,000, to be divided into $100 prizes for the winner of each lap of the race. CITY LEAGUE WILL ENTER THE O.B.A.A.

WILL LIKELY OPERATE TWO SERIES, INTERMEDIATE AND JUVENILE THIS SEASON—OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

At the annual meeting of the City Baseball League, held last night in the Board of Trade Rooms, with President Gordon Matthews in the chair, it was decided to affiliate with the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association. The present prospects are that the City League will be entered in the Intermediate and Juvenile series of the O.B.A.A., it being practically decided last night to father the Juvenile organization in which only players who are under eighteen years on May 1st will be eligible to play. One Juvenile team was represented at last night's meeting, and it is expected that the local youngsters will waste no time in organizing when there is a chance to participate in a regular League.

The City League will be composed of four teams this year, the Canadian General Electric Co., the Thistles, the Wm. Hamilton Company, and either De Laval or C.P.C. President Matthews promising that if De Laval are unable to enter his firm will place a team in the League.

It was decided that no players who are wanted by Manager J. J. Solomon for his Central Ontario League team will be allowed to play in the City League. The barring of the "big leaguers" will open the way to players who otherwise would be kept out of baseball this year, and should be a big boom to the game in this city.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Gordon Matthews.
President—Frank Convery.
Vice-President—L. W. Lebarr.
Secretary-Treasurer — Edgar Lebarr.
Executive — Two members from each team.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND.

"WAY DOWN EAST."

D. W. Griffith's new art wonder picture spectacle "Way Down East" is to be seen at the Grand Theatre, commencing its special run here next Thursday night and continuing for three days, with matinees Friday and Saturday afternoon.

Taken from the Lottie Blair Parker play of the same title it is the sensation of the current theatrical year. Nothing like it has ever been dreamed of in the theatre before, and its record is the most astonishing thing of the kind known to date.

The simple tale of the original play with its pastoral backgrounds, its plain people and its quaint humors has been enlarged upon to such an extent that not only a new drama has been woven about the love story of Anna Moore and David Bartlett but a new form of art in which to express the theme is envolved.

Murmurs of delight greet its scenes of exquisite beauty in a pictorial sense, hearty laughter accompanies the foolish antics and the simple drollery of its relieving characters and a soul stirring interest rushes with its unfolding to a climax the like of which was never known on any stage in the world until Griffith broke loose with his blinding storm and ice jam on the river which is the tour de force of "Way Down East and has aroused so much comment that it is breaking records in every city where it is being presented.

One of the greatest casts ever known on stage or screen is shown in the picture and the action is accompanied by a special orchestra and score that adds charm and intensity to a story of singular appeal and power.

"THE GIRL FROM NOWHERE."

What do you most prefer in a show? Everybody has his or her own particular preference and in "The Girl from Nowhere," which appears at the Grand on Tuesday, April 12. There is something to please each individual desire. Is it comedy you like? There is Billy Oswald, the best of all Scottish comedians, J. V. Barrett-Lennard "Jolly Old English fellow wot" and Richard Lennard light comedian just out from England, who was featured with such shows as "Bubbley," To-night's the Night," "Houpla," etc. Do you want dancing? Let us introduce Miss Blanche Young, one of New York's best interpreters of Terpsicore. As light and graceful as a bubble blown by a spring zephyr. She is accompanied by a bevy of beautiful maids who will dance their way right into your effections. Are you dear lady, interested in the latest fashion? There are the most modern models from London, Paris and New York, and also a number of creations which have been specially designed by Mr. Guilbert Rose, one of Flo. Zeigfeld's chief designers. The Bizarre Bathing costumes which he has created are particularly noticeable. Do you like Girls? There is the celebrated Stuart Whyte chorus. Mr. Whyte has certaintly been picking peaches, a prettier bunch of alluring loveliness it would be hard to imagine. Oh boy, some girls. Do you want beautiful and out of the ordinary scenes? We would draw your attention to the wonderful Department store scene with its wealthy of richly colored materials, and unique arrangement. It is rather difficult to imagine a beautiful department store, but in this, Mr. Whyte's scenic artists have produced something new and at the same time artistic .And then the picture studio set among the caleidoscopic colorings of Sunny California, all helped out by the ever changing, eye-enchanting lights. There is a novel ending to the well defined plot and take it, by and large, this is probably the biggest, brightest and best of the Stuart Whyte productions. Don't miss it.

"HUMAN HEARTS."

Splendid entertainment is promised patrons of the Grand Opera House Monday, April 11th, when the attraction will be Mr. Frank Carpenter's revival of a famous play, Hal Reid's "Human Hearts." An elaborate production, with a notable cast of players, is to be expected.

"Human Hearts" has captivated the hearts of theatregoers the length and breadth of the North American Continent, and also scored a big hit in Europe, where it was translated into six different languages. The reason for this is not hard to find, for the play has all of the elements of good melodrama, bright comedy scenes with fun that chases the blues, beautiful stage pictures, and powerful, impressive moments that tug at the heart-strings. Its revival is a welcome one.

The cast is headed by wee Dorothy Mackay, whose sensational success in "Cinderella," "Babes in the Woods," and other notable productions was more than appreciated. It will be recalled that her performances in the pieces named amazed the critics of Canada, for she enacted her very difficult roles with a finish that stamped her as a born actress. Her part in "Human Hearts" is ideally suited to her abilities, while the balance of the cast is such as to provide assurance that full advantage will be taken of the possibilities the parts provide.

AT THE ALLEN.

It's a Comedy—And More; Laughs Along with the Thrills.

The manager doesn't know whether he should advertise the Chester two-reel productions which he is showing at his theatre each week as comedies or as the thrilling feature of the bills. He is more than ever perturbed after seeing "The One Best Pet" which will be shown at the Allen Theatre, commencing Monday.

In this picture Snooky, who has won the title of the Humanzee from newspapers all over the country, rescues the baby as he is about to fall into the grasp of hungry lions and again after he has been carried to the top of a church steeple by a bunch of toy balloons. They afford a lot of thrills, but at that they are subsidiary to the laughs. Hap Ward is the leading human comedian and there are a number of "nature dancers" that contribute a lot to the enjoyment.

Little Ida May McKenzie, who has been named by Educational, which releases the Chester Comedies, "the sweetest child on the screen," has an important part in "The One Best Pet." A tiny pig is responsible for quite a number of the laughs and a group of lions that would be a credit to any circus menagerie add to the thrills.

AT THE EMPIRE.

GREATEST FILM DRAMA WILL BE SHOWN HERE

"One Man in a Million," Starring George Beban, Coming to the Empire Theatre.

There isn't a thing missing in "One Man in a Million," the latest Robertson-Cole super-special release in which George Beban, the great American character actor, appears in the stellar role. In all of the cities throughout the country where the picture has been shown, critics have declared it to be the greatest of screen dramas. This big photoplay will be shown at the Empire Theatre for a run of three days beginning on Monday.

The story is one of human interest with a strong series of comedy reliefs. Mr. Beban has shown his capabilities in this picture first having written the story and later producing and directing it. In the stellar role Mr. Beban is seen in his now familiar and much loved character of an humble Italian who teaches a really human lesson through the medium of a big and kind heart. The author has called to his aid many clever dogs and an almost human parrot to bring home the story of the picture.

With Mr. Beban in the supporting cast is George Beban, Jr., his five year old son, who will undoubtedly be as great a thespian as his illustrious daddy. Others in the cast are Helen, Jerome Eddy, Irene Rich Lloyd Whitlock, George Williams, Jennie Lee and Wade Botoler.

AT THE REGENT.

'NEW BOSWORTH SEEN IN LATEST READ PRODUCTION

Old Sea Dog Trades His Slicker for Spats in "A Thousand To One."

Of course the public knows of Hobart Bosworth primarily as "The Sea Wolf"—a "Jack London man" of the seas, the rockbound coasts and fierce conquests.

Theatre-goers of retentive memory may remember, too, the Hobart Bosworth who was the matinee idol of Broadway several years back; the Hobart Bosworth who played Shakespearean heroes with wavy locks and doublet and hose.

But a different view of Hobart Bosworth than either of the foregoing is to be afforded at the Regent Theatre, beginning Monday. For in "A Thousand To One," the star's first vehicle for Associated Producers and produced by J. Parker Read, Jr., a supreme picture of Hobart Bosworth as a versatile artist is offered.

Hobart Bosworth has been a popular favorite on stage and screen for many years. He was one of the motion picture pioneers—one of the very first of the brilliant coterie of men who wrote, directed, acted in and distributed their own productions.

It was his influence that caused the conversion of Jack London to devotion to the cinema and led the great author to lend his influence to the screen. Bosworth, incidentally, was the first man to star in London's works, all of them well-remembered motion picture classics.

It was Bosworth, too, who induced the widow of Jack London, Charmian K. London, to write for the screen .The star is noted for his educational and propagandistic work for the uplift of motion pictures. He has been the champion of "clean and better pictures" for many years and his efforts have not been unavailing.

In "A Thousand To One," the story founded on Max Brand's novel, "Fate's Hoenymoon," the star appears to have found a splendid vehicle for his art.

In the supporting cast are Ethel Grey Terry, the popular leading woman; Landers Stevens, J. Gordon West. Joseph Kohler and Charles West. Joseph Franklin Poland wrote the scenario which Rowland Lee directed.

Y.M.C.A. NEWS.

When the smell of spring is in the air, as at present, who is there in the city, small or large, who has not found his thoughts turning to the sawdust rings and the circus parade with its tinted wagons and rare collections of animals, the blaring calliope and the funny clowns? Who is there who has not felt the anxious admiration of the interested spectator for the daring acrobats who made the dizzy heights seem as nothing? Yes, you have guessed it! A circus is coming to the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium some day soon and every member will have a part in this real old time spring festival. Classes are now preparing for the event and in order that the very best performance be given it will be necessary for every boy to be out every class day till the closing. Hereafter the Beginners' Class will meet on Wednesdays after school with the Junior Class as well as on Saturday. Intermediate School and Employed have special classes for apparatus and everyone is required to practise diligently during these remaining days.

QUEER DOINGS

(Canadian Press.)

Blind Ox and Gander.

GREENSBORO, Ala., April 9.—The blind ox, famous as the protege of a stately gander on the J. A. Holcroft plantation, near here, is dead, and those on the farm believe his death is due directly to enforced separation from his guardian.

Recently it became necessary to transfer the ox to another pasture. The gander was unable to follow. The separation was too much for the ox and he pined and drooped, refused food and drink and finally laid down and died.

The ox and gander recently attracted widespread attention by their strange friendship. Every day at regular intervals the gander would lead the ox to water by strutting ahead of him honking loudly so that his afflicted ward could follow the sound. If other cattle approached, the fowl would fly at them and drive the intruders off.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—The only noteworthy feature at the sluggish opening of to-day's Stock Market was the further decline of Pennsylvania to a new low record on the initial sale of 2,700 shares, that stock decepped ¼ point to 33. The next offering forced the price down to 32 7-8. Oils were fractionally higher, but re-acted when pressure against Mexican Petleum was resumed. U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Stromberg Carburretor and American Can. Preferred were lower by fractions to 1¼ points. Exchange on London rose substantially over yesterday's final quotations. A more hopeful feeling prevailed regarding the British labor crisis.

PIANO RECITAL LAST EVENING

What might be termed an ideal piano rectial in many ways, was given by the pupils of Mrs. S. J. Richardson, A.T.C.M., at the J. M. Greene Music Store last evening. One hour was the time of the performance, a very welcome change from the old-fashioned recitals which dragged on interminably through two or three times this interval. A number of little girls and three or four little boys went through their pieces in the most business-like manner. The eldest only twelve, and the smallest a tiny little tot who could hardly be perceived, the only large thing about most of them was the enormous blue or pink bow which adorned their heads. A constant succession of small lads and lasses popped out of the side-room door, ascended the piano stool and, without music, except in a couple of instances, went through a series of short dainty pieces of music without any hesitancy or noticeable errors. Excellent time, a good clear tone and careful manipulation of short fingers evidenced a careful training from their young teacher, and it is unusual to see such young children memorize music for public recital so perfectly. Miss Florence Saunders, accompanied by Mrs. Greenslade, gave two well-received vocal solos, and Kenneth Greene rendered Mendelssohn's 'Spring Song' on the flute with a soft, sweet tone that was very pleasing. There were not enough chairs to accommodate the large audience that attended and stools and boxes were requisitioned for the late rivals.

Brownton, P.O.,

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In reference to a letter from "Ratepayer" in the Examiner last evening. North Monaghan Council is not the only body has had to pay out money for charity this winter, but I don't think anybody can accuse them of being extravagantly generous in distributing that charity. And as regards the work on the farm for the unemployed men, he might just as well accept the charity only, as he will still need it if he works through the winter for the average farmer. I recently heard of a married man with a family working on a farm for a dollar a day and his board. Perhaps Mr. Ratepayer or his friends might inform me how he can expect to clothe himself and feed his family and pay rent on a dollar without charity? Of course, all farmers are not alike, but there is a rumour of one farmer who hired a man to do his chores for his board, while he himself worked with a team at the gravel pit for $6 and $6.50 a day. One day a bright idea struck him. He got his hired man to take another team out (for which the farmer would get another $6 a day), and they could both do the chores at home. He'd got the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" idea all right. He is not one of the Ratepayer's friends, is he, Mr. Ratepayer?

Now, the farmers do not pay all the taxes in North Monaghan and the amount of extar taxes that may have to be raised on account of "charity" can be raised by increasing the Statute Labor rate, as the farmers seldom pay that, and those home builders who work in the city generally do, and with very little kicking about it either.

Hoping that I am not taking up too much of your space, Mr. Editor, and thanking you for same.

Yours truly,
F. C. WALLWORK.

To the Editor: We have recently sent out a letter dated March 29th for publication in towns where we have had no response to our appeal and it has now come to our attention, that through an error in our office, a copy of this letter was sent to you.

We sincerely regret that this has happened as we have had several contributions from churches in Peterborough and we hasten to make a sincere apology to the people through the medium of your valuable paper for this unfortunate mistake.

Hoping that this explanation and humble apology will be accepted in the spirit it is now given, I beg to remain, yours sincerely,

F. R. YULE,
Local Secretary, Canadian Vimy Memorial Church Fund.

IN MEMORIAM.

COONES—In loving remembrance of Thomas Coones of Apsley, who was killed at Vimy Ridge on April 9th, 1917.

How little we thought of his words so true
When we oft times heard him sing:
"You will not forget me, Mother,
Not forget me if I am numbered with the slain."

But a vacant chair now tells the tale
Of the debt that he has paid.
Angles bright watch day and night
O'er the grave where he is laid.

A voice had whispered "Come."
And in the early morning
God took His loved one home.

And now at rest in Jesus
He rests for evermore.

Effort to Suppress the Windle Meeting Was Made Privately

NOT MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION, BUT FOUR CLERGY ACTING ON OWN INITIATIVE, SAYS REV. R. POGUE.

THOUGHT ANGLOPHOBE

Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, today explained to The Examiner, as he did yesterday to his congregation, that the Ministerial Association, did not in any way attempt to prevent Saturday's Liberty League meeting in the G. W. V. A. Hall.

What was done, he said, was by four individual members of the Association: himself, Rev. Harold W. Young of the George street Methodist church, Rev. J. Rollins, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray street Baptist church.

These four ministers met without any collusion on their part Saturday afternoon to present to the civic authorities, statements contributed by Rev. E. Thomas of Toronto, to Saturday's Globe of an anti-British character, alleged to have been made by Hon. Mr. Windle, and leave the advisability of allowing Hon. Mr. Windle to speak here, to them.

Rev. Mr. Pogue said that he and Rev. Mr. Young spoke of the matter when they were making calls at the hospital and decided to go down town and speak to the Mayor.

When they reached the City Hall they saw Rev. Mr. Rollins coming down the street, evidently on a similar mission. They found Rev. Mr. Webb already in the building. Rev. Mr. Pogue and Rev. Mr. Young had decided to see the Mayor alone but the Police Commisioners were meeting and therefore to that body, composed of Judge Huycke, chairman, Police Magistrate D. W.Dumble and Mayor A. A. McIntyre, they stated their case, drawing the Commissioners' attention to the alleged statements of the American speakers. They left the matter with the Commissioners, refusing to offer any suggestions. The entire responsibility of allowing the meeting they placed with the Board who decided that the meeting should proceed under police supervision.

WHAT ADVERTISING DID FOR CHIP SOAP

In Canada, there is one brand of chip soap that has sprung into immense popularity everywhere. It is interesting to note that this brand, which holds practically the entire market, was introduced, section by section, through newspaper advertising, supplemented in some places by what might be termed "reminder" advertising. One other brand seems to be contesting for leadership. This brand is almost entirely newspaper advertised ,and is growing in popularity as the intensive advertising proceeds. There is plenty of room in the market for the newcomer, and the weight of the evidence seems to be that it is possible to create entirely new markets.

DOLLAR A DAY FOR VETERANS IS EXPLAINED

W. TURLEY, SECRETARY OF G. W.V.A. PROVINCIAL COMMAND, SPEAKS IN JUSTIFICATION OF THE SCHEME.

REVIEWS BODY'S WORK

Comrade W. Turley, secretary-treasurer of the Provincial Command of the Great War Veterans' Association, spoke at the Grand Opera House yesterday on re-establishment problems and the G.W.V.A. compensation scheme.

Mr. Turley has a clear, forceful way of speaking, and a straight-from-the-shoulder method that is quite effective, and his address dealt forcibly with the history of the Association since its inception, and its aims and hopes for the future.

Reviewing the work of the G. W. V. A. in the past, since it birth in 1916, and its rapid growth to a total of 900 branches in different parts of the Dominion, he mentioned the several reforms brought about by this society with regard to doubling the pensions of widows of private soldiers, to obtaining from the Government post-discharge pay for a period of three month, to its activities in the matter of vocational training and re-making the men maimed in the service of their country, to the interest taken in the Housing situation, and the several deputations of G.W.V.A. men which waited on the Provincial Government from time to time, and finally obtained as Ontario's share of a Federal appropriation of 25,000,000 for this purpose, the sum of $8,500,000, so that 75 cities, towns, villages, and townships in the Province have been able to provide homes for their working classes on a cost plus 5 per cent. basis.

The Mothers' Allowance Act, from whih 1,800 women and twice as many children are getting aid in the Province of Ontario to-day, was largely due to the good offices of the G.W.V.A. "This is not a selfish organisation," said the speaker; "it hopes to make Canada worthy of the women who suffered and sacrificed for Canada, and the men who died for Canada in the Great War. It desires to see more government by the people than is seen in these days, with more equalisation of the profits of citizenship as well as of the burdens of citizenship, and it believes that what it desires can best be obtained by the British constitutional form of Government.

The efforts of the Association have resulted in the adjustment in Canada of claims amounting to over $7,000,000. It will consider claims involving the loss of $1,000,000 or $3,000,000.

Mr. Turley thought that the local branch, on an estimate, might have handled claims involving the adjustment of perhaps $30,000, but a voice from the rear informed him that the total was nearer $200,000.

"It seems to me," said the speaker, "that anybody with any trouble of any sort takes it to the G.W.V.A. to look after. Seventy per cent. of the claims handled by this organisation in general are handled for people who are hot members or supporters of the organisation to which they come."

Increased Pensions.

At present representations are being made to the Parliamentary Commission at Ottawa which was appointed by the Government to act as a sort of buffer between it and the GW.V.A., to make some changes in the Soldiers' Insurance Act, which, if successful, may serve as a foundation for State Insurance legislation later on. They are asking now also for an extra allowance of $30.00 per month for returned men suffering from tuberculosis, for an increase in widows' pensions, and for pensions for disabled men based on the percentage plan.

Compensation for Service.

With regard to the matter of compensation the dispute which arose in 1918 over the recommendation first introduced into the Alberta Legislature that each man who served overseas should receive a grant of $2,000, was owing to the opinion of the members of the G.W.V.A. that $2,000, while not too much for the man who had been in action from Mons, 1914, to Mons, 1918, it was a little bit too much for the ones rejected by the Board immediately on arrival in England and who returned to Canada immediately, for the laggard who arrived in Flanders after the Armistice was signed, and merely remained as one of the salvage corps, and a later proposal of $1,500, while not too much for the gallant old tiger who looked 49, was 59 or 69, and said he was 39, who, upon being rejected for overseas service, did good work in Canada at considerable risk and loss for the duration of the war, it was too much for the man recruited under the M.S.A. who obtained permission to return home for the harvest, and forgot to report again until after the Armistice was signed.

It was also felt to be a little too small for the men who served for the duration of the war and returned to find the wielders of picks and shovels whom they had left behind them, now riding in their own motor

FAIR SUFFERS SETBACK WHEN HOUSE A LOSS

FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING DESTROYED THE CARETAKER'S HOUSE ON THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS.

IS A TOTAL LOSS

The frame house given to the Fair Board and after considerable expenditure established on the grounds near the main entrance off Lock street, was totally destroyed by fire at 1.30 this morning. The fire was caused, it is believed, by some youths smoking cigarettes in the building in the afternoon and leaving live "butts" where they would do the most harm. The building was old and entirely constructed of wood and burned like tinder once the blaze got started sometime after midnight. Dr. Mann was passing the grounds early this morning when he saw the fire and immediately he drove to the Fire Hall. Hardly had he reached the hall when the alarm also came in from Box 13.

When the motor reel reached the grounds the building was completely in flames and the firemen could do little more than save the other buildings from the showers of sparks sent up from the blazing building. The walls and roof fell in and the building was totally destroyed. The house was to be established by the Exhibition Board as a caretaker's residence. It was placed on the grounds after much labour and expense and a foundation was built so the building would satisfy the requirements of a caretaker's residence, when fitted up as the board planned to do, for all time. Now it is gone and the board had it only insured for about 50 per cent. of its value.

MAY TAKE THE LIQUOR FIGHT OVER THE SEA

STATED LIQUOR INTERESTS WILL CONTEST "DRY" LAWS BEFORE PRIVY COUNCIL.

Montreal, April 11. — (Canadian Press.) — The wholesale liquor interests of Canada have decided to take the question of the constitutionality of the Quebec Government Liquor Control Act, and also of the proposed acts of the other provinces prohibiting the importation of liquors to the Privy Council, according to L'Autoritie, a local weekly journal, published here.

Eminent legal counsel, it is said, have advised the liquor dealers here that the chances of being able to resume later on the profitable busines, which will be interrupted by the Quebec Act on May 1st, is very good.

It is claimed the provinces have not the right to prohibit the importation of liquors for personal use from one province to the other.

SAYS THE COLD SNAP MAY HAVE BEEN BLESSING IN DISGUISE TO FRUIT CROP

TORONTO, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Despatches receiv- from various districts in Southern Ontario indicate that the recent frosts, particularly that of last night, have caused little damage to the budding fruit trees and early vegetables

It is generally believed that the trees were not far enough advanced to suffer any extensive damage.

One prominent Western Ontario fruit grower expressed the opinion that the cold spell might be a blessing in disguise, as the trees were going ahead at too great a rate, and if the cold snap had come a week later, it would have been disastrous.

The chief apprehension is felt in the Niagara fruit belt, but growers state that it is yet too early to definitely determine whether any damage resulted.

Fourteen degrees of frost was reported from Eastern Ontario.

U.S. CONGRESS MEETS TO-DAY

TO-DAY'S SESSION PREFUNCTORY—TO-MORROW PRESIDENT HARDING DELIVERS HIS MESSAGE.

FORDNEY BILL AGAIN

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(Canadian Press). — The Sixty-seventh Congress assembled promptly at noon to-day at the call of President Harding for its first session, expected now to continue probably until fall. Except for re-organization of the House and the usual flood of bills, to-day's meetings were somewhat perfunctory, Congress marking time until the receipt to-morrow of President Harding's first message outlining as to many important problems before the national law makers.

The Congress of 435 members is the first controlled by Republicans to meet under a Republican administration in a decade.

The Fordney Emergency Tariff headed the list of bills. The bill was brought in under another name, but in precisely the same form except with the stipulation making it effective in six months instead of ten.

ALBION KNITTING SHARES IN COURT

WILL BE SOLD BY SHERIFF FOLLOWING LEGAL ACTION.

TORONTO, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—"You might as well throw them in the gutter," was the comment of Justice Middleton at Osgoode Hall this morning, when it was proposed to have a sheriff's sale of certain shares in the Albion Knitting Company.

The shares will be turned over to a broker for sale, and the proceeds will be paid in to the Sheriff for safe keeping. The matter arose in connection with the action by Sergeant Bernard Leach, of Toronto, against R. Paul Parker, now of Peterborough. The action was settled by an agreement whereby Parker was to pay $2,300 damages, paying $500 down and $300 a month. He has paid $800, but pleads that his ready cash has run out, so that he was unable to meet the February and March instalments. Justice Middleton directed that Parker's shares should be sold to meet his indebtedness, and gave judgment for $2,300 and costs.

A LITTLE GIRL KNOCKED DOWN

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. McClellan, 258 Antrim St., received painful injuries on Saturday afternoon about 5:10, when run over by an automobile driven by Joseph Madill of North Monaghan. The car was travelling east on Hunter street and at the intersection of George and Hunter ran down Mrs. McClellan and the child's grandmother's, Mrs. S. F. Michels, who was carrying the little girl. The child was knocked to the pavement and it is stated by witnesses the wheels of the automobile passed over the child. The woman escaped injury. The little girl was taken into Kent's Drug Store,where Dr. J. H. Eastwood attended her, later removing her to the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic, where it was determined the child received more of a shock than any serious injuries.

The police took a report on the accident, and Mr. Madill, upon his statements, was cleared of negligence.

MAN SLAIN BY BANK ROBBERS

ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK NEAR LONDON ABORTIVE AND TWO OF THE BANDITS CAPTURED.

WILD WEST METHODS

LONDON, Ont., April 11.—(Canadian Press.)—At noon to-day four armed but unmasked bandits shot and killed Russell Campbell, 25, a citizen of Melbourne, 22 miles from here, when he attempted to prevent them from robbing a branch of the Home Bank in that place.

Manager McCalmes and two women clerks were in the bank at the time. The bandits drove up in a large touring car and in real western fashion swept into the bank with guns ready for action. They ordered the manager to open the safe, which he pretended to do. In the meantime several villagers, including Campbell, entered, and as Campbell grappled with one of the bandits he was shot in the abdomen, dying shortly afterwards. Other villagers held two of the robbers till assistance arrived and the captured men are being brought to London. The other two escaped.

They secured nothing, although several thousand dollars was in the vault.

'NO WAGES FROM TAXES'

LONDON, April 11. — (Canadian Press.) — The British mine owners and the striking employees conferred this morning for a time on a posible settlement of the controversy which led to the miners walkout last week. The conference adjourned at noon until four this afternoon.

The Premier made the suggestion that the owners give full presentation of their case after which the miners' counter claims should be fully submitted. He proposed that six representatives of each party meet with or without the government representatives present to begin an examination of the possibilities and report to their respective constituencies.

Lloyd George said, "We have definitely concluded that we could not recommend to Parliament that we continue paying profits to owners, and owners to men from the general taxes of the country."

THE HOME CIRCLE

WANTED—A friend who will recognize me when compelled to wear patched pants; who will take my hand when I am sliding down hill, instead of giving me a kick to hasten my descent; who will lend me a dollar without two dollars security, who will come to me when I am sick; who will pull off his coat when the odds are two to one; who will talk to me behind my back as the does to my face. Such a being is wanted by ten thousand human beings throughout the world.

There is nothing in the world that grows upon one so fast as a desire to loaf. The growth is gentle and pleasant at first. We "put off" a little thing, dodge some little responsibility, or do some little shirking just because we don't wish to exert ourselves. It is a little thing, but it can't be rubbed out. It is the beginning of a disease of the will—a drop from the bucket of mortal force, a scratch on the face of self respect. A gallon is made up of drops, a death gash is only a wide and deep scratch.

At a teachers' examination they were asked by the superintendent "Why they taught school?" Nearly all of them taught from a desire to do good, and one or two were honest enough to confess they wanted the money. To teach for the sake of doing good is noble, and there is no harm in working for money, providing you do your very best to earn your money. Who ever expects to teach school on the flowery beds of ease" might as well abandon the field at the outset. There is no need for a teacher to be eternally grumbling about small salaries, school directors, and superintendents and unnecessary work. A teacher must make up her mind to work hard and to be found fault with. She must not be over-sensitive. Let her conscientiously strive to do her work and let a worrying, trying-to-please-everybody-spirit depart. Above all things, don't be forever grumbling; accept the situation and extract all the sunshine and sweetness out of it you can. We believe there is much enjoyment in plain, prosaic school teaching, and we speak what we know. Fathers and mothers are apt to express their opinion in a way that you will hear of it, if you happen to cross John or Mary, but that is only the bitter with the sweet. There are parents who appreciate your earnest work; you are sowing seed that will ripen into grand men and women if you are doing the best you can, working cheerfully, and not continually grumbling about your salary, the lack of appreciation, and your social standing. Dignify your labor. Be gentle and patient. And above all be earnest in your work.

Do not drift. We are living in an intense age; despite the frivolity and gaiety everywhere in evidence, never was there before a time when life was regarded as such an earnest thing; never before was so much required of each individual. Are you doing your part?

At Easter we should feel our very hearts, budding and blossoming with new loves, new hopes and new determinations to realize the joyfulness of the Christian spring.

It is a trite, homely old adage that says, "more wrong is wrought by want of thought," etc. Certain it is that the mass of suffering and tragedies of the world are the direct result of idolence and thoughtlessness. The old parable of the thoughtless grasshopper who sang all summer and starved when the season of death came, is verified daily. Too many young people fail to take an earnest view of life, and too many suffer for their thoughtlessness. In this land, where fortunes are piled up from poverty, there is too often a tendency toward the belief that it is luck, rather than the result of toil and industry, and, above all, a peculiar genius for money-making that a few possess.

The boy, therefore, imagines it will do no harm if he idles for a while. When he is ready to settle down he can easily acquire wealth by a peculiar sharpness that quite likely he does not possess. He forgets or fails to comprehend that even if he is possessed of financial genius it must also be united with prudence and a moderate amount of industry to achieve a career. A great many boys and girls fail to make themselves valuable to their employer because their aim is not to do their work well, but simply to earn wages. They are ever eager to be through and slow to begin. Such workmen never rise beyond mediocrity. Boys in this country are too often outstripped by foreigners in the shops and trades because they lack systematic business habits. They have not been trained to their work as the foreign youth has been, under the sternest of all masters—necessity.

Reduce Appetites.

WESTFIELD, Mass., April 9.—As a result of the investigation by the school authorities it has been learned that young children are being given lumps of sugar soaked in ether to reduce their appetites. Children when questioned said that they were given the ether by their parents to lower the cost of living and also to quiet those who got too boisterous.

DRAMATIC SUICIDE OF YOUNG BRIDE.

Took Poison, Performed Death Dance.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 9.—While the deadly poison which she had swallowed slowly drove life from her frail body, Mrs. Neva Fraser, 18, a bride of a few weeks, performed a veritable dance of death in the midst of a company of invited friends here. At length reeling from stupor and the pain of the convulsions which racked her body, the girl swayed and fell dead before her horrified guests.

Excusing herself she went to her room and took a few grains of strychnine. She returned to her friends a moment later and chatted on for a while until she felt too sick. She then walked over to the phonograph and started playing "Till we Meet Again," explaining that that was the piece played at the dance at which she had met her husband. Her friends were still oblivious to the tragedy that was taking place when she began dancing to the music, but before the last bars of the waltz had died away, the little party saw her fall in a crumbled heap on the floor. Death sealed her lips before she could give an explanation of her act. To some of her friends she had confided domestic troubles had started because her husband insisted on their living at his mother's home, despite her wish to have a home of her own.

CAMPBELLFORD TRUE BLUES ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

REV. H. S. BENNETT PREACHED AN INSPIRING SERMON—CAMPBELLFORD NEWS OF INTEREST.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11. — Blue Lodge, No. 35, attended di-Blue Lodge, umber 35, attended divine service at the Baptist church yesterday morning. The weather was ideal and the turnout was large. Rev. H. S. Bennett preached a very able sermon and chose as his text, parts of three passages, 1st, Gen. chapter 5, verse 24, "And Enoch walked with God;" 2nd, Gen. 17, verse 1, "And the Lord said unto Abram, I am the Almighty God, walk thou before me;" 3rd, Deut. chap. 13, verse 4, "And ye shall walk after the Lord, your God."

These three fragments of Bible verse show their resemblances and and differences, the resemblances and the differences being equally suggestive and instructive. All concur in this that all express life as a walk, all express continuity in life, all express progress, change and a goal to be reached. God must come into life in some aspect, if that life is to attain its best. The text passages give us a triple aspect. Enoch walked with God, day after day, had fellowship with Him. Can two walk together except they be agreed? God spoke to the Israelites through the prophets, but He speaks to us through Christ. Sometimes it seems as if God had forgotten but we can still feel Him there and by continuous effort we can walk with Him in the market, in the home, on the street, and in the festivities of life.

If we havent been walking with Him, the thought that He knows all, is almost intolerable. If we recognized that God has us in review, what a revolution there would be in our lives. Perfect life, not a sinless one, but fully, equipped, fully developed, one fit for Him to use.

Walk after God. These words were spoken to Israelites because they were going after idols. Sin shuts us out from fellowship with God. The secret of all power is to have God with us. There is no life truly noble and good except the Christian life. Our friends may pass —our homes may pass—everything, but He faileth not.

The speaker appealed to men to make a companion of God. Too many people live in the past and are making no progress. The crown and excellence of the Christian life is that always we may make progress. The goal of Christian life is not here. We cannot reach the goal until we are with Him. Immortal youth of aspirations and growth should be our aim. We are better to-day than ten years ago. If not—why not.

PROSPECTS OF A SETTLEMENT ARE BRIGHTFR

MINERS, OWNERS AND GOVERNMENT TO BEGIN NEGOTIATIONS TO-DAY.

LONDON, April 11.— (Canadian Press.)—The strike of the coal miners, which threatened to carry with it a general strike of railwaymen and transport workers, seems now to be a fair way of settlement through negotiation.

The dispute throughout has been fruitful of surprises and another one was sprung Saturday night when, after conferences and interviews between the parties concerned, lasting all day long and when it was supposed that all efforts to move the miners had proved ineffectual, it was suddenly announced that the miners had yielded and that the conference with the coal owners had been convened for Monday to discuss the questions involved, while notices were sent to the mining districts urging abstention from any action that would interfere with the necessary measures for the safety of the mines. The Executive committee of the Triple Alliance, after conference with the Premier, issued the following statement last night:

"It has been agreed that, first, the government shall summon a conference of representatives of the Miners' Federation and coal owners Monday morning to discuss the question in dispute between the two parties, and second, the Miners' Federation shall to-night issue notices to the Federation's branches urging the miners to abstain from any action in interfering with the measures necessary for insuring the safety of the mines or necessitating the use of force by the government."

The statement was issued by Mr. Hodges and J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen. Mr. Thomas, in an interview, said it was the result of the negotiations between Railwaymen, Transport Workers and the Government and had eben accepted by the Miners.

LOSES LIFE IN PLAYING A JOKE

ATTEMPT OF BOY TO SCARE SISTER ENDS FATALLY.

STOUFFVILLE, April 11—(Canadian Press.)—Trying to play a joke on his sister, Willie Tarr, aged ten, lost his life Saturday morning.

He was amusing himself in his father's barn near Lemonville. He saw his sister coming and thought he would scare her. He tied a rope around his neck while standing on a beam and his foot slipped. His sister ran, screaming, to the house, and the mother, Mrs. John Tarr, rushed out to the barn and cut the lad down.

Dr. Herbert Freel of Stouffville, was called and for nearly three hours worked to kindle a spark of life, but in vain.

EX-KAISERINE PASSES AWAY

DIED AT DOORN AT SIX THIS MORNING AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS.

AGED 63 YEARS

DOORN, Holland, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany died here at six o'clock this morning.

Collapse of the Central Powers and the vicissitudes of war that drove former Emperor William of Germany and his consort into practical exile in Holland in November 1918 was the lowering of the curtain in the life of the once beautiful Empress and Queen of Prussia, Augusta Victoria who, for nearly 40 years had been the most beloved hausfrau of the German people In the Netherlands, where she and her husband resided first at Amerongen and then ae Doorn, the former Kaiserin's long continued illness was made more grave by her yearning to return to Berlin and Potsdam. On several occasions, since her residence in Holland members of her family had been summoned to her bedside in anticipation of her death but she rallied and survived.

The ex-Empress' gravest cloud, next to the abdication of William II was the tragic death of her son, Prince Joachim, who committed suicide by shooting himself in Berlin in 1920. She was never informed, it is said, that Joachim had taken his own life. Another depressing event which haunted her, was the Russian revolution and the fate that befell Emperor Nicholas and his family with all of whom, before the war, she had been on the kindliest terms.

Augusta Victoria was notable chiefly for her keen interest in charitable work and in the betterment of the living condition of the German poor It has been said of her that she was not an especially gift ed woman and that she cared more for the simple duties of home life than for royal functions.

It is not known that she exercised any considerable influence politically or that she desired to do so. Her talents seemed, instead, to be directed to the task of becoming a helpful wife and a devoted mother to her six sons and one daughter That she achieved this aim, the former Emperor attested frequently. He once described her as "the ideal of the virtues of a German princess. She it is", he declared, 'to whom I owe that I am able to bear the weighty responsibilities of my position in a joyful spirit."

Some indication of her point of view was given in her reply in July 1918 to a letter written by the wife of the Dutch Minister of War. In responding the then Empress declared that Germany repeatedly had manifested her readiness for peace which she declared had not been entertained by the opposing powers.

That she subscribed to the contention of military leaders that Germany was fighting a defensive war, shown by a statement she issued at the beginning of the great conflict in which she said that Germany war arming itself for a fight "which it did not cause or begin and which it is carrying on only to defend itself". In this appeal she asked German women to aid in caring for the German wounded.

Numerous instances in which the former Empress visited German hospitals and expressed lively sympathy for the wounded soldiers were reported during the war On one occasion she was said to have broken down at the sight of great numbers of the German wounded sent home after on of the great battles in 1918. For more than 12 years she was a semi-invalid.

Her sympathy with unpaid workers of Germany was disclosed on a visit which she paid some years ago to an exhibition of home industries in Berlin where it was stated that she was deeply moved by the evidence she saw there of the fact that many German workers earned only starvation wages. "What can be done to stop this misery," she inquired.

Her tenderness as a mother was revealed during the illness of her second son, former Prince Eitel whom she attended day and night. Arriving at the house where he was under physicians' care at 6 a.m. one morning she refused to rouse any one for fear of disturbing him and, with her maid, walked up and down for an hour in the wintry morning until the doors were opened by the servants.

One of the stories told of her is that she enjoyed visiting schools in country districts, selecting one of the pupils and promising the child to fulfill any wish the child might express. A disconcerting instance happened when she did this in Alsace where the schools were being Germanized and the French language suppressed. A little girl, receiving the promise of the Empress to grant her wish, asked that her schoolmates be allowed to study te French language. The Empress was taken aback but French lessons were given in that school afterward.

Born October 22, 1858 at Dolzig Augusta Victoria was the oldest daughter of Grand Duke Frederick of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Augustenburg and ranked as a princess of Schleswig-Holstein. Her early childhood was spent at Kiel. She married to the then Prince William of Prussia on February 27, 1881. They had six sons and one daugther.

IN FAVOUR OF CONTROL OF LIQUOR

HON. C. A. WINDLE ADDRESSED A MEETING ON SATURDAY EVENING—THE ARGUMENTS.

Hon. Charles A. Windle, of Chicago, spoke in Peterboro, on Saturday night, in the G.W.V.A. Hall, under the auspices of the Citizens Liberty League. Mr. A. E. Dawson was the chairman of the meeting, which was not largely attended but was orderly throughout. Hon. Mr. Windle defended temperance and government control as opposed to government prohibition, for an hour and three-quarters in a vigorous style.

Liberty League.

The Liberty League fired its first gun on Saturday. The chairman of the meeting announced that those responsible for the meeting, wishing to give the "drys" every chance to reply, asked them to send a representative or representatives to the meeting to contest the issue on the platform. This challenge was not taken up by the prohibitionists, he said, nor did his side receive any acquiescence to a suggestion that the two forces meet, and Hon. Mr. Windle given an opportunity to refute the charges being used against him. At seven o'clock at night, Mr. Dawson explained, the Ministerial Association met and decided to ask the Chief of Police to stop the meeting. This stand was taken on the charges against Hon. Mr. Windle's nationality and sentiments. The police did not fall in line with the suggestion and the meeting was held with the officers of the law in attendance to stop any possible trouble, but nothing occurred to mark the equanimity of the meeting.

Desire Temperance.

The meeting, as explained by Mr. Dawson, was called, not to support the use of alcoholic liquors but to protest against the methods of the Prohibitionists, whose reforms, he said, were impracticable and unpopular in this country. "No good citizen wants to see the return of the open bar and the 24 hour sale of alcoholic liquor. We are out in the interests of temperance reform. "A safe sound method was needed, he declared, for controlling the sale of alcholic liquor.

Sang National Anthem.

Mr. Dawson defended the bonafides of Hon. Mr. Windle, and he said the speaker was only a friendly critic of Great Britain, as he was of the U. S., its people and himself. To mislay any apprehensions of anti-British sentiments being extracted from the meeting ,the chairman called for the singing of the National Anthem before the bombardment of Prohibition began. God Save the King was sung with plenty of gusto, the three-piece orchestra, which had livened the proceedings till then, gave way to Hon. Mr. Windle, who completed the process very satisfactorily, waxing humorous at times, but generally speaking in utmost seriousness.

Refuted Charges.

Before opening his attacks upon prohibition, Hon. Mr. Windle refuted the charges made against him that he was pro-German and anti-British. "I have been unfairly and unjustly attacked by the opposition, who have made no effort to reply to my arguments, but have attacked me personally."

His people, he declared, had lived in the United States for 300 years. "There's no German-American that has lived in the United States that long," he said. The name 'Windle' he said could be found in nearly every country under the sun. I have condemned and denounced Prussianism for 25 years, said the speaker, who showed how unmercifully he assailed Kaiserism in his journal. During the war his three sons, two of whom were married, served, the youngest, 18 years of age, enlisting voluntarily. He also had 27 nephews under the colours of Uncle Sam. "I criticize every government and every nation on the face of the earth, but I do it without malice and prejudice, he added.

No Quarrel with "Pussyfoot."

Having denounced the personal attacks made upon him, he said that personally he had no quarrel with the prohibitionists or with "Pussyfoot" Johnston. Speaking of "Pussyfoot' Johnston, he said that Johnston came to attack liberty and he came to defend it.

"I believe in temperance," he said. "I practice it and preach it, as everybody should. I do not believe in prohibition though. Temperance is self-imposed and self-controlled. Prohibition is passed by somebody else without your consent, and is enforced by the policeman's baton. Temperance is a compliment to manhood and womanhood. Prohibition is an insult to your intelligence.

Question of Principle.

The question each voter should decide, Mr. Windle said, should be, "Is prohibition right in principle?"

Antagonistic Crowd Breaks Up Pussyfoot Meeting in Toronto

DISTURBERS IN MASSEY HALL AND METROPOLITAN CHURCH PREVENTED PRESENTATION OF PROHIBITION CASE.

HUGE POLICE SQUADS

TORONTO, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—There have been just as stirring scenes as that which was staged in Massey Hall yesterday afternoon when William E. Johnson, commonly known as "Pussyfoot" appeared in the interests of the prosibition campaign, but they do not come more than about once in every years or two, as a rule they do not disturb the placid routine of Sunday and they are mostly reserved for big political battles.

The affair, from the very beginning until well towards the end, was a noisy and raucous one and there was such a persistent tumult greeting Mr. Johnson's efforts as well as the attempts of other speakers that the cause of prohibition could not be pleaded in anything like a complete manner, while it would seem to be a fact that the minority in the audience, who were there for the purpose of giving Mr. Johnson a warm reception must have gone away well satisfied with their work. The day added much to the bitterness of the campaign, and feeling ran so high that the police were unable to do much with the disturbers, particularly the female element, and since they were not willing to fall back upon violence, the merry row ran itself through something like two and half hours.

There were huge crowds who were unable to get into either Massey Hall or the Metropolitan church where an overflow meeting was held, and in order to keep things in check huge squads of police took charge of the Downtown streets, blocked some of them to pedestrian traffic, and did their best to keep the people hustling along their way In addition to the police guarding Massey Hall there was another big lot at the church with officers guarding all entrances, so that the particular section of the city around Massey Hall and the Metropolitan took on the aspect of riot law.

Five Quick Effects
When you brush teeth in this way

This new way of tooth brushing brings five desired effects. Some are immediate, all are quick. A ten-day test, which costs you nothing, will clearly show you what they mean to you.

Leading dentists everywhere advise this new-day method. Millions now employ it. You see the results in glistening teeth wherever people gather. Now let your own teeth show them.

You must fight film

Brushing does not save the teeth if you leave the film. That's why well-brushed teeth so often discolor and decay.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it, so very few people have escaped its damage.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So dental science has in late years sought ways to fight that film.

Scientific methods

Efficient methods have been found. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests. The best dental opinion endorses them.

These methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And to let all know its benefits a 10-Day Tube is being sent to everyone who asks.

A 10-day test is free

Pepsodent quickly proves itself. The results are unique and conspicuous. And a book we send tells what each one means.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The saliva's alkalinity is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

Send the coupon for this 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results in ten days will amaze and delight you. Make this test now. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

BAND CONCERTS.

The failure of the City Council to make provision for the usual series of band concerts in the city parks will be deplored by many citizens to whom the weekly pilgrimage to Victoria Park was regarded as one of the most enjoyable features of the summer. While it is not too late to make a grant to the bands, the main difficulty is that the appropriations were drawn up and the tax rate decided upon with no provision made for band concerts, and unless the chairmen of the various committees are willing to sacrifice a slice of their appropriation it would be impossible now to provide the usual amount for music in the parks. Of the annual expenditure of the city—now an amount of no mean proportions —the money voted for band concerts has hitherto been practically the only amount that could be described as expended for the recreation of the citizens. This year even this grant has been killed, to the regret of many residents, the majority of whom would doubtless prefer to see a thousand dollars expended in band concerts than they would have $2,600 utilized to purchase a new chief's car for the Fire Department. They feel that while neither is a necessity they would get much more enjoyment out of the music than they would in dodging the Fire Department car. Ald. Turner has brought the band question again before the Council and it may still be possible to make some provision for the summer concerts.

A CHANGE OF VENUE.

The Hon. C. A. Windle, who spoke here on Saturday night, seems to regard this referendum contest as a personal fight between himself and "Pussyfoot" Johnston, his fellow countryman. These eloquent gentlemen from across the line, whose presence in Ontario is as unnecessary as evening clothes to a South Sea Islander, are welcome to continue their argument as long as they see fit, provided they go back home and do their fighting there. The people of Ontario should have intelligence enough to settle this problem for themselves without the aid of spread eagle orators from the United States, who bang the Holy Bible about as did Mr. Windle on Saturday night, or call those who disagree with them "vermin" and "rats" as Mr. Johnston is charged with doing last week. The tariff against imported eloquence should be raised high enough to be prohibitive as far as the Windles and the Johnstons are concerned. They merely add a discordant note to a controversy that is inharmonious enough without the intervention of professional orators from another country. Neither the Referendum Committee nor the Citizens' Liberty League have added to their reputation for sagacity, let alone common sense, by sending S. O.S. signals to this pair of spellbinders, who apparently regard themseives as of more imortance than the issue they are discussing. A change of venue for the Windle-Johnston bout would seem to be desirable in the public interest.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

On the last three days of this week the annual motor show, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the splendid work of the Peterborough Health Association, will be held in the armouries. The success or failure of the event depends upon the people; the public-spirited citizens who have undertaken the arrangements for the show have, backed by the whole-hearted co-operation of the automobile dealers and of various organizations in the city, completed their plans. Their work has been well done, but it cannot succeed unless the citizens do their part by providing a liberal patronage. There will be much that will be entertaining and instructive for motor show visitors, but beyond all that will be the consciousness that by attending you will have helped the Health Association in its fine battle for a healthier city. Much has been written recently of the efforts of the Association, but the half has not been told; only those who have been benefitted by the Association's work, or have had an opportunity of studying it at first hand, are in a position to accurately describe the splendid manner in which the aims of the organization are being achieved. Upon the financial success of the motor show the scope of the Association's work for the present year is largely contingent; some of its plans will have to be curtailed or abandoned if the revenue from this week's effort does not reach the total hoped for, so the importance of a very large attendance should be readily apparent. Every citizen, it is hoped, will realize a personal responsibility in this matter and will measure up to the call by a visit or two to the armouries on Thursday, Friday or Saturday.

THIS GOOD OLD WORLD.

"Rev. Father Duffy, of the 69th Regiment, New York, an organisation that has a long and honourable fighting record from Civil War days down to the last great conflict, gives us a refreshing change of viewpoint when he declares that the world is not growing any worse, and that 'crime waves' and other much heralded manifestations of evil are exaggerated both as to cause and effect. As for the newspapers, he considers that their contents, even reports of scandal and crime, are evidence that these mediums are of the same opinion as himself. If sin is news, argues Father Duffy, it must be because it isn't as common as virtue. The modern newspaper would not bother printing the commonplace or the usual. If things were as bad as some people make out, the newspapers would be full of reports to the effect that John Smith was sending his children to church and school and providing for his family in the best way he could, and that Bill Chugg, the taxi driver, had refused to run over a careless pedestrian, while a choice bit of news would be comprised in the startling announcement that Tommy Jones had refused to burn down the schoolhouse when he had an excellent opportunity. Incidentally, Father Duffy says that every Sunday some 5,000 people attend mass in his church, and that as yet the newspapers haven't printed scare heads announcing the fact. Until they do, he is certain that this old world isn't as black as some people would paint it."

The above excerpt is from the Ottawa Citizen. Rev. Father Duffy is a Canadian, a native of Cobourg, and one of the brightest clergymen that this province has produced. While we agree in the main with what he observes, the R. and T. is constrained to say that very frequently the newspapers report church affairs and note the large attendances at the services. It might further relate that the newspapers as a whole give more space to matters of a Christian nature than to most other subjects, and particularly that of crime. Rev. Dr. Duffy is right, however, when he observes that the people of this old world are not as bad as some would make them out.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is to be hoped that the summer school for journalists will include a course in Hydro-Electric economics for the benefit of the Farmers' Sun.

It now transpires that the London minister who spoke of a brother of the cloth as "that poor prune up at Stratford," was only using the expression in a Pickwickian sense.

The Toronto Telegram declares that the leaders of the opposing parties in Ontario just now seem to be Pussyfoot and Tanglefoot.

If you believe in "government control" about the surest way of not getting it is to vote "no" a week from to-day.

Don't forget this is the week of the motor show. Your attendance will help the work of the Health Association. There is no more worthy cause.

Unless the City Council changes its mind about band grants, it looks as if the fountain will be the only thing playing in Victoria Park this summer.

Having acquired a waterless sprinker, Peterborough should resolve to hold on to the dustless sweeper.

No, Clarice, the shock absorber is not a new invention. Governments have been appointing investigating committees from time immemorial.

"Clothes," said the Philosopher, "speak for themselves."

"Yes," agreed the Simp, "and some of them scream."

The new minister, unable to locate the post office, stopped a small boy and inquired the direction of him.

Thanking him, the minister asked whether he attended Sunday school, and received a negative answer.

"Then my boy, come to my Sunday school next Sunday and I will show you the way to Heaven," promised the clergyman.

The boy meditated upon this.

"Well,' he finally asked, "how are you going to show me the way to Heaven when you don't know the way to the post office?"

RICH GOLD FINDS PETAWAWA RIVER.

Ore is Found in Paying Quantities.

PEMBROKE, April 11.Is Pembroke to be the centre of the next big gold rush in this province? This question is prompted by the statement that gold in paying quantities has been discovered on the south branch of the Petawawa river, some eighteen miles from town. Many people hereabouts were aware that in scenic attractions and as a fisherman's paradise the south branch of the Petawawa has few equals, but until recently none suspected that along its rugged banks there were deposits of gold which from assays made recently may rival the famous Porcupine district.

Harry Fitzpatrick, while engaged there in lumbering operations picked up some samples of surface rock which he thought showed traces of gold, and he, associated with Dr. F. J. Dodd, staked ten claims, or about 400 acres. The fact that lumbering operations were in progress prevented them from doing any development on the property, but it is understood that they will now commence work and are confident that the property will prove a very valuable one. The rock is of Huronian formation, and there are two leads ,one of which is from four to twenty feet wide and traceable for four miles, and the other four to six feet wide, and traceable for two miles. Assays made from surface showings give from 90s in gold and 30c. in silver, to $630 per ton in gold and $12.80 in silver. The quartz is exactly similar to that found in the Porcupine district.

A SPLENDID HOLIDAY.

As the evenings lengthen out and summer approaches, the question of "what shall we do this summer" is in the minds of many. A new publication on Algonquin Park, the wonderful Ontario Government reserve, has just been issued by the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways. It is filled with information helpful to those planning their summer holidays. The booklet is a handsome one, beautifully illustrated, and describes the many atractions to be found in the Park. It also contains view of the hotels that are situated there, and information as to the rates. There is probably not another section of the country that compares to this extensive territory for the canoe cruiser, camper, and angler. With an altitude of two thousand feet above the sea, the air is pure and bracing. Two hundred miles north of Toronto and one hundred and seventy miles west of Ottawa, it is easy of access. For pleasure, rest, and recuperation, there is no place like Algonquin Park. FROST DESTROYS CROP OF RAISINS.

FRESNO, Calif., April 9. — Twenty per cent of the 1921 raisin crop, or about 40,000 tons, was destroyed by the frost that hit the raisin section of the San Joaquin Valley recently, according to a statment issued by W. M. Giffen, president of the California Associated Raisin Company. Giffen estimates that the money loss to the growers will be in the neighborhood of $10,000,000.

All letters must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication. They should be written on one side of the paper and addressed to "The Voice of the People." The Examiner is not responsible for opinions expressed by the writers, and does not guarantee the return of unused manuscripts.

The Editor, The Examiner:

Sir,—The vote to be taken on the Prohibition question this month is not exciting the public interest that its importance demands.

The zealot who does not think, and is not, guided by experience, is looking forward to prohibition as a cure for all our national ills. He thinks that the passing of a law forbidding the importation of liquor and beer will, by force of law, work a great moral reform in the hearts and habits of men; but he fails to recognize that experience has shown that if pure liquor cannot be obtained then vile and demoralizing substitutes will be used instead.

The drug habit will then be formed by some or rather by many, much to the injury of their moral and physical well being. Various extracts of the most injurious character will be used by many, as a stimulant without regard to the fact that it may destroy their eyesight or injure their health. The distiller of moonshine whiskey will secretly do a profitable trade.

Some no doubt will be caught and punished, but where prohibition obtains, it is well known that the vast majority are not caught, because it is only through accident that the guilty are discovered by reason of their patrons talking too much or drinking in a public place or exposing themselves in an intoxicated state in a public place or otherwise.

Moonshine whiskey can be distilled for 50c. per gallon and under prohibition sold for $10 or $15 per gallon, perhaps more, and the process of its distillation is simple.

It is the simplicity of the process that will induce thousands to distill their own liquor for their own private use and that of their friends.

A private still in thousands of homes follows in the wake of total prohibition as certain as day follows night and liquor distilled at home in secrecy and contrary to law at 12 1-2c. per quart bottle will not make for moral reform and the uplift of the rising generation.

When liquor can be obtained legally no one will risk distilling or buying raw and unmatured stuff, but when pure liquor cannot be obtained then the moonshiners will ply their profitable trade.

Where easy money can be made quickly there are always an increasing number will take the risk of violating sumptuary laws. The man who buys from them looks upon the law as an unwarranted invasion of his personal right and liberty and feels that he is committing no moral wrong in buying their illegal product and in shielding the delinquents.

The more and the greater number that are punished, fined, or imprisoned will only add increasing numbers to our quasi criminal class and in administering the law this class will also be augmented by perjury and disrespect for other laws that more particularly affect the safety of person and property.

Imprisonment for long terms will not remedy the evil because that will only make the victim a confirmed criminal and will, when the punishment is compared with the sentences imposed in other cases, only bring the administration of criminal justice into contempt.

Even the much despised bootlegger, who was unknown before prohibition, is in favour of prohibition, because his new occupation has in many cases been profitable though at times exciting and sometimes expensive.

For these reasons, it is submitted total prohibition is not the best means to adopt, to produce a higher stand of morality. The establishment of a Government store under proper regulations, where pure liquor can be obtained at a fair price, would put the bootlegger and moonshiner out of business and honorable people would not be driven to underhand means to procure liquor, beer or wine for beverage, or cooking or medicinal purposes.

Yours, etc.,
ARTHUR WILLIAM BLADE,

400 TEACHERS ARE WANTED IN WEST.

Salaries Some Cases $1500 a Year.

REGINA, April 9.—A sufficient number of school teachers cannot be obtained to fill the demand in Saskatchewan, and at the present time more than 400 districts are registered asking for teachers to take charge of their schools at once. Some of the districts are offering as high as $1,500 per year and some are willing to supply a teacher's house and the necessary fuel.

In the more progressive districts, the trustees demand that the teacher be well qualified and have experience in this province. They are willing to pay almost any salary to secure the right kind of teacher. Two hundred and fifty teachers have already been placed this year by the Teachers' Exchange, a branch of the Saskatchwean Department of Education.

BONES PREHISTORIC MONSTER FOUND.

Of Great Interest to Archeologists.

REGINA, Sask, April 7.—(Canadian Press.)—A discovery which will be of interest to archeologists was recently made on a farm near Leader, Sask., when bones of a prehistoric monster were found. The discovery was made by well diggers, who at a depth of fifty feet, embedded in a gravelly clay, and at a spot about one mile north of the Saskatchewan river, came upon the prehistoric bones. One of these is a tooth measuring over two inches across the crown, three inches to where it was apparently connected with the animal's jaw bone and over one inch thick. Other pieces of large bones have been brought to the surface and local savants claim they are remains of a denosaur.

LOVE!

By KATHERINE MOORE

A LETTER FROM LEONARD.

Chapter 24

When I left Thierry Brunswick I went to my room and did some thinking. I tried to analyze what had happened.

I had been indulging in emotions—emotions which I believed only Leonard could rouse. Granted, my feelings had not been very wild or deep, but the fact remained that I had been stirred.

Had I been very blind, ignorant of human nature? Could I blame another for what I had done myself—even if the other was my own husband?

I thought of Thierry. Then I thought of Mrs. Darwood. So unlike in motive and personality—yet they were both bold and daring with their overtures. The boy I could not blame, but the woman? Yes, the blame belonged there. She was a vampire.

Leonard! Leonard! If only I could see him now and talk with him.

I flung myself on the bed, and buried my face in the pillows. Life had unfolded another of its many sides to me. Would I come out of it bigger and fairer minded? I clenched my hands, but tears did not come to my eyes.

After a while I got up and prepared myself for bed. I looked at myself in the mirror. The lines had deepened about my eyes and mouth. I looked older. I felt older.

But in the morning I felt better. I had passed another milestone in my moral esxitence. Perhaps I felt a trifle more worldly. I laughed outright at the thought. Sunshine and blue sky bring a decidedly more rational viewpoint.

I did not see Thierry at breakfast. Nor did I see him again for two days. I was relieved. I liked the boy, but his boyishness was not what my mood called for.

The mail brought me another letter from Leonard. I rushed to my room and consumed it with pleasurable satisfaction.

"—— could you remember," he wrote, "what recipe you use for pan cakes? Emma's are rotten; I don't like to tell her so," he explained—"but you could send her your recipes. Pretend you forgot to leave it with her in your hurry to get off."

I read on, with warm tears of joy welding up in my eyes.

"—— the house is like a cave. I keep away from it as much as possible. Will take the 5:27 train next Friday night and get there in time for late dinner with you. Planning things so I can surely get away."

Not quite a week more! Yet when I measured in feelings the four days just passed, the sparse week to come seemed an eternity.

I sat right down and answered Leonard's with a long love letter—past events and his letter quickening the love in my heart and the spontaneity of my pen. Even a paper talk with him calmed and steadied me.

I wrote out my pan-cake recipe on a separate piece of paper and enclosed it for Emma. Leonard was such a kid about pan-cakes.

I hoped they had not forgotten to water the Boston fern. I made a remark about the ferns in the hotel not being any finer than mine to jot his memory. I did not like to speak of it directly. Perhaps he had not forgotten it at all and I would hurt his feelings. He did take an interest in things. Most men were regular Indians around the house, but Leonard had such a fine sense of appreciation.

Grace Robinson's husband had actually burned a hole in the top of their lovely mahogany library table with his cigar. And Grace said he never noticed the little things she fixed around the house. She had made a perfectly wonderful pair of parlor curtains with lace insertion that it had taken her just ages to do, and they were up a month before he noticed them.

Dear Leonard—how I ached for the comfort of his strong arms!

ICE PRICE WILL CONTINUE HIGH.

Early Spring Has Stopped Harvest Too Soon.

TORONTO, April 7.—The ice on the river was thick last year, which necessitated the price resembling it, according to officials of ice companies, on acount of the added difficulties in cutting. This year, the surface was thin, but the price has not contracted. We are now informed that last season's rates will remain in force. These are as follow: For the five months' season, that is, from 1st May to 30th September, $18.00; for one months' supply, flat rate, $4.00 for one piece; for a book of 20 coupons, varying according to district, above the Sherbrooke Street level, $3.50; below, $3.25. The average weight of each piece is 25 pounds.

Asked the reason for last year's prices prevailing, despite the fact that the ice was not thick, an official of one of the city companies said that owing to increased rates for labour it had cost more to cut and carry in the supply for 1921 than it had last season. He added that there was a possibility of ice being scarce, as only about half the usual supply had been obtained owing to the unusual mildness of the weather. The break had come very early this year, he said, and some time before it was expected, and as a result, some dealers had been able to get very little in store at all.

GREAT CHINESE EFFORT TO MEET FAMINE NEEDS.

All Classes Co-operating With Government to Feed the Starving — Giving Part of Salaries.

PEKING, April 7. — (Associated Press). — Never have the Chinese people and their government made greater efforts to meet a national disaster than they are now making to feed the hungry of the famine-stricken districts, say observers here.

When relief measures began, President Hsu Shih-chang gave the first big impetus to Chinese relief measures with a contribution of $100,000, and he has given $30,000 to the national relief drive, which has raised several hundred thousand dollars. The President's wife is a contributor to many funds.

Organizations of farmers, business men or workers in various industries have contributed their efforts to aid this drive.

Chinese civil employees are giving 20 per cent. of their salaries. Taxes on railway tickets yield a large sum monthly, all devoted to famine relief. The government is now collecting $750,000 monthly by means of a surtax.

Chinese provincial and city governments in the region south of the famine area are providing work for the starving.

The Central Government is building a highway 80 miles long in Shantung and all victims in that district are given employment.

Towns and villages in every part of Manchuria have organized relief committees, and a fund of $200,000 has been raised by the residents. An entire district in the famine area has been taken over by the Manchurians for care until the next harvest.

A loan of $4,000,000 for relief work has been floated by four Chinese banks. Merchants in Shanghai raised nearly $3,000,000, and Chines outside of the country have sent thousands of contributions. One rich Chinese merchant in the Strait Settlements has sent more than $1,000,000. The Sheng family of Shanghai has already given $500,000. A large landowner in the famine district has mortgaged his entire property and borrowed all he can on notes, thus keeping alive a whole township.

The Chinese government is guaranteeing free transportation of supplies, and relief workers, with priority for all grain shipments for the famine sufferers.

"Tag Days" in this city, Hankow, Shanghai, Canton, Tientsi and Fuchow have produced funds. In Peking, 4,000 volunteers tagged more than 400,000 persons.

Efforts have not stopped at organized movements. Personal sacrifice is general. Young girls have banded in many cities under an agreement to deny themselves certain food. Students at one of the large universities asked that all meat be taken from their meals and the money saved devoted to relief work. New Year feasts were abandoned in many parts of the republic. Vegetables and cotton are planted, even in the Presidential Palace grounds, instead of the usual rare flowers and plants.

Since motor taxis were first introduced in Calcutta, India, in 1910, they have increased in numbers from 16 to 1,751.

The largest price decline of 1920, as estimated by the New York Federal Reserve Bank, was in rubber, which fell 53.5 per cent.

Prettier—every time they are washed!

Just as fresh and dainty as the day they came from the store—your delicate crepes and chiffons, soft satins and silks. No matter how often they are washed—each cleansing only makes them prettier.

Don't say—"no, this can't be true"—but buy a package of Princess Soap Flakes and wash out your favorite fancy blouse or elaborate negligee. Then once and for all, when you know the secret, wear your best things every day. No need to save them when cleansing is easy, quick and perfectly harmless.

Cleanses and freshens

In color they are snowy white, in form a curly flake which neither packs nor mats and dissolves to the last particle.

These wafer flakes produce the thickest and stiffest of creamy suds which dissolves dirt and freshens material.

Woolens won't shrink and they dry soft as new when washed with Princess Flakes. Sweaters, leggings, caps and mittens, blankets—how soft, warm and sweet-smelling because Princess Flakes are refined with a touch of perfume!

No waste—No wear

Clothes wear out quickly because the ingredients of common laundry soap weaken the threads and start breaks in the fabric which surely means a hole. If washed with pure soap like Princess Flakes you will get proper wear.

Ordinary laundry soap is wasteful because it is more than half moisture and filler. Princess Flakes are pure, whole soap and therefore go so much farther, that their use is actual economy aside from their saving of clothes.

You should use them for every laundry and household purpose. They are the ideal soap for use in washing machines.

Both package and bulk

Buy Princess Flakes by the package to keep on the kitchen shelf—it is such a convenience! But buy in bulk for laundry use—by the pound or the 25 pound carton which allows the biggest saving of all.

But—begin using today—for fancy washing and general laundry work. Princess Flakes are the last word in soap—your money's worth in quality, convenience and actual soap value.

Advertising is News

Without advertisements, this paper would not be as interesting to you, because the information about goods for sale in the stores is news—just that.

Many people read newspapers as much for their advertising columns as they do for other news.
